A Man Like None Other Chapter 2931-However, the moment Lynette entered it, she realized that they had vanished without a trace.

Unbeknownst to her, they had exited the Teleportation Array at one point.

As it turned out, they had not actually entered the Teleportation Array; they had merely deceived Lynette into believing so.

The Teleportation Array Jared had sketched out could not actually transport such a large group at the same time. Furthermore, it was an unstable array.

Right as Lynette entered the Teleportation Array, Jared threw out several runes. When they lit up, Lynette grimaced.

She tried to struggle to escape, only to find out that her body seemed to be out of her control. In fact, her body was slowly becoming transparent.

“Did you think that this Teleportation Array was our escape plan? It’s actually meant for you! We’re going to teleport you far away. Although the Teleportation Array won’t harm you, you won’t be catching up to me anytime soon,” Jared said smugly.

Lynette let out a scream in anger. The space around her quaked, and her body gradually became a blur.

The power of space gripped Lynette firmly, denying her any chance of escape.

Lynette was infuriated. She never thought she would fall for Jared’s trap.

She was a Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator, and yet, she had been tricked by a mere Third Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator like Jared. If news of this got out, she would become the laughingstock of the year.

However, regardless of her growing anger, she was powerless to halt the activation of the Teleportation Array. Soon, her figure slowly disappeared.

It was only when Lynette’s aura was gone did everyone let out a sigh of relief.

Jared even sat on the ground and started panting.

Drawing the Teleportation Array and initiating the teleportation had drained a significant portion of Jared's energy.

"That was so close! If the activation of this Teleportation Array had failed, we would have all died here," Cloud said, wiping the cold sweat from his forehead.

"Let's just get out of here. She's not the only Demonic Cultivator in the vicinity. If we come across someone else as formidable as her, we'll be in serious trouble," Jared warned after taking a few deep breaths.

Sunny and the others knew that Jared was speaking the truth. They were nothing but sitting ducks if they came across another powerful Demonic Cultivator like Lynette.

"I was lucky to have completed the drawing of the Teleportation Array and activated it this time, but I doubt we'll be as lucky next time. I lack the energy to draw another Teleportation Array, and I'm uncertain how far this one will transport her. It's better if we leave as soon as possible," Jared said.

They had taken a bet and come out on top; they had not truly gotten rid of Lynette with their strength.

"I agree. Let's get out of here," Sunny chimed in.

Soon, they picked up speed and traveled in the opposite direction from where they started.

That way, they could avoid the Demonic Cultivators, for the Demonic Cultivators would never expect them to head back the same way.

Not long after they fled, the two guardians Lynette had brought along bumped into each other.

"Ms. Baptiste's aura's gone. What happened?" Barken asked somberly.

They had detected the abrupt loss of Lynette's aura, and the last known location of her presence was where they were standing now.

"There are signs of a fight here. Did something bad happen to Ms. Baptiste?" another guardian wondered.

“No way. Ms. Baptiste is a Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator. She’s more powerful than both you and me combined. How could something bad happen to her?”

Barken didn’t believe it at all.

“Then why would Ms. Baptiste’s aura disappear so suddenly? This doesn’t make sense.”

The other guardian could not wrap his head around the abrupt disappearance of Lynette’s aura.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2932-“I don’t know either, but the people we’re after surely know where Ms. Baptiste has gone.”

With that, Barken instantly set off to catch up with Jared and the others.

They were making a hasty escape, moving as fast as their legs could carry them, but the two guardians appeared to be closing in rapidly.

“F*ck! These Demonic Cultivators are so persistent. Why won’t they just let us go?” Jared cursed.

Feeling the relentless pursuit of the two Demonic Cultivators behind them, Sunny and the others furrowed their brows.

They were injured and had expended much strength, so they could only go so fast.

At this rate, the two Demonic Cultivators would catch up with them in no time.

“We can’t run anymore. We have to prepare for battle. They’ll catch up with us eventually. If we don’t stop, we won’t even have the energy to confront them.”

Jared stopped, knowing that running was an unwise strategy, as their adversaries had already located them through their auras.

Even if they had endless stamina, they would not be able to outrun their pursuers.

“You’re right. We can’t keep running. They’ll eventually catch up with us. We might as well take a break and regain our strength,” Cloud agreed.

Sunny, Konce, and Lofton stopped running as well, knowing that Jared was right.

“Go on, Jared. What do we do now? We’ll listen to you,” Sunny said.

Jared activated his spiritual sense to track down the location of the two Demonic Cultivators before surveying his surroundings. Then, he summoned Cloud over and said, “Cloud, I need you to pretend to be grievously injured and to look exhausted. I need you to fool those two Demonic Cultivators.”

“How so?” Cloud asked.

Jared whispered something into Cloud’s ears before saying, “This is a little dangerous, so do you dare to do this?”

“Of course. What’s there to be scared of?”

Jared spread his palm and allowed a flame to flicker on it. Then, he wrapped this flame with spiritual energy and turned it into an orb.

He gave the orb to Cloud. After saying a few words of advice, he left with Sunny and the rest.

Once they were out of sight, Cloud made himself look disheveled before lying on the ground.

He also made sure to make his aura seem weak.

When the two Demonic Cultivators caught up, they quickly discovered Cloud, who was lying on the ground.

After checking Cloud out with their spiritual sense, they realized that Cloud’s aura was weak. Cloud was also a weak cultivator, so they let their guard down.

“This guy’s still breathing. I’ll interrogate him to uncover their true identities and find out if they have any information about Ms. Baptiste’s whereabouts.”

Thinking that Cloud had collapsed from his injuries and could not flee anymore, he took his time ambling to him.

“Be careful, Barken. It could be a trap,” the other guardian cautioned.

“Don’t worry.” Right as Barken said that, a giant axe appeared in his hand, and in the next second, he appeared before Cloud.

After taking a glance at Cloud, Barken swung his axe down at him.

Right as the axe was about to land on Cloud, he suddenly jumped to his feet, his eyes bright.

“Go to hell!” Cloud yelled, tossing the fire orb at Barken.

Boom!

The orb exploded, forming a sea of fire that devoured Barken.

Feeling the heatwave attacking him, Barken quickly retreated.

“Demonic fire? And it’s remarkably pure. Just who are you people?” Barken asked as he retreated.

“I’m your master!” Cloud insulted before swiftly turning to flee.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2933-“D*mn it. Stop right there!”

Barken and the other guardian unleashed their flames to consume the demonic fire that Cloud had thrown out. Jared had provided Cloud with only a single strand of demonic fire, so it wasn’t much use in front of these two.

Truth be told, Jared was well aware that the demonic fire would merely incite their wrath.

Their opportunity would only arise once the adversaries were consumed by anger.

Seeing how effortlessly they dispelled Jared’s demonic fire, Cloud promptly made his escape in fear.

He knew that his fate would be sealed if they managed to catch up with him.

He desperately ran for his life as they were hot on his heels.

Just as their attention remained fixed on Cloud, the ground quaked, and torrents of spiritual energy erupted into the sky, ensnaring both of them.

“D*mn it! We’ve walked right into their trap!” Barken cried out as he urgently struggled to break free from the spiritual energy chains.

Right then, four figures had appeared, launching several attacks in their direction.

Faced with this unexpected turn of events, Barken and the other guardian had no alternative but to retreat. They were uncertain about the number and capabilities of their adversaries, and caution was their best course of action.

They had been so focused on Cloud that they didn’t use their spiritual sense to check their surroundings, allowing their enemies to take the opportunity to attack them.

Barken and the other guardian quickly retreated. They had been the pursuers but now they were being pursued instead.

The tables had turned.

As Barken and the other guardian made their swift escape, they noticed that the four figures who had appeared didn’t pursue them. They had launched two attacks and swiftly retreated in the opposite direction.

When Barken and his companion realized what was going on, Jared and the others were long gone.

“F*ck it! They tricked us again,” Barken exclaimed, gritting his teeth in anger.

Being deceived repeatedly was taking a toll on Barken’s patience and composure.

His excessive caution earlier had prevented Barken from discerning that Jared and his group had merely feigned aggression without any genuine intent to attack.

Regrettably, he had only come to this realization when it was too late.

As Jared made his escape, he informed the others, “The two Demonic Cultivators we encountered are less formidable than the woman we saw earlier. One is at the beginner phase of Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm, and the other is at the peak of Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm. If it weren’t for the fact that we are exhausted and injured, we wouldn’t need to fear them at all.”

In truth, Jared and his group possessed a similar level of strength as compared to Barken and his companion. However, they had to make their escape due to their weakened condition and the injuries they had sustained.

They were also worried that the Demonic Cultivators might have reinforcements. If two more Demonic Cultivators of equivalent strength to Barken and his comrade were to join the fray, escape would become an even more daunting challenge.

When Jared and the others were escaping, the void surrounding them trembled as though space was collapsing.

A magical item, resembling a towering structure, went after them at breakneck speed.

Shortly after, it zoomed past them and crashed onto the ground just ahead.

On top of the tower stood Barken and his companion. "How dare you fools deceive us again and again? Do you have a death wish?"

Jared and the others had no choice but to halt in their tracks in the face of the magical item.

"Enough of this nonsense! Can't you grasp that we have the numerical advantage here? Both of you are only at Eighth and Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm. The young lady at the peak of Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm met her end at our hands earlier. If you cherish your lives, it's high time you beat a hasty retreat!" Jared warned.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2934-Barken and his companion were initially surprised, but Barken swiftly regained his composure and burst into hearty laughter. "Young man, don't attempt to deceive us. Ms. Baptiste isn't so feeble as to be killed by the likes of you. She can kill you easily."

"It's up to you to trust me or not. Since you think she's still alive, can you sense her aura?" Jared asked with a smirk. "We have three cultivators at Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm, and one at Seventh Level. Do you think you both are our match?"

Jared deliberately concealed his true strength, hoping to trick the Demonic Cultivators into underestimating him.

He knew that when they ceased regarding him as a threat, he would become the most dangerous adversary among them all.

“I’m aware of your injuries, and even without them, you’re still no match for us,” Barken said dismissively. “Enough of this idle chatter, and let’s fight.”

He raised his palm and elevated the tower, which emitted a faint glow.

A muffled thud echoed in all directions.

Knowing that Barken’s tower wasn’t to be taken lightly, Jared frowned.

“By the power of the tower, I suppress all before me!” Barken shouted, then tossed the tower into the air.

Infused with spiritual energy, the tower expanded in size, transforming into a colossal structure hurtling directly toward Jared and his companions.

Everyone was shocked at the sight, and they quickly retreated.

Jared was racing away at maximum speed, but the resonating sounds like a bell from within the tower possessed an uncanny ability to disrupt his spiritual sense.

He suddenly stopped moving as if he had been momentarily entranced.

Soon, he was trapped beneath the tower.

The tower plummeted to the ground with a deafening crash, forming an enormous crater.

An eruption of ice and snow soared into the sky, shrouding the surroundings and obscuring everyone’s view.

“Mr. Chance!”

“Jared!”

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were astounded to see Jared being trapped by the tower.

Jared’s cultivation level might seem to be the lowest among them, but they had to rely on him in a fight.

He knew how to use arcane arrays and was in possession of Demon Flogger.

Seeing Jared getting trapped beneath the tower, they felt their hearts sink.

“Ha! You’re merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. How dare you act arrogant in front of me? How ignorant of you!” Barken scoffed, then turned to Cloud. “Young man, given your possession of the demonic fire, it would be wise to surrender now. Otherwise, you’ll die a horrible death!”

“Nonsense! Even if I die, I will never surrender! You Demonic Cultivators are being hunted by everyone. How dare you act all arrogant?” Cloud retorted.

Barken furrowed his brows, his face cold. In a flash, he appeared before Cloud, who retaliated with a palm strike.

Simultaneously, Sunny and the other two made their moves.

They had to work together or risk getting killed by the Demonic Cultivators.

“How dare you?”

The other guardian leaped up, and two flames surged into the air.

“Blazing Palm!”

A barrage of palm strikes engulfed in searing flames bore down on them.

In response, they swiftly summoned protective shields to shield themselves from the fiery onslaught.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2935-Barken’s palm landed on Cloud’s chest, causing the latter to fly backward for a considerable distance.

He wasn’t Barken’s match to begin with, and his energy was depleted.

Nevertheless, Cloud wasn’t in danger.

Barken was well aware of Cloud’s ability to wield the demonic fire, and he had no intention of killing him. He aimed to capture Cloud and deliver him to Inferno Devil so that they could unravel the mystery of how a human cultivator could possess the demonic fire.

However, Barken remained oblivious to the fact that the demonic fire in Cloud's possession wasn't originally his but a mere wisp given to him by Jared.

"I gave you the chance to surrender, but you've chosen to resist. You will soon learn the consequences of your defiance." Barken cast a condescending glance upon the human cultivators.

At that moment, a melodious bell chime resonated, seemingly emanating from the very heart of the tower.

Barken knitted his brows. "Is that young man still alive?"

A cultivator at Third Level Body Fusion Realm stood no chance against the tower's might.

"No way. The tower has the power to slay a cultivator at Seventh Level Body Fusion Realm. He's only at Third Level. He can't be alive," the other guardian responded, baffled by the situation.

Just as confusion clouded their minds, the colossal tower began to shift.

It appeared as though an unseen force was gradually lifting it off the ground, causing it to hover in the air.

However, Jared wasn't seen within the tower.

"Hey, where is that brat? Why did the tower rise by itself?" Barken could barely hide his astonishment as he had no idea what had happened.

Soon, Jared rose up from the crater, floating beneath the tower as he glared at Barken.

"I can't believe you tried to use a useless magical item to trap me."

"You're still alive?" Barken was dumbfounded.

Everyone could barely hide their shock at the realization that Jared was still alive as they could sense the horrifying aura within the tower.

Never in their wildest dreams did they expect to see Jared lifting the tower.

“How dare you say my magical item is useless? I’ll give you a taste of it today!” Barken shouted. “Crush him!”

Barken continued to release spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to control it and suppress Jared. However, despite his best efforts, the tower remained steadfast and unmoving.

“W-What’s going on?” Barken was utterly confused. He tried releasing spiritual energy into the tower again, but nothing happened.

“Barken, let me help you.”

The other guardian approached him and released spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to join forces to take Jared down.

Jared remained composed beneath the tower. Strangely, as if it were filled with apprehension, the tower trembled violently instead of attempting to suppress him.

Both Demonic Cultivators were completely baffled.

“What is going on?” Barken was at a loss.

“I told you that this magical item is a piece of junk, but you chose not to heed my words. Since you don’t believe me, allow me to demonstrate the capabilities of a genuine magical item,” Jared said calmly, then snapped his fingers.

