

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3816-Look Out For Me “Mr. Chance! Mr. Chance!” Upon seeing Jared emerge from the chaos dimension, Bianca and Yuliya hurriedly rushed over. Jared gradually regained consciousness from his stupor.

When he saw Bianca and the others, his face was full of surprise.

“I’m not dead?” Jared glanced at himself. He was originally covered in wounds, but now, there wasn’t a single trace of injury on him.

“Mr. Chance, you’re not dead. You emerged from the chaos dimension. You must be the first person to have survived from the chaos dimension,” Bianca exclaimed with great excitement.

Jared furrowed his brows. Then suddenly, as if recalling something, he rose to survey his surroundings.

“Mr. Sanders! Mr. Sanders!” Jared shouted, but there was no sign of Arthur around.

“Mr. Chance, who is this Mr. Sanders you’re talking about?” Bianca asked in confusion.

“Did any of you notice anyone else around me?” Jared hurriedly asked.

“No, we only saw you emerging from the chaos dimension.” Bianca shook her head.

At that moment, Jared fell into deep thought. Was it all a dream?

Jared couldn’t discern if it was reality or just a dream.

He only remembered that when he was on the brink of death, Arthur had appeared.

“Kid, that wasn’t a dream. Someone really did save you!” Vermilion Demon Lord said.

Upon hearing this, Jared asked excitedly, “Was it Mr. Sanders? You’ve seen him?” “I don’t know who he is. I can’t recall his identity, but all I know is that he’s incredibly powerful. One look from him nearly scared the daylights out of me.

Who is that person to you? You’ve got such a powerful figure backing you up.

What on earth are you still afraid of? If you were to simply stomp your foot in the Ethereal Realm, everyone would bow down and submit to you.” Vermilion Demon Lord couldn’t recall ever meeting Arthur, nor could he recollect any past encounters with him. However, he was distinctly aware of Arthur’s formidable presence.

“He’s...” Jared fell silent, unsure of how to classify his relationship with Arthur.

There seemed to be nothing between them.

Yet, Arthur treated him with a fatherly affection.

Jared had once suspected that Arthur must be a Draconian, just like him. It would only make sense then for Arthur to show him such care and consideration.

However, Arthur himself had never admitted it.

“No matter who he is, once I’ve regained my physical body, you’ll have to look out for me.” With that, Vermilion Demon Lord said no more.

Jared was at a loss for words.

That wasn’t what Vermilion Demon Lord used to say. He had claimed that he would take care of Jared.

Now, he actually expected Jared to look out for him.

Jared was engaged in a conversation with Vermilion Demon Lord. Bianca and the others couldn’t hear a thing.

“All right, let’s head to Polar Mountain...” Jared pointed toward the distant mountain.

Because of him, the chaos dimension was in turmoil, making the mountain even more prominent. The surrounding halo also became significantly dimmer.

“What? The entire mountain is filled with polar stones?” At that moment, all of their mouths dropped open in shock.

If all these polar stones were given to Lunarius Palace, they wouldn't need much time to dominate the entire Ethereal Realm.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3817-Trampled To Death When Jared led Bianca and the others toward Polar Mountain, Selma, accompanied by the Mueller family, also made their way toward the peak of that mountain.

Their intention was not to kill the holy maidens but rather to obtain the polar stone mine.

With the chaos currently unfolding, the mountain was fully revealed. They had to rush over as soon as they could.

The sudden appearance of the mountain, coupled with the halo surrounding it, stirred excitement among many who had ventured into the polar regions, leading them eagerly toward it.

After all these days, they hadn't found the location of the immortal's tomb. So, when a mountain suddenly appeared, they had to check it out.

Perhaps that was the hidden site of the immortal's tomb.

In an instant, everyone rushed toward the mountain.

Jared and his group were closest to the chaos dimension, so they proceeded with extreme caution.

The chaos dimension was riddled with turbulent currents, and they possessed a formidable pull. They needed to tread carefully, lest they get sucked in.

Jared knew that if he were to be drawn back into the chaos dimension, there would be no one to save him.

It was impossible for Arthur to be present everywhere and at all times.

However, Jared was glad to know that Arthur was still alive.

Jared walked on the innermost side, his Nethersky Eye activated, causing everything in front of him to turn into a sea of grey.

