

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/ A Man Like None Other Chapter 4021- 4025

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4021-As Jared was filled with regret and at a loss for what to do, the Golden Tome in his consciousness field suddenly began to shimmer with light.

A flash of white light streaked across, and to Jared's surprise, he found himself regaining control over his body once again!

And there it was, the soul remnant of Vermilion Demon Lord, returning to the consciousness field and looking around in utter confusion!

The Golden Tome had sensed Jared's peril, hence it forcibly drove back the soul remnant of Vermilion Demon Lord, enabling Jared to regain control over his body!

"Pfft..."

After regaining control of his body, Jared spat out a mouthful of fresh blood.

The golden arrow on the Divine Bow swiftly vanished into thin air, and the red patterns that adorned Jared's body disappeared as well.

Even the terrifying demonic aura vanished without a trace in an instant.

Maurice sensed the transformation within Jared. Upon witnessing Jared coughing up blood and his strength drastically reduced, Maurice instantly understood what was happening!

"Hahaha! You thought you could boost your strength by borrowing the power of a demonic soul, but you never anticipated its backlash. Now, I don't see how you'll survive this!" Maurice's confidence soared as he laughed heartily.

Following that, a palm strike was directed toward Jared. Jared, however, furrowed his brows and swiftly retreated backward.

"Hmph, I'd like to see where you could run to now..." Maurice scoffed coldly as he instantly accelerated to his maximum speed and pursued Jared with lethal intent!

Jared had killed so many disciples from the Ghost Mask Sect. There was no way Maurice would let him off the hook!

Otherwise, once he returned, he would have no way to explain it.

Jared had only managed to flee a couple of steps before he came to a halt. The reason was simple. He was now standing before a magma river.

Jared cast a glance at the magma river. The river was so deep that its bottom was out of sight. At that moment, it was flowing rapidly, with flames constantly surging skyward.

Seeing Maurice catching up, Jared had no choice but to throw out the puppet once again!

The puppet, powered by the Fire Spirit Lord's fire soul essence, engaged in battle with Maurice as soon as it appeared.

Puppets don't possess life, thus they were fearless.

For a moment, Maurice was engaged in an even match with the puppet.

Jared knew that the puppet wouldn't last for long. Moreover, there was no way Jared could just stand by and watch the puppet get destroyed.

The fire soul essence must not be lost. If the puppet was destroyed, there was a chance that the fire soul essence could be damaged or even lost!

During this period, Jared racked his brains and contemplated methods to deal with Maurice.

After much consideration, Jared couldn't come up with any viable solutions. At that moment, Jared had the opportunity to evade the magma river and head straight for the Divine Flame Mountain.

But if he did that, he would lead Maurice to Divine Flame Mountain. Dario and the others would be in danger!

Watching the puppet on the brink of collapse, Jared glanced at the magma river before him. He decided to leap into the magma river as his only means of escape.

All he needed was to get away from Maurice.

With this in mind, Jared beckoned and summoned his puppet back to him.

Maurice looked at Jared, his eyes filled with smugness as he said, "Kid, I wonder where you'll run off to this time... If you want to look, then go ahead!"

Jared gave a cold, detached laugh.

Then, with a determined look in his eyes, he turned and plunged into the magma river.

“Exck...”

Maurice rushed forward hastily, but Jared’s body had already fallen stiffly into the magma river.

Jared plunged into the magma river, the surrounding heat engulfing him.

His sudden dive caused the heat waves within the river to distort and shoot straight up into the sky.

Jared was enveloped by magma as he continuously plummeted deeper into the magma river. As Jared ventured deeper, the intensity of the burning sensation grew stronger and stronger.

Jared had no choice but to desperately head deeper into the unknown.

Only then could he escape Maurice’s relentless pursuit.

Jared’s body finally descended to the bottom. Then, he began to walk around at the base of the magma river!

He had to leave this place as soon as possible.

Because Jared was enveloped by the heat wave of magma, it was impossible for Maurice to detect his presence.

However, if Jared remained still here and Maurice jumped down, he would surely be able to find him. Therefore, Jared had to change his location.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4022-In the magma river, Jared moved around at the bottom as if he were a fish.

On the other hand, Maurice was watching the magma river and its rising flames with a slight furrow in his brow. He hadn’t expected Jared to jump into the river.

Gazing at the vast, endless magma river, Maurice released his spiritual sense to pinpoint Jared’s exact location.

However, the magma river was immense, and Jared had dived to the bottom. Maurice’s spiritual sense couldn’t penetrate through the magma river, making it impossible to locate Jared.

