Chapter 3912

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3912-The Ambush After quite a while, everyone finally came to their senses. The sudden appearance of the governor immediately plunged everyone into a state of deep thought.

“Everyone take a two-day rest at Lunarius Palace. As for those who were injured, I’ll make it my priority to prepare the pills as quickly as possible. Soul Demon Sect would also hasten the physical body restoration of the remaining soul cultivators!” Jared announced to the crowd.

“Thank you all...” Nieva greeted everyone present with a bow.

Although these individuals had initially targeted Jared, they had indeed sustained injuries, and even made sacrifices, in their efforts to protect Lunarius Palace.

“Ms. Nieva, there’s no need for formalities. Please take extra care in settling everyone in! I need to recover as quickly as possible.

This battle has taken a huge toll on me!” Jared had followed Aiden into battle, exhausting nearly every ounce of their energy and vitality!

He had to recover as quickly as possible, and then find a way to elevate himself to a new cultivation level within a month.

If I don’t improve, judging by my current abilities, I’m afraid I won’t be so lucky when competing against Aiden.

By then, there was no guarantee that the little Celestial Devourer would show up, and even the governor might not make an appearance.

“Go ahead, don’t worry about things here. I’ll take good care of everyone,” Jared assured Nieva.

Nieva gave a slight nod.

After arriving at the back courtyard of Lunarius Palace, Jared subsequently sat cross-legged in his room, restoring the various energies within his body, especially the three kinds of demonic fires within him.

At this point, the demonic fires within Jared had significantly weakened.

As Jared was recuperating, he continuously nurtured those three types of demonic fires.

At the same exact moment, thousands of miles away at the headquarters of Demon Seal Alliance.

The leader, Talcott, sat in his chair with a cold and stern expression.

“Mr. Lefterov, Jared Chance has been causing quite a stir in the southern region. He’s even leading thousands of disciples into the fray alongside the Mueller family. The entire Demonia Mountain was nearly obliterated, signs of collapse were evident in the void of the southern region. Finally, the governor of the southern region was drawn out, and only then was the conflict quelled,” Zayan reported to Talcott.

“What? The southern region’s governor has shown himself?” Talcott’s eyebrows furrowed. “Centuries have passed. I thought they had ascended to the celestial realm long ago. I didn’t expect them to still be in the realm of mortals.” Talcott felt a pressure within him. He had established the Demon Seal Alliance, spreading its influence across the entire Ethereal Realm. However, his aim was not to slay demons and vanquish evil, but to rule over Ethereal Realm.

What he desired was to control the entire celestial realm, not just a single region!

Now that the governor of the southern region had emerged, Talcott’s ambition to dominate the entire Ethereal Realm might not be so easy to realize.

“Notify all regional powers. Jared must be eliminated without mercy. As soon as he leaves the southern region, he must not be allowed to survive.” Talcott gritted his teeth as he spoke.

In the southern region, the various clans were relatively harmonious, and the power of Demon Seal Alliance happened to be the lowest in the southern region.

The southern region had the highest concentration of Demonic Cultivators.

However, even the Demon Seal Alliance didn’t dare to recklessly slaughter these cultivators on the Demonia Mountain of the southern region.

All they could do now was wait for Jared to leave the southern region, then they could finally corner him.

“I understand!” Zayan nodded in agreement.

“Also, regarding the Mueller family from the southern region, see if we can collaborate. I want you to personally handle the discussions.

Jared has managed to rally thousands of cultivators in the southern region. We mustn't underestimate this man," Talcott added.

The envoys dispatched from the Soulless Hall, not only failed to eliminate Jared, but now they had all become Jared's accomplices.

"I'm off to alert the various factions, then I'll head to the Mueller family in the southern region to discuss a collaboration." After Zayan finished speaking, he turned around and left.

Talcott let out a long sigh, his figure slowly fading away. The one sitting here was not Talcott's physical body at all.

"No more, these guys are all hypocrites. They're not genuinely hypocrites. They're not genuinely submissive, none of them are willing to give their all." Talcott casually waved his hand and said.

