A Man Like None Other Chapter 3201-“Aaaaah!” Both of them screamed in agony before the black fog corroded their bodies completely, reducing them to a puddle of blood that seeped into the ground.

The Demonic Cultivators, who were living underground, used that blood for their cultivation.

“What should we do about Jared, Mr. Lefterov?” Zayan asked, “Inform all subbranches to kill Jared on sight! Also, have the Demonic Cultivators from Soulless Hall track Jared down. They’ve been living under our protection for a very long time, so it’s about time they returned the favor by contributing a little,” Talcott ordered.

“Got it! I’ll inform them right away!” the middle- aged man replied. He was about to leave when Talcott called out to him again, “Hold on.” “Yes? What is it, Mr. Lefterov?” Zayan asked.

“Demonic Cultivators have been rampant in Démonia Mountain lately. I also heard that a new celestial battlefield has been discovered there, so there should be a lot of magical items lying around. Lots of cultivators and some of the elders from the beast race have headed over to Démonia Mountain, so I want you to bring Salvatore there for some training,” Talcott said.

Zayan frowned slightly as he replied, “Mr. Lefterov, Démonia Mountain is very far away, and the situation there is quite chaotic. I’m worried that it may be unsafe for Mr. Salvatore.” “What are you afraid of? Demon Seal Alliance’s reputation alone is enough to keep people from attacking us. Besides, I only want you guys to capture some Demonic Cultivators from Démonia Mountain. I’m not asking you to fight for the magical items, so it’ll be fine.” Talcott then turned around and called out to Salvatore, “Come on out, Salvatore.” Seconds later, a young man in a white robe stepped into view and bowed at Zayan. “Greetings, Mr. Cabeza.” “Since you have decided on this, I shall bring Mr. Salvatore there after I’ve made the arrangements,” Zayan said helplessly.

“Good.” Talcott dismissed them with a wave. Meanwhile, at the Nesser residence in the northern region, Cameron was packing some stuff while making detailed arrangements for the family’s affairs.

“All the arrangements have been made, Elder Nesser. However, I still advise against going to Demonia Mountain. Not only is it incredibly far, but many cultivators have heard about the newly discovered celestial battlefield there and are heading over as we speak. You have yet to make a full recovery, Elder Nesser. Given the Nesser family’s current capabilities, I’m afraid we may not be able to gain much by going there,” Cameron said in an attempt to talk Skylar out of it.

Skylar hadn’t walked in a long time, ever since he entered Ethereal Realm and attached himself to Eamon’s body.

He had been focused on restoring Eamon’s strength this whole time, but the Nesser family’s resources were rather limited.

Realizing that it would take forever to reach Top Level, Skylar decided to head out and familiarize himself with Ethereal Realm. Neither his ambition nor his hatred for Jared had decreased simply because he had entered Ethereal Realm.

He was determined to obtain more information on Jared. Unbeknownst to Skylar, Cameron and Jared were incredibly close and had once fought alongside each other.

“I told you to go to Demonia Mountain with me. I’m not asking for your opinion.

Do you understand?” Skylar responded coldly.

Having familiarized himself with his identity during his time in the Nesser residence, Skylar had the entire Nesser family at his beck and call.

Cameron didn’t dare say anything further after that. He quickly picked a few of the Nesser family’s disciples to accompany Skylar on this journey.

Cameron knew full well that the Nesser family wasn’t exactly considered powerful in the northern region.

On top of that, the journey to Demonia Mountain would require them to go through the central region. Even if they did make it to Demonia Mountain, they would most likely only be scavenging the scraps left behind by others.

However, Skylar was adamant about going there, and Cameron didn't dare disobey his orders. After all, the Nesser family was dependent on Skylar to flourish and prosper.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3202-Meanwhile, things at Emerald Cauldron Sect. went back to normal after Hosen's death. Jared was waiting for Feenix to return. If Feenix really brought Beast King of the beast race over, then conflict would definitely be unavoidable.

No one had expected Norwal City to fall that quickly. With Yuven ruling over two cities at the same time, the other cities would surely get jealous and try to make a move.

As such, Jared had to wait and see if the other kings would make a move. If that were the case, he could join forces with Yuven to back the latter up.

Things would be rough for Yuven if he were on his own, but he had nothing to fear with Jared on his side.