The tower shook and expanded in size, its walls developing noticeable cracks.

The tremors intensified, causing more fractures to spread across the tower’s structure. Eventually, the tower fragmented into countless pieces, with debris scattering in all directions.

Amid the wreckage, a bell was seen hovering in mid-air.

Jared waved his hand, and the Dragon Bell shrunk in size, landing gently on his palm.

“This is the real magical item. Yours was utterly useless,” Jared said with a disdainful smile.

When he saw that his magical item had been destroyed and that he had been humiliated, Barken flew into a fit of rage and coughed up a mouthful of blood.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2936-“This is Dragon Bell, the magical item of magical items. It is a hundred times stronger than your useless magical item!” Jared scoffed.

“Impossible. That’s impossible. You’re merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. Even if you have a top-grade magical item, you won’t be able to use it!” Barken refused to believe that the magical item in Jared’s possession was a top-grade magical item.

“Yeah, whatever,” Jared responded contemptuously.

“You insolent brat! I’ll tear you to shreds for destroying my magical item!” Barken bellowed as he launched a furious punch in Jared’s direction.

Unfazed, Jared pressed his palm on the Dragon Bell, channeling the Power of Dragons into it.

Roar!

Following the thunderous roar, the intricate patterns adorning the Dragon Bell began to glow. These patterns appeared to take on a life of their own as they detached from the Dragon Bell and transformed into a dragon hovering above Jared’s head.

Barken was taken aback by the sight. He immediately retracted his fist and gazed at Jared in shock.

“Is this a dragon? A real celestial beast?”

Barken and the other guardian swiftly retreated, their faces drained of color.

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were also filled with shock as they looked at the scene before them.

The appearance of the dragon had mixed feelings swirled within their hearts.

They were glad to have buried the hatchet, for they had never expected Jared to have so many tricks up his sleeves.

If they hadn't made peace with Jared, they might have been the ones facing the dragon's attack.

Roar!

With a roar, the dragon ripped the void open with its paws and headed straight for Barken.

The dragon was as swift as lightning as it reached out to him.

Seeing that, Barken spun on his heels to flee, but the dragon's claw scratched his back, ripping out a piece of his flesh.

Barken fell to the ground with serious injuries, his eyes filled with fear.

The other guardian immediately stood in front of him in a protective manner, his body trembling slightly.

Roar!

The dragon let out another roar, opening its jaws wide, which almost made that Demonic Cultivator p*ss himself.

Instead of launching another attack, the dragon slowly retreated and flew above Jared's head before returning to the Dragon Bell.

Jared calmly stored the Dragon Bell in his Storage Ring, then glanced at the Demonic Cultivator. "Who was the one who said I was ignorant earlier? Watch as I send you to hell, you fools."

His eyes gleamed icily.

At the same time, Cloud, Sunny, and the rest heard Jared's voice ringing in their ears. "What are you guys waiting for?"

Their eyes lit up, and they attacked the Demonic Cultivator without hesitation.

The Demonic Cultivator, petrified by the dragon's presence, was in a state of panic, leaving him vulnerable to the attacks launched by Sunny and the others.

When Cloud was engaged in battle with that Demonic Cultivator, Jared pulled out his Demon Flogger and headed straight for Barken.

Recognizing the significance of capitalizing on Barken's injury, he was determined to seize this opportunity and ensure that neither of the Demonic Cultivators escaped with their lives intact.

At that moment, Barken was severely injured and lying on the ground. He could do nothing but watch as Jared approached him with Demon Flogger in his hand.

"Kid, if you have the audacity to end my life, Inferno Devil will not let you off!" Barken screamed in terror.

"Ha! Whatever devil doesn't bother me!"

Jared cracked the whip that carried a pure demonic fire at Barken.

"W-Why do you have the demonic fire, too?" Barken could barely believe his eyes.

He couldn't fathom how Jared was able to refine pure demonic fire as well.

Can the demonic fire of Inferno Devil be easily refined by human cultivators?

When he was in a state of confusion, Jared's whip landed on him.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2937-"Barken!" The other Demonic Cultivator let out a thunderous roar when he saw his companion being struck to death by Jared.

Nonetheless, Sunny and the others swiftly launched a counterattack, not giving the Demonic Cultivator a chance to catch his breath.

Jared stared at the Demon Flogger in his hand, a delighted grin playing on his lips. This is an effective weapon against the Demonic Cultivators indeed.

"All of you step back. I'll handle him." Gripping the Demon Flogger tightly, Jared executed a swift, forceful leap, then whipped it toward the Demonic Cultivator.

An aura as fast as lightning emerged and raced toward the Demonic Cultivator.

Sunny and the others promptly retreated upon witnessing that.

The Demonic Cultivator fixed a furious glare on Jared, his eyes blazing with anger. In an instant, he released a powerful palm strike, summoning a roaring fire dragon that charged menacingly at Jared.

The moment the Demon Flogger struck the fire dragon, a resounding thunderclap reverberated across the entire snowy plains.

The fiery dragon instantly dissipated, and Jared's Demon Flogger, charged with demonic fire, materialized in front of the Demonic Cultivator in the blink of an eye.

Thud!

A sharp crack echoed as the demonic fire on the Demon Flogger transformed into a sea of fire, engulfing the Demonic Cultivator.

A towering blaze soared into the sky.

Confronted with the purest demonic fire from the demon race, the Demonic Cultivator had no chance whatsoever.

From the instant he engaged with Sunny and his companions to when he was struck by Jared's Demon Flogger, the Demonic Cultivator was enveloped in dread throughout the process.

His profound terror hindered him from unleashing his utmost potential.

Otherwise, Jared would not have been able to dispatch him effortlessly with a single lash.

Amidst the demonic fire, the Demonic Cultivator shrieked in pain before turning into ashes and vanishing completely.

The rest of the group looked at Jared in silent admiration as he extinguished the life of an Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator with a single lash of his whip.

The Dragon Bell and the Demon Flogger were both powerful divine weapons.

Anyone who possessed even one of those treasures would probably be overjoyed.

Jared alone now possessed two, and these might not even be his entire arsenal.

The fact that a mere cultivator in the Third Level Body Fusion Realm possessed two divine weapons was truly unbelievable.

What Sunny and the others did not know was that the Dragonslayer Sword in Jared's hand was also another divine weapon, especially considering the sword spirit, Zelda, residing in it. If Zelda fully recovered, the Dragonslayer Sword's power could increase many folds!

Furthermore, there was still the Divine Bow. If Jared still had the bow with him, he might even be able to take Lynette on.

If Jared were to reveal all of his divine weapons, Sunny and the group would likely be left speechless with envy.

"Let's move quickly. We need to find a secure location now to hasten our recovery!" Jared urged the people, who were still reeling from the shock.

Sunny and the rest nodded before catching up with Jared.

They had to leave the area as soon as possible. Otherwise, they would be doomed if the other Demonic Cultivators detected their presence.

Just when Jared and his companions were about to make an escape, several terrifying auras approached them from behind.

They could not help but knit their brows. "We're doomed. What the hell is wrong with these Demonic Cultivators?"

Cloud was already severely injured. If they were to fight the Demonic Cultivators again, his demise would be unavoidable.

"D*mn it. Why are there so many Demonic Cultivators in the far north? I thought they'd all been eradicated? They're all still so formidable! It seems luck is not on our side this time!" Konce could not stop cussing.

What was supposed to be a treasure hunt in the north had turned into a disaster. Not only did they not find the treasure, but they might also lose their lives in this expedition.

Jared held his breath, gathered his spiritual sense, and heightened its intensity.

Soon, Jared flashed a grin and said, "They're not Demonic Cultivators. Those guys have come to save us."

With that, Jared led the others and charged in the direction of the auras.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2938-"Jared!" Quinley called out loudly to Jared, then quickly made her way over.

Following right behind her were a few skilled warriors from the Tall family, either Eighth or Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivators.

This clearly showed that the Tall family's strength was not to be underestimated.

"Are you guys okay? Jerison returned and told me about your situation, and my brother sent me and a few subordinates over to rescue you," Quinley said.

"We're fine," Jared uttered while shaking his head. "We've just sustained some injuries."

"Let's head back to the Tall residence. You can continue with your treasure hunt after you've recuperated," Quinley suggested. "Recently, Demonic Cultivators have been causing havoc in the far north. Many cultivators who came in search of the treasure have met with brutal ends. It's perilous for you to persist in your current condition."

Jared nodded in acknowledgment. Although he wished to discover the treasure and acquire the Ice Soul Pill, the present circumstances did not allow him to do so.

Furthermore, Feenix and Aislin were still at the Tall residence, and Jared wished to meet them.

Sunny and the others, too, agreed to head to the Tall residence because they knew they were not in the perfect condition to continue exploring the far north.

The group then departed and headed for the Tall residence.

Meanwhile, Lynette, who had been teleported away earlier, had arrived at the location where Jared and Barken had dueled.

Looking at the chaos the duel had left behind, as well as the remnants of the tower strewn across the ground, Lynette furrowed her brow.

“All of Barken’s magical items have been shattered into pieces. What kind of formidable cultivator did he encounter?” Lynette did not know Barken was killed by Jared and his companions.

Even the destruction of the tower was the result of Jared’s actions.

Just as Lynette was still pondering if there were other powerful cultivators nearby, the voice of Inferno Devil echoed in her ear. “The two guardians I sent with you are dead. What have you done? Get back here right now!”

Lynette could not help but break out in a cold sweat after hearing Inferno Devil’s voice.

However, she obediently complied and vanished with a leap.

Meanwhile, at the Tall residence, Feenix and Aislin anxiously awaited Jared’s return, having learned that Quinley had gone to fetch him.

“Aislin, you’ve been in the Ethereal Realm with us for quite some time, all for the sake of Master. When Master arrives, I’ll make sure he showers you with affection,” Feenix uttered.

Upon hearing that, Aislin blushed instantly and responded, “Don’t talk nonsense. I hardly know Jared...”

“Just sleep with him, and you’ll know him better,” Feenix responded with a chuckle.

“Josephine is his official girlfriend, but she hasn’t slept with him. Yet, the rest of you have already done it with him,” Aislin said.

Feenix burst into laughter. “Josephine is his wife-to-be, but we’re not...”

Soon, Jared appeared, and Feenix and Aislin, who had been eagerly awaiting his arrival, dashed out of the house.

After spending a significant amount of time in the Ethereal Realm and enduring many hardships in their search for Jared, they had finally reunited with him.

“Master! Master!” Feenix rushed toward Jared before finally throwing herself into his arms.

“Feenix.” Jared held her close.

“Jared...” Aislin, too, called his name as she walked up to him.

“Master, Aislin also fearlessly followed you into the Ethereal Realm when you were pulled into it because she wanted to rescue you,” Feenix explained.

“Thank you, Ms. Yuchamore,” Jared responded politely.

Quinley turned to Feenix and suggested, “Jared and the others must be exhausted, having been relentlessly pursued by the Demonic Cultivators. How about we allow them to rest for now? We can discuss matters once they’ve had enough time to recover.”

Feenix nodded in agreement, and together, they entered the Tall residence. Prior to their arrival, Quinley had already made the necessary lodging arrangements for them.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2939-Jared followed Quinley over when he heard that Mason, the head of the Tall family, wanted to see him.

He wanted to meet Mason in person too.

Jared was not very sure about Mason as a person for now.

If Mason was an evil man who even colluded with Demonic Cultivators, then it would be dangerous for them to live in the Tall residence.

Soon, Quinley brought Jared to the living room.

Jared saw a middle-aged man sitting in the main seat. He knew that the latter must be Mason, the head of the Tall family, while the person sitting beside Mason was Jerison.

When Jerison saw Jared, he stood up and greeted him politely.

After all, if it wasn’t for Jared, Jerison could have died in the Demonic Cultivators’ trap, and Jerison was well aware of this fact.

Mason also got up and welcomed Jared when he saw him.

“Mr. Chance, thank you so much for saving not only Quinn but also Jerison! I don’t know how to repay your kindness to us.”

Mason didn’t put on airs like how a head of a family usually would. Instead, he was nice and polite.

Jared was very comfortable with such a first impression.

He flashed a faint smile and said, “Don’t worry about that, Mr. Mason. We can’t avoid running into problems out there, and it’s normal for us cultivators to help each other!”

“Mr. Chance, please have a seat!”

Mason gestured for Jared to take a seat before he returned to his own seat.

Then, he clapped his hands once and somebody entered with a very exquisite bronze plate. There was a crystal clear ice soul fragment shining on the plate.

Mason said sincerely, “Mr. Chance, you should know that there are many ice soul fragments in the far north. However, it’s not easy to find them. The ice soul fragment is very helpful for cultivation as well as for recovering spiritual energy. I don’t have much to repay your kindness for saving my brother and sister, so I can only gift you with an ice soul fragment. I hope you like it...”

Jared was a little shocked as he stared at the ice soul fragment. He did not expect Mason to give him such a precious item.

“Mr. Mason, this is too precious! I can’t possibly accept that! Also, Ms. Tall saved two of my friends and even allowed them to stay here peacefully. I am very grateful for that too!”

Jared was very grateful that Quinley had saved Feenix and Aislin and had even given them a place to stay.

“Mr. Chance, I heard that the two girls are your good friends. My incompetent brother almost made a huge mistake! I have already taught him a lesson. Mr. Chance, please accept this ice soul fragment,” Mason said.

Seeing that Mason was so persistent, Jared had no choice but to keep the ice soul fragment.

Mason smiled when he saw Jared accepting it. Then, he waved his hand and said, "Quinn, Jerison, leave us. I need to discuss something with Mr. Chance."

Quinley and Jerison nodded and left.

Jared's face was full of confusion as he didn't know what Mason wanted to talk to him about.

After Quinley and Jerison left, Mason suddenly enveloped Jared with his aura.

Jared did not expect Mason to make a move against him. He frowned, and the Power of Three in his body erupted instantly.

Then, a strong spiritual sense tried to enter Jared's body forcefully, seemingly trying to find out Jared's every secret.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2940-Jared's consciousness field was huge but Mason's spiritual sense was oddly strong. There was still a huge gap between their powers.

Soon, Jared couldn't hold on anymore. Mason's spiritual sense entered his body and successfully retrieved the secret of Jared's body from his consciousness field.

Just when Mason's spiritual sense was about to find out more in Jared's consciousness field, the Golden Tome suddenly moved.

A ray of golden light shone from it.

The speed of the light was very fast, and it had a strange aura.

At once, Mason's spiritual sense was crushed.

