

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/ A Man Like None Other

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3886-Lend A Hand Watching the shield that was about to shatter completely, Alphonse was dumbfounded, his eyes filled with terror and helplessness.

Bang!

A thunderous crash echoed between heaven and earth, and the shield Alphonse had formed instantly collapsed.

A beam of light shot straight into Alphonse's forehead, causing his figure to dissolve within the radiance.

In the end, he was unable to withstand Jared's devastating blow. He was completely obliterated, and even in death, Alphonse had an undeniable look of defiance in his eyes.

Cough! Cough!

After Alphonse was vanquished, Jared began to cough violently.

"Mr. Chance, are you all right?" Faiyar hurriedly followed Serena, rushing over.

"I'm fine!" Jared waved his hand dismissively.

Just a moment ago, he had merely overused Immortal's Pointer, an immortal technique. Although Jared had comprehended time nascence, the use of Immortal's Pointer was still incredibly draining.

Jared made that move because he wanted to show off. Even without using Immortal's Pointer, Jared could have still taken down Alphonse.

"From now on, just kill when you need to kill. Stop showing off. You've already used up all your celestial energy and time nascence," Vermilion Demon Lord advised Jared.

Jared was left speechless for a moment. Back when he was in Infinitus Celestial Sect, if he had absorbed all the liquified celestial energy himself, things wouldn't have ended up like that.

He had merely shown off with a single use of Immortal's Pointer, and he was already on the verge of collapse.

With a face full of excitement, Faiyar enthusiastically said to Jared, "Mr. Chance, did you use an immortal technique just now? That was absolutely incredible, so awe-inspiring. I really didn't expect that in such a short period of time, you'd become a Fourth Level Tribulator, and even grasp time nascence. Most importantly, you've eliminated that Ninth Level Tribulator as easily as if you were slaughtering a cockroach." Jared gave a faint smile and said, "It's not as simple as you make it out to be.

But if a Ninth Level Tribulator wants to kill me, it won't be that easy." Serena was completely taken aback. Although she knew Jared was impressive, she hadn't expected him to be this extraordinary.

"Mr. Chance, didn't you go looking for Lunarius Palace? Did you find it?" Faiyar asked.

"Yes. I even managed to get a Demonia Stone. I was on my way back to Blood Spirit Valley, and I just happened to pass by here, so I thought I'd drop in and visit. Where is Mr. Pruitt?" Jared asked.

"Oh, my master has gone into seclusion. Currently, I'm the one handling all matters of Soul Demon Sect," Serena said.

"Correct. Serena is now the vice president, overseeing the entire Soul Demon Sect," Faiyar uttered.

Upon hearing this, Jared looked at Faiyar and said, "Not bad, brat. Now that you're the sect leader's dual cultivation partner, you can live off her in the future." "Haha!" Faiyar gave a sly chuckle.

Jared recounted the Mueller family's attack on Lunarius Palace and said, "I want Soul Demon Sect to lend a hand, Even if you can't directly resist the Mueller family, you can assist from the rear, helping those unfortunate cultivators who have died to restore their physical bodies."

Serena, on the other hand, began to blush.

"Do you have some business with my master, Mr. Chance?" Serena asked.

"Actually, there's something I was hoping you guys from Soul Demon Sect could help me with," Jared said.

Upon hearing that Jared offered his help, Serena quickly assured him, "Please go ahead, Mr. Chance. Rest assured, whatever is within our power, Soul Demon Sect will not hesitate to do."

Jared knew that the overall strength of Soul Demon Sect was somewhat lacking. Their primary mode of attack was through spiritual sense, and their main ability was physical body restoration.

As long as there was conflict, casualties were inevitable. However, even if the physical body was destroyed, as long as the soul managed to escape, it was still possible to restore the body and come back to life.

Serena nodded and said, "No problem. I'll personally lead Soul Demon Sect disciples there, and Mi bring a large amount of soul flowers.

As long as it can help you, Mr.

Chance, we are willing to do everything in our power."

Therefore, many cultivators, in their final moments, would abandon their physical bodies, allowing a sliver of their souls to escape.

