A Man Like None Other Chapter 2551-After that, Jared followed Ivasha through the streets and arrived in the center of Imperial Beast City.

Right when the pair was about to enter the palace in Imperial Beast City, a young man in golden armor approached them and said, "Princess Ivasha, I was worried sick when King Yuven said you had gone out alone. It's very dangerous out there. If something bad had happened to you, it would be troublesome! Please inform me when you want to head out next time. I can protect you."

The young man looked very concerned when he said those words to Ivasha.

However, Ivasha merely glanced at him faintly and uttered in disgust, "Who do you think you are, Tigerus? What made you think I needed to ask for your permission to head out? Do you really think I need to report to you?"

"Oh, no. That's not what I meant! I was just worried about your well-being!" Tigerus hurriedly explained with a shake of his head. When he saw Jared, he furrowed his brows and asked, "Princess Ivasha, why did you bring a human back with you?"

Right after Tigerus finished speaking, he continued in bafflement, "That's not right... This fellow possesses both the aura of the beast race and a human. How could that be? In fact, he possesses the aura of a celestial beast... This is odd! Very odd! Could it be that he's a product of a marriage between the human race and the beast race?"

Tigerus was bamboozled by Jared's aura, and he couldn't help sizing the latter up.

"Contain your curiosity. Whoever I bring back with me shouldn't concern you. Your duty is to guard the imperial city. You should just focus on your job!"

Once Ivasha reprimanded Tigerus, she said to Jared, "Let's go, Jared."

As Ivasha led Jared into the palace, he picked up his pace and walked alongside her.

Tigerus was pissed off when he saw that. I've never been allowed to walk beside Princess Ivasha!

"Hey... It seems like that subordinate of yours is into you," Jared said to Ivasha.

Jared spoke in a casual tone because he didn't sense any animosity from Ivasha.

"He's reaching for the stars with his feet on the ground! I would never fall for a peeper!" Ivasha fumed.

"A peeper?" Jared froze momentarily. What is Princess Ivasha talking about?

"That Tigerus is a pervert, and he's always secretly watching girls shower. For some reason, he thought he was so good at casting illusion spells that no one would ever catch him. Yet, he was caught! What a shameless and disgusting pervert!" The more Ivasha talked about Tigerus, the angrier she got.

Jared, on the other hand, was completely taken aback. That guy looked so honorable! Who would've thought that he could be a pervert? No wonder Princess Ivasha was so disgusted when she talked to him!

When the pair arrived at the palace, Ivasha called out, "Father! Father!"

A beat later, an elderly dressed in green appeared and bowed respectfully. "Princess Ivasha, King Yuven has left the city. He's most probably only coming back tomorrow!"

"Seriously? Why didn't Father wait for my return?" Ivasha pursed her lips unhappily. She then said to the elderly in green, "Mr. Poulsen, settle this man in a room and let him rest. I brought him here to see my father."

The elderly in green, Julius Poulsen, nodded and turned toward Jared, uttering politely, "Sir, this way, please."

Upon hearing that, Jared cast Ivasha a baffled glance. She brought me into the palace and arranged a room for me without asking me anything. What's going on?

"Have a good rest. I know you're injured, so you have limited strength. I'll get someone to deliver you some herbs to help you recuperate. We'll talk more when my father returns tomorrow. Relax, all right? I won't hurt you!" Ivasha assured Jared.

Noticing the sincerity and friendliness in Ivasha's tone, Jared followed Julius' lead and left to get some rest.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2552

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2552-Julius guided Jared to a rather ordinary room and respectfully said, "You may rest here. If you need anything, don't hesitate to call me."

"Thank you, Mr. Poulsen!" Jared responded gratefully, acknowledging the courteous treatment.

Just when Julius was about to step out of the room, Jared suddenly halted him.

He asked, "Mr. Poulsen, can I ask you something?"

"Feel free to ask me anything!" Julius responded.

"Mr. Poulsen, are all the inhabitants here beast cultivators? Are there humans living in the city?" Jared inquired with curiosity.

Julius shook his head. "There are no humans here. We're all beast cultivators, and we're a part of the beast race. The humans have their own territories, so they won't live search among us."