“I must not let this guy get away, otherwise I won’t be able to explain myself...” Maurice wasn’t merely trying to stop Jared anymore, it was more than that now.

Jared had eliminated numerous disciples from their Ghost Mask Sect, and he could trade for the hundred-year offering from the Demon Seal Alliance.

Maurice was eager to leap down and pursue Jared, but he wasn't sure of Jared's exact location. If he acted rashly and descended but did not find Jared, it would be a problem!

Moreover, without using his spiritual sense to search, trying to find Jared in the lava river by himself would be like looking for a needle in a haystack.

As Maurice gazed at the disciples of the Ghost Mask Sect who had died not far away, he thought of something.

He furrowed his brows, forcing a drop of pure blood to emerge. As the drop fell to the ground, it instantaneously transformed into a cloud of blood mist.

This cloud of blood mist rapidly morphed into the shape of a ghost mask!

Then, beams of light began to shine through the blood mist!

Accompanied by the continuous spread of a chilling aura, the ghost masks formed from the blood mist slowly ascended into the sky.

Right after the ghost masks formed by the blood mist rose into the sky, the ghost masks worn by the deceased disciples of the Ghost Mask Sect on the ground all started to levitate!

These ghost masks emitted a series of chilling screams as if something was being suppressed within them.

"Go..." With a grand sweep of Maurice's hand, dozens of ghost masks swarmed and plunged into the magma river as if they had come alive.

These ghost masks showed no fear of the flames at all. They dispersed and plunged into the magma river. Maurice was hoping to use these ghost masks to track down Jared.

Unaware to this, Jared frantically swam in the depths of the magma river.

Luckily, Jared had already harnessed the fire of the Earth's core, so he only had to slightly manipulate this energy to withstand the intense heat within the magma river.

However, Jared's body was now experiencing waves of soreness and pain from various parts.

These were all after-effects from being controlled by Vermilion Demon Lord.

This guy had agreed to restrain himself, but in the end, he went crazy trying to absorb all the surrounding energy and condense it into an arrow.

Even though Jared was physically strong, he couldn't bear it any longer.

Fortunately, at the last moment, the Golden Tome sensed Jared's perilous situation and forcefully separated the soul remnant of Vermilion Demon Lord from Jared's body.

Otherwise, Jared would now be a lone soul because his physical body would have burst long ago.

Having noticed the changes in Jared's physical body, Vermilion Demon Lord said apologetically, "Kid, I got a bit too excited there, my apologies..."

He knew he was in the wrong, so when Jared criticized him, all Vermilion Demon Lord could do was listen.

"Get further away, this guy is really hard to deal with..." After swimming with all his strength for a while, Jared finally allowed himself a brief respite and stopped.

Jared planned to harness the fire of the Earth's core here and utilize the True Fire Spiritual body to temper his physical form.

It was perfect to use the True Fire Spiritual body to temper his physical body in this magma river, as it would surely yield twice the result with half the effort.

Jared attempted to absorb the fire of the Earth's core from within the magma river, but as soon as he began, he heard a series of buzzing sounds. Immediately afterward, he noticed the surrounding flames becoming more turbulent.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4023-Flames began to swirl in front of Jared. Soon, a massive vortex appeared and absorbed the surrounding fire of the Earth's core right in front of Jared.

"What's going on? How did a massive vortex suddenly appear?" Upon seeing the situation, Jared's face was filled with surprise.

Vermilion Demon Lord commented, "You must have absorbed the fire of the Earth's core here, causing a shift in the surrounding flame aura. That's why such a large vortex has formed. Rivers formed from underground magma like this one are quite volatile. The slightest introduction of a foreign object could potentially alter its current state."

Upon hearing the words of Vermilion Demon Lord, Jared was reminded of the volcano.

A calm volcano wouldn't erupt even with the magma churning.

But if you tossed a stone into it, it might trigger a volcanic eruption.

The same principle applied here. Jared merely absorbed a hint of the surrounding flame aura, and it consequently led to the sudden emergence of a massive vortex within the magma river.

Jared noticed the vortex growing larger and larger. It seemed as if there was a crevice at the void.

Once the flame aura was swept into the vortex, they flowed away through the void's crevice, disappearing to an unknown destination.

Watching the vortex continuously grow in size, Jared decided to take cover for the time being, hoping that the turbulence might eventually subside.

Jared struggled against the pull of the vortex as he swam toward the other side.

However, he found it extremely challenging to move forward.

Originally hindered by the magma river, Jared was now firmly held by the vortex's suction. He had no choice but to grit his teeth and continuously dodge the vortex.

At that very moment, a faint aura was steadily drawing closer. Soon enough, Jared realized with a jolt that it was the aura of the Ghost Mask Sect!

