

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2391

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2391-Having checked out the bow in his grip, Jared held it up curiously and tried to draw the bow. However, no matter how hard he tried to draw it, the bowstring wouldn't budge.

"What's happening?" Jared was stunned. After that, Jared unleashed and infused his Ultimate Force into the bow. Finally, the bow had a reaction. Jared then tried to pull the bowstring, and it trembled slightly.

Unfortunately, that was it. Jared still couldn't draw the bow completely. To Jared's surprise, he had used up all his Ultimate Force when he tried to draw Divine Bow.

"Huh?" Jared was flabbergasted. I worked so hard to gather those two marks of Ultimate Force, and I've emptied the tank. Yet, I failed to draw Divine Bow! This is ridiculous!

"How am I supposed to use this?" Jared looked at Divine Bow one last time before keeping it in his Storage Ring. Jared was at a loss as he sat at the peak of the mountain. The black hole is gone, and I have an army of phantoms to deal with!

What Jared didn't notice was that right after he had kept Divine Bow in his Storage Ring, the giant phantom waved in the air, instructing an army of phantoms to climb up the mountain.

By the time Jared realized what was happening, the phantoms had arrived next to his feet. "What the f*ck?" Startled, Jared slashed his Dragonslayer Sword, bringing about a flash of light. A force as powerful as a bolt of lightning swept across the phantoms..

The phantoms next to Jared's feet were killed instantly, and a wave of Ultimate Force quickly flowed into his body. Jared froze for a moment when he saw the phantoms dying. When I entered this area, those phantoms weren't bothered by my presence and didn't attack me. They're only attacking me now that the black hole is gone! That means I can kill them!

Jared grew excited immediately. There are so many phantoms here. If I kill all of them, it will contribute to my Ultimate Force! While Jared was distracted, quite a few. phantoms arrived atop the mountain.

This time around, Jared wielded Dragonslayer Sword and went on to slaughter the phantoms before his eyes. Although there were a lot of phantoms around, they were all relatively weak. Hence, Jared could kill dozens of them with a single slash. However, the force those phantoms contributed was also minimal.

Realizing he needed more Ultimate Force, Jared glanced at the army of phantoms on the ground and saw a few leaders of the phantoms. In the end, he locked his gaze on that phantom that stood over a dozen meters tall. If I can kill that giant phantom, I can surely regain a high amount of Ultimate Force!

With that in mind, Jared leaped toward the bottom of the mountain. While he was in the air, he swung Dragonslayer Sword in every direction he could. As a result, the rays of light the sword emitted acted like cannonballs and bombarded the army of phantoms.

In an instant, Jared had regained one mark of Ultimate Force after he killed those phantoms. Jared then landed before the giant phantom, and he looked exceptionally tiny in front of it.

Nevertheless, Jared wasn't scared because he had Dragonslayer Sword in his grip. When he lifted his gaze, he noticed that the giant phantom was constantly exuding lethal intent. The lethal intent was all over the giant phantom's body, forming a layer of transparent armor.

The armor slowly became solid as the giant phantom continued to exude lethal intent. In the end, it was even releasing waves and waves of brilliant silver rays.

The giant phantom then suddenly looked down at Jared. With the armor, it looked like a gigantic human being. When Jared locked eyes with the giant phantom, he immediately felt a wave of terrifying aura and all the hairs on his body standing on end.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2392

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2392-All of a sudden, the giant phantom exhaled a breath in Jared's direction. The lethal intent caused the surrounding space to freeze as dense frost began creeping toward Jared, enclosing him.

All Jared sensed was an icy gust of wind before the area around him turned white. Even the air was glacial, and it felt as if he had been trapped within the space. "D*mn, is this guy that powerful? I shouldn't have crossed him then..."

Jared regretted his actions. He never thought that the phantom would be so mighty-to be able to trap him just by exhaling. Nevertheless, what Jared needed to do at that moment was to get out of that situation.

Jared thought of his spiritual fire, so he flipped his palm and summoned a small ball of pale blue flame. As he increased his spiritual energy output, the spiritual fire began burning brighter and brighter. Finally, he threw the ball of flame toward the space before him.

Boom! The space shook before cracking sounds echoed. In no time, the entire space shattered as if it was made of glass. Once Jared's surroundings returned to normal, the pressure on him dissipated. "Screw you. I'll show you what I've got too!"