"You mean no humans have ever set foot here before?" Jared could not help but express surprise. It's such a vast city, yet no humans have discovered it or come here before?

"Humans do come to our city. We often invite some alchemists over to aid in refining pills or seek medical assistance," Julius explained. "You see, it's nearly impossible for us beast cultivators to become alchemists, so we can only rely on them!"

Jared nodded in understanding upon learning that the beast cultivators could transform into human forms but were unable to become alchemists.

"Are there any other questions?" Julius asked softly.

Jared shook his head. "That's all I want to know for now. Thank you, Mr. Poulsen!"

After Julius left, Jared remained in the room, quietly adjusting his breathing and slowly recovering his strength.

A few moments later, someone knocked on the door, startling Jared.

He opened his eyes and saw Ivasha walking in with a porcelain tray.

On the tray lay a brownish-green pill that emitted a faint glow.

At first glance, Jared could tell that this pill was no ordinary pill.

He stood up and greeted her with respect, "Princess Ivasha."

"I've brought you a Revitalize Essence Pill. It seems like your injuries still haven't fully healed. Taking this pill might be beneficial for treating your wounds," Ivasha said as she placed the porcelain tray on the table.

Jared looked at the Revitalize Essence Pill, his face showing a hint of puzzlement. To a beast cultivator who could never become an alchemist, this pill was undoubtedly an invaluable item!

However, he could not fathom why Ivasha would present him with such a precious gift. He could not grasp her intentions.

"Your Highness, pardon me for asking this, but why are you presenting me with such a significant gift even though we've only just met?" Jared inquired, genuinely perplexed.

"Because I need some answers from you," Ivasha replied.

"What answers?" Jared asked, his expression freezing for a moment as he was unsure what she was referring to.

"You possess the aura of both a human and a celestial beast, which indicates that your parents must be from different races," Ivasha explained. "One of your parents is from the beast race, whereas the other is from the human race. I wish to know who your parents are and how they managed to conceive you."

Jared knitted his brow, puzzled by Ivasha's inquiry about his parents. Nevertheless, he answered, "My mother is a human, but as for my father, I've never met him, and I know nothing about him. Why do you ask about this? Do you think there's something amiss about my birth?"

Jared looked at Ivasha with a perplexed expression, unable to comprehend the purpose behind her question or what she hoped to discover.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2553

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2553-"You're probably unaware of this, but the beast race is forbidden from marrying humans. Even if such a union were to occur, they would be unable to bear children. In Imperial Beast City, many have formed emotional bonds with humans, but in the end, not a single couple succeeded in conceiving. That's why we've always believed that forming a bond with humans was a violation of the laws of nature. The fact that they can't conceive is the punishment. But after learning about you, I want to know how you were born and how your parents managed to avoid such punishment," Ivasha explained further.

Upon hearing this, Jared was taken aback. He had never known about such a rule that forbade the beast race from marrying humans, and the fact that such unions could not bear children puzzled him greatly. Does that mean my union with Feenix is against the laws of nature too?

"I'm afraid I don't have an answer to your question, Your Highness. I have no idea about my own situation at all," Jared responded with a wry grin.

He had not even met his father, so he was clueless about his birth.

"It's all right. When my father returns, he might be able to shed some light on the matter. Do stay here for the night," Ivasha said before leaving.

Jared decided not to consume the Revitalize Essence Pill for the time being. While Ivasha seemed trustworthy, he did not have enough power to discern the ingredients of such a high-level pill with his current capabilities. He did not want to risk eating it without understanding its effects. Hence, he placed the pill in his Storage Ring for safekeeping.

He opened the window of the room, revealing a view of Imperial Beast City. The entire city was brightly illuminated with lights.

After observing from the window for a while, he decided to leave the room to explore the city further.

The presence of guards was not too imposing, indicating a perceived sense of safety within the city.

As Jared wandered without a specific destination, he absorbed the unique atmosphere of that exotic imperial city.

As he passed by one room, a faint scent of sandalwood enticed him to push open the door and enter.

Inside, he discovered a small library adorned with two wooden bookshelves that showcased an array of books.

Jared picked up one book and began flipping through its pages, only to find that the text was written in the language of the beast race, entirely different from the ones he knew as a human.