"Did that guy actually manage to find this place?" Jared's expression tensed because he hadn't expected that Maurice would find him so quickly.

Just as Jared was gathering his courage to face the enemy, he was shocked to discover that what approached him was actually a ghost mask.

The ghost mask seemed to possess a life of its own. It relentlessly advanced toward Jared.

Upon seeing the ghost mask, Jared's brows furrowed. He knew that it didn't just appear here without reason!

It must be Maurice who had thrown the ghost mask into the magma river, and now the ghost mask was seeking him out.

Jared quietly observed the sudden appearance of the ghost mask. He wanted to know whether it was cast into the magma river by Maurice or if it had fallen in by itself.

The ghost mask was incessantly closing in on Jared. However, just as it was still some distance away, it was abruptly sucked into the massive vortex. It vanished without a trace in an instant!

Upon witnessing the ghost mask being sucked into the vortex, Jared finally breathed a sigh of relief. It seemed that this ghost mask was not cast into the magma river by Maurice.

Jared created a distance between himself and the vortex as he dared not absorb and refine the fire of the Earth's core any longer. He could only rely on these flames and use the True Fire Spiritual body to temper his own body.

At that moment, Maurice was waiting by the bank of the magma river

Quickly, an aura was felt. Maurice cast his gaze into the distance.

"He actually manages to sneak that far out..." Maurice's lips curved slightly. He already knew Jared's location. Just then, the ghost mask approached Jared, instantly revealing his hiding spot.

At that time, Jared was completely oblivious to the fact that his location had been gyped. He was still engrossed in the True Fire Spiritual body and refining his physical form.

Maurice swiftly leaped up. Once he reached the spot where Jared was, he plunged headfirst into the magma river.

Several ghost masks swirled around Maurice and shielded him from the flames of the magma river!

The ghost masks were not afraid of the fire of the Earth's core. In fact, it was through this face that Harlan and his companions crossed the magma river!

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4024-As Maurice delved deeper and deeper, his spiritual sense reached its absolute peak. At that time, he could only have a rough idea of Jared's location. To pinpoint Jared's exact whereabouts, he would need to employ his spiritual sense!

Although the reach of his spiritual sense wasn't very far within this magma river, knowing Jared's approximate location was enough.

The moment Maurice released his spiritual sense, Jared instantly realized it.

"Damn, this guy caught up so quickly?" Startled, Jared quickly withdrew his True Fire Spiritual body, his brows furrowed in concern. Without delay, he swiftly headed deeper into the river.

"This guy is f*cking annoying! Lend me your body. I'm going to take this jerk down!" Vermilion Demon Lord said to Jared.

“Give me a break, my body can’t take your rough handling anymore. I don’t even know when I’ll fully recover.” Jared rolled his eyes at Vermilion Demon Lord.

Jared couldn’t possibly relinquish control of his body to Vermilion Demon Lord again because he was becoming quite addicted, always seeking to control Jared’s body!

If it weren’t for the presence of the Golden Tome in Jared’s consciousness field, Vermilion Demon Lord would have already tried to wrestle control of Jared’s body from him.

At that moment, Maurice also sensed Jared’s presence and burst into laughter.

“Kid, you’re merely a Fourth Level Tribulator, yet you still want to fight me.

There’s no escape for you, so you might as well surrender now!” Upon hearing Maurice’s words, Jared remained silent, his face filled with seriousness as he quickly moved about.

Maurice was in hot pursuit, closing in on Jared. Jared, in the midst of a magma river, was unable to utilize his Blazing Stride, which allowed Maurice to rapidly gain on him!

At this point, Jared had exerted all his strength. The physical pain and discomfort he was experiencing caused him to occasionally furrow his brows!

He swore he would never again allow the Vermilion Demon Lord to take control of his body. The aftereffects were far too severe!

Sensing Maurice steadily closing in, Jared gritted his teeth with a stern expression.

In the midst of this magma river, Jared was uncertain about how many rounds he could last against Maurice, especially considering the current state of his physical injuries.

Just as Jared frantically swam forward, his body suddenly sank. He dropped straight down like a heavy stone.

Before he knew it, a cliff-like deep pit had appeared ahead. Caught off guard, Jared found himself rapidly plummeting downward.

Pale from shock, Jared desperately tried to swim upward, but it was all in vain!

He could only channel his spiritual energy throughout his body to ward off the surrounding flames.

As Jared went deeper into the river, the ferocity of the flames grew stronger.

Eventually, he noticed that the flames had turned a dark crimson color!

