

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2431

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2431-Lamar had felt an overwhelming sense of danger the moment Divine Bow appeared. Powerless to defend against the arrow, he could only watch it approach him rapidly.

Following the noise of a loud explosion, the arrow radiated an even more foreboding aura. It seemed to encapsulate the force of heavenly thunder, which caused Lamar to be engulfed in turbulence. His body was met with tremendous force, and he flew backward.

Boom! Lamar crashed heavily to the ground and created a giant crater beneath him. Jared landed slowly and looked at Lamar without uttering a word.

Earlier, he could have shot Lamar dead with that arrow. The only reason he did not kill him was that he wanted to use the latter as a resource for cultivation. He wanted to absorb Lamar's power to increase his own cultivation level. White as a sheet, Lamar slowly rose to his feet and looked at Jared in disbelief.

Even Chester and Wayne were looking at Jared in shock. Neither of them could have beaten Lamar. If they had the capability to do so, Lamar would not have been able to chase them out of the Gate of Fire. After witnessing Jared trouncing Lamar, Chester and Wayne knew for a fact that Jared was far stronger than either of them.

The Divine Bow in Jared's hand, especially, filled them with awe. The moment Jared took it out, the intimidating aura it emitted had even Chester and Wayne trembling.

They were lucky to be on the same side as Jared. If they were enemies with him, he would have been able to send them to meet their maker by using Divine Bow alone. "What is that bow, Mr. Chance? How can it be so strong?" Wayne asked Jared curiously.

"This is Divine Bow. I guess it's considered a divine weapon. I can only harness a tenth of its power right now. If I could find a way to harness it fully, I might be able to shoot the sun down," Jared replied calmly.

With that, Chester and Wayne were even more astonished. If he could defeat Lamar with only a tenth of Divine Bow's power, then how powerful could it be at full strength?

At the sound of Jared's claim, Lamar's expression changed drastically. Although he did not know whether Jared was speaking the truth or not, he had gotten a taste of Divine Bow's power.

"Jared, I can give up the Gate of Fire as long as you let me and my son go."

Lamar knew he was fighting a losing battle against Jared. After all, he had already been defeated by Jared alone. If Chester and Wayne were to gang up on him together with Jared, he knew he would not be able to endure even a single blow.

Besides, the disciples of Zahrin Sect were close to being annihilated by the demon beasts. It was useless for Lamar to stay in the Gate of Fire. The secret realms would all disappear after the restoration of spiritual energy anyway. That was why Lamar was willing to give up the Gate of Fire to Jared. Even if Jared got his hands on it, he would not be able to have it for long.

"I'm not interested in that secret realm of yours. All I want is your cultivation. If you and your son are willing to give up your cultivation to me, then I'll let you guys live," Jared said flatly.

Lamar exploded with anger at once. "Quit daydreaming! We're all cultivators here. You should be well aware that losing our cultivation is worse than death for us!"

Jared was not surprised by Lamar's response. He knew from the start that the latter would disagree with it. "W-Wait! I'll do it!" Kayden yelled from where he had collapsed. "As long as you don't kill me, I'm willing to give you my cultivation!"

Kayden knew he was as good as dead to Jared. Even if he objected to the latter's request, he would not be able to stop Jared from getting his cultivation and would eventually lose his life.

After weighing things up, Kayden decided to comply with Jared's request, giving up his cultivation so that he could live.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2432

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2432-“You good-for-nothing! You’re bringing great shame on Zahrin Sect, you wretched child. What’s so terrifying about death? Why are you so cowardly?”

Lamar was appalled to see Kayden agreeing to Jared’s request, not to mention pleading with their opponent so submissively. He felt utterly embarrassed by his son’s behavior.

“Dad, a wise person knows better than to resist when the odds are against him. What good would our powers be if we were dead?” Kayden retorted shamelessly. “Shut your mouth! Don’t call me ‘Dad’ anymore. I’m not your father,” Lamar bellowed, his face flushed with anger.

“Are you really willing to relinquish your cultivation?” Jared asked as he sneered at Kayden. “Yes, I’m willing. Just spare me, and I’ll do anything you ask.” Kayden nodded fervently.

“Very well, then. Crawl over here. Once I’ve absorbed your cultivation, I’ll spare your life,” Jared declared. Without a moment of hesitation, Kayden crawled toward Jared.

“You good-for-nothing, I’ll kill you.” Lamar exploded with anger when he witnessed his son crawling toward Jared like a dog. At that moment, he made the decision to rid his family of such a shameful descendant. Just as Lamar was about to make his move, Chester and Wayne sprang into action.

The duo intercepted Lamar, effectively blocking his path. Lamar, weakened by his injuries, was no longer a match for them. Meanwhile, Kayden promptly arrived before Jared, who lightly pressed his hand against the former’s head.

In an instant, an immense suction force began extracting the cultivation within Kayden’s body. Kayden’s body trembled, and his face contorted into a fearsome expression. Even though he was in tremendous agony, he had no choice but to endure it in order to survive.

Soon after, every ounce of cultivation within Kayden’s body was absorbed by Jared. As of then, Kayden appeared as if he had aged ten-odd years, devoid of the aura of a cultivator. He struggled to rise to his feet and asked Jared. in a strained voice, “M-May I go now?”