He attempted to read several other books, but they all presented the same enigmatic script, leaving Jared perplexed. "What kind of characters are these? I can't even read a single thing."

Jared had no choice but to put the books back in their places, preparing to leave the library.

However, Jared soon came to a halt as if he had recalled something important.

He picked up a book, but this time, he decided not to read it with his eyes. Instead, he gently caressed the book and wrapped his spiritual sense around it.

In an instant, the pages of the Wordless Tome emitted a soft glow as its contents flowed into his memory like a gentle stream.

Within moments, the once unintelligible text became imprinted in his mind, every word memorized with precision.

A smile of satisfaction crept onto Jared's face. He effortlessly returned the book to its original position and reached for another, ready to employ the same technique once more.

There were countless volumes of books in the library, and if Jared could absorb the knowledge from each one, his understanding of the beast race would undoubtedly deepen significantly.

However, just as he was about to delve into another book, the library's door was suddenly flung open, and a group of golden-armored warriors rushed in.

"How dare you trespass into the library of the imperial palace! Are you tired of living?" roared a golden-armored Tigerus, his anger palpable upon seeing Jared perusing the tomes.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2554

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2554-This was Imperial Beast City, the territory of the beast race. It was bad enough that Jared, a human, was brought there, yet he even dared to sneak into the imperial library in the middle of the night!

"Don't misunderstand. I was just—"

When Jared saw Tigerus, he wanted to explain, but before he could finish his sentence, the latter swung his sword at him.

Jared had no choice but to throw the book at Tigerus and attempt to escape.

"Think you can run? If I let you go, then I, as the general of the royal guards, would be unworthy of my title!" Seeing Jared trying to flee, Tigerus roared angrily and charged at Jared with his sword again.

Tigerus harbored prejudice against Jared. He didn't like humans and thought they were too cunning.

Unfortunately, Ivasha had a soft spot for humans. She was always hoping she could marry one and have a human husband.

However, because the beast and human races couldn't intermarry, Ivasha had to restrain herself.

When Tigerus saw Ivasha walking side by side with Jared, laughing and chatting, he was beside himself with rage.

Therefore, upon discovering Jared had sneaked into the imperial library and browsed the books inside, he immediately found an excuse to teach Jared a lesson.

Tigerus was ruthless in his attacks, seemingly intent on killing Jared.

With his strength not fully recovered, Jared was no match for Tigerus. Seeing the latter's ferocious strikes and lethal moves, Jared could only rely on his agility to dodge constantly.

Whoosh!

Tigerus swung his sword toward Jared's face, the spine-chilling and razor-sharp blade rapidly approaching Jared.

Jared wanted to dodge, but Tigerus was too fast that time, rendering Jared unable to evade the attack.

At that point, Jared could only grit his teeth. His body shone with golden light as he activated Golem Body. Instantaneously, dazzling golden scales covered his entire figure.

Clang!

Crossing his arms, Jared blocked Tigerus' attack.

However, the enormous force threw him back, and he fell heavily to the ground. Golem Body shattered in an instant and dissipated in a flash of golden light.

Blood trickled down the corner of Jared's mouth. The difference in strength between him and Tigerus was insurmountable. Even with Golem Body's protection, he was still injured.

"I didn't expect you, a mere human, to have this golden protective armor. It seems you're not a simple person. You must've come to Imperial Beast City with an ulterior motive! I'll kill you today! Let's see how you can still plot against our city if you're dead!"

After saying that, Tigerus brought his blade down on Jared again.

In the face of Tigerus' formidable move, Jared could only close his eyes in resignation. He knew he could not withstand that blow.

However, just as Tigerus' sword was about to hit Jared, a flash of light suddenly flickered and struck the blade.

Tigerus jerked at the impact and staggered a few steps back.

"Tigerus, how dare you attack my guest?" Ivasha stormed over angrily with Julius by her side.

The person who saved Jared a moment ago was Julius.

"Are you all right, Jared?" Ivasha stepped forward to help Jared up from the floor.

He chuckled wryly and shook his head.

At that moment, he felt utterly helpless. If it weren't because he hadn't fully recovered his abilities, he wouldn't have fallen into such a pathetic state while fighting against Tigerus.