With Nethersky Eye, he could see everything clearly, including the scenes within the chaos dimension.

No matter how time and space twisted, he could still see.

As they drew closer to Polar Mountain, Jared suddenly sensed an extraordinary aura.

It was immense and growing continuously, which made Jared shudder.

Observing Jared's expression, Bianca asked cautiously, "Mr. Chance, did you discover something?" Jared remained silent, his Nethersky Eye blinking rapidly. Soon, he discovered that within the chaos dimension, countless tiny black dots were approaching from afar.

It was incredibly fast, ceaselessly navigating through the chaos dimension.

When he had a clear view of these black dots, he drew in a sharp breath.

There were countless demon beasts, all of which had charged forth from the snowfield of the northern region.

These demon beasts seemed to be lured and summoned by something, risking their lives to charge into the chaotic lands, then rushing towards the poles!

The demon beasts within the chaos dimension seemed utterly unaffected by anything at all.

They were charging toward Polar Mountain as well.

The emergence of Polar Mountain had attracted countless demon beasts. Even though they were separated by the border, they were still aware of it.

After all, these demon beasts living in the snowfield also used the polar stones as resources for their cultivation.

Gazing upon the countless demon beasts, Jared took a deep breath, his entire demeanor becoming incredibly solemn.

“Pick up the pace. We’re heading up the mountain right away...” Visit En.novelxo.com to read full content.

Countless demon beasts, akin to a massive tidal wave, were bound to engulf them in an instant.

Only by swiftly reaching the summit of Polar Mountain could they evade the massive onslaught of demon beasts.

Jared quickened his pace, with Bianca and the others keeping close behind him.

Although they couldn’t see what was happening within the chaos dimension, they followed Jared’s orders without question.

They had never seen Jared so nervous before.

It was no wonder that such a mountain could be obscured by a barrier and also emit radiant halos.

Jared reached out tentatively, realizing that this arcane array was not designed for attack.

Upon entering the arcane array, he found himself unable to mobilize any aura within his body. He felt just like an ordinary person.

But once he stepped out of the arcane array and ascended the mountain, things would return to normal

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3818-Stone Them To Death After numerous attempts, Jared, along with Bianca and the others, ventured into the arcane array at the foot of the mountain.

Jared had no idea who had set up this formation. However, considering its sheer size and ability to shield an entire mountain, he knew for certain that its creator must be an incredibly powerful array master.

After they stepped into the arcane array, their footsteps became unusually heavy.

Forget about flying, even walking was a challenge.

After all, as an ordinary person, trekking through such mountainous paths, especially ones covered in snow, was undoubtedly exhausting.

Not long after Jared and his group entered the arcane array, they noticed a group of people struggling to make their way not far from them.

These were the Muellers, brought along by Selma.

Upon their encounter, both parties were exceptionally agitated.

Bianca's and her companions' eyes were bloodshot with fury. They wished they could rush forward and annihilate the entire Mueller family.

Jared had learned about the tragic fate of the holy maidens along the way. It was a horrendous act committed by the Mueller family. This knowledge filled him with rage as well.

They weren't content with just killing someone. They even had the audacity to desecrate the corpse. They're less than animals!

Upon seeing Jared and his group, the Muellers were taken aback momentarily.

Then, a hint of murderous intent flashed through their eyes.

Leighton, especially, was itching to take action immediately when he saw Jared.

However, everyone was stripped of their powers and reduced to mere mortals.

Forget about fighting, even walking up this mountain path was a struggle.

Most importantly, they were unable to wield their weapons.

"You bunch of animals! The heavens won't let you off easily!" Bianca cursed at the Muellers.

“You haven’t learned of our prowess, have you? If you dare to hurl another insult, I’ll strip you of your clothing,” Leighton said with a sly grin.

Bianca was absolutely livid. However, they were all girls, so trying to gain the upper hand through words was simply out of the question.

Jared stretched out his hand, stopping Bianca, not allowing her to make another sound.

He took a few steps forward, his gaze coldly fixed on Leighton. “Do you only remember the good and conveniently forget the bad?

Have you forgotten how I beat you up?” A memory of Jared striking him flashed in Leighton’s mind, igniting a flame of anger within him. “Kid, what makes you so cocky? If you’ve got the guts, try laying a finger on me now. I dare you!” “Kid, you’re messing with the wrong family. Now, you’ve made yourself a target of the Demon Seal Alliance. What are you still so arrogant about?” Selma spoke, her gaze firmly locked onto Jared.