"Mr. Chance, King Yuven is here..." said Sigurd as he entered Jared's room.

Jared figured Feenix must have returned if Yuven was back, so he quickly headed over to Emerald Cauldron Sect with Sigurd.

Upon entering the main hall, he saw Yuven and Feenix chatting with Viola.

"Master!" Feenix ran up to Jared the moment she spotted him.

"Hey, Feenix! Did you bring our backup?" Jared asked. Feenix shook her head.

"Those from the beast race weren't home. It's possible that they have all headed over to Demonica Mountain. I saw a lot of people going there on my way back.

From what I've heard, a new celestial battleground. had been discovered there.

Since no one has been there, that place is bound to be full of magical items." Jared's eyes lit up the moment he heard that. "Demonica Mountain? A new celestial battleground?" Montane Daemon is in Demonica Mountain. On top of that, Dalton and Rosetta's Blood Spirit Valley are nearby as well! I've been intending to make a trip to Demonia Mountain myself. Who would've thought someone would discover a new celestial battleground in Demonia Mountain, eh?

Just thinking about the draconic energy he got from Night Sea and the Celestial Battle got Jared all fired up. Maybe I'll make some new discoveries at this celestial battleground!

Yuven knew what Jared was up to when he saw the latter's expression.

"Demonia Mountain is in the southern region, Mr. Chance. It's a few hundred thousand miles away, and you'd have to go through the central region to get there. It's going to be a very dangerous trip." "We have an airship, so the distance isn't a problem. Besides, I've been wanting to visit Demonia Mountain anyway," Jared replied.

"Are you really going to Demonia Mountain, Master?" Feenix asked.

"Of course! Had you not brought me this piece of information, I would probably head there much later. Right now, however, I can barely wait any longer! I want to head over right away!" Jared said excitedly while rubbing his palms together.

"Even if we use the airship, it'd still take us about two weeks to get there, Mr. Chance," Yuven said.

"We could use a Teleportation Array, so getting there won't be a problem. It'll just cost us spirit coins, that's all," Feenix suggested.

"That's a great idea. Since there isn't anything going on with Imperial Beast City and Emerald Cauldron Sect, I'll head out right now!" Jared said and had Sigurd summon Quinley and Aislin. He couldn't bring those two with him as they were still too weak at the moment.

He needed them to strengthen themselves as quickly as possible, so it would be safer to have them remain at Emerald Cauldron Sect or Imperial Beast City.

"I can understand why you won't let anyone else go with you, but why won't you let me come along either, Master? I know Ethereal Realm like the back of my hand! Won't you need a guide to show you the way?" Feenix asked with a pout.

Cloud may know Ethereal Realm very well, but he's only familiar with the northern region. I doubt he'd know much outside of the northern region, so I could indeed use a guide.

With that in mind, Jared nodded and said, "All right, then. You can come with me. Everyone else, stay here at Emerald Cauldron Sect and continue your training. We'll be able to go on adventures together once you're all strong enough."

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3203-Viola and Quinley glared angrily at Jared in response.

Although they were unhappy that Feenix got to go with Jared while they had to stay back, they knew that it was due to their current strength. They would only burden Jared if they went with him without being strong enough.

Quinley was the most upset as she had come all the way from the far north, only to be separated from Jared again.

As if that wasn't bad enough, the other girls had all slept with Jared. She was the only one who had yet to do so.

That made Quinley feel inferior to the other girls. Upon noticing the look on Quinley's face, Feenix realized something and whispered into Jared's ear. Jared turned to look at Quinley and saw that her eyes were filled with desire.

"All right; begin with the preparations. We'll head out shortly," Jared said with a wave.

"Take care, Mr. Chance. The nearest Teleportation Array is thousands of miles away. You can use it to teleport to the central region and then teleport to the southern region from there. Although you will be using a Teleportation Array, keep in mind that it isn't open every day. Whether or not you get to use it will depend on your luck," Yuven reminded Jared.

"Got it. Make sure to safeguard Emerald Cauldron Sect," Jared replied. Emerald Cauldron Sect was where Jared's women were gathered, so he couldn't let anything happen to it.

“Don’t worry, Mr. Chance. I will have my army stationed here at Emerald Cauldron Sect once I return. We have also taken over Norwal City, so Emerald Cauldron Sect will be very safe since it is sandwiched between the two cities,” Yuven responded seriously.