"Princess Ivasha, this punk sneaked into King Yuven's imperial library and was caught red-handed by me while he was secretly reading King Yuven's book collection. I've said this early on—humans are cunning and untrustworthy. He must harbor ulterior motives for reading King Yuven's books!" Tigerus loudly declared to Ivasha.

Hearing that, Ivasha turned to gaze at Jared in slight astonishment with a questioning look in her eyes.

"Princess Ivasha, I was just feeling too bored in my room and wanted to take a stroll. I ended up wandering here and browsed through the books inside. You were the one who brought me here forcefully, so what ulterior motives could I possibly have?" That was the only explanation Jared could come up with to defend himself.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2555

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2555-Still, Jared's explanation seemed a bit far-fetched. As a result, Ivasha remained slightly unconvinced.

"Princess Ivasha, the books in this imperial library are written in the beast race's language, so a human wouldn't be able to understand the text," Julius, standing at one side, reminded in an undertone at that moment.

Clarity washed over Ivasha after she heard that. Then, she smiled and said, “I believe you entered here by accident. Hurry up and go back to rest now. Stop wandering around.”

Tigerus glared at Jared’s retreating figure from behind.

“Princess Ivasha, that guy is obviously a bad person! Humans are deceitful and always commit heinous acts. You can’t continue to mingle so closely with them!” Tigerus said to Ivasha.

Ivasha knitted her brows and narrowed her eyes. “Tigerus, are you lecturing me?”

“I dare not.” Sensing Ivasha’s wrath, Tigerus lowered his head.

“Mind your place!” Ivasha’s expression was chilly as she ordered, “Take your men and leave.”

Following Tigerus’ departure, Julius uttered to Ivasha, “Princess Ivasha, although Jared doesn’t seem powerful and poses no threat to Imperial Beast City, I still think it’s better not to let him stay here for too long.”

“Okay. After Father is back and meets with Jared, I’ll send him away at once. But I’m not sure if Father will be back tomorrow. He left in such a hurry. I wonder if he had something urgent to deal with,” Ivasha responded while bobbing her head.

“Princess Ivasha, King Yuven left the city to help me hire a famous alchemist for my daughter. He’ll be back tomorrow,” Julius replied.

Ivasha was momentarily dazed after hearing that. Then, she chirped to Julius, “Okay. Rest early and stop worrying, Mr. Poulsen. Since Father is attending to this matter in person, I believe he’ll be able to find a highly-skilled alchemist to treat your daughter’s condition.”

“I’ll never forget the kindness King Yuven and you have shown me, Princess Ivasha.” Tears brimmed in Julius’ eyes.

His daughter had fallen ill with a strange disease and became bedridden. He had sought help from many alchemists, but none was able to cure his daughter.

Julius felt utterly grateful now that Yuven had personally gone to find an alchemist.

After Julius left, Ivasha remained rooted to her spot. She turned to look in a certain direction and said somewhat angrily, "Come out! I trusted you and let you go, but I can't believe you came back here."

The moment she finished her sentence, Jared slowly emerged from a dark corner. An embarrassed look spread across his countenance.

He did leave the place earlier, but he was too curious to learn about the beast race, so he secretly retraced his steps back to the imperial library.

Jared had read one of the beast race's books, which revealed some information previously unknown to him. However, that book disclosed to him only the tip of the iceberg of details related to the beast race.

He was eager to know more, so he planned to return to the imperial library and read a few more books. Unexpectedly, Ivasha discovered him.

"Princess Ivasha, I'm simply very curious about the beast race, so I wanted to learn more about you. I assure you I mean no harm," Jared uttered with utmost sincerity.

Back in the mundane world, all he ever encountered were untransformed demon beasts, so beast race culture was non-existent.

On the contrary, here in the Ethereal Realm, the beast race was developed. Like humans, they possessed their own culture and philosophies and even built their own city. That further aroused Jared's inquisitiveness to gain a better understanding of the beast race.

"I don't care if you're genuinely curious or harboring ulterior motives. If I see you stepping out of your room again, don't blame me for not showing you mercy!" Ivasha's eyes gleamed with a hint of murderous intent.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2556

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2556-Sensing Ivasha's murderous intent, Jared had no choice but to leave and return to his room.