Jared had killed her nephew, and she had long wanted to kill him.

“You old fool! As an elder of Lunarius Palace, instead of protecting its holy maidens, you attacked them in secret. You have no sense of honor. Today, I’m going to avenge those fallen holy maidens,” Jared declared through gritted teeth.

“Ha, go on and boast. Here, you and I are the same. We’re just ordinary people.

We can’t harness our aura within our bodies. How exactly do you plan to seek revenge? Using the stones from the ground?” Selma mocked.

Although they had all become ordinary people now, the Mueller family was lefty populous, and all of them were men.

Even relying solely on physical strength, the Mueller family would not be intimidated.

Upon hearing what Selma had said, Jared instantly bent down to pick up a stone and threw it with all his might.

The stone hit Selma’s head like a cannonball.

He ended up giving Selma a big bump on the head.

“Hahaha!”

Upon seeing this, Bianca and the others immediately burst into m laughter, finally deeling a sense of satisfaction from their pent-up frustration.

Selma clutched her head as she roared, “Stone them to death!” At that moment, the Muellers picked up the stones on the ground, hurling them one after another at Jared.

Jared stood alone, facing over a dozen members of the Muellen family without any hinf of fear. He picked up a stone and hurled it at them.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3819-Bloodied And Battered Jared’s physical body had been tempered many times in the mundane world, making it as tough as bronze and iron.

Even without a shred of spiritual power and being turned into an ordinary person, Jared’s body was still unmatched by many.

When the stones hit Jared, he felt like being tickled.

However, things were different for people like Leighton and the others. They lived in the celestial realm, focusing on spiritual cultivation and realm advancement, with no emphasis on tempering the physical body.

After all, in the eyes of these cultivators, the physical body was just a shell. If the body was destroyed, as long as the soul remained, the body could be reshaped.

Spending time tempering a shell was highly inappropriate.

Precisely because of this, these individuals were physically no different from ordinary people.

Without the boost of spiritual power, their bodies might not even be as strong as that of an ordinary person.

Jared’s aim with the stones in his hand was unerring, continuously hitting the Muellers.

They cried out in pain as they were hit.

Large welts quickly formed on their bodies.

Soon, other cultivators entered the scene. Upon witnessing the ridiculous spectacle before them, they were all left dumbfounded.

Who would have thought, in the Ethereal Realm teeming with cultivators, such primal fights still existed?

Everyone was watching the commotion.

“Mr. Chance, come on. Keep it up.” Bianca led the cheering.

Yuliya and the others joined in, while Jared unleashed stones upon the Muellers like raindrops with both hands.

The Muellers were forced to retreat, each looking disheveled.

Seeing this, Selma was infuriated.

She yelled in frustration, only to be hit by another stone, causing blood to pour out freely.

“Let’s go, stop wasting time with him. Once we’re out of this area, I swear I’ll tear this kid to pieces.” Selma knew they couldn’t gain any advantage here and were being laughed at.

Leighton and the others had long wanted to leave. Clutching their heads, they all ran off.

“Mr. Chance, you’re amazing. Seeing the Muellers in such a sorry state feels so satisfying.” Bianca approached, expressing her joy.

However, Jared didn’t seem overly thrilled. He understood that his physical prowess played a significant role in this, coupled with the constraints of the arcane array in this place.

If Jared had left this area and encountered these people from the Mueller family, he wasn’t confident of defeating them.

If Leighton led the Muellers himself, Jared could still handle them.

Now, with Selma joining, Jared might be in trouble.

A Top Level Tribulator and a Ninth Level Tribulator.

When these two teamed up, Jared stood no chance of winning.

Moreover, there were many other sect cultivators here. Although they came for the immortal's tomb, if they couldn't find it but discovered Jared's identity, they might have ulterior motives.

Jared knew the situation was tough but couldn't openly discuss it with!

Biança and the others, not wanting to burden them too much.

"Let's leave as soon as possible..." Jared didn't say much more. Instead, he turned around and continued his journey up the mountain.

Jared feared that the other sect cultivators would discover his identity.

"Wait, sir!" At that moment, an elderly man dressed in green called out to Jared.

