

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

Read Novel [A Man Like None Other Chapter 3451

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3451-“Jennifer, please refrain from speaking nonsense. Father is already distressed enough.” Jacques quickly gave his sister a stern look, signaling for her to watch her words.

“She’s right. If I had listened earlier, Mr. Freddie wouldn’t have gotten hurt.” Tyler stood up and shifted his gaze towards Jared.

He had always been wary of Jared and his gang, fearing that they would seize the treasure he had discovered.

However, even though the Summers family were the first to discover this treasure, they simply did not have the ability to obtain it.

“Mr. Summers, Mr. Chance has the ability to discern the arcane array from outside, and that proves he truly possesses genuine skills,” Freddie stated.

The art of forming arcane arrays was ever- changing and unpredictable. It was nearly impossible to anticipate what might happen next unless one personally set up the arcane array or stepped foot in it.

However, Jared was able to predict that Freddie would get injured by observing the arcane array from outside. This proved Jared’s understanding of arcane arrays to be superior to theirs.

Tyler nodded. At this point, he had no choice but to admit that Jared indeed had some real skills.

“My friend, I wonder if you would join us in breaking the arcane array. We are willing to share a portion of the treasure we find,” Tyler humbly asked, setting aside his pride.

“Why should I join forces with you when I can break it myself? Why should I let you guys be a part of it? You want me to share the treasure with you, huh?” Jared asked with a faint smile.

His words left Tyler speechless.

The other members of the Summers family also looked at Jared in disbelief.

“Hey, you brat, don’t you think you’re being too arrogant? You dare to claim that you can break this arcane array yourself when both my father and Mr. Freddie failed to find the core?” Jacques said disdainfully, thinking Jared was just boasting.

Freddie furrowed his brows and struggled to his feet. “My friend, even though your understanding of arcane arrays might be deeper than ours, it is nearly impossible for you to dismantle such a grand arcane array all by yourself. Even if you located the core, you would need help to destroy it. Every member of our family is proficient in the art of arcane arrays, so collaborating with us is the best decision you can make.” Freddie also didn’t believe that Jared could break the arcane array alone.

“That’s because you’re incompetent. Don’t judge others based on your own standards. Just because you can’t do it, doesn’t mean others can’t,” Jared sneered.

“Who are you calling incompetent? The Summers family is a prominent family throughout the entire southern region. We are at the top in the field of both arcane arrays and charms!” Jacques bellowed, seething with rage.

Jared remained calm in the face of the furious Jacques. He smiled. “The overall level in terms of arcane array and charm skills is extremely low in the entire Ethereal Realm, not to mention the southern region.

“In the Ethereal Realm, where combat skills are revered and magecraft is disdained, everyone aspires to become immortals, scoffing at the idea of arcane arrays and charms, leading to an extremely low level of proficiency in these arts.” Jared’s words left everyone in the Summers family stunned. They then fell into complete silence.

What Jared said was the truth. The Ethereal Realm used to produce plenty of talented individuals, but later on, the status of cultivators who specialized in arcane arrays and charms became lower, and their progress in cultivation slowed down, causing them to be looked down upon by others.

Not just experts in arcane arrays and charms, even alchemists were positioned at the bottom of the social ladder. As a result, many cultivators in the Ethereal Realm began to abandon the practice of alchemy as well as arcane arrays and charms, focusing all their energy on increasing their cultivation level.

Over the course of several millennia, the number of cultivators proficient in the art of arcane arrays and charms gradually dwindled, as well as alchemists.

Following the decline of these cultivators, their importance slowly became more pronounced.

Click to rate this post!

[Total: 0 Average: 0]

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3452-Although the overall cultivation level of alchemists was currently low, their social status was high, and they were greatly respected by people.

As for cultivators of charms and arcane arrays, they were needed for their skill in creating charms. Even something as common as the simplest communication device required the skills of a charm master to forge.