Jared waved his hand and replied, “You may leave.”

With joy coursing through his veins, Kayden gleefully dashed toward a distant location. As his son's figure rapidly receded, Lamar fell into deep thought. He did not understand the purpose behind his relentless pursuit of cultivation and expansion of his own desires.

Ultimately, even his own son's loyalty eluded him. Such a realization struck Lamar with a heavy blow. After Kayden fled a distance away, a ferocious and savage demon wolf abruptly lunged at him.

He screamed in terror, frantically attempting to flee. Alas, as an ordinary person then, he stood no chance against the swift predator. The demon wolf swiftly closed in, sinking its sharp teeth into his arm and tearing it off with a vicious bite.

Kayden's anguished cries filled the air as the demon wolf mercilessly tore him apart with its fangs, devouring his remains piece by piece until nothing remained but the echoes of his torment within its belly..

Lamar's eyes widened in horror as he watched. his son being consumed by the wolf. In that harrowing instant, his mind shattered, and he descended into madness. "I'm going to kill you, Jared! I won't let you get your way even if it means sacrificing my life!"

Lamar knew that Jared never planned to let Kayden off. He was certain that Jared had sent that demon wolf to attack his son. Lamar let out a roar, his body beginning to swell. The spiritual power within him surged rapidly, causing a terrifying aura to emanate and spread through the air.

At that sight, Jared knew Lamar was prepared to self-destruct so as to perish alongside him. Hence, he quickly pulled the bowstring of Divine Bow.

Countless specks of light converged upon Divine Bow. A pristine white arrow appeared, poised and ready for release. Jared released the bowstring, and the white arrow flew toward Lamar.

The white arrow burst mid-air, creating a white web of spiritual energy that encased Lamar within its confines. The spiritual energy web gradually constricted, firmly restraining Lamar's swollen body.

He struggled with all his might but to no avail. Just then, Jared, filled with murderous intent, advanced toward Lamar.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2433

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2433-Lamar's eyes widened in disbelief as he watched Jared's astonishing display of power.

Never in his wildest dreams did he imagine that he could not self-destruct to bring Jared down with him.

Standing before Lamar, Jared stared at the trapped, helpless man with a smug expression on his face.

"Jared, don't celebrate just yet. I'm not the only purple-robed emissary. Besides, the spiritual energy will soon be restored. When that happens, you will all die," Lamar growled at Jared through gritted teeth.

"I can't say for sure if I'll still be alive then, but you're certainly going to die now!" Jared declared, his hand striking the man with unwavering resolve.

With that, Lamar's cultivation was swiftly drained out of his body, and he soon turned into a dried corpse.

Having absorbed Lamar's and Kayden's cultivation, Jared could feel the aura within his body surging.

It was a telltale sign of an imminent breakthrough.

Jared surveyed the corpses of the demon beasts that strewn the ground, then said to Chester and Wayne, "Great Elder, Mr. Gingerich, lead our men in collecting the beast cores from the dead demon beasts. With these cores, I may finally achieve the breakthrough I seek."

"Master, if you desire, I can command these demon beasts to regurgitate their cores for you," Feenix offered.

With a single command from her, the demon beasts would sacrifice themselves and regurgitate the beast cores.

However, Jared waved his hand dismissively. "There's no need for that. I still need them to tackle the other secret realms."

However, Jared waved his hand dismissively. "There's no need for that. I still need them to tackle the other secret realms."

Those surviving demon beasts held immense value to Jared.

Moreover, the fierce battle had claimed the lives of many demon beasts; he believed the cores collected from them would be sufficient.

Soon, the beast cores were presented before Jared, formed in a pile radiating a kaleidoscope of vibrant colors.

Unsure of how long the breakthrough would take, Jared cautioned, "Guard this place and ensure no one interrupts me."

"Don't worry, Mr. Chance. We will not allow anyone to disturb you," Chester promised.

"Master, I will remain by your side to guard against any interference," Feenix chimed in with determination.

Feeling assured, Jared settled into a comfortable sitting position and activated the Focus Technique. The tremendous influx of spiritual energy from the beast cores surged through his body.

Chester and the others stood watch for seven days. The once towering mound of beast cores had then diminished significantly.

However, Jared showed no signs of a breakthrough.

"How terrifying. Even with so many beast cores, he has yet to make a breakthrough," Wayne commented in astonishment.

"Let's wait and see. Mr. Chance's breakthrough does require a considerable amount of resources. However, the power he will exhibit after the breakthrough is beyond our reach," Chester remarked.

In the blink of an eye, it was the tenth day since Jared attempted to reach a breakthrough. As of then, the ground was devoid of beast cores.

Feenix made the crucial decision to summon some demon beasts and have them regurgitate beast cores to provide Jared with the necessary resources for his breakthrough.

After all, he had reached a critical juncture, and they could not afford to let their previous efforts go to waste.

However, just as Feenix was about to summon some demon beasts, Jared's body suddenly erupted with a terrifying aura.

That formidable aura pierced the heavens. Soon, a beam of light descended from above and enshrouded Jared completely.