As everyone left the hall, Feenix stopped Quinley and said, “I think Master wants to have a word with you, Quinley.” Feenix then stepped outside to give the two some privacy, leaving Quinley confused and flustered. Before she even realized what was going on, Jared scooped her into his arms and carried her into the bedroom.

Pleasurable moans soon came from the bedroom as things quickly got heated up in there. Feenix couldn’t help but giggle as she listened in from outside.

Eventually, the moans faded into silence. Quinley looked a mess when she opened the bedroom door and stepped outside. Feenix walked up to her and asked with a teasing smile, “How are you feeling, Quinley?” Quinley burned bright red and ran off immediately. However, there was something off about her posture when she ran. Jared shot Feenix a glare when he realized she had been eavesdropping. “Are you ready to head out?” “Yes, and so is Cloud’s airship. We were just waiting for you to finish your business in the bedroom!” Feenix replied with a chuckle. Jared waved at her.

“Let’s go!” Everyone from Emerald Cauldron Sect came out to send them off as they boarded the airship. Viola, Quinley, and Aislin had reluctant looks on their faces, but there was nothing much they could do about it.

The people from Emerald Cauldron Sect waved goodbye to them as the airship slowly rose into the air..

They had no idea when Jared would return again.

All Viola and the others could do was focus on their cultivation to strengthen themselves as quickly as possible.

That was the only way they could become Jared’s equals instead of his burdens. The airship had disappeared completely from sight, but Quinley and the others were still standing there and staring at the sky.

“How long does the Teleportation Array take before it activates, Feenix?” Jared asked while staring at the sky outside the window.

“I’m not too sure myself. The Teleportation Array doesn’t have a fixed timeframe, and each activation consumes a huge amount of resources. If there aren’t many people using it, then we would need to wait until we have enough people to activate it. I imagine there would be a lot of people heading over to Demonica Mountain now that a celestial battleground has been discovered there, so the time taken for the Teleportation Array to activate should be very short,” Feenix explained.

Jared simply nodded in response and stared out the window without saying anything further.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3204-After flying for a whole day and a night, the airship slowly landed at a small city where the Teleportation Array was located.

Jared then put the airship away and headed over to the Teleportation Array with the others. The three of them had to pay a few million spirit coins each before they were allowed to enter the Teleportation Array.

After going through several rounds of screenings, the trio finally saw the Teleportation Array, which had a radius of a few hundred meters.

It was extremely complicated and exuded an ancient aura. These Teleportation Arrays were left behind from ancient times. Given the cultivation levels of the Ethereal Realm cultivators, none of them could possibly create such a huge arcane array.

In the past, there were many Teleportation Arrays in the Ethereal Realm. After all, Ethereal Realm was hundreds or thousands of times larger than the mundane world.

With Teleportation Arrays, they could shorten the amount of time needed to travel around Ethereal Realm. However, to maintain and activate such a massive arcane array would require huge amounts of resources.

Because of that, many Teleportation Arrays were either destroyed or no longer in service. Only a few Teleportation Arrays remained active.

Because word had gotten out about the celestial battleground in Demonica Mountain, there were hundreds of cultivators gathered in the Teleportation Array.

“Is the Teleportation Array going to be activated or not? We’ve been waiting for three days now! There are hundreds of us here, so why hasn’t it activated yet?” “I know, right? I can’t believe we have to wait endlessly after paying millions of spirit coins!” “The people from Behemoth Palace sure are a greedy bunch!” A bunch of cultivators, who were gathered at the entrance of the Teleportation Array, protested loudly as they were getting impatient. Standing before them, however, were two muscular men about two meters tall. They even had accessories that were made out of beast bones.

The two men ignored the crowd completely and acted as though they didn’t even hear them. The entrance to the Teleportation Array behind them was tightly shut.

“There are hundreds of us here now, so why hasn’t the Teleportation Array activated yet? If we teleport too many people at once, it could overload the Teleportation Array and damage it. That could be very dangerous!” Feenix exclaimed while staring at the cultivators standing around them.

“These men from Behemoth Palace are particularly greedy. In fact, their levels of greed even surpass that of my father’s. It’s not often that so many people would use the Teleportation Array at the same time, so they’re bound to take advantage of this opportunity to rip us off. Just you wait. I bet they’re going to increase the price soon...” Cloud replied helplessly.