However, both the art of alchemy and charm spells had experienced a decline, to the extent that the current charm masters in the Ethereal Realm could no longer create truly advanced charms.

What they considered advanced charms were nothing more than meaningless scribbles to Jared.

“My friend, even if you can break through the arcane array yourself, it might not be easy for you to obtain the treasure within. Such treasures are surely guarded by demon beasts. If you join forces with us, we can lend you a hand, too,” said Tyler, his tone pleading.

At that point, Tyler chose to trust Jared regardless of whether what he said was true or not. After all, he had no other choice.

“Mr. Chance, consider it as doing a favor for the Summers family. Feel free to state any conditions you might have,” Jennifer chimed in as well.

“Yes, you can state any conditions,” Tyler hastily agreed.

“I don’t have a problem with that, but you need to prove that you can indeed break this arcane array. Otherwise, on what grounds are you stating conditions?” Jacques still refused to believe that Jared was capable of dismantling that arcane array.

“Shut up, you jerk!” Tyler shot daggers at his son.

Jacques fell silent, but his gaze showed apparent defiance and displeasure.

Jared had never showcased his skills. All he did was give a few pointers.

“Mr. Chance, please don’t take it to heart. My brother may come off as arrogant, but he truly has a good heart,” Jennifer quickly apologized.

“No problem, since you need me to prove my skills, then I’ll show you!” After Jared finished speaking, he headed straight toward the arcane array.

Everyone present watched as Jared stepped into the arcane array. The array runes rippled as if Jared was immersed in water.

The onlookers’ expressions changed when they saw Jared enter the arcane array. They paid close attention, watching nervously.

Catina, too, appeared nervous, wondering if Jared would succeed in breaking such a massive arcane array on his own.

“Don’t worry. My master is all-powerful. You’ll see once you’ve been with us long enough,” Feenix consoled Catina.

Catina gave a slight nod, but her eyes remained firmly fixed on Jared’s retreating figure.

After stepping into the arcane array, Jared casually looked around as if he were browsing through items in a supermarket, then continued to walk forward.

All the Summers family members were dumbstruck when they noticed that the arcane array hadn’t launched any attacks on Jared even after he was deep into it.

As Jared stepped into the arcane array, another group of people were also gazing up at the towering mountain peak on the other side of the mountain, fifty kilometers away.

The entire group was dressed in the same attire as the three Demonic Cultivators that Jared had slain, clearly indicating that they were from the same sect.

“Sect leader, we haven’t found Denis and the other two members, and we can’t get in touch with them. We’re unsure if they’ve encountered any mishaps.” An elderly man with a goatee spoke to a middle-aged man.

The middle-aged man had a tattoo of an eye on his forehead, which bore a striking resemblance to Pablo’s Nethersky Eye.

“That’s unlikely. Denis has the charm of Myriad Ghouls in his possession, something that an average cultivator can’t withstand. I suggest we break the arcane array first. There must be numerous treasures within this mountain...” The middle-aged man gazed up at the mountain peak, his eyes filled with greed.

“This formation is too massive. I’m afraid our small group might not be able to break through it,” said the elderly man, clearly troubled.

“Mr. Solomon, when have you become so timid? There’s no formation in this world that we, the Nethersky Sect, can’t break! Don’t forget that we still have the Nethersky Eye, which can see through everything.” The middle-aged man spoke with a cold, determined expression.

“You’re not worthy of owning the Nethersky Eye!” No sooner had the middle-aged man’s words fallen than a figure astonishingly tore through the void, materializing right in front of him.

Click to rate this post!

[Total: 0 Average: 0]

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3453 -“Who are you?” Upon witnessing the sudden appearance of a stranger, the members of Nethersky Sect were immediately taken aback.

“Pablo...” The newcomer began to speak slowly.