Within the beam were flickering golden lights. Astonishingly, the breadth of the beam and the power it possessed surpassed any lightning tribulation.

Chester and Wayne watched the phenomenon with widened eyes, their expressions filled with disbelief.

"What... What is happening? Does transcending to a higher cultivation level not require a lightning tribulation?" Wayne questioned, unable to fathom the extraordinary sight.

"Perhaps this is the difference between Mr. Chance and us. The power contained within this beam of light might be far stronger than a lightning tribulation. I'm just worried that Mr. Chance won't be able to withstand it," Chester said worriedly.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2434

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2434-Feenix was also shocked by the scene unfolding before her eyes. Sensing the overwhelming power emanating from the beam of light, she grew concerned that Jared might struggle to withstand it. Hence, she decided to assist him.

However, just as Feenix moved to aid Jared in mitigating some of the force, the beam unleashed a powerful attack on her, violently propelling her away.

That beam of light shone on Jared, subjecting his body to a rapid metamorphosis accompanied by excruciating pain. Beads of cold sweat formed on his forehead as he endured the torment.

Jared gritted his teeth and remained motionless. He understood that it was a pivotal moment. If he could endure the pain, he would achieve a complete breakthrough.

It would not only amplify his power but also enhance his physique.

Gradually, a white cloud materialized in the sky. The beam of light shone on the cloud, transforming it into a magnificent rainbow celestial cloud.

Jared, who was sitting below the cloud, emanated an aura reminiscent of an immortal.

The pain in his body gradually dissipated after some time. Following that, he felt as if he were enveloped in the soothing warmth of sunlight, akin to immersing himself in a rejuvenating hot spring.

“Look, the beam of light is changing!” Wayne shouted.

Just then, the energy within the beam of light became tame; it was no longer wreaking havoc with its terrifying might.

Meanwhile, Jared felt a powerful updraft lifting him off the ground, carrying him toward the rainbow celestial cloud above.

With his body bathed in a radiant golden glow, he moved higher and higher as if he were becoming a divine entity.

With his body bathed in a radiant golden glow, he moved higher and higher as if he were becoming a divine entity.

Soon, Jared passed through the celestial cloud and stepped on it. In that instant, he sensed an overwhelming surge of power coursing through him.

With a graceful motion, he summoned the Dragonslayer Sword into his hand.

Yet, to his astonishment, as he infused the Power of Dragons into the sword, it started to tremble violently.

The connection between his mind and the sword spirit within the Dragonslayer Sword encountered unexpected resistance, hindering their once-harmonious union.

“What... What is happening?” Jared furrowed his brows.

Despite his attempts to intensify the infusion of power, the tremors within the Dragonslayer Sword grew stronger as if it was wrestling with inner turmoil.

Eventually, Jared had no choice but to keep the sword. He could not comprehend why the sword's affinity with him had diminished after his breakthrough.

With the Dragonslayer Sword safely stowed away, he turned his focus to the Dragon Bell. In the past, his lower cultivation level had nearly cost him his life when he forcefully activated the bell.

Since his cultivation level had increased, he desired to test his ability to wield the Dragon Bell's power.

Jared took the Dragon Bell from his Storage Ring and held it in his hand. After staring at it for a moment, he tossed the bell high into the air.

Suddenly, the bell began to expand in size and twirled in the air.

With the hammer gripped tightly in his hand, Jared leaped forward and forcefully struck the Dragon Bell.

Chime!

A resounding sound emanated from the Dragon Bell.

The Gate of Fire trembled violently, and the fabric of time and space within the secret realm underwent rapid and drastic changes.

The once desolate desert in the Gate of Fire transformed before their eyes, shifting at a visible and rapid pace. Lush oases and verdant forests emerged, painting a breathtaking new panorama.

The bewildering transformation left Chester and Wayne dumbfounded. Despite spending many years in the Gate of Fire, they had never witnessed such a profound change in its environment.

After all, each of the Eight Major Secret Realms was intricately designed according to the Five Elements and Eight Trigrams, each with its unique features and geographical settings.

Yet, the current environment was undergoing an unprecedented metamorphosis.

Just as Chester and Wayne grappled with their disbelief, Jared swung the hammer once more, striking the Dragon Bell with renewed force.

Although Jared only experienced a slight tingling sensation in his hand that time around, the resonating sound from the bell intensified.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2435

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2435-The new environment underwent another profound transformation within the secret realm.

The spatial fabric contorted and twisted while turbulent temporal currents wreaked havoc within the secret realm, posing a severe threat to its stability. The entirety of Gate of Fire was about to collapse!

Jared, who was on the celestial cloud, remained oblivious to the tumultuous changes unfolding in the Gate of Fire.

All the other secret realms also trembled and quaked in response to the reverberating sound waves.

“What’s happening?”

Quindon had a fearful look in his eyes when he sensed the vibrations in the Gate of Heaven.

Staying within Violet Fulmina Sect at the Gate of Earth, Angus, too, felt the intense fluctuations rippling through the secret realm.

He swiftly dispatched his disciple, Sigwin, to investigate the source of the turbulence.

At the same time, Tanner, who was within Evil Heart Sect, opened his half-closed eyes abruptly. The secret realm he was in was shaking violently as well.

