

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3721-Yuliya pointed toward the thick white mist that was lingering beside the grand hall and said, "If you're truly determined to enter Lunarius Palace, then you should approach from the side of the main hall. There, you'll find an illusion array. As long as you can navigate through it, Lunarius Palace will be within your reach." A few cultivators glanced at the white mist, their faces revealing a struggle. It seemed they were well aware of the potency of that illusion array.

"If you lack the courage, then leave. You simply cannot enter." With that, Yuliya turned and entered the grand hall.

The remaining cultivators stared blankly at one another.

Not far off, Jared, hearing Yuliya's words and seeing the mist on one side, was immediately overwhelmed with joy.

He had been worried about how to get in, but he had found a way.

Without a moment's hesitation, Jared made his way toward the mist.

However, Alastair had unexpectedly followed him, catching hold of Jared, and urgently said, "Sir, you mustn't go. This illusion array is no ordinary thing. You simply cannot enter. From what I understand, no one has ever managed to cross that illusion array to enter Lunarius Palace.

Many have lost their lives within it. The illusion array is a complex combination of various arcane arrays, and some people have been trapped inside for their entire lives. I strongly advise against attempting it! I'm not trying to scare you here. If it weren't for your generous payment, I wouldn't have shared this with you. Don't you see? Those cultivators are all hesitating to even give it a try." Alastair was persuading Jared, imploring him not to enter the illusion array.

Jared glanced at Alastair, a subtle smile playing on his lips. "I have some knowledge of array craft. Even if I can't get through, getting out wouldn't be an issue..." Upon seeing Jared's determination to leave, Alastair finally let him go. "Just a reminder, if you end up caught in the situation, don't say I didn't warn you." Jared gave a nod and proceeded toward the heart of the illusion array.

The cultivators at the entrance were taken aback as they saw Jared approaching the illusion array, their faces filled with disbelief.

Even the few female cultivators from Lunarius Palace at the entrance were stunned as they looked at Jared.

“It seems that this guy has no idea how formidable the illusion array is, daring to give it a try.” “It has been quite some time since anyone has attempted the illusion array.

Today, there’s finally some entertainment to look forward to.” “The illusion array is merely a pretext set up by the head of Lunarius Palace, designed to deter those who dare to trespass into Lunarius Palace.” A few female cultivators from Lunarius Palace were engaged in a discussion.

Without any hesitation, Jared stepped into the illusion array, and in the blink of an eye, his figure vanished.

“Well...” Upon witnessing Jared’s silhouette vanish into the illusion array, Alastair let out a sigh. “Such a shame. A decent man he was, likely still had a good amount of money on him. If only he had handed over his money to me before stepping into that illusion array!” Alastair had always been fixated on the money that Jared possessed. If Jared were to die within the illusion array, the spiritual coins he carried would serve no purpose.

Alastair was about to turn around and leave, but a surge of mist from within the illusion array was astonishingly shooting straight up into the sky suddenly.

Alastair was taken aback, staring blankly at the illusion array.

Even the few male cultivators and female cultivators at the entrance had their mouths wide open, their faces full of astonishment.

Incredulously, Alastair exclaimed, “How could this be possible? The arcane arrays of the illusion array have been broken?”

There were indeed many who could break through the illusion array, but none were as swift as Jared.

“H-How is this possible? Didn’t that guy just go in?” “This is outrageous. In just the blink of an eye, the peripheral array arrays are broken. Is this guy an array master?” “So what if he’s an array master? He simply can’t break the core of the illusion array. He’s doomed to be trapped inside until his end.”

Several female cultivators from Lunarius Palace were engaged in a lively discussion.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3722-Yuliya had initially assumed that those raggedly dressed cultivators had been persuaded by her to enter the illusion array.

“No. Those guys are still standing outside. It was someone else who went in.” “However, this person was rather peculiar. He had come to Lunarius Palace on his own, and his clothes were surprisingly unscathed. It was as if he hadn’t faced any difficulties at all!” a female cultivator from Lunarius Palace exclaimed.

“Another person?” Yuliya was somewhat taken aback.

Upon seeing Yuliya, Alastair quickly turned and left. He feared that if Yuliya discovered him, his path to wealth would likely be jeopardized.