The restraining aura surrounding Jared immediately disappeared. Mason looked pale and there was even a streak of blood on the corner of his lips.

"Mr. Mason, what is this supposed to mean?"

Jared stared at Mason coldly as he was furious that Mason had suddenly made a move against him.

“Mr. Chance, please don’t misunderstand me. I just wanted to have a look at your body. I did not expect a cultivator like you to have obtained the nascence aura when you’re only in Third Level Body Fusion Realm! It’s unbelievable!”

Mason’s face was filled with shock.

“Nascence aura?” Jared frowned. “What is that?”

Mason was stunned. He glanced at Jared and asked, “You’re a cultivator. Don’t you know what a nascence aura is?”

Jared shook his head in response. “I only know that breaking through the realm of Tribulator is akin to remodeling one’s entire physical being. One can comprehend nascence and reach a new level of understanding of all things. After breaking through the realm of Tribulator, one can become a half-immortal, and as long as one continues to cultivate, one can eventually become an immortal.

Mason nodded and said, “That is correct. You will be able to comprehend nascence once you break through the realm of Tribulator, and it is also used to confirm the strength of each cultivator after breaking through to this realm. However, it’s not just breaking through the realm of Tribulator that one can comprehend nascence. Some exceptionally gifted individuals can experience nascence aura even when they’re in the realm of Tribulator, and this is not surprising. But I have never seen anyone with nascence aura in Body Fusion Realm. Yet, you have it! Understanding nascence may be easy, but acquiring nascence aura requires arduous cultivation. And one must create a nascence space within their body, which is akin to a cultivator’s elixir field.”

Mason tried his best to explain to Jared, but the more he explained, the more Jared was confused.

Jared had never felt that he had nascence aura. It was just that a random ray of golden light had shot out from the Golden Tome. However, the aura of that golden light was indeed different.

Seeing that Jared looked confused, Mason knew that he had zero idea what he was talking about. “I’ll bring your primordial spirit to my nascence space to have a look. Don’t try to resist me anymore. The nascence aura in you is too strong. If you attack me, I won’t be able to take it.”

Mason was indeed a little scared that Jared would release his nascence aura again.

However, Mason didn't know that it wasn't Jared's nascence aura but the aura released by the Golden Tome.

Jared couldn't control it, and it wasn't something he could use whenever he wanted to.

"Mr. Mason, don't worry..."

Jared nodded.

Mason then waved his hands.

Buzz!

Jared could feel a slight tremor in his consciousness field before a ray of light shone down on him, enveloping his primordial spirit.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2932-"I don't know either, but the people we're after surely know where Ms. Baptiste has gone."

With that, Barken instantly set off to catch up with Jared and the others.

They were making a hasty escape, moving as fast as their legs could carry them, but the two guardians appeared to be closing in rapidly.

"F*ck! These Demonic Cultivators are so persistent. Why won't they just let us go?" Jared cursed.

Feeling the relentless pursuit of the two Demonic Cultivators behind them, Sunny and the others furrowed their brows.

They were injured and had expended much strength, so they could only go so fast.

At this rate, the two Demonic Cultivators would catch up with them in no time.

“We can’t run anymore. We have to prepare for battle. They’ll catch up with us eventually. If we don’t stop, we won’t even have the energy to confront them.”

Jared stopped, knowing that running was an unwise strategy, as their adversaries had already located them through their auras.

Even if they had endless stamina, they would not be able to outrun their pursuers.

“You’re right. We can’t keep running. They’ll eventually catch up with us. We might as well take a break and regain our strength,” Cloud agreed.

Sunny, Konce, and Lofton stopped running as well, knowing that Jared was right.

“Go on, Jared. What do we do now? We’ll listen to you,” Sunny said.

Jared activated his spiritual sense to track down the location of the two Demonic Cultivators before surveying his surroundings. Then, he summoned Cloud over and said, “Cloud, I need you to pretend to be grievously injured and to look exhausted. I need you to fool those two Demonic Cultivators.”

“How so?” Cloud asked.

Jared whispered something into Cloud’s ears before saying, “This is a little dangerous, so do you dare to do this?”

“Of course. What’s there to be scared of?”

Jared spread his palm and allowed a flame to flicker on it. Then, he wrapped this flame with spiritual energy and turned it into an orb.

He gave the orb to Cloud. After saying a few words of advice, he left with Sunny and the rest.

Once they were out of sight, Cloud made himself look disheveled before lying on the ground.

He also made sure to make his aura seem weak.

When the two Demonic Cultivators caught up, they quickly discovered Cloud, who was lying on the ground.

After checking Cloud out with their spiritual sense, they realized that Cloud's aura was weak. Cloud was also a weak cultivator, so they let their guard down.

"This guy's still breathing. I'll interrogate him to uncover their true identities and find out if they have any information about Ms. Baptiste's whereabouts."

Thinking that Cloud had collapsed from his injuries and could not flee anymore, he took his time ambling to him.

"Be careful, Barken. It could be a trap," the other guardian cautioned.

"Don't worry." Right as Barken said that, a giant axe appeared in his hand, and in the next second, he appeared before Cloud.

After taking a glance at Cloud, Barken swung his axe down at him.

Right as the axe was about to land on Cloud, he suddenly jumped to his feet, his eyes bright.

"Go to hell!" Cloud yelled, tossing the fire orb at Barken.

Boom!

The orb exploded, forming a sea of fire that devoured Barken.

Feeling the heatwave attacking him, Barken quickly retreated.

"Demonic fire? And it's remarkably pure. Just who are you people?" Barken asked as he retreated.

"I'm your master!" Cloud insulted before swiftly turning to flee.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2933-"D*mn it. Stop right there!"

Barken and the other guardian unleashed their flames to consume the demonic fire that Cloud had thrown out. Jared had provided Cloud with only a single strand of demonic fire, so it wasn't much use in front of these two.

Truth be told, Jared was well aware that the demonic fire would merely incite their wrath.

Their opportunity would only arise once the adversaries were consumed by anger.

Seeing how effortlessly they dispelled Jared's demonic fire, Cloud promptly made his escape in fear.

He knew that his fate would be sealed if they managed to catch up with him.

He desperately ran for his life as they were hot on his heels.

Just as their attention remained fixed on Cloud, the ground quaked, and torrents of spiritual energy erupted into the sky, ensnaring both of them.

"D*mn it! We've walked right into their trap!" Barken cried out as he urgently struggled to break free from the spiritual energy chains.

Right then, four figures had appeared, launching several attacks in their direction.

Faced with this unexpected turn of events, Barken and the other guardian had no alternative but to retreat. They were uncertain about the number and capabilities of their adversaries, and caution was their best course of action.

They had been so focused on Cloud that they didn't use their spiritual sense to check their surroundings, allowing their enemies to take the opportunity to attack them.

Barken and the other guardian quickly retreated. They had been the pursuers but now they were being pursued instead.

The tables had turned.

As Barken and the other guardian made their swift escape, they noticed that the four figures who had appeared didn't pursue them. They had launched two attacks and swiftly retreated in the opposite direction.

When Barken and his companion realized what was going on, Jared and the others were long gone.

"F*ck it! They tricked us again," Barken exclaimed, gritting his teeth in anger.

Being deceived repeatedly was taking a toll on Barken's patience and composure.

His excessive caution earlier had prevented Barken from discerning that Jared and his group had merely feigned aggression without any genuine intent to attack.

Regrettably, he had only come to this realization when it was too late.

As Jared made his escape, he informed the others, “The two Demonic Cultivators we encountered are less formidable than the woman we saw earlier. One is at the beginner phase of Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm, and the other is at the peak of Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm. If it weren’t for the fact that we are exhausted and injured, we wouldn’t need to fear them at all.”

In truth, Jared and his group possessed a similar level of strength as compared to Barken and his companion. However, they had to make their escape due to their weakened condition and the injuries they had sustained.

They were also worried that the Demonic Cultivators might have reinforcements. If two more Demonic Cultivators of equivalent strength to Barken and his comrade were to join the fray, escape would become an even more daunting challenge.

When Jared and the others were escaping, the void surrounding them trembled as though space was collapsing.

A magical item, resembling a towering structure, went after them at breakneck speed.

Shortly after, it zoomed past them and crashed onto the ground just ahead.

On top of the tower stood Barken and his companion. “How dare you fools deceive us again and again? Do you have a death wish?”

Jared and the others had no choice but to halt in their tracks in the face of the magical item.

“Enough of this nonsense! Can’t you grasp that we have the numerical advantage here? Both of you are only at Eighth and Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm. The young lady at the peak of Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm met her end at our hands earlier. If you cherish your lives, it’s high time you beat a hasty retreat!” Jared warned.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2934-Barken and his companion were initially surprised, but Barken swiftly regained his composure and burst into hearty laughter. "Young man, don't attempt to deceive us. Ms. Baptiste isn't so feeble as to be killed by the likes of you. She can kill you easily."

"It's up to you to trust me or not. Since you think she's still alive, can you sense her aura?" Jared asked with a smirk. "We have three cultivators at Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm, and one at Seventh Level. Do you think you both are our match?"

Jared deliberately concealed his true strength, hoping to trick the Demonic Cultivators into underestimating him.

He knew that when they ceased regarding him as a threat, he would become the most dangerous adversary among them all.

"I'm aware of your injuries, and even without them, you're still no match for us," Barken said dismissively. "Enough of this idle chatter, and let's fight."

He raised his palm and elevated the tower, which emitted a faint glow.

A muffled thud echoed in all directions.

Knowing that Barken's tower wasn't to be taken lightly, Jared frowned.

"By the power of the tower, I suppress all before me!" Barken shouted, then tossed the tower into the air.

Infused with spiritual energy, the tower expanded in size, transforming into a colossal structure hurtling directly toward Jared and his companions.

Everyone was shocked at the sight, and they quickly retreated.

Jared was racing away at maximum speed, but the resonating sounds like a bell from within the tower possessed an uncanny ability to disrupt his spiritual sense.

He suddenly stopped moving as if he had been momentarily entranced.

Soon, he was trapped beneath the tower.

The tower plummeted to the ground with a deafening crash, forming an enormous crater.

An eruption of ice and snow soared into the sky, shrouding the surroundings and obscuring everyone's view.

"Mr. Chance!"

"Jared!"

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were astounded to see Jared being trapped by the tower.

Jared's cultivation level might seem to be the lowest among them, but they had to rely on him in a fight.

He knew how to use arcane arrays and was in possession of Demon Flogger.

Seeing Jared getting trapped beneath the tower, they felt their hearts sink.

"Ha! You're merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. How dare you act arrogant in front of me? How ignorant of you!" Barken scoffed, then turned to Cloud. "Young man, given your possession of the demonic fire, it would be wise to surrender now. Otherwise, you'll die a horrible death!"

"Nonsense! Even if I die, I will never surrender! You Demonic Cultivators are being hunted by everyone. How dare you act all arrogant?" Cloud retorted.

Barken furrowed his brows, his face cold. In a flash, he appeared before Cloud, who retaliated with a palm strike.

Simultaneously, Sunny and the other two made their moves.

They had to work together or risk getting killed by the Demonic Cultivators.

"How dare you?"

The other guardian leaped up, and two flames surged into the air.

"Blazing Palm!"

A barrage of palm strikes engulfed in searing flames bore down on them.

In response, they swiftly summoned protective shields to shield themselves from the fiery onslaught.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2935-Barken's palm landed on Cloud's chest, causing the latter to fly backward for a considerable distance.

He wasn't Barken's match to begin with, and his energy was depleted.

Nevertheless, Cloud wasn't in danger.

Barken was well aware of Cloud's ability to wield the demonic fire, and he had no intention of killing him. He aimed to capture Cloud and deliver him to Inferno Devil so that they could unravel the mystery of how a human cultivator could possess the demonic fire.

However, Barken remained oblivious to the fact that the demonic fire in Cloud's possession wasn't originally his but a mere wisp given to him by Jared.

"I gave you the chance to surrender, but you've chosen to resist. You will soon learn the consequences of your defiance." Barken cast a condescending glance upon the human cultivators.

At that moment, a melodious bell chime resonated, seemingly emanating from the very heart of the tower.

Barken knitted his brows. "Is that young man still alive?"

A cultivator at Third Level Body Fusion Realm stood no chance against the tower's might.

"No way. The tower has the power to slay a cultivator at Seventh Level Body Fusion Realm. He's only at Third Level. He can't be alive," the other guardian responded, baffled by the situation.

Just as confusion clouded their minds, the colossal tower began to shift.

It appeared as though an unseen force was gradually lifting it off the ground, causing it to hover in the air.

However, Jared wasn't seen within the tower.

"Hey, where is that brat? Why did the tower rise by itself?" Barken could barely hide his astonishment as he had no idea what had happened.

Soon, Jared rose up from the crater, floating beneath the tower as he glared at Barken.

“I can’t believe you tried to use a useless magical item to trap me.”

“You’re still alive?” Barken was dumbfounded.

Everyone could barely hide their shock at the realization that Jared was still alive as they could sense the horrifying aura within the tower.

Never in their wildest dreams did they expect to see Jared lifting the tower.

“How dare you say my magical item is useless? I’ll give you a taste of it today!” Barken shouted. “Crush him!”

Barken continued to release spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to control it and suppress Jared. However, despite his best efforts, the tower remained steadfast and unmoving.

“W-What’s going on?” Barken was utterly confused. He tried releasing spiritual energy into the tower again, but nothing happened.

“Barken, let me help you.”

The other guardian approached him and released spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to join forces to take Jared down.

Jared remained composed beneath the tower. Strangely, as if it were filled with apprehension, the tower trembled violently instead of attempting to suppress him.

Both Demonic Cultivators were completely baffled.

“What is going on?” Barken was at a loss.

“I told you that this magical item is a piece of junk, but you chose not to heed my words. Since you don’t believe me, allow me to demonstrate the capabilities of a genuine magical item,” Jared said calmly, then snapped his fingers.

The tower shook and expanded in size, its walls developing noticeable cracks.

The tremors intensified, causing more fractures to spread across the tower's structure. Eventually, the tower fragmented into countless pieces, with debris scattering in all directions.

Amid the wreckage, a bell was seen hovering in mid-air.

Jared waved his hand, and the Dragon Bell shrunk in size, landing gently on his palm.

"This is the real magical item. Yours was utterly useless," Jared said with a disdainful smile.

When he saw that his magical item had been destroyed and that he had been humiliated, Barken flew into a fit of rage and coughed up a mouthful of blood.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2936-"This is Dragon Bell, the magical item of magical items. It is a hundred times stronger than your useless magical item!" Jared scoffed.