As he lay down on the bed, he digested the contents he had read in the book about the beast race earlier. Without realizing it, he fell asleep.

The next morning, a sedan chair gilded in gold was slowly brought into the city.

When those in the city saw the sedan chair, they all shifted to stand by the side of the road in rows as they stared at the sedan chair with reverence.

The one who was sitting inside the sedan chair was none other than the highest person in charge of the city—the king, Yuven.

There was also another sedan chair behind Yuven's that looked equally grand.

Inside that sedan chair was an elderly man who had his eyes closed as he enjoyed the royal treatment.

"Who's in that sedan chair behind? Why do they have the right to be in a sedan chair as magnificent as King Yuven's?"

"This must be King Yuven's esteemed guest. Didn't you see King Yuven heading out of the city yesterday to welcome them?"

"I heard that King Yuven had gone out to invite an alchemist. Could an alchemist be inside that sedan chair?"

"How capable must the alchemist be to have the right to be in that sedan chair and to have King Yuven invite them to the city himself?"

The people on the streets were guessing the identity of the mysterious person in the second sedan chair.

Once the sedan chair entered the palace, Yuven invited the elderly man out of the vehicle.

"Mr. Holt, this way, please."

Yuven was exceptionally humble in his tone and behavior.

On the other hand, the elderly man was acting all high and mighty. With his chin jutting into the air proudly, he stepped out of the sedan chair.

Julius, who was already waiting to welcome Hosen in the palace, was so excited that he began to tremble when he saw the man who stepped out of the sedan chair.

“Oh, my dear daughter, there’s hope for you now...” Julius muttered under his breath.

At the same time, Julius was moved by Yuven’s humble demeanor. After all, despite being the king, Yuven had lowered himself to save his daughter.

Julius swore to himself that he was going to repay Yuven’s kindness with his life.

“Father...”

When Ivasha saw that her father had returned, she ran over to him.

Ivasha was eager to let her father meet Jared. If she could remove the restriction on interracial marriage, she would be able to be in a relationship with a human.

“Ivasha, this is Mr. Holt of the Emerald Cauldron Sect. It is our honor to have Mr. Holt come to our Imperial Beast City. Once you have the chance later, do speak with Mr. Holt so that he can create a few pills for preserving your appearance. That way, you won’t complain that you’re aging that quickly anymore,” Yuven said to his daughter as he gazed at her lovingly.

Hearing that, Ivasha hastily bowed toward Hosen, greeting, “Mr. Holt.”

“Mm.” Hosen still had his head tilted up in a pompous posture.

Ivasha was a little displeased with Hosen’s attitude, but at the end of the day, Hosen was someone her father had hired, so she had to keep her remarks to herself.

“Father, I have to talk to you about something. I’ve brought someone here, hoping that you’ll—”

Ivasha was hoping to ask her father to meet Jared, but before she could finish her sentence, Yuven waved his hand dismissively and said, “I’m heading off with Mr. Holt to handle official business first. We'll talk about your matter later."

With that said, Yuven led Hosen toward the inside of the palace with Julius keenly following them.

Yuven brought Hosen straight to Julius' daughter's room. The second the door was pushed open, the medicinal scent that filled the room escaped and wafted across their noses.

A thin and pale-faced girl was lying on the bed in the room, her eyes shut.

Her breathing was weak, and it was as if she would pass on at any time.

"Mr. Holt, this is Mr. Poulsen's daughter. We've hired several alchemists, but none has been able to cure her. Please, Mr. Holt, have a look at her," Yuven pleaded.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2557

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2557-With a nod, Hosen stepped forward. He only gave the girl a glance before tapping thrice on the girl's forehead.

"These symptoms of hers have been left untreated for far too long, and they've become permanent. Moreover, she's too weak. I'll have to nourish her body with medicine first. Once she recovers more of her vitality, I'll rid her of her illness with potent medicine," Hosen slowly uttered.

"Mr. Holt, does that mean that you can cure her?" Yuven asked in surprise.

"Of course. If I couldn't save her, why would I have come all the way here?" Hosen confidently replied.

At the sight of Hosen's poised demeanor, Julius realized that his daughter could be saved. Immediately, he kneeled before Hosen and said, "Mr. Holt, please let me express my gratitude for saving my daughter!"