At that moment, within the illusion array, Jared was nonchalantly strolling forward. This kind of illusion array had absolutely no effect on him.

“Sir...” Suddenly, someone called out to Jared.

Jared followed the sound, only to discover a few beauties were walking toward him.

As Jared drew closer, he was surprised to see that it was Evangeline, Astrid, Lizbeth, Melanie, and Cecilia.

“You guys...” Jared found himself at a loss for words as he looked at the women standing before him.

“Are we beautiful?” Cecelia still exuded her characteristic grace and elegance.

Her porcelain-like skin and breathtaking beauty were enough to make anyone fall head over heels for her.

More importantly, at that moment, Cecelia was wearing a translucent white dress. Her figure was subtly showing, making her incredibly enticing.

The other girls were also dressed in incredibly sexy outfits, exposing large areas of their skin.

Each of them had eyes as captivating as silk, exuding an irresistible allure.

As Jared gazed at the women before him, he surprisingly felt a twinge of heartache deep within.

“Come on, let’s have some fun together. We promise you’ll be in seventh heaven...” Cecelia gently caressed Jared’s face as she stepped forward.

It seemed as though they didn’t recognize Jared. After all, his appearance had changed drastically.

“D*mn that holy maiden of Lunarius Palace.

She’s actually using my women to lure me inside this illusion array. I’m definitely going to settle the score with her.” Suddenly, Jared cursed in anger. With a swift wave of his hand, all the women before him vanished into thin air.

Jared wasn’t fooled, and he knew those women were merely illusions created by the illusion array.

However, the holy maiden of Lunarius Palace surprisingly used the appearances of Jared’s women as the basis of temptation. Jared found it a bit hard to accept.

Even though Jared knew it was all an illusion, all fabricated, he still felt a pang of sadness in his heart.

He resolved that once he met the holy maiden of Lunarius Palace, he would definitely demand an explanation.

Jared dismissed this art of seduction with a wave of his hand. However, many had fallen prey to it.

After all, those who went there were young cultivators, driven by the pursuit of a partner, drawn by the beauty of the female cultivators in Lunarius Palace.

If one were to encounter such a multitude of alluring beauties, scantily clad within this illusion array, there would be few who could resist.

With a sneer, Jared strode forward, utterly indifferent to everything around him.

Jared continued to move forward, while the arcane arrays behind him spectacularly collapsed.

“The illusion array has collapsed! It has vanished completely!” “What’s going on here? Could it be that someone has breached the illusion array and entered the outer court of Lunarius Palace?” “Who on earth is this person? He’s absolutely impressive!” The collapse of the illusion array instantly sparked a flurry of discussions among the numerous cultivators within the outer court.

They all had been admitted through a registration process, yet they never imagined that someone could penetrate the illusion array of Lunarius Palace and forcefully barge in.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3723-Yuliya’s brows were tightly knit, her gaze fixed intently on the illusion array on one side. The illusion array has been broken. That’s not even it! That person has completely destroyed our illusion array.

It was important to note that the illusion array was personally set up by the head of Lunarius Palace. Yet, unexpectedly, someone had managed to destroy it.

“I was curious to see who it is. It’s one thing to break through the illusion array, but to actually destroy it is another matter entirely.” Yuliya gritted her teeth, her heart brimming with intense indignation.

At that moment, after dismantling the illusion array, Jared found himself gazing down a narrow path, leisurely making his way toward the outer court.

Through the illusion array, that path could lead straight to the outer court.

The narrow path was blanketed with untouched snow, clearly showing that no one had bothered to clear it. This indeed proved that this path had never been tread upon before.

“I wonder who has passed through the illusion array. If he’s handsome, I might want to take him in!” “Anyone capable of breaking into Lunarius Palace is undoubtedly powerful.

When that time comes, there'll hardly be a chance for you." "I also want to make him my partner!" The female cultivators in the outer court were all wide-eyed with anticipation.

As disciples of the outer circle of Lunarius Palace, they were permitted to form partnerships with male cultivators. They were aware of their mission, which was to seek out male cultivators with the potential to become their partners.

This was also done to boost the strength and influence of Lunarius Palace.