"Impossible. That's impossible. You're merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. Even if you have a top-grade magical item, you won't be able to use it!" Barken refused to believe that the magical item in Jared's possession was a top-grade magical item.

"Yeah, whatever," Jared responded contemptuously.

"You insolent brat! I'll tear you to shreds for destroying my magical item!" Barken bellowed as he launched a furious punch in Jared's direction.

Unfazed, Jared pressed his palm on the Dragon Bell, channeling the Power of Dragons into it.

Roar!

Following the thunderous roar, the intricate patterns adorning the Dragon Bell began to glow. These patterns appeared to take on a life of their own as they detached from the Dragon Bell and transformed into a dragon hovering above Jared's head.

Barken was taken aback by the sight. He immediately retracted his fist and gazed at Jared in shock.

"Is this a dragon? A real celestial beast?"

Barken and the other guardian swiftly retreated, their faces drained of color.

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were also filled with shock as they looked at the scene before them.

The appearance of the dragon had mixed feelings swirled within their hearts.

They were glad to have buried the hatchet, for they had never expected Jared to have so many tricks up his sleeves.

If they hadn't made peace with Jared, they might have been the ones facing the dragon's attack.

Roar!

With a roar, the dragon ripped the void open with its paws and headed straight for Barken.

The dragon was as swift as lightning as it reached out to him.

Seeing that, Barken spun on his heels to flee, but the dragon's claw scratched his back, ripping out a piece of his flesh.

Barken fell to the ground with serious injuries, his eyes filled with fear.

The other guardian immediately stood in front of him in a protective manner, his body trembling slightly.

Roar!

The dragon let out another roar, opening its jaws wide, which almost made that Demonic Cultivator p*ss himself.

Instead of launching another attack, the dragon slowly retreated and flew above Jared's head before returning to the Dragon Bell.

Jared calmly stored the Dragon Bell in his Storage Ring, then glanced at the Demonic Cultivator. "Who was the one who said I was ignorant earlier? Watch as I send you to hell, you fools."

His eyes gleamed icily.

At the same time, Cloud, Sunny, and the rest heard Jared's voice ringing in their ears. "What are you guys waiting for?"

Their eyes lit up, and they attacked the Demonic Cultivator without hesitation.

The Demonic Cultivator, petrified by the dragon's presence, was in a state of panic, leaving him vulnerable to the attacks launched by Sunny and the others.

When Cloud was engaged in battle with that Demonic Cultivator, Jared pulled out his Demon Flogger and headed straight for Barken.

Recognizing the significance of capitalizing on Barken's injury, he was determined to seize this opportunity and ensure that neither of the Demonic Cultivators escaped with their lives intact.

At that moment, Barken was severely injured and lying on the ground. He could do nothing but watch as Jared approached him with Demon Flogger in his hand.

"Kid, if you have the audacity to end my life, Inferno Devil will not let you off!" Barken screamed in terror.

"Ha! Whatever devil doesn't bother me!"

Jared cracked the whip that carried a pure demonic fire at Barken.

"W-Why do you have the demonic fire, too?" Barken could barely believe his eyes.

He couldn't fathom how Jared was able to refine pure demonic fire as well.

Can the demonic fire of Inferno Devil be easily refined by human cultivators?

When he was in a state of confusion, Jared's whip landed on him.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2937-"Barken!" The other Demonic Cultivator let out a thunderous roar when he saw his companion being struck to death by Jared.

Nonetheless, Sunny and the others swiftly launched a counterattack, not giving the Demonic Cultivator a chance to catch his breath.

Jared stared at the Demon Flogger in his hand, a delighted grin playing on his lips. This is an effective weapon against the Demonic Cultivators indeed.

“All of you step back. I’ll handle him.” Gripping the Demon Flogger tightly, Jared executed a swift, forceful leap, then whipped it toward the Demonic Cultivator.

An aura as fast as lightning emerged and raced toward the Demonic Cultivator.

Sunny and the others promptly retreated upon witnessing that.

The Demonic Cultivator fixed a furious glare on Jared, his eyes blazing with anger. In an instant, he released a powerful palm strike, summoning a roaring fire dragon that charged menacingly at Jared.

The moment the Demon Flogger struck the fire dragon, a resounding thunderclap reverberated across the entire snowy plains.

The fiery dragon instantly dissipated, and Jared’s Demon Flogger, charged with demonic fire, materialized in front of the Demonic Cultivator in the blink of an eye.

Thud!

A sharp crack echoed as the demonic fire on the Demon Flogger transformed into a sea of fire, engulfing the Demonic Cultivator.

A towering blaze soared into the sky.

Confronted with the purest demonic fire from the demon race, the Demonic Cultivator had no chance whatsoever.

From the instant he engaged with Sunny and his companions to when he was struck by Jared’s Demon Flogger, the Demonic Cultivator was enveloped in dread throughout the process.

His profound terror hindered him from unleashing his utmost potential.

Otherwise, Jared would not have been able to dispatch him effortlessly with a single lash.

Amidst the demonic fire, the Demonic Cultivator shrieked in pain before turning into ashes and vanishing completely.

The rest of the group looked at Jared in silent admiration as he extinguished the life of an Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator with a single lash of his whip.

The Dragon Bell and the Demon Flogger were both powerful divine weapons.

Anyone who possessed even one of those treasures would probably be overjoyed.

Jared alone now possessed two, and these might not even be his entire arsenal.

The fact that a mere cultivator in the Third Level Body Fusion Realm possessed two divine weapons was truly unbelievable.

What Sunny and the others did not know was that the Dragonslayer Sword in Jared's hand was also another divine weapon, especially considering the sword spirit, Zelda, residing in it. If Zelda fully recovered, the Dragonslayer Sword's power could increase many folds!

Furthermore, there was still the Divine Bow. If Jared still had the bow with him, he might even be able to take Lynette on.

If Jared were to reveal all of his divine weapons, Sunny and the group would likely be left speechless with envy.

"Let's move quickly. We need to find a secure location now to hasten our recovery!" Jared urged the people, who were still reeling from the shock.

Sunny and the rest nodded before catching up with Jared.

They had to leave the area as soon as possible. Otherwise, they would be doomed if the other Demonic Cultivators detected their presence.

Just when Jared and his companions were about to make an escape, several terrifying auras approached them from behind.

They could not help but knit their brows. "We're doomed. What the hell is wrong with these Demonic Cultivators?"

Cloud was already severely injured. If they were to fight the Demonic Cultivators again, his demise would be unavoidable.

“D*mn it. Why are there so many Demonic Cultivators in the far north? I thought they’d all been eradicated? They’re all still so formidable! It seems luck is not on our side this time!” Konce could not stop cussing.

What was supposed to be a treasure hunt in the north had turned into a disaster. Not only did they not find the treasure, but they might also lose their lives in this expedition.

Jared held his breath, gathered his spiritual sense, and heightened its intensity.

Soon, Jared flashed a grin and said, “They’re not Demonic Cultivators. Those guys have come to save us.”

With that, Jared led the others and charged in the direction of the auras.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2938-“Jared!” Quinley called out loudly to Jared, then quickly made her way over.

Following right behind her were a few skilled warriors from the Tall family, either Eighth or Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivators.

This clearly showed that the Tall family’s strength was not to be underestimated.

“Are you guys okay? Jerison returned and told me about your situation, and my brother sent me and a few subordinates over to rescue you,” Quinley said.

“We’re fine,” Jared uttered while shaking his head. “We’ve just sustained some injuries.”

“Let’s head back to the Tall residence. You can continue with your treasure hunt after you’ve recuperated,” Quinley suggested. “Recently, Demonic Cultivators have been causing havoc in the far north. Many cultivators who came in search of the treasure have met with brutal ends. It’s perilous for you to persist in your current condition.”

Jared nodded in acknowledgment. Although he wished to discover the treasure and acquire the Ice Soul Pill, the present circumstances did not allow him to do so.

Furthermore, Feenix and Aislin were still at the Tall residence, and Jared wished to meet them.

Sunny and the others, too, agreed to head to the Tall residence because they knew they were not in the perfect condition to continue exploring the far north.

The group then departed and headed for the Tall residence.

Meanwhile, Lynette, who had been teleported away earlier, had arrived at the location where Jared and Barken had dueled.

Looking at the chaos the duel had left behind, as well as the remnants of the tower strewn across the ground, Lynette furrowed her brow.

“All of Barken’s magical items have been shattered into pieces. What kind of formidable cultivator did he encounter?” Lynette did not know Barken was killed by Jared and his companions.

Even the destruction of the tower was the result of Jared’s actions.

Just as Lynette was still pondering if there were other powerful cultivators nearby, the voice of Inferno Devil echoed in her ear. “The two guardians I sent with you are dead. What have you done? Get back here right now!”

Lynette could not help but break out in a cold sweat after hearing Inferno Devil’s voice.

However, she obediently complied and vanished with a leap.

Meanwhile, at the Tall residence, Feenix and Aislin anxiously awaited Jared’s return, having learned that Quinley had gone to fetch him.

“Aislin, you’ve been in the Ethereal Realm with us for quite some time, all for the sake of Master. When Master arrives, I’ll make sure he showers you with affection,” Feenix uttered.

Upon hearing that, Aislin blushed instantly and responded, “Don’t talk nonsense. I hardly know Jared...”

“Just sleep with him, and you’ll know him better,” Feenix responded with a chuckle.

“Josephine is his official girlfriend, but she hasn’t slept with him. Yet, the rest of you have already done it with him,” Aislin said.

Feenix burst into laughter. “Josephine is his wife-to-be, but we’re not...”

Soon, Jared appeared, and Feenix and Aislin, who had been eagerly awaiting his arrival, dashed out of the house.

After spending a significant amount of time in the Ethereal Realm and enduring many hardships in their search for Jared, they had finally reunited with him.

“Master! Master!” Feenix rushed toward Jared before finally throwing herself into his arms.

“Feenix.” Jared held her close.

“Jared...” Aislin, too, called his name as she walked up to him.

“Master, Aislin also fearlessly followed you into the Ethereal Realm when you were pulled into it because she wanted to rescue you,” Feenix explained.

“Thank you, Ms. Yuchamore,” Jared responded politely.

Quinley turned to Feenix and suggested, “Jared and the others must be exhausted, having been relentlessly pursued by the Demonic Cultivators. How about we allow them to rest for now? We can discuss matters once they’ve had enough time to recover.”

Feenix nodded in agreement, and together, they entered the Tall residence. Prior to their arrival, Quinley had already made the necessary lodging arrangements for them.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2939-Jared followed Quinley over when he heard that Mason, the head of the Tall family, wanted to see him.

He wanted to meet Mason in person too.

Jared was not very sure about Mason as a person for now.

If Mason was an evil man who even colluded with Demonic Cultivators, then it would be dangerous for them to live in the Tall residence.

Soon, Quinley brought Jared to the living room.

Jared saw a middle-aged man sitting in the main seat. He knew that the latter must be Mason, the head of the Tall family, while the person sitting beside Mason was Jerison.

When Jerison saw Jared, he stood up and greeted him politely.

After all, if it wasn't for Jared, Jerison could have died in the Demonic Cultivators' trap, and Jerison was well aware of this fact.

Mason also got up and welcomed Jared when he saw him.

"Mr. Chance, thank you so much for saving not only Quinn but also Jerison! I don't know how to repay your kindness to us."

Mason didn't put on airs like how a head of a family usually would. Instead, he was nice and polite.

Jared was very comfortable with such a first impression.

He flashed a faint smile and said, "Don't worry about that, Mr. Mason. We can't avoid running into problems out there, and it's normal for us cultivators to help each other!"

"Mr. Chance, please have a seat!"

Mason gestured for Jared to take a seat before he returned to his own seat.

Then, he clapped his hands once and somebody entered with a very exquisite bronze plate. There was a crystal clear ice soul fragment shining on the plate.

Mason said sincerely, "Mr. Chance, you should know that there are many ice soul fragments in the far north. However, it's not easy to find them. The ice soul fragment is very helpful for cultivation as well as for recovering spiritual energy. I don't have much to repay your kindness for saving my brother and sister, so I can only gift you with an ice soul fragment. I hope you like it..."

Jared was a little shocked as he stared at the ice soul fragment. He did not expect Mason to give him such a precious item.

“Mr. Mason, this is too precious! I can’t possibly accept that! Also, Ms. Tall saved two of my friends and even allowed them to stay here peacefully. I am very grateful for that too!”

Jared was very grateful that Quinley had saved Feenix and Aislin and had even given them a place to stay.

“Mr. Chance, I heard that the two girls are your good friends. My incompetent brother almost made a huge mistake! I have already taught him a lesson. Mr. Chance, please accept this ice soul fragment,” Mason said.

Seeing that Mason was so persistent, Jared had no choice but to keep the ice soul fragment.

Mason smiled when he saw Jared accepting it. Then, he waved his hand and said, “Quinn, Jerison, leave us. I need to discuss something with Mr. Chance.”

Quinley and Jerison nodded and left.

Jared’s face was full of confusion as he didn’t know what Mason wanted to talk to him about.

After Quinley and Jerison left, Mason suddenly enveloped Jared with his aura.

Jared did not expect Mason to make a move against him. He frowned, and the Power of Three in his body erupted instantly.

Then, a strong spiritual sense tried to enter Jared’s body forcefully, seemingly trying to find out Jared’s every secret.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2940-Jared’s consciousness field was huge but Mason’s spiritual sense was oddly strong. There was still a huge gap between their powers.

Soon, Jared couldn’t hold on anymore. Mason’s spiritual sense entered his body and successfully retrieved the secret of Jared’s body from his consciousness field.

Just when Mason’s spiritual sense was about to find out more in Jared’s consciousness field, the Golden Tome suddenly moved.

A ray of golden light shone from it.

The speed of the light was very fast, and it had a strange aura.

At once, Mason's spiritual sense was crushed.

The restraining aura surrounding Jared immediately disappeared. Mason looked pale and there was even a streak of blood on the corner of his lips.

"Mr. Mason, what is this supposed to mean?"

Jared stared at Mason coldly as he was furious that Mason had suddenly made a move against him.

"Mr. Chance, please don't misunderstand me. I just wanted to have a look at your body. I did not expect a cultivator like you to have obtained the nascence aura when you're only in Third Level Body Fusion Realm! It's unbelievable!"

Mason's face was filled with shock.

"Nascence aura?" Jared frowned. "What is that?"

Mason was stunned. He glanced at Jared and asked, "You're a cultivator. Don't you know what a nascence aura is?"