As the Imperial Beast City's elder, Julius was naturally someone with much power. Yet, Hosen never even bothered sparing the kneeling man a glance as he turned to Yuven and said, "King Yuven, I can cure her illness, but I hope you still remember what you've promised me."

“Don’t worry, Mr. Holt. As long as you cure Mr. Poulsen’s daughter, you’ll be able to freely come and go in this city, as well as gather any mystical herbs in the area. I’ll also personally pass to you the hundred beast cores I promised you.”

When Hosen heard that, he nodded in satisfaction and said, “I’m glad to hear that. Now get me a quiet yard. I’m going to create some health-nourishing pills for the girl. In seven days, she’ll be cured of her illness.”

“Men, bring Mr. Holt to the yard by the flower garden at the back! No one is allowed to enter the premise to disturb him unless he specifically summons them,” Yuven loudly ordered.

Soon, Hosen was brought to the garden at the back. In the meantime, Julius was prostrating before Yuven, gratitude swelling in his chest.

He never thought that Yuven would agree to such a demanding request just to hire Hosen.

To the beast race, territories were important. They would not let others enter their territories without permission, not even if the other party was of the same race. If other beast races entered Yuven’s territory, they would either be chased away or killed.

Yet, Yuven had just agreed to let the members of the Emerald Cauldron Sect freely enter and depart from his territory, and he was even gifting Hosen a hundred beast cores. Julius had no idea what he could possibly do to thank Yuven.

“Your Majesty, I will forever be loyal to you!” Julius cried out, striking his head against the ground in his prostration.

“Mr. Poulsen, please rise! You’ve been my subject for many years, and I see your daughter as one of my own.”

Yuven quickly helped Julius to his feet.

Right then, a guard came over to report to Yuven that Ivasha was asking for his presence.

“Doesn’t that girl know when to let me rest? What exactly is that important thing she wants to talk about?” Yuven grumbled.

“Your Majesty, the princess has brought someone into the city, hoping to have you meet him,” Julius informed.

“Meet him? He’s not someone the girl has fallen for, right? I’ve already told her that humans and beasts live differently and that we can’t marry humans. When will she start listening to me?”

Yuven sighed. He was exasperated with how Ivasha was only ever romantically interested in humans.

“Your Majesty, there’s something odd about the human she has brought back this time, however. He has the aura of celestial beasts on him. It’s likely that this man is a byproduct of a union between a human and a beast race,” Julius quickly added.

“What? Is that so? Quick, lead the way!”

Yuven’s interest was piqued when he heard that. He had never encountered someone who had both human and beast race’s aura.

Thus, Julius led Yuven toward the room Jared was staying in.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2558

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2558-Meanwhile, Ivasha was in Jared’s room, and Jared was a little nervous.

Ivasha, Julius, and Tigerus were all mighty individuals, so Yuven would certainly be even more powerful.

Jared had no idea what kind of character Yuven was. Moreover, with his current situation, killing him would be a piece of cake for the king.

Noticing Jared’s anxiety, Ivasha consoled, “Don’t be afraid. My father is an easy-going and mild-mannered man. You’ll know that I’m telling the truth when you meet him. However, my father hates it when people lie to him, so just be honest when you see him later.”

Jared nodded, but he was still uneasy.

Soon, the door was opened, and Julius entered the room with Yuven.

“Father.” When Ivasha saw Yuven, she quickly approached him. “Father, this is the man I wanted you to meet. His name is Jared Chance.”

Yuven did not speak. He had sensed the peculiar celestial beast aura even when he was outside of the room.

It was strange to him because not only did he sense the aura of a dragon, but he also sensed the aura of a phoenix. It confused him to sense both auras on a person at the same time.

Thus, the second Yuven entered the room, he set his gaze on Jared.

Jared could sense Yuven’s studying gaze. Although his heart was racing, he made himself meet Yuven’s eyes.

He had decided to go all out. At most, he would face death. Even if he was afraid, nothing at the moment could be changed.

A moment of staring later, Yuven shifted his gaze downward to observe the rest of the man.

However, when Yuven’s gaze landed on the Dragon Ring on Jared’s finger, he paled and started to shake.

“Father, what’s the matter?”