The Dragonslayer Sword on Jared's hand was ignited and began burning brightly. In the next second, Jared leaped into the air. and swung his sword at the phantom's head. A golden arc of light appeared in the sky and struck the giant phantom's head.

Clang! Despite the ear-piercing sound, Jared's Dragonslayer Sword had dealt no damage to the phantom. In fact, he could not even leave a mark on the shiny silver helmet.

"W-What?" Jared was dumbfounded. Not only did his powerful attack not hurt the phantom, but it did not even mar his opponent's armor. The phantom only spared Jared a glance before it made its move.

A gust of massive aura flung Jared back. Jared's body resembled a flying bullet, shooting toward the hill behind him. His Golem Body started burning as it created friction with the air, and he soon became a ball of fire.

Boom! He slammed onto the rock and was embedded dozens of meters deep into the solid body of the mountain. After a long while, Jared finally climbed out of the crater. His Golem Body was no longer activated, his clothes were torn, and there was blood on the corner of his lips.

"This is insane," Jared cursed as he stared at the giant phantom. It was then Jared realized he was no match for the giant phantom. Not even Yashur, an Eighth Level Martial Arts Sovereign, would be able to withstand a hit from the phantom, let alone. him.

Then, Jared noticed the giant phantom walking over to him, and he quickly took in a deep breath before leaping up to the peak of the mountain to flee. However, right as Jared reached the top of the mountain, he realized countless phantoms were crawling up the mountain after him.

Since he was already injured and in no condition to fight, he could only grit his teeth and swing his Dragonslayer Sword at them, slashing as many of them as he could.

Nevertheless, that did nothing as the phantoms were undeterred and continued climbing upward. Jared soon came up with another plan; he quickly took out the Divine Bow from his Storage Ring.

Once he stabbed the Divine Bow into the ground, the bow started radiating brilliant gold rays. Those phantoms climbing up the mountain dissipated the second they were shone by the golden light.

At that, the phantoms at the foot of the mountain hastily backed away. Even the giant phantom quickly retreated a safe distance away upon seeing the Divine Bow's golden light.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2393

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2393-When Jared saw the giant phantom moving away, he fell deep into his thoughts. "If these phantoms are so afraid of the Divine Bow, does that mean that this bow is the only weapon I can use against the giant phantom?"

As he mulled over that, Jared brushed his finger across the Divine Bow, stumped. I can't even draw the bow! So what if the giant phantom is afraid of it? It doesn't make a difference.

Jared proceeded to rest on the mountain for a while to recover his spiritual energy. An idea popped into his head after he spent a moment staring at the numerous phantoms, and he kept the Divine Bow.

The second he kept it, the phantoms began fervently climbing up the mountain again. Jared continued slashing the phantoms using his Dragonslayer Sword to increase his Ultimate Force.

Whenever he grew tired and overwhelmed by the number of phantoms, he would take out the Divine Bow to scare them away. Just like that, Jared was able to kill a considerable amount of phantoms to increase his Ultimate Force while making sure that her was in no mortal danger.

Once he realized that this plan was working, he started implementing it for good. Soon, he lost count of how many days had passed since then. He had acquired five marks of Ultimate Force, and the aura of the Ultimate Force was far more powerful than before.

As Jared discerned the Ultimate Force in him with his spiritual sense, he felt troubled. He did not know he should use the Ultimate Force to upgrade his Level or to try drawing the Divine Bow.

In the end, Jared succumbed to the temptation of the Divine Bow and decided on the latter. Upon composing himself to focus on the bow, Jared channeled the Ultimate Force in him.

In the next second, Jared's chest glowed, and a thread of Ultimate Force slowly appeared. Then, the thread of Ultimate Force entered the Divine Bow. The bow started shaking before illuminating as well.

With one hand on the bow and the other on the bowstring, Jared continued releasing his Ultimate Force. By then, the bow began taking on changes. As more and more Ultimate Force was fed into the bow, Jared gradually pulled the bowstring. Before long, the bow was drawn slightly. As soon as the string moved, an arrow made of radiance materialized, its tip emitting a golden glow.

"This really is a magical bow! This is incredible!" Jared cried out in excitement before exerting more strength to pull the string further back.

However, he soon realized that his five marks of Ultimate Force had dimmed, and the bowstring returned to its original position. Even the manifested arrow disappeared. "This is crazy," he remarked with a frown. Not even five marks of Ultimate Force is enough to let me draw this bow.