Jared shook his head in response. "I only know that breaking through the realm of Tribulator is akin to remodeling one's entire physical being. One can comprehend nascence and reach a new level of understanding of all things. After breaking through the realm of Tribulator, one can become a half-immortal, and as long as one continues to cultivate, one can eventually become an immortal.

Mason nodded and said, "That is correct. You will be able to comprehend nascence once you break through the realm of Tribulator, and it is also used to confirm the strength of each cultivator after breaking through to this realm. However, it's not just breaking through the realm of Tribulator that one can comprehend nascence. Some exceptionally gifted individuals can experience nascence aura even when they're in the realm of Tribulator, and this is not surprising. But I have never seen anyone with nascence aura in Body Fusion Realm. Yet, you have it! Understanding nascence may be easy, but acquiring nascence aura requires arduous cultivation. And one must create a nascence space within their body, which is akin to a cultivator's elixir field."

Mason tried his best to explain to Jared, but the more he explained, the more Jared was confused.

Jared had never felt that he had nascence aura. It was just that a random ray of golden light had shot out from the Golden Tome. However, the aura of that golden light was indeed different.

Seeing that Jared looked confused, Mason knew that he had zero idea what he was talking about. "I'll bring your primordial spirit to my nascence space to have a look. Don't try to resist me anymore. The nascence aura in you is too strong. If you attack me, I won't be able to take it."

Mason was indeed a little scared that Jared would release his nascence aura again.

However, Mason didn't know that it wasn't Jared's nascence aura but the aura released by the Golden Tome.

Jared couldn't control it, and it wasn't something he could use whenever he wanted to.

"Mr. Mason, don't worry..."

Jared nodded.

Mason then waved his hands.

Buzz!

Jared could feel a slight tremor in his consciousness field before a ray of light shone down on him, enveloping his primordial spirit.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2933-"D*mn it. Stop right there!"

Barken and the other guardian unleashed their flames to consume the demonic fire that Cloud had thrown out. Jared had provided Cloud with only a single strand of demonic fire, so it wasn't much use in front of these two.

Truth be told, Jared was well aware that the demonic fire would merely incite their wrath.

Their opportunity would only arise once the adversaries were consumed by anger.

Seeing how effortlessly they dispelled Jared's demonic fire, Cloud promptly made his escape in fear.

He knew that his fate would be sealed if they managed to catch up with him.

He desperately ran for his life as they were hot on his heels.

Just as their attention remained fixed on Cloud, the ground quaked, and torrents of spiritual energy erupted into the sky, ensnaring both of them.

"D*mn it! We've walked right into their trap!" Barken cried out as he urgently struggled to break free from the spiritual energy chains.

Right then, four figures had appeared, launching several attacks in their direction.

Faced with this unexpected turn of events, Barken and the other guardian had no alternative but to retreat. They were uncertain about the number and capabilities of their adversaries, and caution was their best course of action.

They had been so focused on Cloud that they didn't use their spiritual sense to check their surroundings, allowing their enemies to take the opportunity to attack them.

Barken and the other guardian quickly retreated. They had been the pursuers but now they were being pursued instead.

The tables had turned.

As Barken and the other guardian made their swift escape, they noticed that the four figures who had appeared didn't pursue them. They had launched two attacks and swiftly retreated in the opposite direction.

When Barken and his companion realized what was going on, Jared and the others were long gone.

"F*ck it! They tricked us again," Barken exclaimed, gritting his teeth in anger.

Being deceived repeatedly was taking a toll on Barken's patience and composure.

His excessive caution earlier had prevented Barken from discerning that Jared and his group had merely feigned aggression without any genuine intent to attack.

Regrettably, he had only come to this realization when it was too late.

As Jared made his escape, he informed the others, “The two Demonic Cultivators we encountered are less formidable than the woman we saw earlier. One is at the beginner phase of Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm, and the other is at the peak of Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm. If it weren’t for the fact that we are exhausted and injured, we wouldn’t need to fear them at all.”

In truth, Jared and his group possessed a similar level of strength as compared to Barken and his companion. However, they had to make their escape due to their weakened condition and the injuries they had sustained.

They were also worried that the Demonic Cultivators might have reinforcements. If two more Demonic Cultivators of equivalent strength to Barken and his comrade were to join the fray, escape would become an even more daunting challenge.

When Jared and the others were escaping, the void surrounding them trembled as though space was collapsing.

A magical item, resembling a towering structure, went after them at breakneck speed.

Shortly after, it zoomed past them and crashed onto the ground just ahead.

On top of the tower stood Barken and his companion. “How dare you fools deceive us again and again? Do you have a death wish?”

Jared and the others had no choice but to halt in their tracks in the face of the magical item.

“Enough of this nonsense! Can’t you grasp that we have the numerical advantage here? Both of you are only at Eighth and Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm. The young lady at the peak of Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm met her end at our hands earlier. If you cherish your lives, it’s high time you beat a hasty retreat!” Jared warned.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2934-Barken and his companion were initially surprised, but Barken swiftly regained his composure and burst into hearty laughter. "Young man, don't attempt to deceive us. Ms. Baptiste isn't so feeble as to be killed by the likes of you. She can kill you easily."

"It's up to you to trust me or not. Since you think she's still alive, can you sense her aura?" Jared asked with a smirk. "We have three cultivators at Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm, and one at Seventh Level. Do you think you both are our match?"

Jared deliberately concealed his true strength, hoping to trick the Demonic Cultivators into underestimating him.

He knew that when they ceased regarding him as a threat, he would become the most dangerous adversary among them all.

"I'm aware of your injuries, and even without them, you're still no match for us," Barken said dismissively. "Enough of this idle chatter, and let's fight."

He raised his palm and elevated the tower, which emitted a faint glow.

A muffled thud echoed in all directions.

Knowing that Barken's tower wasn't to be taken lightly, Jared frowned.

"By the power of the tower, I suppress all before me!" Barken shouted, then tossed the tower into the air.

Infused with spiritual energy, the tower expanded in size, transforming into a colossal structure hurtling directly toward Jared and his companions.

Everyone was shocked at the sight, and they quickly retreated.

Jared was racing away at maximum speed, but the resonating sounds like a bell from within the tower possessed an uncanny ability to disrupt his spiritual sense.

He suddenly stopped moving as if he had been momentarily entranced.

Soon, he was trapped beneath the tower.

The tower plummeted to the ground with a deafening crash, forming an enormous crater.

An eruption of ice and snow soared into the sky, shrouding the surroundings and obscuring everyone's view.

"Mr. Chance!"

"Jared!"

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were astounded to see Jared being trapped by the tower.

Jared's cultivation level might seem to be the lowest among them, but they had to rely on him in a fight.

He knew how to use arcane arrays and was in possession of Demon Flogger.

Seeing Jared getting trapped beneath the tower, they felt their hearts sink.

"Ha! You're merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. How dare you act arrogant in front of me? How ignorant of you!" Barken scoffed, then turned to Cloud. "Young man, given your possession of the demonic fire, it would be wise to surrender now. Otherwise, you'll die a horrible death!"

"Nonsense! Even if I die, I will never surrender! You Demonic Cultivators are being hunted by everyone. How dare you act all arrogant?" Cloud retorted.

Barken furrowed his brows, his face cold. In a flash, he appeared before Cloud, who retaliated with a palm strike.

Simultaneously, Sunny and the other two made their moves.

They had to work together or risk getting killed by the Demonic Cultivators.

"How dare you?"

The other guardian leaped up, and two flames surged into the air.

"Blazing Palm!"

A barrage of palm strikes engulfed in searing flames bore down on them.

In response, they swiftly summoned protective shields to shield themselves from the fiery onslaught.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2935-Barken's palm landed on Cloud's chest, causing the latter to fly backward for a considerable distance.

He wasn't Barken's match to begin with, and his energy was depleted.

Nevertheless, Cloud wasn't in danger.

Barken was well aware of Cloud's ability to wield the demonic fire, and he had no intention of killing him. He aimed to capture Cloud and deliver him to Inferno Devil so that they could unravel the mystery of how a human cultivator could possess the demonic fire.

However, Barken remained oblivious to the fact that the demonic fire in Cloud's possession wasn't originally his but a mere wisp given to him by Jared.

"I gave you the chance to surrender, but you've chosen to resist. You will soon learn the consequences of your defiance." Barken cast a condescending glance upon the human cultivators.

At that moment, a melodious bell chime resonated, seemingly emanating from the very heart of the tower.

Barken knitted his brows. "Is that young man still alive?"

A cultivator at Third Level Body Fusion Realm stood no chance against the tower's might.

"No way. The tower has the power to slay a cultivator at Seventh Level Body Fusion Realm. He's only at Third Level. He can't be alive," the other guardian responded, baffled by the situation.

Just as confusion clouded their minds, the colossal tower began to shift.

It appeared as though an unseen force was gradually lifting it off the ground, causing it to hover in the air.

However, Jared wasn't seen within the tower.

"Hey, where is that brat? Why did the tower rise by itself?" Barken could barely hide his astonishment as he had no idea what had happened.

Soon, Jared rose up from the crater, floating beneath the tower as he glared at Barken.

“I can’t believe you tried to use a useless magical item to trap me.”

“You’re still alive?” Barken was dumbfounded.

Everyone could barely hide their shock at the realization that Jared was still alive as they could sense the horrifying aura within the tower.

Never in their wildest dreams did they expect to see Jared lifting the tower.

“How dare you say my magical item is useless? I’ll give you a taste of it today!” Barken shouted. “Crush him!”

Barken continued to release spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to control it and suppress Jared. However, despite his best efforts, the tower remained steadfast and unmoving.

“W-What’s going on?” Barken was utterly confused. He tried releasing spiritual energy into the tower again, but nothing happened.

“Barken, let me help you.”

The other guardian approached him and released spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to join forces to take Jared down.

Jared remained composed beneath the tower. Strangely, as if it were filled with apprehension, the tower trembled violently instead of attempting to suppress him.

Both Demonic Cultivators were completely baffled.

“What is going on?” Barken was at a loss.

“I told you that this magical item is a piece of junk, but you chose not to heed my words. Since you don’t believe me, allow me to demonstrate the capabilities of a genuine magical item,” Jared said calmly, then snapped his fingers.

The tower shook and expanded in size, its walls developing noticeable cracks.

The tremors intensified, causing more fractures to spread across the tower's structure. Eventually, the tower fragmented into countless pieces, with debris scattering in all directions.

Amid the wreckage, a bell was seen hovering in mid-air.

Jared waved his hand, and the Dragon Bell shrunk in size, landing gently on his palm.

"This is the real magical item. Yours was utterly useless," Jared said with a disdainful smile.

When he saw that his magical item had been destroyed and that he had been humiliated, Barken flew into a fit of rage and coughed up a mouthful of blood.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2936-"This is Dragon Bell, the magical item of magical items. It is a hundred times stronger than your useless magical item!" Jared scoffed.

"Impossible. That's impossible. You're merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. Even if you have a top-grade magical item, you won't be able to use it!" Barken refused to believe that the magical item in Jared's possession was a top-grade magical item.

"Yeah, whatever," Jared responded contemptuously.

"You insolent brat! I'll tear you to shreds for destroying my magical item!" Barken bellowed as he launched a furious punch in Jared's direction.

Unfazed, Jared pressed his palm on the Dragon Bell, channeling the Power of Dragons into it.

Roar!

Following the thunderous roar, the intricate patterns adorning the Dragon Bell began to glow. These patterns appeared to take on a life of their own as they detached from the Dragon Bell and transformed into a dragon hovering above Jared's head.

Barken was taken aback by the sight. He immediately retracted his fist and gazed at Jared in shock.

"Is this a dragon? A real celestial beast?"

Barken and the other guardian swiftly retreated, their faces drained of color.

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were also filled with shock as they looked at the scene before them.

The appearance of the dragon had mixed feelings swirled within their hearts.

They were glad to have buried the hatchet, for they had never expected Jared to have so many tricks up his sleeves.

If they hadn't made peace with Jared, they might have been the ones facing the dragon's attack.

Roar!

With a roar, the dragon ripped the void open with its paws and headed straight for Barken.

The dragon was as swift as lightning as it reached out to him.

Seeing that, Barken spun on his heels to flee, but the dragon's claw scratched his back, ripping out a piece of his flesh.

Barken fell to the ground with serious injuries, his eyes filled with fear.

The other guardian immediately stood in front of him in a protective manner, his body trembling slightly.

Roar!

The dragon let out another roar, opening its jaws wide, which almost made that Demonic Cultivator p*ss himself.

Instead of launching another attack, the dragon slowly retreated and flew above Jared's head before returning to the Dragon Bell.

Jared calmly stored the Dragon Bell in his Storage Ring, then glanced at the Demonic Cultivator. "Who was the one who said I was ignorant earlier? Watch as I send you to hell, you fools."

His eyes gleamed icily.

At the same time, Cloud, Sunny, and the rest heard Jared's voice ringing in their ears. "What are you guys waiting for?"

Their eyes lit up, and they attacked the Demonic Cultivator without hesitation.

The Demonic Cultivator, petrified by the dragon's presence, was in a state of panic, leaving him vulnerable to the attacks launched by Sunny and the others.

When Cloud was engaged in battle with that Demonic Cultivator, Jared pulled out his Demon Flogger and headed straight for Barken.

Recognizing the significance of capitalizing on Barken's injury, he was determined to seize this opportunity and ensure that neither of the Demonic Cultivators escaped with their lives intact.

At that moment, Barken was severely injured and lying on the ground. He could do nothing but watch as Jared approached him with Demon Flogger in his hand.

"Kid, if you have the audacity to end my life, Inferno Devil will not let you off!" Barken screamed in terror.

"Ha! Whatever devil doesn't bother me!"

Jared cracked the whip that carried a pure demonic fire at Barken.

"W-Why do you have the demonic fire, too?" Barken could barely believe his eyes.

He couldn't fathom how Jared was able to refine pure demonic fire as well.

Can the demonic fire of Inferno Devil be easily refined by human cultivators?

When he was in a state of confusion, Jared's whip landed on him.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2937-"Barken!" The other Demonic Cultivator let out a thunderous roar when he saw his companion being struck to death by Jared.

Nonetheless, Sunny and the others swiftly launched a counterattack, not giving the Demonic Cultivator a chance to catch his breath.

Jared stared at the Demon Flogger in his hand, a delighted grin playing on his lips. This is an effective weapon against the Demonic Cultivators indeed.

“All of you step back. I’ll handle him.” Gripping the Demon Flogger tightly, Jared executed a swift, forceful leap, then whipped it toward the Demonic Cultivator.

An aura as fast as lightning emerged and raced toward the Demonic Cultivator.

Sunny and the others promptly retreated upon witnessing that.