“Jared has actually made a breakthrough. He intends to tear down the Eight Major Secret Realms one by one, but I won’t let him have his way.”

With a single wave of his hand, multiple beams of purple light shot forth.

Tanner’s plan was to summon the purple-robed emissaries to thwart Jared’s ploy.

They would bide their time until the designated hour to activate the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation. Once that happened, Jared would be powerless.

Within the Gate of Fire, Jared stored away the Dragon Bell. Although his current cultivation allowed him to activate the bell, he could only tap into a fraction of its true power.

Within the Gate of Fire, Jared stored away the Dragon Bell. Although his current cultivation allowed him to activate the bell, he could only tap into a fraction of its true power.

When Jared leaped down from the celestial cloud, he was taken aback to discover that the Gate of Fire had undergone a profound transformation.

The turbulent currents wreaked havoc on the secret realm, rendering the place completely uninhabitable.

“How did this happen?” Jared asked Chester in disbelief.

“Mr. Chance, did you sound the Dragon Bell earlier? After the bell rang twice, the secret realm turned into this state,” the latter explained.

“I...” Jared felt a pang of embarrassment. Earlier on, he merely wanted to test if he could activate the Dragon Bell. It was beyond his anticipation that such a simple action would bring about the destruction of the Gate of Fire.

“We must leave quickly. I reckon the Gate of Fire is on the brink of collapse,” Jared declared.

He quickly opened Thousands of Miles Away and promptly teleported back to Jadeborough.

Having achieved a breakthrough in his cultivation, Jared felt a newfound confidence. Although he might not be as powerful as Tanner, he believed he could win against the purple-robed emissaries.

However, he could not comprehend the sudden resistance he felt from the Dragonslayer Sword.

The sword had been his loyal companion for all his battles; it was an extension of his very being.

Jared found it hard to accept such a sudden turn of events.

“Could it be that the Dragonslayer Sword thinks I will forsake it since I now possess the Divine Bow and the Dragon Bell?” he muttered in bafflement.

Although the Dragonslayer Sword’s power currently paled in comparison to that of the Divine Bow and the Dragon Bell, it was still a formidable divine weapon. However, due to the damage it suffered, its strength had greatly diminished, requiring Jared to nurture and develop it painstakingly.

Jared grasped the Dragonslayer Sword in his hand once again. He infused it with a trace of the Power of Dragons to establish a harmonious connection with the sword, but the blade quivered vehemently, displaying a strong sense of resistance.

Feeling somewhat helpless, Jared reluctantly retracted the Dragonslayer Sword. It seemed that he would no longer be able to wield it effectively.

“I wonder how Josephine is doing?” he mumbled.

Jared was determined to visit the woman, regardless of any lurking danger. He yearned to share the joyous news of his mother’s rescue with her.

Moreover, after being separated for such a prolonged period, he could not deny the longing he felt for Josephine’s presence.

He made his way to the backyard of the Warriors Alliance. It was also the entrance to the Divine Quest Sect’s secret realm.

Once Jared opened the entrance, his body gradually faded from view before reemerging in the Divine Quest Sect’s secret realm.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2436

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2436-Jared was taken aback as he found himself standing in the secret realm of Divine Quest Sect.

Jared’s astonishment grew as he witnessed the profound changes that had occurred in the secret realm. The familiar cave was no longer present, replaced instead by a sight that left him awestruck. In the center of the realm stood eight colossal statues, each reaching a height of approximately ten meters and exuding a peculiar aura.

“Jared...”

“Jared...”

Josephine and Renee hurried over the second they saw Jared.

Observing the women, Jared couldn't help but notice their plump appearance, indicating that they seemed to be leading prosperous lives within the secret realm.

“What happened to the secret realm?” he asked, pointing toward the imposing statues.

“These statues popped out of nowhere some time ago. We don't know much about them either,” Josephine replied.

Jared's gaze remained fixed on the statues before him. It was evident that these were the very same statues he had encountered in the cave, albeit now significantly larger in size.

As he shifted his gaze toward one of the statues, he couldn't help but sense a strangely familiar aura emanating from it.

“Why is my aura in this statue?” A frown etched itself on Jared's visage as he slowly approached the statue.

The familiar aura became more apparent when Jared touched the statue. Moreover, it seemed like a terrifying suction was sucking him inside.

In a moment of sheer disbelief, Jared's eyes widened as he noticed his hand had been drawn into the depths of the statue.

Just as he was about to smash the statue, Josephine swiftly sprang into action. Leaping into the air with remarkable agility, she gracefully landed on the head of the statue. She gave it a gentle smack, causing the strange suction to instantaneously dissipate. The release of the suction freed Jared's hand from its grip.

Just as he was about to smash the statue, Josephine swiftly sprang into action. Leaping into the air with remarkable agility, she gracefully landed on the head of the statue. She gave it a gentle smack, causing the strange suction to instantaneously dissipate. The release of the suction freed Jared's hand from its grip.

"What is going on?" Jared asked as he stared at Josephine in shock.

"These statues correspond to each of the people here. As long as we can find our corresponding statue, we can enter it and control it from within," Josephine answered as she approached a different statue and touched it.