Depleted of his Ultimate Force, Jared had no option but to keep the Divine Bow back in his ring. Thankfully, the multitude of phantoms below him provided an opportunity to swiftly replenish his diminished Ultimate Force.

Trapped in that place, Jared found himself devoid of options. Aside from finding some amusement in slaughtering the phantoms, he had no clue as to what else he could do.

What will happen to my mother if I'm trapped here forever? What about those women who have been by my side all this time? Who exactly is my father? I can't stay trapped here forever! There are still countless mysteries waiting for me to unravel and countless questions that I haven't found the answer to! I haven't had a chance to sleep with those women, too! I'd regret my actions if I end up not getting to see them again!

"No. I can't let this happen. Once I'm out of this place, I'm going to make those women mine for real." Making up his mind, Jared then stood up and started slashing at the phantoms with Dragonslayer Sword again.

Groups of phantoms disappeared one after another upon getting struck by Jared's sword. While Jared was still trapped and spent his days killing phantoms, the Eight Major Secret Realms descended into a state of chaos.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2394

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2394-At the Gate of Fire, Lamar of Zahrin Sect had led their disciples into a battle against the Gunderson family and The Adamantine. The Gate of Fire had transformed into a battleground.

Chester, whose face was pale, stared at Lamar and questioned confusedly, "Lamar, have you lost your f*cking mind? Why did you attack us all of a sudden?"

"Mr. Gunderson, we don't share the same. vision. Since the spiritual energy is about to be restored, you guys will only get in our way. That's why we have to slaughter all of you first!" Lamar snarled, his murderous intent palpable..

"What's the meaning of this, Lamar? Were you the one who allied with Evil Heart Sect? Are you trying to join forces with the members of Evil Heart Sect and control the restoration of spiritual energy?" Wayne of The Adamantine questioned.

"That is correct. Since you're all going to die, I see no point keeping this from you. We've allied with the Evil Heart Sect for a while now. The world will be ours upon the restoration of the spiritual energy!"

Lamar sneered. With a light tug, he pulled off his clothes to reveal a bright purple robe he was wearing under him. "You're the purple-robed emissary of Evil Heart Sect?" Both Chester and Wayne were stunned by the revelation, but they soon narrowed their eyes.

They never thought that Lamar, who had lived in the Gate of Fire for decades, would turn out to be Evil Heart Sect's purple-robed emissary. It would appear that Evil Heart Sect and Zahrin Sect had established a collaboration since long ago.

"Why are you doing this, Lamar? You're the leader of the Zahrin Sect, so why would you willingly become a mindless follower of Evil Heart Sect?"

Chester could not wrap his head around what Lamar was thinking. Was being the leader of a sect not good enough for him? Why would he resort to being a lackey instead?

"What the h'll do you know? As long as spiritual energy is restored, we'll rule the whole mundane world. We'll get the chance to invade the Ethereal Realm. Do you think conquering this tiny secret realm is enough for me? I'm going to lead my disciples to the Ethereal Realm and the Immortal Realm. I'm going to be the lord of the entire world," Lamar said in anticipation, his excitement visible in his eyes.

When Wayne saw Lamar's elation, he chuckled and said, "I can't believe you're thinking of invading the Ethereal Realm and getting into the Immortal Realm. You think too highly of yourself. Even if the restoration of spiritual energy does happen, you're still nothing but a street rat among the rich."

"Ha! The grim reaper is on his way, and yet, you still refuse to accept reality," Lamar snapped. The intensity of his aura grew, and he swung his palm in Chester and Wayne's direction.

At that, Chester and Wayne began fighting Lamar together. Meanwhile, the same scene was happening in the remaining Eight Major Secret Realms. Conflicts and massacres were transpiring.

At the Gate of Thunder, Santiago of Violet Cloud Palace was in the middle of sipping his tea and enjoying music. As his wife, Roanna, was keeping an eye on him, he did not have the chance to look for Beatrice-Jared's mother.

Nonetheless, Santiago had arranged for Beatrice to live at a secret spot and assigned people to take care of her. In other words, staying there was far better than staying at the Deragon family's dungeon.

"Mr. Hargreaves." Right then, the butler of Violet Cloud Palace hurried over to Santiago. "What's the matter? Why are you in such haste?" Santiago asked.