The Demonic Cultivator fixed a furious glare on Jared, his eyes blazing with anger. In an instant, he released a powerful palm strike, summoning a roaring fire dragon that charged menacingly at Jared.

The moment the Demon Flogger struck the fire dragon, a resounding thunderclap reverberated across the entire snowy plains.

The fiery dragon instantly dissipated, and Jared’s Demon Flogger, charged with demonic fire, materialized in front of the Demonic Cultivator in the blink of an eye.

Thud!

A sharp crack echoed as the demonic fire on the Demon Flogger transformed into a sea of fire, engulfing the Demonic Cultivator.

A towering blaze soared into the sky.

Confronted with the purest demonic fire from the demon race, the Demonic Cultivator had no chance whatsoever.

From the instant he engaged with Sunny and his companions to when he was struck by Jared’s Demon Flogger, the Demonic Cultivator was enveloped in dread throughout the process.

His profound terror hindered him from unleashing his utmost potential.

Otherwise, Jared would not have been able to dispatch him effortlessly with a single lash.

Amidst the demonic fire, the Demonic Cultivator shrieked in pain before turning into ashes and vanishing completely.

The rest of the group looked at Jared in silent admiration as he extinguished the life of an Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator with a single lash of his whip.

The Dragon Bell and the Demon Flogger were both powerful divine weapons.

Anyone who possessed even one of those treasures would probably be overjoyed.

Jared alone now possessed two, and these might not even be his entire arsenal.

The fact that a mere cultivator in the Third Level Body Fusion Realm possessed two divine weapons was truly unbelievable.

What Sunny and the others did not know was that the Dragonslayer Sword in Jared's hand was also another divine weapon, especially considering the sword spirit, Zelda, residing in it. If Zelda fully recovered, the Dragonslayer Sword's power could increase many folds!

Furthermore, there was still the Divine Bow. If Jared still had the bow with him, he might even be able to take Lynette on.

If Jared were to reveal all of his divine weapons, Sunny and the group would likely be left speechless with envy.

"Let's move quickly. We need to find a secure location now to hasten our recovery!" Jared urged the people, who were still reeling from the shock.

Sunny and the rest nodded before catching up with Jared.

They had to leave the area as soon as possible. Otherwise, they would be doomed if the other Demonic Cultivators detected their presence.

Just when Jared and his companions were about to make an escape, several terrifying auras approached them from behind.

They could not help but knit their brows. "We're doomed. What the hell is wrong with these Demonic Cultivators?"

Cloud was already severely injured. If they were to fight the Demonic Cultivators again, his demise would be unavoidable.

“D*mn it. Why are there so many Demonic Cultivators in the far north? I thought they’d all been eradicated? They’re all still so formidable! It seems luck is not on our side this time!” Konce could not stop cussing.

What was supposed to be a treasure hunt in the north had turned into a disaster. Not only did they not find the treasure, but they might also lose their lives in this expedition.

Jared held his breath, gathered his spiritual sense, and heightened its intensity.

Soon, Jared flashed a grin and said, “They’re not Demonic Cultivators. Those guys have come to save us.”

With that, Jared led the others and charged in the direction of the auras.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2938-“Jared!” Quinley called out loudly to Jared, then quickly made her way over.

Following right behind her were a few skilled warriors from the Tall family, either Eighth or Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivators.

This clearly showed that the Tall family’s strength was not to be underestimated.

“Are you guys okay? Jerison returned and told me about your situation, and my brother sent me and a few subordinates over to rescue you,” Quinley said.

“Let’s head back to the Tall residence. You can continue with your treasure hunt after you’ve recuperated,” Quinley suggested. “Recently, Demonic Cultivators have been causing havoc in the far north. Many cultivators who came in search of the treasure have met with brutal ends. It’s perilous for you to persist in your current condition.”

Jared nodded in acknowledgment. Although he wished to discover the treasure and acquire the Ice Soul Pill, the present circumstances did not allow him to do so.

Furthermore, Feenix and Aislin were still at the Tall residence, and Jared wished to meet them.

Sunny and the others, too, agreed to head to the Tall residence because they knew they were not in the perfect condition to continue exploring the far north.

The group then departed and headed for the Tall residence.

Meanwhile, Lynette, who had been teleported away earlier, had arrived at the location where Jared and Barken had dueled.

Looking at the chaos the duel had left behind, as well as the remnants of the tower strewn across the ground, Lynette furrowed her brow.

“All of Barken’s magical items have been shattered into pieces. What kind of formidable cultivator did he encounter?” Lynette did not know Barken was killed by Jared and his companions.

Even the destruction of the tower was the result of Jared’s actions.

Just as Lynette was still pondering if there were other powerful cultivators nearby, the voice of Inferno Devil echoed in her ear. “The two guardians I sent with you are dead. What have you done? Get back here right now!”

Lynette could not help but break out in a cold sweat after hearing Inferno Devil’s voice.

However, she obediently complied and vanished with a leap.

Meanwhile, at the Tall residence, Feenix and Aislin anxiously awaited Jared’s return, having learned that Quinley had gone to fetch him.

“Aislin, you’ve been in the Ethereal Realm with us for quite some time, all for the sake of Master. When Master arrives, I’ll make sure he showers you with affection,” Feenix uttered.

Upon hearing that, Aislin blushed instantly and responded, “Don’t talk nonsense. I hardly know Jared...”

“Just sleep with him, and you’ll know him better,” Feenix responded with a chuckle.

“Josephine is his official girlfriend, but she hasn’t slept with him. Yet, the rest of you have already done it with him,” Aislin said.

Feenix burst into laughter. “Josephine is his wife-to-be, but we’re not...”

Soon, Jared appeared, and Feenix and Aislin, who had been eagerly awaiting his arrival, dashed out of the house.

After spending a significant amount of time in the Ethereal Realm and enduring many hardships in their search for Jared, they had finally reunited with him.

“Master! Master!” Feenix rushed toward Jared before finally throwing herself into his arms.

“Feenix.” Jared held her close.

“Jared...” Aislin, too, called his name as she walked up to him.

“Master, Aislin also fearlessly followed you into the Ethereal Realm when you were pulled into it because she wanted to rescue you,” Feenix explained.

“Thank you, Ms. Yuchamore,” Jared responded politely.

Quinley turned to Feenix and suggested, “Jared and the others must be exhausted, having been relentlessly pursued by the Demonic Cultivators. How about we allow them to rest for now? We can discuss matters once they’ve had enough time to recover.”

Feenix nodded in agreement, and together, they entered the Tall residence. Prior to their arrival, Quinley had already made the necessary lodging arrangements for them.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2939-Jared followed Quinley over when he heard that Mason, the head of the Tall family, wanted to see him.

He wanted to meet Mason in person too.

Jared was not very sure about Mason as a person for now.

If Mason was an evil man who even colluded with Demonic Cultivators, then it would be dangerous for them to live in the Tall residence.

Soon, Quinley brought Jared to the living room.

Jared saw a middle-aged man sitting in the main seat. He knew that the latter must be Mason, the head of the Tall family, while the person sitting beside Mason was Jerison.

When Jerison saw Jared, he stood up and greeted him politely.

After all, if it wasn't for Jared, Jerison could have died in the Demonic Cultivators' trap, and Jerison was well aware of this fact.

Mason also got up and welcomed Jared when he saw him.

"Mr. Chance, thank you so much for saving not only Quinn but also Jerison! I don't know how to repay your kindness to us."

Mason didn't put on airs like how a head of a family usually would. Instead, he was nice and polite.

Jared was very comfortable with such a first impression.

He flashed a faint smile and said, "Don't worry about that, Mr. Mason. We can't avoid running into problems out there, and it's normal for us cultivators to help each other!"

"Mr. Chance, please have a seat!"

Mason gestured for Jared to take a seat before he returned to his own seat.

Then, he clapped his hands once and somebody entered with a very exquisite bronze plate. There was a crystal clear ice soul fragment shining on the plate.

Mason said sincerely, "Mr. Chance, you should know that there are many ice soul fragments in the far north. However, it's not easy to find them. The ice soul fragment is very helpful for cultivation as well as for recovering spiritual energy. I don't have much to repay your kindness for saving my brother and sister, so I can only gift you with an ice soul fragment. I hope you like it..."

Jared was a little shocked as he stared at the ice soul fragment. He did not expect Mason to give him such a precious item.

“Mr. Mason, this is too precious! I can’t possibly accept that! Also, Ms. Tall saved two of my friends and even allowed them to stay here peacefully. I am very grateful for that too!”

Jared was very grateful that Quinley had saved Feenix and Aislin and had even given them a place to stay.

“Mr. Chance, I heard that the two girls are your good friends. My incompetent brother almost made a huge mistake! I have already taught him a lesson. Mr. Chance, please accept this ice soul fragment,” Mason said.

Seeing that Mason was so persistent, Jared had no choice but to keep the ice soul fragment.

Mason smiled when he saw Jared accepting it. Then, he waved his hand and said, “Quinn, Jerison, leave us. I need to discuss something with Mr. Chance.”

Quinley and Jerison nodded and left.

Jared’s face was full of confusion as he didn’t know what Mason wanted to talk to him about.

After Quinley and Jerison left, Mason suddenly enveloped Jared with his aura.

Jared did not expect Mason to make a move against him. He frowned, and the Power of Three in his body erupted instantly.

Then, a strong spiritual sense tried to enter Jared’s body forcefully, seemingly trying to find out Jared’s every secret.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2940-Jared’s consciousness field was huge but Mason’s spiritual sense was oddly strong. There was still a huge gap between their powers.

Soon, Jared couldn’t hold on anymore. Mason’s spiritual sense entered his body and successfully retrieved the secret of Jared’s body from his consciousness field.

Just when Mason’s spiritual sense was about to find out more in Jared’s consciousness field, the Golden Tome suddenly moved.

A ray of golden light shone from it.

The speed of the light was very fast, and it had a strange aura.

At once, Mason's spiritual sense was crushed.

The restraining aura surrounding Jared immediately disappeared. Mason looked pale and there was even a streak of blood on the corner of his lips.

"Mr. Mason, what is this supposed to mean?"

Jared stared at Mason coldly as he was furious that Mason had suddenly made a move against him.

"Mr. Chance, please don't misunderstand me. I just wanted to have a look at your body. I did not expect a cultivator like you to have obtained the nascence aura when you're only in Third Level Body Fusion Realm! It's unbelievable!"

Mason's face was filled with shock.

"Nascence aura?" Jared frowned. "What is that?"

Mason was stunned. He glanced at Jared and asked, "You're a cultivator. Don't you know what a nascence aura is?"

Jared shook his head in response. "I only know that breaking through the realm of Tribulator is akin to remodeling one's entire physical being. One can comprehend nascence and reach a new level of understanding of all things. After breaking through the realm of Tribulator, one can become a half-immortal, and as long as one continues to cultivate, one can eventually become an immortal.

Mason nodded and said, "That is correct. You will be able to comprehend nascence once you break through the realm of Tribulator, and it is also used to confirm the strength of each cultivator after breaking through to this realm. However, it's not just breaking through the realm of Tribulator that one can comprehend nascence. Some exceptionally gifted individuals can experience nascence aura even when they're in the realm of Tribulator, and this is not surprising. But I have never seen anyone with nascence aura in Body Fusion Realm. Yet, you have it! Understanding nascence may be easy, but acquiring nascence aura requires arduous cultivation. And one must create a nascence space within their body, which is akin to a cultivator's elixir field."

Mason tried his best to explain to Jared, but the more he explained, the more Jared was confused.

Jared had never felt that he had nascence aura. It was just that a random ray of golden light had shot out from the Golden Tome. However, the aura of that golden light was indeed different.

Seeing that Jared looked confused, Mason knew that he had zero idea what he was talking about. "I'll bring your primordial spirit to my nascence space to have a look. Don't try to resist me anymore. The nascence aura in you is too strong. If you attack me, I won't be able to take it."

Mason was indeed a little scared that Jared would release his nascence aura again.

However, Mason didn't know that it wasn't Jared's nascence aura but the aura released by the Golden Tome.

Jared couldn't control it, and it wasn't something he could use whenever he wanted to.

"Mr. Mason, don't worry..."

Jared nodded.

Mason then waved his hands.

Buzz!

Jared could feel a slight tremor in his consciousness field before a ray of light shone down on him, enveloping his primordial spirit.

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were astounded to see Jared being trapped by the tower.

Jared's cultivation level might seem to be the lowest among them, but they had to rely on him in a fight.

He knew how to use arcane arrays and was in possession of Demon Flogger.

Seeing Jared getting trapped beneath the tower, they felt their hearts sink.

"Ha! You're merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. How dare you act arrogant in front of me? How ignorant of you!" Barken scoffed, then turned to Cloud. "Young man, given your possession of the demonic fire, it would be wise to surrender now. Otherwise, you'll die a horrible death!"

"Nonsense! Even if I die, I will never surrender! You Demonic Cultivators are being hunted by everyone. How dare you act all arrogant?" Cloud retorted.

Barken furrowed his brows, his face cold. In a flash, he appeared before Cloud, who retaliated with a palm strike.

Simultaneously, Sunny and the other two made their moves.

They had to work together or risk getting killed by the Demonic Cultivators.

"How dare you?"

The other guardian leaped up, and two flames surged into the air.

"Blazing Palm!"

A barrage of palm strikes engulfed in searing flames bore down on them.

In response, they swiftly summoned protective shields to shield themselves from the fiery onslaught.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2935-Barken's palm landed on Cloud's chest, causing the latter to fly backward for a considerable distance.

He wasn't Barken's match to begin with, and his energy was depleted.

Nevertheless, Cloud wasn't in danger.

Barken was well aware of Cloud's ability to wield the demonic fire, and he had no intention of killing him. He aimed to capture Cloud and deliver him to Inferno Devil so that they could unravel the mystery of how a human cultivator could possess the demonic fire.

However, Barken remained oblivious to the fact that the demonic fire in Cloud's possession wasn't originally his but a mere wisp given to him by Jared.

"I gave you the chance to surrender, but you've chosen to resist. You will soon learn the consequences of your defiance." Barken cast a condescending glance upon the human cultivators.

At that moment, a melodious bell chime resonated, seemingly emanating from the very heart of the tower.

Barken knitted his brows. "Is that young man still alive?"

A cultivator at Third Level Body Fusion Realm stood no chance against the tower's might.

"No way. The tower has the power to slay a cultivator at Seventh Level Body Fusion Realm. He's only at Third Level. He can't be alive," the other guardian responded, baffled by the situation.

Just as confusion clouded their minds, the colossal tower began to shift.