Jared's body slightly shuddered, but he still came to a halt.

After all, no one here possessed any spiritual power. Jared, with his robust physique, had no reason to fear these people.

"Is there something you need?" Jared turned around to look at the elderly man in the green robe.

The elder in the blue robe stepped forward, approaching Jared with courtesy. He introduced himself,

I am Holden Olsen, accompanied by a few Younger members of my family.

We have come to this polar region for training. I wonder, fellow friend, have you also come to this polar region in search of the immortal's tomb?"

The elder in the blue robe stepped forward, approaching Jared with courtesy. He introduced himself,

I am Holden Olsen, accompanied by a few Younger members of my family.

Jared gazed at the elderly man. Due to the sealing of his spiritual power by the arcane array, it was impossible to discern his true strength. However, judging by the look in the old man's eyes, his strength should not be underestimated.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3820-Believe It Or Not "Sir, to be honest, there is no immortal tomb within this polar region. It's all a lie.

Within the polar region, there are many polar stones, but these are only helpful to sects and families practicing ice-based techniques. We, from the Lunarius Palace, practice frost techniques, so we've come to search for polar stones. And those Muellers who just passed by, the female cultivators in their family also practice frost techniques, so polar stones are useful to them too! If none of you elders practice frost techniques, it's better to leave here quickly as it's too dangerous. It won't be long before thousands of demon beasts rush in here, and by then, it may be impossible to leave!" Jared truthfully disclosed this to make these cultivators leave.

After all, for Jared, these cultivators were an unpredictable variable.

Holden furrowed his brows slightly, appearing somewhat shocked.

A junior from the Olsen family clearly didn't believe Jared's words and loudly retorted, "How is that possible? Are you trying to deceive us and monopolize the treasures of the immortal's tomb? There are many sects and families who have come to the polar region, numbering in the hundreds. Are you saying they were all deceived?" "Believe it or not, I'm just telling the truth!" After Jared finished speaking, he turned around and walked away.

"This guy thinks he can scare us off like this!" "Let's go. This mountain that appeared suddenly must have treasures within it.

Maybe this is where the immortal's tomb is!" "Who believes what he says? There are arcane arrays protecting this mountain.

I don't believe there are no treasures here!" "Let's go up the mountain..." Many cultivators didn't believe Jared's words and began to ascend the mountain one after another.

Holden hesitated for a moment but still chose to continue up the mountain.

They had been here for several days without any gains. Apart from killing a few demon beasts and obtaining some beast cores, they had found nothing else.

If they were to return, wouldn't they be the laughingstock of the family?

Regardless of whether what Jared said was true, they decided to head up the mountain to see for themselves.

Just as they had taken a few steps, suddenly, the ground shook violently.

The entire mountain seemed to be trembling.

"Is it an earthquake?" someone exclaimed in shock.

Subsequently, in the chaos dimension, countless demon beasts of various kinds rushed out, heading straight for the mountain.

These demon beasts were all incredibly large, and there were so many of them.

The time and space of the chaos dimension were constantly disrupted by these demon beasts, causing continual emergence of space-time rifts.

Occasionally, space-time rifts would suck in some demon beasts.

But this did nothing to halt the advance of these demon beasts.

Upon seeing the countless demon beasts, everyone was utterly dumbfounded.

It seemed that Jared was telling the truth. There really was a large group of demon beasts.

Now, they were within this arcane array, devoid of all spiritual power. They were merely ordinary people.

If these demon beasts had caught up them, they would have been trampled into a bloody pulp. "Run!" Someone yelled out, sprinting toward the mountain with all their might, hoping to quickly escape the range of this arcane array.

Everyone was running desperately, yet each step was incredibly on challenging, stepping on the accumulated snow, they could hardly move their feet.

At this point, everyone started to believe in Jared's words.

Jared merely glanced back at the beasts that had emerged from the chaos dimension. He didn't utter a word, just continued to forge ahead with his head down.

Bianca and the others panicked and followed closely.

Without spiritual power, they found it very difficult to walk, and everyone was panting heavily.

Bianca and the others also felt their bodies relax as if they were relieved of a heavy burden. Quickly, Jared suddenly felt a surge of Water flowing through it. He instantly felt a sense of relief, his steps becoming incredibly light.