"Mr. Hargreaves, Brad of Waxing Crescent Castle has begun leading his men to take over other sects and prestigious families. Many smaller-scaled entities have already been taken over by them. Brad's actions have stirred up a commotion within the Gate of Thunder. If this goes on, I'm afraid even our Violet Cloud Palace will be embroiled in it," the butler whispered.

"Brad is just overly ambitious. There's no point in taking over those small-scaled sects and prestigious families—they barely have any resources. Well, if he enjoys it, we'll let him be. Even if he takes over all of the sects and prestigious families in the Gate of Thunder, he still won't come after us. Both of our families share a good relationship. Brad's always trying to get my daughter to marry his son, after all," Santiago muttered, unfazed.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2395

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2395—"But, Mr. Hargreaves, I'm afraid that..."

"That's enough. You're dismissed," Santiago uttered impatiently to his butler. He wasn't worried about Brad conquering the others. However, little did he know that Brad was going to come after Violet Cloud Palace as well. In Brad's eyes, friendship meant nothing in the face of benefits.

Brad was also a purple-robed emissary, but the purple-robed emissaries did not know each other's identities. Ever since receiving orders from Tanner, they had been conspiring to take action in their respective secret realms.

They had to remove all factors that might negatively affect them before the restoration of spiritual energy. Otherwise, they would not be the only ones who would benefit from the restoration of spiritual energy.

Slaughters were happening all over the other secret realms as well, for each secret realm had a purple-robed emissary of their own.. Clearly, Evil Heart Sect had been planning for this moment since a long time ago..

Although the Eight Major Secret Realms had dissolved into chaos, the mundane world remained unaffected and peaceful. Arthur was smoking in the Department of Justice, seemingly worried.

The cup of coffee in front of him had turned cold a long time ago, but he had yet to even take a sip, which was rather unusual. “Mr. Sanders, the coffee has gone cold. Please let me change into a fresh cup for you,” Xavier muttered. “No, it’s fine. You should leave,” Arthur said instead, waving his hand dismissively.

At that, Xavier had no choice but to leave. “Looks like what’s bound to happen will happen eventually. Now that the Eight Major Secret Realms are in turmoil, I do hope Jared can stop this catastrophe and save all humans in the mundane world,” Arthur muttered under his breath.

Right then, someone abruptly opened the door to Arthur’s office. No one was allowed into Arthur’s office without receiving his permission. After knocking, but these few people had barged into the office. However, Arthur could guess who they were without even needing to even look at them.

“How’s the training?” he asked with a smile. “Mr. Sanders, we’ve learned everything you taught us, so we’re here in hopes of asking you to teach us more,” Cecilia replied as she took a step forward.

As it turned out, it was Cecilia and the others. Ever since they had received Arthur’s guidance, they had been practicing every second they could. Moreover, Arthur had also told them that they could come to him at any time without needing to ask for any permissions.

Thus, Arthur immediately figured out who was entering his office. “That quickly?” Arthur said, slightly taken aback. “Girls, let’s show it to Mr. Sanders.” With that said, Cecilia, Lizbeth, and Astrid made their move.

In the blink of an eye, they were out of the courtyard. Soon, they unleashed a bone-chilling aura and summoned a pillar of light together.. That pillar of light shot upward through the clouds, threatening to pierce a hole in the atmosphere.

Soon, the weather started changing. It was sunny a moment ago, but now, dark clouds gathered, and one particularly dark cloud was heading toward the Department of Justice. “All right, that’s enough. Let’s not cause panic,” Arthur instructed. At that, the women halted in their tracks, and the anomaly in the sky disappeared immediately.

“You did not let me down. I knew that investing all resources in Jadeborough on you was not going to be in vain. Well then, let me teach you a few more techniques. But you have to remember this: Your new skills must be kept a secret. They are the trump card that you can only reveal when Jared is in grave danger,” Arthur told them.

“Don’t worry, Mr. Sanders. We know.”

Cecilia nodded. She knew that Arthur was asking them of that so that Jared would not slack off. If he were to know that the women around him were all capable of defending him, he would stop putting effort into his training. Arthur then began teaching them new techniques.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2396

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2396-Jared had lost count of the phantoms he killed with Dragonslayer Sword atop the unnamed mountain. At that point, he had already acquired eight marks on his body. One more, and it would be completed.