It appeared as though an unseen force was gradually lifting it off the ground, causing it to hover in the air.

However, Jared wasn't seen within the tower.

"Hey, where is that brat? Why did the tower rise by itself?" Barken could barely hide his astonishment as he had no idea what had happened.

Soon, Jared rose up from the crater, floating beneath the tower as he glared at Barken.

"I can't believe you tried to use a useless magical item to trap me."

"You're still alive?" Barken was dumbfounded.

Everyone could barely hide their shock at the realization that Jared was still alive as they could sense the horrifying aura within the tower.

Never in their wildest dreams did they expect to see Jared lifting the tower.

“How dare you say my magical item is useless? I’ll give you a taste of it today!” Barken shouted. “Crush him!”

Barken continued to release spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to control it and suppress Jared. However, despite his best efforts, the tower remained steadfast and unmoving.

“W-What’s going on?” Barken was utterly confused. He tried releasing spiritual energy into the tower again, but nothing happened.

“Barken, let me help you.”

The other guardian approached him and released spiritual energy into the tower, attempting to join forces to take Jared down.

Jared remained composed beneath the tower. Strangely, as if it were filled with apprehension, the tower trembled violently instead of attempting to suppress him.

Both Demonic Cultivators were completely baffled.

“What is going on?” Barken was at a loss.

“I told you that this magical item is a piece of junk, but you chose not to heed my words. Since you don’t believe me, allow me to demonstrate the capabilities of a genuine magical item,” Jared said calmly, then snapped his fingers.

The tower shook and expanded in size, its walls developing noticeable cracks.

The tremors intensified, causing more fractures to spread across the tower’s structure. Eventually, the tower fragmented into countless pieces, with debris scattering in all directions.

Amid the wreckage, a bell was seen hovering in mid-air.

Jared waved his hand, and the Dragon Bell shrunk in size, landing gently on his palm.

“This is the real magical item. Yours was utterly useless,” Jared said with a disdainful smile.

When he saw that his magical item had been destroyed and that he had been humiliated, Barken flew into a fit of rage and coughed up a mouthful of blood.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2936-“This is Dragon Bell, the magical item of magical items. It is a hundred times stronger than your useless magical item!” Jared scoffed.

“Impossible. That’s impossible. You’re merely at Third Level Body Fusion Realm. Even if you have a top-grade magical item, you won’t be able to use it!” Barken refused to believe that the magical item in Jared’s possession was a top-grade magical item.

“Yeah, whatever,” Jared responded contemptuously.

“You insolent brat! I’ll tear you to shreds for destroying my magical item!” Barken bellowed as he launched a furious punch in Jared’s direction.

Unfazed, Jared pressed his palm on the Dragon Bell, channeling the Power of Dragons into it.

Roar!

Following the thunderous roar, the intricate patterns adorning the Dragon Bell began to glow. These patterns appeared to take on a life of their own as they detached from the Dragon Bell and transformed into a dragon hovering above Jared’s head.

Barken was taken aback by the sight. He immediately retracted his fist and gazed at Jared in shock.

“Is this a dragon? A real celestial beast?”

Barken and the other guardian swiftly retreated, their faces drained of color.

Cloud, Sunny, and the rest were also filled with shock as they looked at the scene before them.

The appearance of the dragon had mixed feelings swirled within their hearts.

They were glad to have buried the hatchet, for they had never expected Jared to have so many tricks up his sleeves.

If they hadn't made peace with Jared, they might have been the ones facing the dragon's attack.

Roar!

With a roar, the dragon ripped the void open with its paws and headed straight for Barken.

The dragon was as swift as lightning as it reached out to him.

Seeing that, Barken spun on his heels to flee, but the dragon's claw scratched his back, ripping out a piece of his flesh.

Barken fell to the ground with serious injuries, his eyes filled with fear.

The other guardian immediately stood in front of him in a protective manner, his body trembling slightly.

Roar!

The dragon let out another roar, opening its jaws wide, which almost made that Demonic Cultivator p*ss himself.

Instead of launching another attack, the dragon slowly retreated and flew above Jared's head before returning to the Dragon Bell.

Jared calmly stored the Dragon Bell in his Storage Ring, then glanced at the Demonic Cultivator. "Who was the one who said I was ignorant earlier? Watch as I send you to hell, you fools."

His eyes gleamed icily.

At the same time, Cloud, Sunny, and the rest heard Jared's voice ringing in their ears. "What are you guys waiting for?"

Their eyes lit up, and they attacked the Demonic Cultivator without hesitation.

The Demonic Cultivator, petrified by the dragon's presence, was in a state of panic, leaving him vulnerable to the attacks launched by Sunny and the others.

When Cloud was engaged in battle with that Demonic Cultivator, Jared pulled out his Demon Flogger and headed straight for Barken.

Recognizing the significance of capitalizing on Barken's injury, he was determined to seize this opportunity and ensure that neither of the Demonic Cultivators escaped with their lives intact.

At that moment, Barken was severely injured and lying on the ground. He could do nothing but watch as Jared approached him with Demon Flogger in his hand.

"Kid, if you have the audacity to end my life, Inferno Devil will not let you off!" Barken screamed in terror.

"Ha! Whatever devil doesn't bother me!"

Jared cracked the whip that carried a pure demonic fire at Barken.

"W-Why do you have the demonic fire, too?" Barken could barely believe his eyes.

He couldn't fathom how Jared was able to refine pure demonic fire as well.

Can the demonic fire of Inferno Devil be easily refined by human cultivators?

When he was in a state of confusion, Jared's whip landed on him.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2937-"Barken!" The other Demonic Cultivator let out a thunderous roar when he saw his companion being struck to death by Jared.

Nonetheless, Sunny and the others swiftly launched a counterattack, not giving the Demonic Cultivator a chance to catch his breath.

Jared stared at the Demon Flogger in his hand, a delighted grin playing on his lips. This is an effective weapon against the Demonic Cultivators indeed.

"All of you step back. I'll handle him." Gripping the Demon Flogger tightly, Jared executed a swift, forceful leap, then whipped it toward the Demonic Cultivator.

An aura as fast as lightning emerged and raced toward the Demonic Cultivator.

Sunny and the others promptly retreated upon witnessing that.

The Demonic Cultivator fixed a furious glare on Jared, his eyes blazing with anger. In an instant, he released a powerful palm strike, summoning a roaring fire dragon that charged menacingly at Jared.

The moment the Demon Flogger struck the fire dragon, a resounding thunderclap reverberated across the entire snowy plains.

The fiery dragon instantly dissipated, and Jared's Demon Flogger, charged with demonic fire, materialized in front of the Demonic Cultivator in the blink of an eye.

Thud!

A sharp crack echoed as the demonic fire on the Demon Flogger transformed into a sea of fire, engulfing the Demonic Cultivator.

A towering blaze soared into the sky.

Confronted with the purest demonic fire from the demon race, the Demonic Cultivator had no chance whatsoever.

From the instant he engaged with Sunny and his companions to when he was struck by Jared's Demon Flogger, the Demonic Cultivator was enveloped in dread throughout the process.

His profound terror hindered him from unleashing his utmost potential.

Otherwise, Jared would not have been able to dispatch him effortlessly with a single lash.

Amidst the demonic fire, the Demonic Cultivator shrieked in pain before turning into ashes and vanishing completely.

The rest of the group looked at Jared in silent admiration as he extinguished the life of an Eighth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator with a single lash of his whip.

The Dragon Bell and the Demon Flogger were both powerful divine weapons.

Anyone who possessed even one of those treasures would probably be overjoyed.

Jared alone now possessed two, and these might not even be his entire arsenal.

The fact that a mere cultivator in the Third Level Body Fusion Realm possessed two divine weapons was truly unbelievable.

What Sunny and the others did not know was that the Dragonslayer Sword in Jared's hand was also another divine weapon, especially considering the sword spirit, Zelda, residing in it. If Zelda fully recovered, the Dragonslayer Sword's power could increase many folds!

Furthermore, there was still the Divine Bow. If Jared still had the bow with him, he might even be able to take Lynette on.

If Jared were to reveal all of his divine weapons, Sunny and the group would likely be left speechless with envy.

"Let's move quickly. We need to find a secure location now to hasten our recovery!" Jared urged the people, who were still reeling from the shock.

Sunny and the rest nodded before catching up with Jared.

They had to leave the area as soon as possible. Otherwise, they would be doomed if the other Demonic Cultivators detected their presence.

Just when Jared and his companions were about to make an escape, several terrifying auras approached them from behind.

They could not help but knit their brows. "We're doomed. What the hell is wrong with these Demonic Cultivators?"

Cloud was already severely injured. If they were to fight the Demonic Cultivators again, his demise would be unavoidable.

"D*mn it. Why are there so many Demonic Cultivators in the far north? I thought they'd all been eradicated? They're all still so formidable! It seems luck is not on our side this time!" Konce could not stop cussing.

What was supposed to be a treasure hunt in the north had turned into a disaster. Not only did they not find the treasure, but they might also lose their lives in this expedition.

Jared held his breath, gathered his spiritual sense, and heightened its intensity.

Soon, Jared flashed a grin and said, "They're not Demonic Cultivators. Those guys have come to save us."

With that, Jared led the others and charged in the direction of the auras.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2938-"Jared!" Quinley called out loudly to Jared, then quickly made her way over.

Following right behind her were a few skilled warriors from the Tall family, either Eighth or Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivators.

This clearly showed that the Tall family's strength was not to be underestimated.

"Are you guys okay? Jerison returned and told me about your situation, and my brother sent me and a few subordinates over to rescue you," Quinley said.

"We're fine," Jared uttered while shaking his head. "We've just sustained some injuries."

"Let's head back to the Tall residence. You can continue with your treasure hunt after you've recuperated," Quinley suggested. "Recently, Demonic Cultivators have been causing havoc in the far north. Many cultivators who came in search of the treasure have met with brutal ends. It's perilous for you to persist in your current condition."

Jared nodded in acknowledgment. Although he wished to discover the treasure and acquire the Ice Soul Pill, the present circumstances did not allow him to do so.

Furthermore, Feenix and Aislin were still at the Tall residence, and Jared wished to meet them.

Sunny and the others, too, agreed to head to the Tall residence because they knew they were not in the perfect condition to continue exploring the far north.

The group then departed and headed for the Tall residence.

Meanwhile, Lynette, who had been teleported away earlier, had arrived at the location where Jared and Barken had dueled.

Looking at the chaos the duel had left behind, as well as the remnants of the tower strewn across the ground, Lynette furrowed her brow.

“All of Barken’s magical items have been shattered into pieces. What kind of formidable cultivator did he encounter?” Lynette did not know Barken was killed by Jared and his companions.

Even the destruction of the tower was the result of Jared’s actions.

Just as Lynette was still pondering if there were other powerful cultivators nearby, the voice of Inferno Devil echoed in her ear. “The two guardians I sent with you are dead. What have you done? Get back here right now!”

Lynette could not help but break out in a cold sweat after hearing Inferno Devil’s voice.

However, she obediently complied and vanished with a leap.

Meanwhile, at the Tall residence, Feenix and Aislin anxiously awaited Jared’s return, having learned that Quinley had gone to fetch him.

“Aislin, you’ve been in the Ethereal Realm with us for quite some time, all for the sake of Master. When Master arrives, I’ll make sure he showers you with affection,” Feenix uttered.

Upon hearing that, Aislin blushed instantly and responded, “Don’t talk nonsense. I hardly know Jared...”

“Just sleep with him, and you’ll know him better,” Feenix responded with a chuckle.

“Josephine is his official girlfriend, but she hasn’t slept with him. Yet, the rest of you have already done it with him,” Aislin said.

Feenix burst into laughter. “Josephine is his wife-to-be, but we’re not...”

Soon, Jared appeared, and Feenix and Aislin, who had been eagerly awaiting his arrival, dashed out of the house.

After spending a significant amount of time in the Ethereal Realm and enduring many hardships in their search for Jared, they had finally reunited with him.

“Master! Master!” Feenix rushed toward Jared before finally throwing herself into his arms.

“Feenix.” Jared held her close.

“Jared...” Aislin, too, called his name as she walked up to him.

“Master, Aislin also fearlessly followed you into the Ethereal Realm when you were pulled into it because she wanted to rescue you,” Feenix explained.

“Thank you, Ms. Yuchamore,” Jared responded politely.

Quinley turned to Feenix and suggested, “Jared and the others must be exhausted, having been relentlessly pursued by the Demonic Cultivators. How about we allow them to rest for now? We can discuss matters once they’ve had enough time to recover.”

Feenix nodded in agreement, and together, they entered the Tall residence. Prior to their arrival, Quinley had already made the necessary lodging arrangements for them.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2939-Jared followed Quinley over when he heard that Mason, the head of the Tall family, wanted to see him.

He wanted to meet Mason in person too.

Jared was not very sure about Mason as a person for now.

If Mason was an evil man who even colluded with Demonic Cultivators, then it would be dangerous for them to live in the Tall residence.

Soon, Quinley brought Jared to the living room.

Jared saw a middle-aged man sitting in the main seat. He knew that the latter must be Mason, the head of the Tall family, while the person sitting beside Mason was Jerison.

When Jerison saw Jared, he stood up and greeted him politely.

After all, if it wasn’t for Jared, Jerison could have died in the Demonic Cultivators’ trap, and Jerison was well aware of this fact.

Mason also got up and welcomed Jared when he saw him.

“Mr. Chance, thank you so much for saving not only Quinn but also Jerison! I don’t know how to repay your kindness to us.”

Mason didn’t put on airs like how a head of a family usually would. Instead, he was nice and polite.

Jared was very comfortable with such a first impression.

He flashed a faint smile and said, “Don’t worry about that, Mr. Mason. We can’t avoid running into problems out there, and it’s normal for us cultivators to help each other!”

“Mr. Chance, please have a seat!”

Mason gestured for Jared to take a seat before he returned to his own seat.

Then, he clapped his hands once and somebody entered with a very exquisite bronze plate. There was a crystal clear ice soul fragment shining on the plate.

Mason said sincerely, “Mr. Chance, you should know that there are many ice soul fragments in the far north. However, it’s not easy to find them. The ice soul fragment is very helpful for cultivation as well as for recovering spiritual energy. I don’t have much to repay your kindness for saving my brother and sister, so I can only gift you with an ice soul fragment. I hope you like it...”

Jared was a little shocked as he stared at the ice soul fragment. He did not expect Mason to give him such a precious item.

“Mr. Mason, this is too precious! I can’t possibly accept that! Also, Ms. Tall saved two of my friends and even allowed them to stay here peacefully. I am very grateful for that too!”