"Good!" Zayan nodded again, then proceeded to say, "Mr. Lefterov, we've recently sent out several groups of Demonic cultivators, but none of them have been successful in eliminating Jared. Astonishingly, some have even been persuaded to switch sides by Jared. Should we continue to send Demonic Cultivators after him?"

No data found.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3914-Imperial Fox City "Mr. Chance, Violet Flame Sect from the central region also practices fire-based techniques, and throughout the entire Ethereal Realm, their fire techniques are probably the strongest. Moreover, Violet Flame Sect is located at the very heart of the Ethereal Realm, where it's perpetually sweltering. Surrounded by deserts, it's an ideal place for cultivating fire-based techniques. They might even know how to create demonic fire," Montane Daemon said while following Jared.

"Violet Flame Sect?" Jared had never heard of this sect before, nor was he familiar with any of its members. Would they just readily share their techniques if he were to ask them outright?

"Mr. Chance, we could go to the Seizon residence and ask my Uncle Lawrence.

Perhaps he has some connections with this Violet Flame Sect!" Cloud noticed Jared's dilemma, so he spoke up.

Upon hearing this, a light sparked in Jared's eyes. He had completely forgotten about the Seizon family!

However, every time Jared thought about visiting the Seizon residence, he couldn't help but recall the Seizon sisters, Miya and Livya.

After all, that was Jared's first time sleeping with twin sisters.

At that moment, Catina spoke up. "Forget about going to the Seizon residence; just ask me. I'm acquainted with an elder from Violet Flame Sect." "How did you come to know each other?" Jared asked curiously.

"Mr. Chance, Fox Queen is quite renowned in the central region. There's no one in the entire region who doesn't know about Imperial Fox City," Monkey Archon chimed in from the side.

Upon hearing this, Jared was immediately taken aback as he looked at Catina in surprise. "You stay in the central region?" "Of course, what else did you think? That we were all in the southern region?"

The southern region alone couldn't possibly accommodate five of the three kings and four archons," Catina said with a laugh.

Jared thought about it and realized it made sense. Although the southern region was vast, having five out of the three kings and four archons residing there was bound to create conflicts.

The northern region was a good example as there were only Yuven and Lucian there, yet they still had to secretly wrestle for power.

Jared nodded and said, "All right, there's no time to lose. Let's go now!" After bidding farewell to Nieva, Jared and his companions departed on their airship.

Then, throughout the journey, the airship began dropping everyone back home.

Once they reached Blood Spirit Valley, Igor, along with Montane Daemon, Hanes, and the others, disembarked from the airship.

At that point, only Jared, Feenix, Catina, and Cloud remained.

As Jared gazed upon the endless expanse of Demonica Mountain, he was filled with deep emotion.

His journey to Demonica Mountain this time had been quite fruitful!

Not only was he now a Fourth Level Tribulator, but he had also tamed a small Celestial Devourer. Moreover, he had even obtained the soul remnant of the great demon lord, Vermilion Demon Lord!

Besides that, he had obtained demonic fire soul essence, the Infinitus Token, grasped time nascence, and mastered Blazing Stride... He even found out news of Baal, Whalreth, and Hadad!

The airship gradually moved further away, and soon, Demonia Mountain was engulfed in white mist.

Jared's eyes were filled with reluctance.

Seeing Jared in that state, Feenix approached and teased him lightheartedly, "Master, seeing you so upset, could it be that you're missing your beloved Ms.

"I think he's missing Ms. Summers.

Didn't you see when he left? Poor Ms.

Summers was crying as if her world was ending," Catina piped up.

Nieva? It seems like you two haven't slept yet, right? Could it be that that's exactly why you miss her even more?"

Jared glanced at Catina and Feenix, giving them a slight smile. "What's the matter? Are you two feeling jealous?" "Pfft, jealous? With the number of women you have, if I were the jealous type, I would be a green-eyed monster by now." Catina rolled her eyes.

Jared, on the other hand, took Catina and Feenix by the hand, leading them into the airship's cabin.

The sounds of playful commotion could be heard shortly after.

After all, it would take two full days for the airship to reach Imperia 119x City. Given such a long duration, it was impossible for Jared to remain indifferent in the presence of two beautiful women.