Unfortunately, regardless of how many phantoms he killed, the last mark simply wouldn’t appear. “Does attaining the last mark require something special?” Jared was feeling rather dejected. If killing phantoms can’t give me the final mark then there is no point in slaying more of them.

As he looked down at the humongous phantom over a dozen meters tall, he grew restless and wondered out loud, “If I kill that big guy, will the ninth mark finally appear?”

In the end, he leaped from his spot and dove toward the giant phantom. I’ll give it a try right now. I have the Divine Bow, anyway. There’s nothing these phantoms can do to me. If I can’t win, I’ll just run back to the peak.

He swung Dragonslayer Sword twice, cutting open a path for himself. Then, he swiftly arrived before the giant phantom. The humongous phantom growled in frustration when it spotted Jared because none of the other phantoms could do anything to him even though it had been days.

Evidently, it was pissed off. Without wasting time, Jared swung his sword in the direction of the giant phantom. Sparks flew when Dragonslayer Sword made contact with the phantom's tough armor.

Unfortunately, the weapon was still incapable of shattering the phantom's armor or causing the phantom any harm. The giant phantom roared and attempted to slap Jared forcefully. Jared was agile enough to evade that attack instantly.

Facing the giant phantom before him, Jared thought he should find its weak spot. A second later, he noticed a spot on the phantom's neck that he could stab the Dragonslayer Sword into. Hence, he leaped toward the phantom's neck with the glowing sword in hand and thrust the weapon into its throat.

Jared succeeded in piercing the phantom's neck, and the sword actually penetrated it completely. He was overjoyed upon witnessing that, thinking that was enough to eliminate the phantom.

To his utter surprise, the giant phantom didn't seem affected at all. That attack merely served to enrage it further. It howled as it tried to slap Jared again with both of its hands.

Terrifying lethal intents transformed into tornados, sending Jared flying into the distance. After he crashed onto the ground hard, he expeditiously rose and waved his hand, summoning Dragonslayer Sword back into his palm. Without delay, he bolted toward the mountain peak.

Sitting at the mountaintop, he peered at the phantoms below him and cursed at them. He was currently no match for the humongous phantom. Can I even kill that thing? Thank goodness for the Divine Bow. Otherwise, I would've been swarmed by phantoms. But still....

"Godd*mmmit! Why can't I just pull this stupid bow?" With the ranged weapon in his hand, he furiously attempted to draw the string again. Surprisingly, he succeeded that time. A golden arrow appeared on the weapon in a blink of an eye as he pulled the bowstring back.

Excitement danced in Jared's eyes as he stared at the Divine Bow. I can't believe I managed to draw the bowstring! As soon as he achieved that feat, the phantoms below the mountain turned around in fear and sprinted away.

Even the giant phantom desperately dashed away from Jared's line of sight. Without hesitation, he aimed the bow at the giant phantom and released the bowstring.

Whoosh! The golden arrow zipped through the air. In a blink of an eye, it pierced through the giant phantom. It couldn't even shriek before it dropped to the ground and morphed into a gust of lethal intent that flew straight toward Jared.

The minute that aura entered his body, his ninth Ultimate Force mark finally lit up.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2397

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2397-"It's done! My Ultimate Force is finally complete!" exclaimed Jared giddily. As he stared at the Divine Bow in his hand, he didn't hesitate to pull the string back again. In an instant, three enormous arrows manifested. on the bow.

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh! The arrows, once launched, descended from the sky like artillery. The fiery explosion they caused upon making contact with the ground instantly destroyed countless phantoms.

Boom! Boom! Boom...

Following the thunderous blasts, many phantoms perished. Jared guffawed. "That feels so good! This Divine Bow is motherf*cking awesome!" Unbeknownst to him, the environment started to change after he shot those arrows.

The sky, which was initially gray, grew darker and more intimidating, as though a storm was about to arrive. When the sky turned completely dark, the phantoms stopped fleeing and kneeled on the ground.

Only then did Jared notice something odd was occurring. "What's going on?" He surveyed his surrounding, confused about what was transpiring. Suddenly, a bolt of light zipped toward him from the horizon.

Seeing that, he immediately lifted the Divine Bow and got ready to defend himself. That bolt of light stopped right before Jared. Then, a humanoid figure appeared.

Jared was overjoyed, thinking he could finally ask the person what kind of place this was. However, the moment he recognized who it was, he was stunned. The newcomer had a similar reaction.