Jared was very grateful that Quinley had saved Feenix and Aislin and had even given them a place to stay.

“Mr. Chance, I heard that the two girls are your good friends. My incompetent brother almost made a huge mistake! I have already taught him a lesson. Mr. Chance, please accept this ice soul fragment,” Mason said.

Seeing that Mason was so persistent, Jared had no choice but to keep the ice soul fragment.

Mason smiled when he saw Jared accepting it. Then, he waved his hand and said, "Quinn, Jerison, leave us. I need to discuss something with Mr. Chance."

Quinley and Jerison nodded and left.

Jared's face was full of confusion as he didn't know what Mason wanted to talk to him about.

After Quinley and Jerison left, Mason suddenly enveloped Jared with his aura.

Jared did not expect Mason to make a move against him. He frowned, and the Power of Three in his body erupted instantly.

Then, a strong spiritual sense tried to enter Jared's body forcefully, seemingly trying to find out Jared's every secret.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2940-Jared's consciousness field was huge but Mason's spiritual sense was oddly strong. There was still a huge gap between their powers.

Soon, Jared couldn't hold on anymore. Mason's spiritual sense entered his body and successfully retrieved the secret of Jared's body from his consciousness field.

Just when Mason's spiritual sense was about to find out more in Jared's consciousness field, the Golden Tome suddenly moved.

A ray of golden light shone from it.

The speed of the light was very fast, and it had a strange aura.

At once, Mason's spiritual sense was crushed.

The restraining aura surrounding Jared immediately disappeared. Mason looked pale and there was even a streak of blood on the corner of his lips.

"Mr. Mason, what is this supposed to mean?"

Jared stared at Mason coldly as he was furious that Mason had suddenly made a move against him.

“Mr. Chance, please don’t misunderstand me. I just wanted to have a look at your body. I did not expect a cultivator like you to have obtained the nascence aura when you’re only in Third Level Body Fusion Realm! It’s unbelievable!”

Mason’s face was filled with shock.

Mason was stunned. He glanced at Jared and asked, “You’re a cultivator. Don’t you know what a nascence aura is?”

Jared shook his head in response. “I only know that breaking through the realm of Tribulator is akin to remodeling one’s entire physical being. One can comprehend nascence and reach a new level of understanding of all things. After breaking through the realm of Tribulator, one can become a half-immortal, and as long as one continues to cultivate, one can eventually become an immortal.

Mason nodded and said, “That is correct. You will be able to comprehend nascence once you break through the realm of Tribulator, and it is also used to confirm the strength of each cultivator after breaking through to this realm. However, it’s not just breaking through the realm of Tribulator that one can comprehend nascence. Some exceptionally gifted individuals can experience nascence aura even when they’re in the realm of Tribulator, and this is not surprising. But I have never seen anyone with nascence aura in Body Fusion Realm. Yet, you have it! Understanding nascence may be easy, but acquiring nascence aura requires arduous cultivation. And one must create a nascence space within their body, which is akin to a cultivator’s elixir field.”

Mason tried his best to explain to Jared, but the more he explained, the more Jared was confused.

Jared had never felt that he had nascence aura. It was just that a random ray of golden light had shot out from the Golden Tome. However, the aura of that golden light was indeed different.

Seeing that Jared looked confused, Mason knew that he had zero idea what he was talking about. “I’ll bring your primordial spirit to my nascence space to have a look. Don’t try to resist me anymore. The nascence aura in you is too strong. If you attack me, I won’t be able to take it.”

Mason was indeed a little scared that Jared would release his nascence aura again.

However, Mason didn't know that it wasn't Jared's nascence aura but the aura released by the Golden Tome.

Jared couldn't control it, and it wasn't something he could use whenever he wanted to.

"Mr. Mason, don't worry..."

Jared nodded.

Mason then waved his hands.

Buzz!

Jared could feel a slight tremor in his consciousness field before a ray of light shone down on him, enveloping his primordial spirit.

What Sunny and the others did not know was that the Dragonslayer Sword in Jared's hand was also another divine weapon, especially considering the sword spirit, Zelda, residing in it. If Zelda fully recovered, the Dragonslayer Sword's power could increase many folds!

Furthermore, there was still the Divine Bow. If Jared still had the bow with him, he might even be able to take Lynette on.

If Jared were to reveal all of his divine weapons, Sunny and the group would likely be left speechless with envy.

“Let’s move quickly. We need to find a secure location now to hasten our recovery!” Jared urged the people, who were still reeling from the shock.

Sunny and the rest nodded before catching up with Jared.

They had to leave the area as soon as possible. Otherwise, they would be doomed if the other Demonic Cultivators detected their presence.

Just when Jared and his companions were about to make an escape, several terrifying auras approached them from behind.

They could not help but knit their brows. “We’re doomed. What the hell is wrong with these Demonic Cultivators?”

Cloud was already severely injured. If they were to fight the Demonic Cultivators again, his demise would be unavoidable.

“D*mn it. Why are there so many Demonic Cultivators in the far north? I thought they’d all been eradicated? They’re all still so formidable! It seems luck is not on our side this time!” Konce could not stop cussing.

What was supposed to be a treasure hunt in the north had turned into a disaster. Not only did they not find the treasure, but they might also lose their lives in this expedition.

Jared held his breath, gathered his spiritual sense, and heightened its intensity.

Soon, Jared flashed a grin and said, “They’re not Demonic Cultivators. Those guys have come to save us.”

With that, Jared led the others and charged in the direction of the auras.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2938-“Jared!” Quinley called out loudly to Jared, then quickly made her way over.

Following right behind her were a few skilled warriors from the Tall family, either Eighth or Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivators.

This clearly showed that the Tall family's strength was not to be underestimated.

"Are you guys okay? Jerison returned and told me about your situation, and my brother sent me and a few subordinates over to rescue you," Quinley said.

"We're fine," Jared uttered while shaking his head. "We've just sustained some injuries."

"Let's head back to the Tall residence. You can continue with your treasure hunt after you've recuperated," Quinley suggested. "Recently, Demonic Cultivators have been causing havoc in the far north. Many cultivators who came in search of the treasure have met with brutal ends. It's perilous for you to persist in your current condition."

Jared nodded in acknowledgment. Although he wished to discover the treasure and acquire the Ice Soul Pill, the present circumstances did not allow him to do so.

Furthermore, Feenix and Aislin were still at the Tall residence, and Jared wished to meet them.

Sunny and the others, too, agreed to head to the Tall residence because they knew they were not in the perfect condition to continue exploring the far north.

The group then departed and headed for the Tall residence.

Meanwhile, Lynette, who had been teleported away earlier, had arrived at the location where Jared and Barken had dueled.

Looking at the chaos the duel had left behind, as well as the remnants of the tower strewn across the ground, Lynette furrowed her brow.

"All of Barken's magical items have been shattered into pieces. What kind of formidable cultivator did he encounter?" Lynette did not know Barken was killed by Jared and his companions.

Even the destruction of the tower was the result of Jared's actions.

Just as Lynette was still pondering if there were other powerful cultivators nearby, the voice of Inferno Devil echoed in her ear. "The two guardians I sent with you are dead. What have you done? Get back here right now!"

Lynette could not help but break out in a cold sweat after hearing Inferno Devil's voice.

However, she obediently complied and vanished with a leap.

Meanwhile, at the Tall residence, Feenix and Aislin anxiously awaited Jared's return, having learned that Quinley had gone to fetch him.

"Aislin, you've been in the Ethereal Realm with us for quite some time, all for the sake of Master. When Master arrives, I'll make sure he showers you with affection," Feenix uttered.

Upon hearing that, Aislin blushed instantly and responded, "Don't talk nonsense. I hardly know Jared..."

"Just sleep with him, and you'll know him better," Feenix responded with a chuckle.

"Josephine is his official girlfriend, but she hasn't slept with him. Yet, the rest of you have already done it with him," Aislin said.

Feenix burst into laughter. "Josephine is his wife-to-be, but we're not..."

Soon, Jared appeared, and Feenix and Aislin, who had been eagerly awaiting his arrival, dashed out of the house.

After spending a significant amount of time in the Ethereal Realm and enduring many hardships in their search for Jared, they had finally reunited with him.

"Master! Master!" Feenix rushed toward Jared before finally throwing herself into his arms.

"Feenix." Jared held her close.

"Jared..." Aislin, too, called his name as she walked up to him.

"Master, Aislin also fearlessly followed you into the Ethereal Realm when you were pulled into it because she wanted to rescue you," Feenix explained.

"Thank you, Ms. Yuchamore," Jared responded politely.

Quinley turned to Feenix and suggested, "Jared and the others must be exhausted, having been relentlessly pursued by the Demonic Cultivators. How about we allow them to rest for now? We can discuss matters once they've had enough time to recover."

Feenix nodded in agreement, and together, they entered the Tall residence. Prior to their arrival, Quinley had already made the necessary lodging arrangements for them.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2939-Jared followed Quinley over when he heard that Mason, the head of the Tall family, wanted to see him.

He wanted to meet Mason in person too.

Jared was not very sure about Mason as a person for now.

If Mason was an evil man who even colluded with Demonic Cultivators, then it would be dangerous for them to live in the Tall residence.

Soon, Quinley brought Jared to the living room.

Jared saw a middle-aged man sitting in the main seat. He knew that the latter must be Mason, the head of the Tall family, while the person sitting beside Mason was Jerison.

When Jerison saw Jared, he stood up and greeted him politely.

After all, if it wasn't for Jared, Jerison could have died in the Demonic Cultivators' trap, and Jerison was well aware of this fact.

Mason also got up and welcomed Jared when he saw him.

"Mr. Chance, thank you so much for saving not only Quinn but also Jerison! I don't know how to repay your kindness to us."

Mason didn't put on airs like how a head of a family usually would. Instead, he was nice and polite.

Jared was very comfortable with such a first impression.

He flashed a faint smile and said, "Don't worry about that, Mr. Mason. We can't avoid running into problems out there, and it's normal for us cultivators to help each other!"

“Mr. Chance, please have a seat!”

Mason gestured for Jared to take a seat before he returned to his own seat.

Then, he clapped his hands once and somebody entered with a very exquisite bronze plate. There was a crystal clear ice soul fragment shining on the plate.

Mason said sincerely, “Mr. Chance, you should know that there are many ice soul fragments in the far north. However, it’s not easy to find them. The ice soul fragment is very helpful for cultivation as well as for recovering spiritual energy. I don’t have much to repay your kindness for saving my brother and sister, so I can only gift you with an ice soul fragment. I hope you like it...”

Jared was a little shocked as he stared at the ice soul fragment. He did not expect Mason to give him such a precious item.

“Mr. Mason, this is too precious! I can’t possibly accept that! Also, Ms. Tall saved two of my friends and even allowed them to stay here peacefully. I am very grateful for that too!”

Jared was very grateful that Quinley had saved Feenix and Aislin and had even given them a place to stay.

“Mr. Chance, I heard that the two girls are your good friends. My incompetent brother almost made a huge mistake! I have already taught him a lesson. Mr. Chance, please accept this ice soul fragment,” Mason said.

Seeing that Mason was so persistent, Jared had no choice but to keep the ice soul fragment.

Mason smiled when he saw Jared accepting it. Then, he waved his hand and said, “Quinn, Jerison, leave us. I need to discuss something with Mr. Chance.”

Quinley and Jerison nodded and left.

Jared’s face was full of confusion as he didn’t know what Mason wanted to talk to him about.

After Quinley and Jerison left, Mason suddenly enveloped Jared with his aura.

Jared did not expect Mason to make a move against him. He frowned, and the Power of Three in his body erupted instantly.

Then, a strong spiritual sense tried to enter Jared's body forcefully, seemingly trying to find out Jared's every secret.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2940-Jared's consciousness field was huge but Mason's spiritual sense was oddly strong. There was still a huge gap between their powers.

Soon, Jared couldn't hold on anymore. Mason's spiritual sense entered his body and successfully retrieved the secret of Jared's body from his consciousness field.

Just when Mason's spiritual sense was about to find out more in Jared's consciousness field, the Golden Tome suddenly moved.

A ray of golden light shone from it.

The speed of the light was very fast, and it had a strange aura.

At once, Mason's spiritual sense was crushed.

The restraining aura surrounding Jared immediately disappeared. Mason looked pale and there was even a streak of blood on the corner of his lips.

"Mr. Mason, what is this supposed to mean?"

Jared stared at Mason coldly as he was furious that Mason had suddenly made a move against him.

"Mr. Chance, please don't misunderstand me. I just wanted to have a look at your body. I did not expect a cultivator like you to have obtained the nascence aura when you're only in Third Level Body Fusion Realm! It's unbelievable!"

Mason's face was filled with shock.

"Nascence aura?" Jared frowned. "What is that?"

Mason was stunned. He glanced at Jared and asked, "You're a cultivator. Don't you know what a nascence aura is?"

Jared shook his head in response. "I only know that breaking through the realm of Tribulator is akin to remodeling one's entire physical being. One can comprehend nascence and reach a new level of understanding of all things. After breaking through the realm of Tribulator, one can become a half-immortal, and as long as one continues to cultivate, one can eventually become an immortal.

Mason nodded and said, "That is correct. You will be able to comprehend nascence once you break through the realm of Tribulator, and it is also used to confirm the strength of each cultivator after breaking through to this realm. However, it's not just breaking through the realm of Tribulator that one can comprehend nascence. Some exceptionally gifted individuals can experience nascence aura even when they're in the realm of Tribulator, and this is not surprising. But I have never seen anyone with nascence aura in Body Fusion Realm. Yet, you have it! Understanding nascence may be easy, but acquiring nascence aura requires arduous cultivation. And one must create a nascence space within their body, which is akin to a cultivator's elixir field."

Mason tried his best to explain to Jared, but the more he explained, the more Jared was confused.

Jared had never felt that he had nascence aura. It was just that a random ray of golden light had shot out from the Golden Tome. However, the aura of that golden light was indeed different.

Seeing that Jared looked confused, Mason knew that he had zero idea what he was talking about. "I'll bring your primordial spirit to my nascence space to have a look. Don't try to resist me anymore. The nascence aura in you is too strong. If you attack me, I won't be able to take it."

Mason was indeed a little scared that Jared would release his nascence aura again.

However, Mason didn't know that it wasn't Jared's nascence aura but the aura released by the Golden Tome.

Jared couldn't control it, and it wasn't something he could use whenever he wanted to.

"Mr. Mason, don't worry..."

Jared nodded.

Mason then waved his hands.

Buzz!

Jared could feel a slight tremor in his consciousness field before a ray of light shone down on him, enveloping his primordial spirit.