In the blink of an eye, Josephine vanished from sight, as if she had been consumed by the statue she touched.

Jared's face drained of colors when he saw that. "Josephine!"

"Calm down, Jared. She's all right. There's no need to panic." Renee swiftly moved to intercept the man's impulsive rush toward the statue.

Just then, the statue Josephine had entered radiated a brilliant golden light, seemingly infused with life.

The colossal figure, standing at about ten meters tall, moved with a weighty presence. Each step it took sent tremors through the ground, resembling a powerful earthquake.

After a brief moment, the statue emitted another brilliant golden light, and Josephine reappeared, causing the statue to come to a halt.

Jared stared at her in confusion. "How did you know you could control the statues?"

"We found out about it by chance, but we have no idea what they are used for," Josephine muttered.

Jared looked at the towering statues and realized they must be related to the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation.

However, he had no idea when the formation was activated or the means by which the statues could be controlled.

"Jared, why did you suddenly decide to visit us?" Renee asked him.

"I came because I missed you all. Besides, I have good news to share with you."

Jared smiled as he recounted the story of how he had rescued his mother to Josephine.

“Is it true? You rescued Mrs. Chance? That’s great!” Josephine exclaimed, her face lighting up with joy when she heard the news.

“Jared, now that Mrs. Chance is safe, have you considered marrying Josephine and starting a family? She’s been by your side for a long time, yet you’ve never taken that step. She dreams of having your beautiful children,” Renee playfully teased.

“Renee, what are you talking about? Who’s dreaming of what? Don’t say things like that,” Josephine retorted, giving Renee a stern look.

Jared glanced at Josephine. Feeling guilty, he said, “We’ll get married when I get all of you out of here.”

Josephine’s face reddened in embarrassment when she heard that. She had been eagerly anticipating that day for a long time. Meanwhile, Melanie, who had been observing them from the sidelines, remained silent, her thoughts concealed.

Josephine is Jared’s official girlfriend. What am I compared to her?

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2437

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2437-Worldly Emotions And Desires

Meanwhile, in the secret realm of Evil Heart Sect, Tanner looked grim as he faced the six purple-robed emissaries before him.

Within a short period, he had lost two purple-robed emissaries, and Jared had invaded two secret realms.

If Jared hadn’t rung the Dragon Bell to remind himself after his breakthrough, he might have unintentionally infiltrated all of the Eight Major Secret Realms.

“None of you are to leave this place until the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation activates. I don’t want Jared to defeat any of you. Once the spiritual energy is restored, he will be of no further use to me,” Tanner sternly addressed the six purple-robed emissaries.

The six emissaries exchanged concerned glances, and one of them stepped forward to address Tanner. “Lord Tanner, our families are still in the secret realm. If we stay here, what will Jared do to them?”

“That’s right. Our businesses and hard work are all in the secret realm. What will happen to them if we remain here?”

“Can you please bring our families and disciples here? Besides, the spiritual energy will soon recover. If the secret realm collapses then, we can live in the mundane world.”

The purple-robed emissaries, all weighing their options, couldn't bear the thought of abandoning their hard work and families in the other secret realm. None of them wanted to stay in Evil Heart Sect's secret realm, for they couldn't turn a blind eye to their responsibilities and loved ones.

Tanner's expression turned even colder as he fixed a piercing glare upon the purple-robed emissaries. Filled with anger, he sternly reprimanded them, “As cultivators, you should forsake all worldly attachments and desires. The notion of family ties will only hinder your cultivation progress. Once the spiritual energy is restored and we establish our dominion over the mundane world, I can guide you to the Ethereal Realm, where you can pursue even greater levels of cultivation. In that realm, you will have the potential to live for thousands of years. What use do you have for kinship?”

The purple-robed emissaries fell silent, their lips sealed tightly in submission, as they understood that there was no room for them to voice their concerns in Tanner's presence.

Just then, a crystal orb suspended in front of Tanner emitted a radiant glow. Within moments, it projected a vivid image depicting Jared's current whereabouts inside the secret realm of Divine Quest Sect.

“How dare that bastard come to the secret realm?” Tanner was taken aback when he saw the scene.

Right then, Skylor stared fixedly at the image of Jared as he walked forward. “Lord Tanner, I implore you. Let me deal with Jared.”

Skylor, fueled by a deep-seated grudge, had dedicated extensive time and effort to overcome Jared. Now that the opportunity for revenge had finally presented itself, Skylor was determined to settle the score once and for all. Tanner, recognizing the burning anger radiating from Skylor, nodded in acknowledgment and issued a stern reminder, “Bear in mind, Skylor, we cannot afford to kill him just yet. We still need him for the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation.”

“Understood.” Skylor nodded in understanding and hurried off.

The purple-robed emissaries fell silent, their lips sealed tightly in submission, as they understood that there was no room for them to voice their concerns in Tanner's presence.

Just then, a crystal orb suspended in front of Tanner emitted a radiant glow. Within moments, it projected a vivid image depicting Jared's current whereabouts inside the secret realm of Divine Quest Sect.

“How dare that b*stard come to the secret realm?” Tanner was taken aback when he saw the scene.

Right then, Skylar stared fixedly at the image of Jared as he walked forward.