When it came to finding a partner, everyone would want a handsome and capable cultivator.

These female cultivators were all brimming with anticipation. Yet, Yuliya sternly glared at them, causing them all to promptly close their mouths. Regardless of who this person is or what skills he possesses, he has destroyed the illusion array of Lunarius Palace. There's no doubt that an explanation is definitely required from this person.

Before long, a figure gradually emerged from the small path. Everyone was waiting in silence. Not a single word was spoken. It was as quiet as a deserted field.

As the figure approached, Yuliya was instantly rooted to the spot, her eyes wide open in disbelief, her face a mask of incredulity.

She hadn't expected that the one who had managed to break through the illusion array was none other than Jared.

After all, Jared was a Third Level Tribulator that she didn't even bother sparing a second glance.

Yuliya still remembered the words she had once spoken, that a Third Level Tribulator wouldn't even have the chance to register.

Yet, Jared had actually ventured into Lunarius Palace all by himself.

Yuliya looked at Jared, utterly surprised. "It's you?" "Yes. It's me. Since you guys didn't want to bring me here, I thought I would just come in myself!" Jared gave Yuliya a casual smile.

Everyone else was utterly taken aback as well when they saw Jared.

“How could this guy, who is merely a Third Level Tribulator, possibly pass through the illusionary realm?” “Not only did he traverse through the illusionary realm, but he also destroyed the arcane arrays of Lunarius Palace. He’s causing serious trouble!” “Where did this guy come from? How come I don’t recognize him?” Numerous cultivators observed Jared, their discussions filled the air.

However, Jared had altered his appearance and concealed his aura, so Keiran failed to recognize him.

Upon seeing Jared, all the women who had just wholeheartedly wanted to become his partner felt a wave of disappointment wash over them.

“His looks won’t do! This is truly disappointing!” “He’s only a Third Level Tribulator. I thought he would be an expert.” “Who was it just now that said they wanted to become his partner? Go on, hurry up!” The female disciples of Lunarius Palace were quietly having a discussion.

Upon hearing Jared’s audacious remarks, Yuliya couldn’t help but fly into a rage.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3724-“Who do you think you are, demanding our leader to meet with you? If our leader were to come, you’d surely be doomed!” Yuliya was angrily reprimanding Jared.

“Since you won’t ask her to come here, I’ll personally go and settle the score with her...” Jared said, preparing to head toward the inner court.

Jared couldn’t hold it in because the holy maiden of Lunarius Palace used his women to lure him within the illusion array.

Even if it was all a sham, Jared felt as though he had been cuckolded.

“Halt!” Yuliya stopped Jared in his tracks.

Jared’s brows furrowed as he said, “What’s this? I walked in here myself. Are you planning to kick me out now? Doesn’t Lunarius Palace always abide by the rules?” Jared raised his voice on purpose, emphasizing the importance of adhering to rules. After all, Yuliya was known for her straightforwardness, especially when it came to Keiran queuing up. However, things took a turn when Keiran presented an elder’s token, leaving Yuliya with no choice but to comply.

“Of course, we at Lunarius Palace adhere to our rules. Since you’ve managed to penetrate the illusion array and find your way here, rest assured, we won’t cast you out. You could also choose a female cultivator you fancy here, then win her over through challenges, forming a spiritual bond! However, if you wish to enter the inner court, you must endure a test. It’s not just you, even the cultivators I brought along must go through the same trial to gain access to the inner court!

Given the unique circumstances this time around, a test is indeed necessary.

However, once the test is passed, a grand opportunity awaits in the future. Once the test is passed, not only could one win the heart of the beauty but also journey together to the polar region. They could explore the immortal’s tomb, and if luck is on their side, they might even find a celestial weapon,” Yuliya said to Jared.

Even though Yuliya was furious at Jared for destroying the arcane arrays of Lunarius Palace, she didn’t overly trouble Jared.

Instead, she meticulously explained the rules of Lunarius Palace.

As for the matter of the arcane arrays being destroyed, it was up to the head of Lunarius Palace to decide. It was certainly not something a minor receptionist like her could handle.

Upon hearing this, Jared immediately shook his head and said, “I’m not here to find a partner, nor to win the heart of a beauty, and I certainly have no interest in joining any expedition to the polar region. I simply wish to meet your leader.