“Why is it you?” both uttered in unison. The figure before Jared was none other than Hadad, whom Jared had rescued. Astounded, Hadad questioned, “How did you come here? Upon spotting the Divine Bow in Jared’s hand, he asked, “Were you the one who used the Divine Bow?”

“Yes, I did.” Jared nodded and briefly recounted his journey there. “I thought you’ve returned to Ethereal Realm, Hadad. Also, I can tell you’re no longer a soul remnant. Have you reconstructed your body?” He didn’t understand why Hadad was there. Instead of answering the question, Hadad. muttered to himself, “D’mmmit, I didn’t expect there’s a portal beneath the altar.. .”

“You haven’t answered my question. What is this place? Didn’t you go to the Ethereal. Realm?” inquired Jared. “This is the Ethereal Realm.”

“What? This place is the Ethereal Realm? Why does the Ethereal Realm look like this?” Stunned, Jared scanned his environment in disbelief. It’s nothing like how I imagined it to be at all!

“All right, you need to leave right now. I don’t have time to explain everything to you. If you don’t hurry, you won’t be able to depart from this place,” urged Hadad panickily.

“I can’t leave, though. The black hole I came through has disappeared,” said Jared. “Didn’t you obtain a crystalline arrow here?” Hadad asked.

“Oh yeah! You’re right!” Without delay, Jared withdrew that crystalline arrow from his Storage Ring. “If you shoot this arrow with the Divine Bow at the sky, a portal will open. You’ll be able to return if you pass through it,” explained Hadad.

“I want to know what kind of place this is. Since I’m already here, can’t you show me hospitality and give me a tour of this realm? Why are you so eager to send me back home? What’s actually going on here?” Jared was confounded. Why is he desperately urging me to return?

Furiously, Hadad shouted at Jared, “I seriously do not have the time to explain everything to you. Hurry and use the Divine Bow to shoot that arrow and open the portal! Otherwise, it’ll be too late!”

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2398

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2398-Observing how anxious Hadad was, Jared refrained from uttering another word. He deftly drew back the bowstring and aimed it toward the dark sky.

Whoosh! Releasing his grip on the bowstring, Jared shot the glistening arrow into the sky. The arrow instantaneously detonated in the air, clearing up the darkness and revealing the clear blue sky.

Underneath the azure sky, a black hole gradually emerged. It was enveloped by a tremendous gravitational force that sucked everything in its vicinity. Upon seeing the black hole, all the phantoms floated slowly toward the sky and were subsequently sucked into the hole.

“Hurry! Leave!” Hadad urged Jared as the black hole appeared. Jared was about to say something when Hadad abruptly shoved him and sent him flying toward the black hole. The suction force engulfed Jared, pulling him inward.

After Jared completely vanished, Hadad waved his hand, causing the black hole in the sky to gradually dissipate. He gazed up at the sky and murmured to himself, “As expected of the son of a dragon.. He could pull the Divine Bow so effortlessly”

Just as he finished speaking, Hadad frowned and his expression swiftly changed. He cast a fleeting glance in the distance before transforming into a streak of light and vanishing without a trace. Shortly after Hadad’s departure, more than a dozen beams materialized directly at the summit of the mountain.

The group of people that emerged on the mountaintop beheld their surroundings. To be exact, they were not humans, but beings with animalistic heads and human-like bodies. “Your Majesty, the Divine Bow is missing. Someone must have pulled it!” a rat-headed individual said to a lion-headed figure.

“Who could it be? The person actually managed to draw the Divine Bow and even killed the giant phantom,” spat the lion-headed figure viciously as its gaze glinted coldly.

The rest remained silent. After a while, it waved its hands. “Chase after the culprit! I must find the person who managed to draw the Divine Bow!”

Soon, these monstrous beings with animalistic heads and human-like bodies transformed into beams of light and vanished without a trace.

Meanwhile, Jared, after being engulfed in impenetrable darkness, found himself once again in the valley. Emerging from the cave's mouth, he discovered that the valley had already become overrun by phantoms.

Trapped behind the sealed gates of the valley, the phantoms could not escape. "Who the f*ck dared to seal these gates? Do Wrey and the rest not want me to leave?"

Jared knew that Wrey and the rest were the culprits upon seeing the sealed gates. Yet, since there were so many phantoms surrounding him, Jared was in no hurry to leave. Instead, he planned to first kill the phantoms and replenish his Ultimate Force.