Cloud, piloting the airship, had long since grown used to their antics and was unfazed.

There was no denying Jared had incredible stamina!

It wasn't until the airship reached the skies above Imperial Fox City that, Jared, accompanied by Catina and Feenix, finally emerged from the room.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3915-The Banquet Upon seeing Jared step out, Cloud informed him, "Mr. Chance, we're almost at Imperial Fox City!" Jared nodded, then moved closer to the porthole. Indeed, a city had appeared before him.

The city was vast, its expanse not any smaller than that of Imperial Beast City.

Catina, her legs aching slightly, walked over and asked with a smug expression, "Well, what do you think? My city isn't small, is it? From now on, you will be the master of this city!"

Catina leaned against Jared's shoulder, gazing down at Imperial Fox City as she spoke.

Jared had never imagined that Catina, a Seventh Level Tribulator, could actually conquer such a vast expanse of territory.

The airship gently descended onto a plaza in Imperial Fox City.

A large group of beastmen had gathered around, seemingly very unfamiliar and curious about the airship.

"Move away! Everyone, move aside..." Following that loud roar, a squad of soldiers clad in armor charged forward, encircling the airship.

One of them, donned in a golden helmet and gripping a longsword, was warily watching the airship.

Pointing at the person wearing the golden helmet, Catina explained, "This is my guard captain, Knox!" Jared glanced at Knox and casually remarked, "He's stronger than you. Do you really think he'd willingly let you boss him around?" "Hehe, and that's why I'm amazing," she said.

With a smile, Catina instructed Cloud to open the airship's cabin door.

Upon seeing the cabin door swing open, Knox instantly became alert. However, when he recognized it was Catina descending, his eyes instantly lit up.

"Fox Queen, you're back!" Knox hurriedly stepped forward, assisting Catina as she descended.

Upon witnessing the scene, those around immediately fell to their knees, exclaiming in unison, "Long live Fox Queen!" Noticing Jared and the others appeared somewhat stunned, Catina urged with a smile, "Come on down, you guys!" Jared, accompanied by Cloud and Feenix, finally disembarked from the airship.

"Fox Queen, who are these people?" Knox watched Jared and his group, his eyebrows slightly furrowed.

"They are my friends!" Catina replied.

Knox didn't say anything else but instead ordered his men to prepare the carriage to return to the palace. Catina's palace was far more lavish than Yuven's. After all, females loved beautiful things!

That evening, Catina hosted a grand party for Jared, Cloud, and Feenix.

There was no doubting Catina led a luxurious life in Imperial Fox City.

After all, as the queen of the city, she ruled supreme. She could do whatever she wanted here..

At the banquet, Catina turned to Knox and asked, "Knox, while I was away, did anyone from the Foster family cause any trouble?"

"Fox Queen, the Foster family hasn't caused any trouble. They seem to be preparing for something these past few days and have been gathering their forces. I think they're searching for someone named Jared Chance. I heard that the Demon Seal Alliance issued a Decree of Execution, and they're even willing to reward a hundred-year offering. Right now, the entire Foster family is preoccupied with this matter. I even heard that an elder from the Demon Seal Alliance personally visited the Foster family, likely regarding the same matter,"

Knox said.

Upon hearing this, Catina subtly glanced at Jared, then asked, "Where's Winona? I haven't seen her since I returned." "Winona has been out of town for quite a few days now, gathering herbs. She should be returning soon!" Knox responded.

Catina simply nodded, choosing not to say anything further.

After the banquet had ended, Jared, driven by curiosity, turned to Catina and asked, "What's the connection between you and the Foster family?"

"And who is this Winona?"

"The Foster family is considered a prominent clan in the central region.

Moreover, they are a vassal family of the Demon Seal Alliance. They have attempted to collaborate with my Imperial Fox City on numerous occasions. However, I have never agreed. The Demon Seal Alliance is no good, and now that they've issued a Decree of Execution on you, there's no way I'll collaborate with them. As for Winona, she's a maid who has been with me since my childhood.

She took care of me, and what's more, her medical skills are quite impressive," Catina meticulously explained.