“Hmph, you think you can evade pursuit by diving deep? That’s wishful thinking!” Thinking that Jared was trying to avoid him, Maurice dived deeper into the depths without hesitation.

Unbeknownst to Maurice, Jared too was completely caught off guard as he plunged down. Shall the Find Movel. Rat website on Googla to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Maurice didn’t hesitate as he began to dive down even though he didn’t know how deep was the river.

Jared was falling involuntarily while Maurice pursued him intentionally from above.

The two of them, one leading and the other following, fell incessantly.

As the hue of the flames deepened, their intensity escalated. Even though Jared had tamed the fire of the Earth’s core and grasped the fire’s essence, he still felt the scorching heat and an overwhelming sense of suffocation.

Jared could only unleash his extremus frost flame to ward off the unbearably intense heat.

Maurice was also struggling at this point. As he continued to dive deeper, the ghost masks surrounding him spun faster and faster. Waves of heat started to relentlessly assault his body.

Maurice’s brows furrowed slightly as he watched Jared continue to dive deeper.

He couldn’t help but curse, “D*mn it, is this guy trying to get himself killed?”

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4025-Jared clenched his teeth as his body rapidly descended. The intense heat from the flaming energy grew, accompanied by the flame vortex.

When Jared felt his descent slowing, he realized he seemed to have reached the bottom. Massive flame vortices, akin to the Grim Reaper’s scythe, kept passing by him! Search the (F)indNOVEL.net website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Jared was exerting all his strength to control his breath. At the moment, he was already struggling enough to withstand the intense flames at the bottom of the magma river. If he got caught in a vortex, he would be doomed for sure.

“Kid, I wonder where you can possibly run off to this time...”

The voice of Maurice echoed.

Jared noticed that Maurice was constantly trailing him like a relentless nuisance.

Now, he was right in front of him!

“There’s no way I’ll ever let you catch me, so you might as well give up.” After Jared finished speaking, he glanced at the flame vortex, then resolutely headed toward it!

Maurice was taken aback. He couldn’t comprehend why Jared was willing to perish in the flame vortex rather than let him take his life.

As soon as Jared’s body approached the flame vortex, he was instantly drawn in by an immense pulling force.

Maurice watched with wide eyes, yet he dared not approach. He knew that if he was drawn into the flame vortex, it would mean death!

“Hmph, even if it’s a corpse, I’m bringing it back to claim my reward from the Demon Seal Alliance!” Maurice snorted in disdain as he quietly waited for Jared.

In the split second Jared was engulfed by the flame vortex, he took a deep breath. His spiritual energy surged, his eyes flickering with the light of the flames!

The fire nascence star within Jared started to flicker rapidly.

Even though Jared’s fire nascence power put up a fierce resistance, he still felt as if he was about to be torn apart by the flame vortex.

Maurice stood outside, quietly observing with a face full of mocking sneer. When Jared felt he was reaching his limit, he abruptly released the puppet.

He casually removed the fire soul essence from the puppet’s body.

Without the fire soul essence, the puppet was instantly shredded by the flame vortex!

With the fire soul essence in his grasp, Jared felt a significant wave of relief wash over him. The flaming energy was absorbed by the fire soul essence.

Although the puppet had been destroyed, Jared was still safe at that moment.

Jared was also taking a gamble and placing his hopes on the fire soul essence.

Otherwise, how could he possibly have willingly walked into the flame vortex?

In that fleeting moment, Jared seized the opportunity to quickly invoke his True Fire Spiritual body. A shadow clone appeared within his consciousness field.

Jared's body began to absorb the flaming energy and harness its power to temper his physical form. Concurrently, the shadow clone of his True Fire Spiritual body became increasingly substantial.

Jared was greedily absorbing the flaming energy. Maurice was stunned to see Jared remained Seated cross-legged and was not torn apart by the flame vortex.

He couldn't comprehend how Jared had managed to survive amidst the ferocious flame vortex. Moreover, it appeared that the flame vortex didn't cause Jared any harm at all.

As Jared continued to absorb the raging flames, his True Fire Spiritual body created a vacuum around him.

Surprisingly, the immense flame vortex was gradually diminishing. It looked as if the vortex was about to vanish completely.

"F*ck, that's really weird..."

Maurice wore a face full of confusion. He simply couldn't comprehend how Jared) a Fourth Level Tribulator, possessed such abilities. He seemed unafraid of the flame vortex, and it even appeared as though the vortex was disappearing.

However, Maurice was already prepared at that moment. The instant the flame vortex vanished, he was ready to make his move against Jared!

Jared also noticed that the flame vortex was gradually vanishing.

As he continued to move, the flame vortex followed his movements.