“King Yuven, are you all right?”

Both Ivasha and Julius could see Yuven trembling, so they quickly voiced their concern.

Yuven then took in a deep breath to control his trembling before saying, “The two of you, leave the room. I need to speak with this person.”

“Father, I brought him here. I just wanted to show you how he has our race’s aura, so please don’t kill him...”

Ivasha was terrified that her father would kill Jared once she stepped out of the room.

“Out!” Yuven sternly ordered.

Ivasha froze. Her father had never spoken to her in that tone before.

“Princess Ivasha, let’s go out.”

Julius had no idea what had gotten into Yuven, but he promptly towed the princess out.

Right as Ivasha and Julius went out, Yuven waved his hand and made a beam of light close the doors and the windows of the room.

Jared’s heart sank. He knew not what the king was about to do to him.

Then again, regardless of whether he knew or not, he was not powerful enough to defend himself at the moment.

Just as Jared steeled himself for the worst-case scenario, Yuven suddenly kneeled before him.

“My Lord, I, Yuven, welcome you to the city with open arms!”

As he said that, he moved to a position of prostration.

Now, it was Jared’s turn to be stunned. Nonetheless, he came to his senses quickly enough. Yuven has to be a member of Dragon Sect, and Imperial Beast City must be one of the regiments of Dragon Sect.

Jared never expected such a big and impressive regiment like this—it was an entire city!

“R-Rise…”

Jared was taken aback by Yuven’s demeanor, and he stumbled over his words as he asked Yuven to rise.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2559

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2559-Yuven was evidently excited as he stood by Jared’s side.

“My Lord, I’ve been waiting for you for years. I never thought that you’d actually come!” he exclaimed.

“U-Um, you’re King Yuven, right?”

The gears in Jared's mind could barely turn quickly enough.

He never thought that a king of a beast race would be his subordinate and that the Imperial Beast City would be part of his Dragon Sect's regiment. If that were the case, why would he still need to fear anything in Ethereal Realm?

Jared never expected that Dragon Sect would have a regiment in Ethereal Realm. Now, he was getting more and more interested in the father he had never met.

He wanted to find out who in the world was his father to have been able to establish a sect like Dragon Sect.

Dragon Sect had thirteen regiments, but only seven had appeared, and Jared was already at Ethereal Realm. There were still a few regiments he had yet to find, so he could not help but wonder if there was a regiment in the Immortal Realm as well.

With that thought in mind, he became elated. At this rate, he was going to rule over the immortals.

"My Lord, you can just call me Yuven. I dare not claim kingship before you," Yuven humbly told him.

"It doesn't matter. I should continue referring to you as King Yuven. I don't wish for others to find out about my identity as the overlord of Dragon Sect anyway, so please call me Mr. Chance," Jared replied.

"Understood." Yuven nodded.

Jared then proceeded to ask, "I don't quite understand the beast race of Ethereal Realm. Can you explain it to me? Do you rule over all of the beast races in Ethereal Realm?"

Upon hearing that, Yuven gave him a sheepish smile and said, "My Lord, there are three kings and four archons among Ethereal Realm's beast races. Each of them has their own territory and cities. I only rule over the beast races within my region. As for the beast races in the other regions, I have no power over them."

Jared stiffened when he registered Yuven's words. He never thought that the beast race would have so many leaders among them. It was almost as if they were separated into groups, just like the human clans.

"Does that mean the beast race is just like humans with their various alliances?" Jared queried.

"Yes. We have fights and periodical competitions to compete for resources for our own cities. We're not much different from the humans," Yuven explained with a weak smile.

"It looks like neither Demonic Cultivators nor beast cultivators can escape greed and the desire for more power. You've been in Ethereal Realm for a long while, so do tell me what's going on in here."

Jared was asking Yuven to tell him more about Ethereal Realm, for he knew little about the place.

All he knew was that Ethereal Realm had humans, beasts, and demons, but what situation they were in was knowledge not known to him.

"My Lord, do you not come from Ethereal Realm?" Yuven asked in surprise.

Jared shook his head. "I come from the mundane world, so I know little about Ethereal Realm."

Then, Jared briefly told Yuven about his experiences.