However, he refrained from using the Divine Bow in the valley. The Dragonslayer Sword alone proved more than sufficient for dealing with ordinary phantoms. Gripping the Dragonslayer Sword tightly, Jared embarked on a relentless massacre, his excitement mounting with each life taken.

Meanwhile, in the abyss outside the valley, Wrey and the rest were diligently practicing the techniques bestowed upon them by Yona. After numerous days of arduous training, they finally mastered the intricacies of the technique.

"No wonder so many would choose to pursue Demonic Cultivation despite being condemned. The Demonic Cultivation techniques are indeed formidable, though they're a bit brutal and violent," Wrey exclaimed excitedly upon mastering the techniques.

"In this society, strength reigns supreme. It is a world where the weak succumb to the strong. It doesn't matter how brutal the techniques might be. Let's unseal the gate and release the phantoms. I already can't wait!" said Hugh..

"Very well. Let's open the gate. After so many days, there must be quite a lot of phantoms inside. However, we'll be the only ones killing the phantoms. The other disciples can just scavenge our remains," declared Wrey.

No one dared to defy Wrey when he spoke. The disciples from the other sects possessed no authority to object, either. Wrey and his companions then stepped forward, combining their strengths to open the gate to the valley.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2399

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2399-While Wrey and the others opened the gate,. Matthew and Yashur were a short distance away from the abyss, having tirelessly searched for Jared for countless days.

They grew increasingly anxious since they could not find Jared no matter what. "Master, Mr. Chance didn't get into an accident, right?" Archer asked Matthew. "What are you talking about? Mr. Chance will be fine." Matthew shot Archer a piercing glare. "Looks like I'll need to play my trump card..."

Great Diviner took a deep breath before retrieving a bunch of copper coins from his pocket. He tossed the coins into the air. "Get into formation!" he yelled, prompting the disciples of Divination Sect to swiftly assemble into a formation resembling the eight trigrams.

Each disciple caught a copper coin in their palms. In unison, the disciples drew a drop of blood. essence from the middle of their brows and dropped it onto the surface of the copper coins. Meanwhile, Great Diviner struck his own chest with an unwavering force.

Pfft! Blood sprayed out of his lips, materializing instantly into a billowing screen that unfurled within the air. Immediately, the coins held by the disciples. started to glow, lighting up the red screen.

Gradually, a silhouette appeared on the curtain and quickly became clear. The scene depicted Jared fighting the phantoms with his Dragonslayer Sword. "It's Mr. Chance! It's Mr. Chance!" Skyler yelled excitedly. "It's that valley! The valley within the abyss!"

Matthew also discovered that Jared was indeed in that valley. The scene only appeared for a fleeting moment before dissipating. The copper coins that the Divination Sect disciples were holding shattered into countless fragments.

Meanwhile, Great Diviner collapsed on the ground, heavily injured. Reacting swiftly, Yashur extended his hand and channeled a surge of martial energy into Great Diviner's body.

"I'm relieved after seeing that Mr. Chance is fine. Mr. Songscloud, don't worry about me. Hurry and look for Mr. Chance. I'll recover after a few days," muttered Great Diviner weakly.

“Okay. Rest here. We shall return quickly.” Yashur nodded. Yashur and Matthew hastened toward the abyss, leaving Great Diviner and the Divination Sect disciples behind. Great Diviner suffered serious internal injuries after unleashing his ultimate move.

Within the abyss, Wrey and the rest finally opened the gate. They were brimming with excitement at the thought of killing the phantoms and bolstering their powers.

However, as the gate swung open gradually, a collective sense of astonishment befell them. The valley lay before them, a barren expanse bereft of even a trace of the phantoms..

“This doesn’t make sense. Why aren’t there any phantoms in sight?” Wrey voiced his bewilderment. “Let’s enter and see if anything happened at the mouth of the cave,” suggested Hugh, planning to check out the cave where the phantoms emerged from.

Yet, as they walked toward the depths of the valley, they were confronted by someone barring their way. Everyone was shocked when the person turned around.

“Jared?” they exclaimed in unison with a look of disbelief. They assumed that Jared had died after jumping into that black hole. Little did they expect him to still be alive.