That’s all!” Jared was there to seek Demonica Stone instead of a partner.

Moreover, Jared was never short of women. Each one of them was as beautiful as a goddess. If he desired a woman, they would eagerly throw themselves at him. There was no need for him to endure any tests.

As for that journey to the polar region to search for the immortal’s tomb and whatever celestial weapon could be obtained, Jared was even less interested.

He had no shortage of divine weapons in his hands. He didn’t need any celestial weapons.

Yet, Jared was neither of these. He had simply wanted to catch a glimpse of the head of Lunarius Palace, so he ventured into the palace. That was quite unconventional.

“You have to pass a test if you want to meet the head of Lunarius Palace.

Otherwise, it’s simply impossible to reach the inner court!” Yuliya said to Jared.

Seeing the situation, Jared could only respond helplessly, “Fine. How do you plan to test me? Please hurry. My time is very precious...

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3725-“Is it impossible? We’ll only know once we give it a go. Let’s get started right away!” Jared was growing somewhat impatient.

Yuliya shot Jared a sharp look, but she chose not to continue speaking. Instead, she walked up to the crowd of cultivators and announced, “Everyone, you’ve all been selected after signing up. Now that you’re here, you can choose a female cultivator that you fancy. If you manage to win a challenge against her, you may become partners.

However, if you wish to advance to the inner court and embark on the journey to the polar region, you must undergo another test. But rest assured, our leader has already set up this trial tower. So even if someone can’t pass the trial tower, there won’t be any danger to their life. We are simply trying to choose the most suitable candidate. After all, this expedition to the polar region is extremely dangerous. Our leader doesn’t want any casualties, which is why we set up this test!” Everyone grew excited when they heard Yuliya’s words. “Let’s get started already. We can hardly contain ourselves!” After all, there was no risk to life, so there was no reason to back out.

Taking a step forward, Keiran asked Yuliya, “Do I still need to be tested?” “Mr. Mueller, even though you possess an elder’s token, this test is still mandatory. It’s a rule personally set by our leader. But, rest assured, this trial tower poses no danger. Given your abilities, passing through this trial tower will be a breeze,” Yuliya said to Keiran.

“All right. I’m ready to face the challenge!” Keiran greatly appreciated Yuliya’s words.

After all, everyone liked a bit of flattery. However, when Yuliya saw Keiran agree, she couldn't help but let out a quiet, sarcastic chuckle!

Clearly, Yuliya was deliberately setting Keiran up for failure by giving him excessive praise.

Jared's brows immediately furrowed when he saw that Keiran was also about to face a trial.

After all, this guy had sparred with Jared and was very familiar with his aura. If they were to enter the trial tower, Jared would inevitably have to release his aura. If that were the case, he would undoubtedly be identified by Keiran.

However, given the circumstances, Jared could not back down. All he could do was wait. If Keiran passed the test, then Jared would be able to take the test without revealing his identity.

Yuliya led the group through the outer court, eventually arriving in front of a tower.

The area surrounding the tower was shrouded in a thin, white mist, giving it a surreal aura. The entire structure seemed as if it was cast from gold, gleaming with a radiant golden light. At the very top of the tower, a dash of green light kept flickering, adding to its enchanting appeal.

"Everyone, what you see here is our very own trial tower of Lunarius Palace.

Don't be fooled by its small exterior appearance. The interior houses an expansive space. Rest assured, there's ample room for you all to demonstrate your abilities to the fullest. Of course, to pass the test, one has to journey from the base of the tower to its peak. The gemstone, shimmering with a green glow, merely requires a touch. With that simple contact, one will be transported outside of the tower, signifying the successful completion of the test. Inside, it's a maze of intricate mechanisms. Perhaps each person's trial might be unique, so relying on others for their experiences is absolutely out of the question," Yuliya said to the cultivators.

With a casual wave of her hand, Yuliya set the doors of the trial tower slowly swinging open.

As soon as the grand gates were flung open, a handful of eager cultivators couldn't help but rush inside.

Jared then glanced at Keiran, hoping the latter would pass the test first. That way, Jared's identity could remain concealed.