Jared had absolute trust in his Dragon Sect's subordinate's regiment. Every regiment that he had come across so far was undyingly loyal to Jared and would lay down their lives for him without batting a lash.

Therefore, Jared told Yuven about how he was grievously injured and had yet to recover.

"No wonder I sensed something off about your aura. It's shocking to find that you were able to survive that perilous moment!" Yuven expressed his astonishment after hearing Jared's story.

"Maybe I wasn't destined to die yet," said Jared with a self-deprecating laugh. He then continued, "Tell me, with your current power and the Imperial Beast City you rule over, what position do you hold in Ethereal Realm? Are you invincible?"

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2560-Jared wanted to know how powerful Yuven was. If the latter was capable of wiping out everyone in Ethereal Realm, there would be no need for him to recover his strength. He could rely on Yuven alone in his attempt to rescue the leader of Divine Smithing Sect from Fire Incineration Sect.

Moreover, he could continue the search for Josephine and her companions, for he was still worried sick about them.

Upon hearing Jared's words, Yuven looked visibly awkward as he chuckled wryly. "My Lord, even among the three kings and four archons of the beast races, I'm not the most powerful among them, let alone the entire Ethereal Realm. That said, if you need anything, I'll do my very best to help, even if it involves sacrificing the lives of everyone in the city. As of now, Ethereal Realm is comprised of three races. Only humans and the beast race are active in it, while demon spirits mostly hide in the shadows. I might not be particularly powerful in Ethereal Realm, but I'll definitely not stand by and watch if someone attempts to destroy my city."

Jared waved off Yuven's declaration of loyalty. "That's not necessary. I'm not in need of anything now."

He had no doubts about Yuven's loyalty. Even so, he couldn't bring himself to sacrifice the latter and all his subjects for his own selfish reasons.

"My Lord, you're suffering from grievous injuries which have yet to heal. I have pills here in the city which can hasten your recovery. On top of that, I've invited an excellent alchemist to the city. I can get him to treat you too!" Yuven offered.

"It's fine. All I need to do is to recover part of my strength. As for my identity, don't share it with others," Jared reminded.

"Don't worry, My Lord. Your secret is safe with me," Yuven promised.

Meanwhile, Ivasha and Julius were waiting outside.

When they saw Yuven emerge, Ivasha hurried forward and asked, “Father, what did you do to Jared?”

“Nothing. He’s doing fine.” Just as he spoke, Yuven turned to Julius and instructed, “Mr. Poulsen, you’ll be in charge of Mr. Chance’s daily needs from now on. Also, bring all the pills in the city here and satisfy all of Mr. Chance’s requests without question!”

“Understood!” Julius acknowledged the order despite the surprised look on his face.

He had no idea what had gotten into Yuven for the latter to treat Jared with such respect. After all, even Hosen wasn’t accorded such treatment by Yuven.

Julius had never—throughout his long service—seen Yuven order all the pills in the city to be brought to anyone or for every whim of a guest to be fulfilled.

Even Ivasha was bewildered by the turn of events and had no clue why her father was being so nice to Jared.

“Father, what’s going on? Also, why does Jared exude the aura of a human and celestial beast at the same time?” Ivasha asked.

“Ivasha, let me be honest with you. Mr. Chance possesses the Golden Dragon’s True Form and lives a life of great risk. You’re not like him at all, so don’t play with fire and get yourself killed by going against fate itself. Soon, I’ll travel to Norwal City and propose a marriage alliance. By combining the strength of our two families, we’ll be able to significantly increase our influence among the beast races,” Yuven remarked.

“Dad, I already told you that I don’t want to get married! Stop forcing me!”

With that, Ivasha ran away in anger.

Watching his daughter’s leaving silhouette, Yuven let out a sigh. “Why does that foolish girl have to like humans?”

“My Lord, is Mr. Chance really a descendant of the Draconians?” Julius curiously asked.

However, Yuven shot Julius an icy glare. “Know your place. Such matters are none of your concern.”

“I’m sorry, My Lord.”

Julius quickly hung his head in remorse.

Upon Yuven’s departure, Julius ordered huge amounts of pills in the city to be brought to Jared’s room and treated the latter with the utmost respect. Whenever Jared wanted more, he would fulfill every request unconditionally.