Apparently, Jared was the one who killed every last phantom in the valley. “You aren’t dead yet, you rascal?” Wrey exclaimed in astonishment. “How can I possibly die first when you’re still alive?” Nathan revealed a cold smirk.

“Hmph! So what if you’re still alive? You won’t be able to live for long. This time, I will personally kill you and watch as you’re reduced to pulp.” This time, Wrey was determined to witness Jared’s demise with his own eyes. “I’m afraid you aren’t capable enough to kill me.”

Jared remained calm, unfazed even in the face of Wrey and the group of experts from the hidden realm. Those people posed no threat to Jared, who had the Divine Bow in his possession.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2400

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2400-“B*stard! You’re courting death!” Wrey wasn’t interested in wasting time spouting nonsense with Jared. He immediately got ready to launch an attack.

However, before Wrey could move, a gush of terrifying aura suddenly came rushing over. In the next moment, a few figures appeared before Jared to shield him.

“How dare you disrespect Mr. Chance? Do you have a death wish?” Glaring viciously at Wrey. Yashur waved his hand in the air, unleashing an intense wave of martial energy and sending Wrey flying away.

The others were startled to see Yashur appear before their eyes without warning. After all, Yashur had just demonstrated to them the power of a Manifestor not long ago. Wrey was in utter shock as he got to his feet and looked at Yashur, his complexion pale.

Although Yashur wasn’t a Manifestor yet, he was at least an Eighth Level Martial Arts Sovereign. In other words, he was too strong for Wrey to handle. Wrey knew he needed all the help from the others to defeat Yashur.

However, since Jared and Matthew were also there, Wrey and the others no longer had the upper hand. Wrey was livid and puzzled. Jared was supposed to face his doom today, but now, the tables have turned! Why is it so hard to kill Jared?

“Yashur, stay out of this. Let me handle Wrey on my own,” Jared said to Yashur. “Mr. Chance, with your current ability, I’m afraid you aren’t strong enough to face Wrey. Let me kill them for you!” Yashur was worried, thinking that Jared stood no chance of winning a fight against Wrey.

“Don’t worry. I only said so because I know I can defeat him.” Jared flashed a faint smile. Seeing how confident Jared was, Yashur nodded and got out of the way. If Mr. Chance turns out to be weaker than Wrey, I can always jump in to rescue Mr. Chance.

“Wrey, I’m giving you a chance to fight me one- on-one. If I’m weaker than you, you can kill me,” Jared taunted Wrey. “You’re too arrogant, Jared! Let’s make a deal, then. If you fail to defeat me, you aren’t allowed to let that old thing help you!” Wrey was afraid that Yashur would intervene.

“Well, of course. If you’re stronger than me, I don’t mind letting you kill me.” Jared smiled. “Fine. Let’s fight!” Wrey narrowed his eyes, and the martial energy in his body churned. In the next moment, countless swords were seen circling his body, and each sword was packed with an incredible amount of force.

“Flying Sword Array? Why is Wrey using his trump card as his first move?” Matthew was stunned when he saw the sword array Wrey had deployed. I think Wrey is trying to kill Jared with a single move so that Yashur won’t have the chance to intervene!

Yashur frowned slightly when he saw that. He then turned around to glance at the others from the hidden realm and warned, “I’ll kill anyone who dares to interfere in the fight between Mr. Chance and Wrey.”

Yashur was worried that Wrey’s subordinates would pull dirty tricks when Jared fought Wrey. The crowd from the hidden realm all retreated in fear when they heard Yashur’s words. Needless to say, none of them would dare to help Wrey.

“Go to hell!” Wrey launched his attack, and countless swords were shot in Jared’s direction. In response, Jared whipped out his Dragonslayer Sword and activated his Golem. Body. Just like that, the battle began.

Jared didn’t unleash his ultimate skill or take out the Divine Bow. Those are my trump cards. won’t use them unless absolutely necessary! Initially, Wrey was planning to kill Jared with a single move, but he soon found out that Jared was stronger than he thought..

As their weapons clashed with one another, explosions resounded continuously in the valley, and the earth shook. The onlookers were flabbergasted because none of them thought Jared was strong enough to fight Wrey. In fact, they had thought that the battle would be one-sided and that it would be a piece of cake for Wrey to defeat Jared.

Right then, Wrey started to grow anxious. If I can’t defeat Jared and end this fight soon, I’ll lose control over the people from the hidden realm! If that happens, no one will obey me anymore!