“Pablo?” The middle-aged man furrowed his eyebrows slightly, then glanced at Pablo and said, “I’ve never heard of you. Since you’re also a Demonic Cultivator, leave immediately. Otherwise, don’t blame me for being rude.” “Do you think you're capable?" Pablo smirked as the aura of his Eighth Level Tribulator cultivation level burst forth from his body in an instant.

The members of Nethersky Sect were instantly overwhelmed by the oppressive aura, struggling to catch their breath. Some even collapsed onto the ground.

Feeling Pablo's aura, the middle-aged man widened his eyes in sheer terror.

"I apologize, I apologize, I failed to recognize your greatness..." The middle aged man hurriedly apologized to Pablo.

Pablo reined in his aura. It seemed that he didn't intend to take their lives after all.

"Who are you?" Pablo asked.

"We are from Nethersky Sect. I am the sect leader, Magnus Orozco," Magnus responded cautiously.

Pablo looked at Magnus, scoffed coldly, and said, "Nethersky Sect? Can you also use the Nethersky Eye?" Magnus' face revealed his embarrassment, then he shook his head. "I can't. I've only heard of the Nethersky Eye and admired it. That's why I tattooed an eye on my forehead." Upon hearing Magnus' words, the other members of Nethersky Sect were taken aback.

It seemed that they had all been deceived by Magnus, which led them to join Nethersky Sect.

Seeing Magnus' demeanor, Pablo couldn't help but let out a cold chuckle. Then, with a gentle sweep of his hand across his forehead, an eye appeared in an instant.

As his third eye blinked, the surroundings instantly turned dark red. A chilling scent of blood began to pervade the air.

Observing Pablo's demeanor, Magnus suddenly fell to his knees.

Members of Nethersky Sect also began to kneel down one after another.

Those people had always held the Nethersky Eye in high reverence. Seeing that Pablo indeed possessed the Nethersky Eye, they were all utterly astounded.

“Demon Lord, it is an immense honor for us to witness the true Nethersky Eye.

We are willing to follow you, Demon Lord,” said Magnus.

“We are willing to follow the Demon Lord...” The members of Nethersky Sect all shouted in unison. Pablo put away his Nethersky Eye. Looking at the crowd kneeling before him, he gave a faint smile.

“Rise, all of you. As long as you sincerely follow me, I will ensure that each of you attains the Nethersky Eye.” Pablo began to deceive those people.

Pablo knew that despite his formidable strength, he was, after all, a wandering cultivator and had no faction of his own.

Since he had encountered Nethersky Sect, they could be considered the first group of subordinates he had recruited.

Upon hearing the grand plans outlined by Pablo, Magnus trembled with excitement. “Master, from now on, you are the leader of our Nethersky Sect. We will certainly follow your commands...” Without the slightest hesitation, Magnus handed over his position as the sect leader to Pablo.

Rather than coveting the position of a sect leader, Magnus was more inclined to master the Nethersky Eye.

“Everyone, rise...” With a wave of his hand, Pablo signaled, and Magnus and the others all stood up.

“What were you all doing here?” Pablo asked.

“Master, there is definitely a treasure hidden within the mountain range ahead,” said Magnus.

“Oh, how did you know?” Pablo asked curiously, wondering how Magnus knew there would be a treasure there.

“Master, please observe. This continuous mountain range is an arcane array.

Right before our eyes lies an incredibly vast array, protecting the central peak.

Surely, something protected by such an immense arcane array must be a treasure...” Magnus followed up with an introduction to Pablo.

“You understand arcane arrays?” Pablo looked at Magnus with surprise.

Seeing Magnus draw an eye on his forehead and claim that he possessed the Nethersky Eye technique, one would think he was a fraud. Surprisingly, he understood arcane arrays.

“I have a fair understanding,” Magnus admitted. “Not only am I knowledgeable about arcane arrays, but I also understand charm spells. Otherwise, my fake Nethersky Eye wouldn’t have fooled anyone.” Magnus said with considerable embarrassment.

Click to rate this post!