Soul Demon Sect's task was to perform physical body restoration for the souls that managed to escape and return. This was of utmost importance.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3887-Meeting Again "Mr. Chance, where exactly is Lunarius Palace? How do we get there?" Faiyar asked.

"Head over to Pathfinder Sect and take the airship to Southedge City. All you need to do is wait there," Jared said.

"Southedge City!" Faiyar nodded. "All right. We'll wait for you at Southedge City, Mr. Chance." Jared did not linger for long at Soul Demon Sect. As he was about to leave, a sudden thought struck him. He turned to Serena and asked, "Do you know if Mr.

Cervantes of the Five Great Sects has come here to rejuvenate his body?"

"Yes. He left after the physical body restoration!" Serena said.

Jared gave a nod and promptly left.

Jared went straight to the Five Great Sects. At that moment, only Lauden and Keelan remained in the Five Great Sects.

Jared arrived at the Five Great Sects, where he received a warm welcome from Lauden and Keelan.

Had it not been for Jared's assistance in the polar region, the Five Great Sects would have long since fallen into the hands of Heinrik and his ilk.

In fact, Keelan would've died there and then.

“Mr. Chance, it seems you’ve had quite a fortuitous encounter in the polar region. You’re now a Fourth Level Tribulator. However, I’m curious as to what brings you here all of a sudden.” Lauden knew that Jared’s sudden visit definitely meant something was up.

“I came here for two reasons. First, I wanted to check on Mr. Cervantes’ condition and see if he has recovered.” Jared didn’t bring up the matter of lending a hand right from the start.

“Mr. Chance, I appreciate your concern. I have fully recovered now. Without you, I wouldn’t have been able to receive assistance from Soul Demon Sect.” Keelan expressed his gratitude profusely.

“Mr. Chance, aside from visiting Mr. Cervantes, is there anything else you need?”

If you require assistance from the Five Great Sects, feel free to speak up. I assure you that the Five Great Sects will spare no effort. We won’t hesitate to go through hell and high water if necessary. Mr. Chance, you gave us our lives. We know the importance of repaying favors. Otherwise, what right do we have to call ourselves upstanding and reputable?” Lauden knew Jared’s visit was certainly not just to see Keelan.

“Mr. Delacroix, indeed, I do have another request to make.” In a relaxed manner, Jared narrated the events of how the Mueller family attacked Lunarius Palace.

The Mueller family was vast, and their strength was not to be underestimated. If they truly decided to take action against Lunarius Palace, it would likely be a difficult blow for Lunarius Palace to withstand.

After all, Lunarius Palace was just starting out, and all the disciples were still weak. They simply couldn’t withstand the assault from the Mueller family.

Without a moment’s hesitation, Lauden agreed, saying, “No problem, Mr.

Chance. With just one word from you, we, the Five Great Sects, are ready to give it our all. I’ll depart with my disciples now, and we will await your instructions in Southedge City.” “Thank you, Mr. Delacroix.” Jared was deeply touched. After all, no one enjoyed doing things that could cost them their life at any moment.

“Mr. Chance, there’s no need for formalities. It’s something I ought to do,” Lauden said.

Jared only stayed for a brief moment at the Five Great Sects before he left.

He had to network with more people. This time, for the sake of Lunarius Palace, Jared really put his back into it.

He had never gathered so many people before.

After leaving the Five Great Sects, Jared went straight to the Summers residence.

The magecrafts and charms of the Summers family were quite.

renowned throughout the southern region. These skills might not be of much use in one-on-one combat, but in the case of large-scale battles, they would prove to be extremely useful.

When Tyler first saw Jared, he was both surprised and thrilled.

That was especially the case for Jennifer. She thought that after that night, she would never see Jared again.

Jared intended to follow up on the situation with Tyler, but unexpectedly, Tyler took the lead, pulling Jaredn aside and saying, "Mr. Chance, your timing is impeccable. My daughter has shown no signs of improvement since that night. Could you please lend us a hand?"

After speaking, Tyler left, leaving only Jennifer with Jared in the room.

Jared was at a loss for words. I've just arrived, though. Goshe Who am I to refuse when? heed help from them? I'll just get on with it!