“Lord Tanner, I implore you. Let me deal with Jared.”

Skylar, fueled by a deep-seated grudge, had dedicated extensive time and effort to overcome Jared. Now that the opportunity for revenge had finally presented itself, Skylar was determined to settle the score once and for all.

Tanner, recognizing the burning anger radiating from Skylar, nodded in acknowledgment and issued a stern reminder, “Bear in mind, Skylar, we cannot afford to kill him just yet. We still need him for the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation.”

“Understood.” Skylar nodded in understanding and hurried off.

Tanner then redirected his attention to the six purple-robed emissaries and issued his instructions, “Accompany Skylar and ensure that Jared remains confined within the secret realm. This way, he will be unable to cause disturbances elsewhere.”

He dispatched the purple-robed emissaries to accompany Skylar out of concern that Skylar’s anger might overpower him, potentially leading to Jared’s demise. Things would get tricky if that were to happen.

The six purple-robed emissaries accepted their assignment and departed. If we can make Jared stay in that secret realm, then we won’t have to worry about our families!

However, despite their commitment to the mission, the six purple-robed emissaries couldn’t help but feel displeased about having to assist Skylar. Meanwhile, in the secret realm of Divine Quest Sect, Jared explored every nook and cranny of the realm. Apart from the towering statues that emanated mysterious energy, he couldn’t find anything else out of the ordinary. There were no visible traces of arcane arrays either.

How did Divine Quest Sect manage to set up the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation? Typically, the presence of arcane arrays would leave behind distinct traces and a distinct aura. However, I couldn’t detect any despite thoroughly exploring the realm.

“Jared, you should leave as soon as possible. We’re doing just fine over here, and we’re not in danger either. If people from Evil Heart Sect find out that you’re here, they’ll definitely want to harm you,” Josephine persuaded, her concern for his safety evident in her words.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2438

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2438-“Don’t worry. I’ll definitely come back to save you all.” Jared gently patted Josephine’s face, then turned around to leave.

However, right after he spun on his heels, a flash of light erupted, and Skylar suddenly showed up before him.

When Jared saw Skylar, he was stunned. “Skylar? You’re not dead?”

He stared at Skylar incredulously. At that moment, the latter’s aura had undergone drastic changes. His severed arm had also somehow grown back.

“Jared, how could I possibly die when I haven’t avenged myself? You should be the one to perish before me,” Skylar replied haughtily.

At that moment, Skylar no longer took Jared seriously. In his opinion, the latter didn’t even qualify to fight him.

“Such confidence. I wonder if the lethal intent within your body is the source of your confidence?” Jared chirped.

Jared thought Skylar showing up was no different from presenting cultivating resources to him. The amount of lethal intent in his body can definitely augment my Ultimate Force.

“Quit yapping. I’ll let you know where my confidence comes from soon.” With that, Skylar’s expression darkened as his aura gradually intensified.

At that moment, a few more streaks of light flashed across, followed by the appearance of six purple-robed emissaries.

Looking at the six purple-robed emissaries, Jared immediately furrowed his brows, not expecting six of them to show up.

Facing merely one or two purple-robed emissaries wouldn’t be a significant threat to him, but to face six of them at once was undoubtedly challenging for Jared.

Seeing that, Josephine, Renee, and the others hurriedly adopted battle stances. No matter what, they wouldn’t stand idly by when Jared was in danger.

“Skylor, you loser. Did you know you’re not my opponent, so you specifically called for help, planning to overwhelm me with numbers?” Jared sneered at Skylor.

Skylor took in Jared’s contemptuous mien, then shifted his eyes to the purple-robed emissaries with rage churning within him.

“From now on, whenever I make my move, all six of you are not allowed to intervene. Do you understand?” Skylor commanded the six purple-robed emissaries.

At that moment, Skylor’s ego had inflated to its limit, disrespecting even the purple-robed emissaries because he knew even Tonner had to revere him now as he possessed the Inferno Devil’s Form.

The six purple-robed emissaries were enraged, listening to Skylor’s words. Nevertheless, they fathomed his importance in the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation, so they could only swallow their anger and remain silent.

Skylor was full of himself, seeing the six purple-robed emissaries didn’t dare to vent their anger at him.

Facing merely one or two purple-robed emissaries wouldn’t be a significant threat to him, but to face six of them at once was undoubtedly challenging for Jared.

Seeing that, Josephine, Renee, and the others hurriedly adopted battle stances. No matter what, they wouldn’t stand idly by when Jared was in danger.

“Skylar, you loser. Did you know you’re not my opponent, so you specifically called for help, planning to overwhelm me with numbers?” Jared sneered at Skylar.

Skylar took in Jared’s contemptuous mien, then shifted his eyes to the purple-robed emissaries with rage churning within him.

“From now on, whenever I make my move, all six of you are not allowed to intervene. Do you understand?” Skylar commanded the six purple-robed emissaries.

At that moment, Skylar's ego had inflated to its limit, disrespecting even the purple-robed emissaries because he knew even Tanner had to revere him now as he possessed the Inferno Devil's Form.

The six purple-robed emissaries were enraged, listening to Skylar's words. Nevertheless, they fathomed his importance in the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation, so they could only swallow their anger and remain silent.