[Total: 0 Average: 0]

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3454-It turned out that every time Magnus used the Nethersky Eye, he was actually utilizing a secretly laid-out arcane array. Those who didn’t understand mistakenly attributed it to the power of the Nethersky Eye.

“Then let’s hurry up and break this arcane array. Let’s see what treasure it is that requires such a massive arcane array for protection,” Pablo exclaimed excitedly.

“Master, please be patient. Such a vast arcane array requires us to locate the core. However, I will do my utmost to accomplish this,” Magnus assured.

After Magnus finished speaking, he turned to the elderly man with the goatee, Robyn, and said, “Mr. Solomon, let’s go in together. We must break this arcane array.” “Yes, Master,” Robyn nodded.

Startled, Magnus hastily reprimanded Robyn. “You fool. He’s our master, not me.” Leaving aside Pablo’s formidable strength, the fact that he truly possessed the Nethersky Eye alone was enough for Magnus to follow him devotedly and mix with Pablo’s crowd.

“I... I’m sorry, I made a mistake,” Robyn hastily apologized.

“All right, don’t dwell on these matters. Magnus, you’ll be the vice sect leader, continue managing the Nethersky Sect. Hurry up and break through this arcane array. I suspect the Celestial Battlefield won’t stay open for much longer,” Pablo urged.

“As you command,” Magnus personally led Robyn and others, slowly stepping into the arcane array.

Meanwhile, on the other side, Jared was in the midst of the arcane array, searching for the core. Jared moved as if he were casually strolling down the street, not triggering the arcane array’s defenses at all.

Seeing Jared in that state, everyone in the Summers family had no choice but to concede. No one dared to doubt Jared’s strength anymore.

Even Jacques was wide-eyed, utterly admiring Jared. After searching for a while, Jared suddenly pressed his palm lightly into the void. As a beam of light illuminated the scene, everyone became visibly tense.

They had assumed that Jared, like everyone else, had been sent flying due to the defensive arcane array.

Just as everyone was on edge, they saw that following the streak of light, the array in front of them suddenly began to tremble violently. It was as if a stone had been suddenly thrown into a tranquil river.

Amidst the intense trembling, the array patterns gradually faded, until finally, the arcane array that was before their eyes astonishingly vanished.

Tyler gasped in astonishment, his heart filled with shock. The hearts of the Summers family members were filled with indescribable complexity.

Freddie continuously expressed his admiration. “Unbelievable. This... This is nothing short of a miracle. To find and break the core of such a massive array in such a short time.” “This was indeed an arcane array laid out by the immortals...” Freddie struggled to find words to express his feelings at that moment.

Jared slowly approached Jacques, his expression indifferent as he asked, “May I state my conditions now?” With a face full of shame, Jacques lowered his head, not daring to speak.

Meanwhile, Tyler approached Jared. “Mr. Chance, my rebellious son acted out of ignorance. I implore you not to take his words to heart. The sophistication of your array craft is something I’ve never seen before. Mr. Chance, feel free to state your conditions. As long as it’s within the capabilities of the Summers family, we will absolutely not refuse.” “All right, once we find the treasure, I must be the first to choose. Only the items I deem useless will be given to you,” Jared said without any hesitation.

Jared was not known for his generosity as he broke through this arcane array for his own sake. However, since the Summers family decided to follow, they had to abide by the conditions he proposed.

“No problem, I agree. If Mr. Chance finds the treasure useful, my family will not take it,” Tyler said with great enthusiasm.

Jared was somewhat taken aback by the unexpectedly hearty agreement from the illustrious Tyler. He had originally speculated that Tyler would haggle.

Tyler had agreed, leaving Jared with nothing more to say. “Since you all agreed, let’s go then.” Hence, the group headed toward the mountain peak.

Click to rate this post!

[Total: 0 Average: 0]

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3455 -Simultaneously, Magnus led his group into the arcane array. Just as a few people were about to be flung away by the activated defense, the arcane array suddenly disappeared. Magnus felt extremely puzzled, but he still managed to take credit for himself.