“What is Behemoth Palace? Why are they in charge of Teleportation Arrays?” Jared asked in confusion. Although the two men guarding the Teleportation Array were tall and strong, the aura they exuded wasn’t all that powerful.

“The people from Behemoth Palace are descendants of barbarians, Mr. Chance.

They worship absolute power, and their origins share some connections with Archaic Body cultivators. The difference is the people from Behemoth Palace are very wild and don’t seem to have evolved much. They don’t rely on spiritual energy for cultivation. Instead, they consume the blood and flesh of demon beasts raw. They believe that this is the only way to maximize their bodies’ potential,” Cloud explained.

Jared let out a chuckle after hearing that. “So, they’re basically barbarians, then?” “You could say that. They are the descendants of barbarians, after all. This Teleportation Array is on Behemoth Palace territory, so they’re in charge of it.

These guys are incredibly greedy, so they're bound to hike up the prices now that there are so many people here." Those words had barely left Cloud's mouth when an argument broke out near the Teleportation Array's entrance.

"You barbarians are unbelievable! This Teleportation Array may be on your territory, but it doesn't belong to Behemoth Palace! You guys are only allowed to manage it! Your kin was never capable of creating Teleportation Arrays like this, even during ancient times!"

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3205-One of the cultivators, who had been waiting there for three days, couldn't stand it anymore. After all, the men from Behemoth Palace still refused to activate the Teleportation Array even though there were hundreds of people gathered around.

"How dare you insult our ancestors? Die!" shouted one of the men from Behemoth Palace as he kicked at the cultivator.

The cultivator tried his best to dodge the kick, but his range of motion was restricted with so many people around him.

Boom!

The cultivator was sent flying by the impact and crashed into the ground behind the crowd.

Since the people present at the scene were all complete strangers, no one was willing to speak up on that cultivator's behalf. As they still needed to use the Teleportation Array, they didn't dare offend Behemoth Palace over a random stranger.

Although the other cultivators were dissatisfied with Behemoth Palace's actions, they didn't dare say a word about it.

"These guys from Behemoth Palace have gone too far!" Cloud exclaimed angrily.

"Hmph! They're just a bunch of barbarians! I can't believe they really think highly of themselves for guarding a Teleportation Array!" Feenix said with a disdainful snort.

The two men from Behemoth Palace had smug looks on their faces when they saw the crowd behave themselves out of fear. These cultivators are completely at our mercy! Since we control the Teleportation Array, we control them all!

Seeing as no one else would speak up, Jared said, “Beating people up over a mere verbal argument? You guys sure have gone too far!” “Who said that? How dare you interfere?” the other guy from Behemoth Palace shouted angrily while glancing around for the culprit.

The crowd then stepped aside to make way for Jared and the others. They couldn’t help but worry when they saw that Jared and his group were all only Body Fusion Realm cultivators.

It’s fine if they’re powerful and all, but these people are far too weak to stand up to Behemoth Palace! Things are not going to end well for them!

The two men guarding the entrance burst out laughing when they saw that Jared and the others were only Body Fusion Realm cultivators.

“Which one of you three is the nosy one?” asked one of the two guards.

“It was me. You guys have gone too far by beating people up over such a minor thing. Besides, we’re all here to use the Teleportation Array. Since we’ve paid for it, that makes us customers. You shouldn’t bite the hand that feeds you. How would Behemoth Palace even make money if it weren’t for us using this Teleportation Array? You’ll starve to death if no one uses it!” Jared replied calmly.

As his words resonated with most of the cultivators present at the scene, they applauded him in response.

The two men from Behemoth Palace grew furious when they saw that. They were exuding violent auras as they glared daggers at Jared.

Right when they were about to attack him, an icy-cold voice rang out from behind. “Who dares badmouth Behemoth Palace? Do you have a death wish or something?” The voice was followed by a strong gust of wind that knocked everyone back.

A young man then landed in front of Jared seconds later. The two men from Behemoth Palace quickly knelt when they saw him. “Greetings, Mr. Jonah.” Jared narrowed his eyes and eyed the young man standing before him from head to toe. He had a tall frame, wore fancy clothes, and had two nose rings that made him look like a buffalo.

The young man had a disdainful look in his eyes as he stared Jared down.