Skylar was full of himself, seeing the six purple-robed emissaries didn't dare to vent their anger at him.

"Jared, I'll show you what I've got today!" With that, his figure turned into a blur as a black aura enveloped his body.

In the blink of an eye, he had launched himself in Jared's direction.

A demonic pitch-black claw probed out, and the spine-chilling lethal intent swiftly transformed into sharp blades, directly slashing at Jared's chest.

Skylar avoided Jared's heart because he couldn't kill the man yet.

He moved at breakneck speed, and before Jared could even react, he had arrived before the latter.

"Yield!" Skylar roared.

The attack contained the endless humiliations and resentments Skylar had endured. He had suffered inhumane torments for the sake of experiencing that precise moment.

A biting wind blew by as Skylar approached with bloodshot eyes.

"That's all you've got, yet you think you can harm me? Aren't you overestimating yourself?" Jared curled his lips at Skylar while regarding the latter with a disdainful expression.

Just as Skylar's claw was about to make contact with Jared's torso, dazzling golden light burst forth from Jared's body.

As Golem Body was activated, layers of golden scales covered Jared's entire body.

Clang!

Josephine and the others yelled at the same time Skylar's claw struck Jared's chest.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2439

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2439-"Jared!"

"Jared!"

At that sight, Josephine, Melanie, and Renee unleashed their spiritual energy in unison, preparing to rush toward Skylar.

However, they stopped the next instant and looked at Jared in a daze.

Skylar's claw strike didn't result in blood splattering or any visible wound.

Jared sneered and riveted his eyes on Skylar disparagingly.

The smile on Skylar's face froze and was replaced with a look of utter disbelief.

He had exerted all his strength in that claw strike earlier, and Jared had taken the hit head-on, yet he still failed to injure Jared.

Skylar couldn't cause his opponent the slightest harm, even as the latter stood unmoving in his spot.

"H-How is this possible? No way!" Resentment filled Skylar's eyes as he looked at Jared.

In order to defeat the man, Skylar had even undergone the most brutal training.

Now that he had completed his training, Skylar thought he could triumph over and take revenge against Jared effortlessly.

In the end, he still wasn't Jared's match.

Not only was he not a match, but he also couldn't even wound Jared in the slightest.

The turns of events caused Skylar to be disheartened and dumbfounded.

He wasn't the only one to feel that. The six purple-robed emissaries also shared his sentiment and frowned after witnessing that. They didn't expect Jared's capabilities to grow so powerful in such a short time.

"Do you think you're the only one who has been cultivating and has improved during this period? Let me tell you. You will never surpass me." Jared chuckled coldly.

Then, he sent Skylor flying away with a single kick. Skylor's body was launched into the distance like a kite with a broken thread before landing heavily on the ground.

Pfft!

Skylor spotted a mouthful of blood on the floor, the reflex partly prompted by his injury and partly because of extreme anger.

"Why? Why is this happening?" he lamented at the sky, feeling that the heavens were being unfair to him. I've trained so hard and even subjected myself to the harshest environment and most brutal torments, yet all the efforts were in vain.

The devastating blow was too much for Skylor to bear.

Looking at the dozed Skylor, Jared fathomed the setback had ruined the man, so he smirked and said, "Instead of letting you live in such agony, I shall just grant you a swift death!"

With that, Jared raised his palm and swung it at Skylor.

He wanted to do away with Skylor because the latter was too cunning. As long as Skylor was alive, Jared would never have peace.

However, just as Jared was about to hit Skylor, a figure suddenly showed up in a flash and shielded the latter while exchanging a ferocious palm strike with Jared.

Bong!

After the thunderous sound rang out, the purple-robed emissaries took three steps back while Jared's body merely swayed a little.

“Do you think you’re the only one who has been cultivating and has improved during this period? Let me tell you. You will never surpass me.” Jared chuckled coldly.

Then, he sent Skylar flying away with a single kick. Skylar’s body was launched into the distance like a kite with a broken thread before landing heavily on the ground.

Pfft!

Skylar spat a mouthful of blood on the floor, the reflex partly prompted by his injury and partly because of extreme anger.

“Why? Why is this happening?” he lamented at the sky, feeling that the heavens were being unfair to him. I’ve trained so hard and even subjected myself to the harshest environment and most brutal torments, yet all the efforts were in vain.

The devastating blow was too much for Skylar to bear.

Gazing at the dazed Skylar, Jared fathomed the setback had ruined the man, so he smirked and said, “Instead of letting you live in such agony, I shall just grant you a swift death!”

With that, Jared raised his palm and swung it at Skylar.

He wanted to do away with Skylar because the latter was too cunning. As long as Skylar was alive, Jared would never have peace.

However, just as Jared was about to hit Skylar, a figure suddenly showed up in a flash and shielded the latter while exchanging a ferocious palm strike with Jared.

Bang!

After the thunderous sound rang out, the purple-robed emissaries took three steps back while Jared’s body merely swayed a little.

That purple-robed emissary was astounded. Seeing that, the other purple-robed emissaries immediately surged and first surrounded Jared and the others.

“What’s the matter? Are you planning to gang up on me?” Jared asked frostily while sweeping his eyes across the six purple-robed emissaries.