“Master, the arcane array has been broken. We can enter now,” Magnus exclaimed.

Upon seeing Magnus’s skills, Pablo nodded in approval and began to head toward the mountain peak as well.

The mountain peak was surrounded by celestial mist. Both the trees and the demon beasts seemed to have gained spirituality.

Jared walked ahead with extreme caution, unsure if there were any more arcane arrays surrounding the mountain peak.

“Mr. Summers, we’ve struggled to get in here. Wouldn’t it be a great loss if we didn’t take even a single piece of treasure?” On the road, Freddie asked Tyler with confusion.

Tyler glanced at Freddie and said, “You’re being short-sighted. If we don’t take the treasure, it could leave Mr. Chance feeling indebted to us. Moreover, given Mr. Chance’s understanding of arcane arrays, even casual instruction from him would greatly benefit our family. Wouldn’t that be better than any treasure?”

Moreover, with how dignified Mr. Chance is... If he could be united in marriage with my daughter, I fear that in the entire Ethereal Realm, in terms of arcane arrays, talisman, and spell techniques, my Summers family would be unparalleled...” It turned out that Tyler had intended to arrange a marriage between his daughter and Jared. That was why he had taken the initiative to propose giving up his share of the treasure, offering it all to Jared.

Freddie said, “Mr. Summers, it seems Mr. Chance already has women by his side. The way those two women look at him, they’re clearly infatuated with him.

You’re asking Ms. Summers to...” Before Freddie could finish speaking, Tyler interrupted with a laugh, “Isn’t it quite normal for a man to have multiple wives and concubines? Moreover, considering Mr. Chance’s capabilities, as long as he doesn’t mind, she wouldn’t mind even being his third or fourth concubine.” Upon hearing that, Freddie didn’t say anything more. He could only look at Jennifer, who was still completely unaware.

Unbeknownst to Tyler, Jared’s women were not limited to just the two present.

If Jennifer really ended up with Jared, the idea of her being the third or fourth wife would be out of the question. She would probably be relegated to being the tenth wife or even lower.

However, whether Jared would agree or not was uncertain. After all, not every woman was to Jared’s liking.

As Jared and his companions traversed through the dense forest, heading toward the highest mountain peak, they suddenly heard a scream of terror.

Immediately after, the members of the Summers family began to scream in increasing horror.

The members of the Summers family were seen with wide eyes in terror, frantically slapping their bodies, and even rolling on the ground.

Upon witnessing that scene, both Tyler and Freddie were utterly dumbfounded.

Upon hearing the sound, Jared quickly turned around and ran back.

“Mr. Chance, what do you make of this situation?” Tyler asked anxiously, his face full of concern.

After a glance, Jared immediately concluded, “These people have fallen into an illusion...” After speaking, Jared recited the calming Incantation, then proceeded to channel streams of aura into the bodies of the members of the Summers family.

Before long, those individuals ceased their agonizing screams. They then rose to their feet, their faces filled with bewilderment, their eyes brimming with confusion.

“What was going on with all of you?” Tyler asked with a furrowed brow.

A member of the Summers family said, “Master, just a while ago, I felt an unbearable itch all over my body, as if I was covered in venomous insects.

Moreover, it felt as though I was surrounded by a raging inferno. The heat was intense.” “Indeed, that’s how it was for us too...” The others also nodded in agreement, voicing their approval one after another.

“It’s truly peculiar. If it were an illusion array, we should all be deeply trapped within it. Why is it that some people are unaffected, while others are affected?

Moreover, I didn’t sense the presence of any arcane array in the vicinity, so it couldn’t possibly be an illusion array.” Freddie felt extremely puzzled, “There was no illusionary array here, and they were not deceived by any illusionary array either. After Jared finished speaking, he walked toward a member of the Summers family.

Click to rate this post!

[Total: 0 Average: 0]