One of the purple-robed emissaries walked up to Jared and said, “Jared, we won’t kill you, but you’d better stay put obediently. Otherwise, don’t blame us for being unmerciful.”

Jared thought the voice sounded familiar. Then, he suddenly remembered whose voice that was. It’s Quindon!

Jared didn’t expect the most powerful member of the Eight Major Secret Realms, Quindon, to be one of the purple-robed emissaries.

“You still need me to activate your Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation, so you won’t dare to kill me. In that case, why should I listen to you? What can you do to me if I refuse to comply? I insist on leaving.” Jared strode in the direction of Divine Quest Sect.

After he heard that, Quindon’s countenance flushed crimson in anger, and he shouted, “Stop him! We can’t kill him, but that doesn’t mean we can’t cripple him. Cripple him, and let’s see if he can still behave so arrogantly!”

With that, the few purple-robed emissaries charged at Jared.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2440

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2440-Jared’s confidence was long doused as he faced the six purple-robed emissaries. Just as he was racking his brains for a way to deal with them, a roar sounded behind him.

Skylar stood up angrily, yelling, “Stop fighting, you all! Hand Jared to me. I’m going to cut off his limbs!”

When the six purple-robed emissaries turned around, they noticed a cloud of lethal intent around Skylar, who seemed to have grown bigger in size.

Black fog condensed behind Skylar the next second and transformed into a colossal hell deity.

The hell deity held two swords as it glared at them, its expression ferocious.

The six purple-robed emissaries jumped at the sight of the creature before them, and they scrambled to make way for Skylar.

Skylar walked toward Jared. Every time he made a step, the hell deity behind him did the same, its oppressive energy closing in on Jared.

“Jared, don’t forget that I have Inferno Devil’s Form. My body is different from that of normal people,” reminded Skylar while staring daggers at Jared.

The closer Skylar got to Jared, the bigger the hell deity behind him grew.

“Jared, time for you to die!” he bellowed.

The hell deity also let out a howl and closed its two swords against each other, releasing an immense wave of power.

Yet, just as it was about to charge toward Jared, the sky darkened. An enormous hand emerged from the clouds and landed on the hell deity, which dissipated in an instant.

“Are you disregarding everything that I told you?” Tonner’s voice boomed from the sky.

Upon hearing Tonner’s voice, Skylar shivered. He was indeed overcome with rage and the desire to kill Jared just now.

If he had really done that, he would be in great trouble.

He hurriedly knelt down and pleaded, “Lord Tonner, I’m so sorry. Please forgive me just once...”

“Jared totally outclasses you right now; his capabilities far surpass yours. You must keep cultivating. Set aside your thoughts of revenge and focus on cultivation,” advised Tonner.

“Lord Tonner, Jared killed my father. He’s been bullying me all this time. The reason I cultivated so aggressively is to defeat him and avenge my father. I have Inferno Devil’s Form. Once I activate it, Jared will be no match for me!” Skylar shouted.

He believed that the reason he couldn’t beat Jared was that he didn’t activate his Inferno Devil’s Form. Otherwise, Jared would be no rival for him.

The hell deity also let out a howl and clashed its two swords against each other, releasing an immense wave of power.

Yet, just as it was about to charge toward Jared, the sky darkened. An enormous hand emerged from the clouds and landed on the hell deity, which dissipated in an instant.

“Are you disregarding everything that I told you?” Tanner’s voice boomed from the sky.

Upon hearing Tanner’s voice, Skylar shivered. He was indeed overcome with rage and the desire to kill Jared just now.

If he had really done that, he would be in great trouble.

He hurriedly kneeled down and pleaded, “Lord Tanner, I’m so sorry. Please forgive me just once...”

“Jared totally outclasses you right now; his capabilities far surpass yours. You must keep cultivating. Set aside your thoughts of revenge and focus on cultivation,” advised Tanner.

“Lord Tanner, Jared killed my father. He’s been bullying me all this time. The reason I cultivated so aggressively is to defeat him and avenge my father. I have Inferno Devil’s Form. Once I activate it, Jared will be no match for me!” Skylar shouted.

He believed that the reason he couldn’t beat Jared was that he didn’t activate his Inferno Devil’s Form. Otherwise, Jared would be no rival for him.

Tanner did not respond, and his huge hand slowly disappeared. It was also then that the hell deity materialized again and returned to its spot behind Skylar.

As if understanding Tanner’s intention, Skylar stood up and turned to Jared with a murderous look. “Jared, I’ll make you experience what it feels like to be living in hell.”

Right after he said that, his body glowed and merged with the hell deity.

Then, the gigantic hell deity approached Jared while swinging its swords.

Jared swiftly flipped his right hand. Dragonslayer Sword appeared on his palm, and he thrust it forward to shield himself from the hell deity's swords.

However, Jared could feel his Dragonslayer Sword vibrating abnormally. It was quivering so violently that he could not even control it.

No matter how hard he tried to infuse the Power of Dragons into the sword, he couldn't manage to communicate with the sword spirit.

Crack. Crack. Crack.

Following the small noises, Jared noticed tiny crevices showing up on the Dragonslayer Sword.