

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE /

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4781 – “Hmph! The nerve of this guy to show up. We’ll teach him a good lesson...”

Upon hearing this, Orion was instantly filled with anger.

The trio, who had just made a breakthrough, were now in the Immortal mirobas Realm. Together, they could even give Tennyson a run for his money.

“What is he even doing here?”

Jared’s brows furrowed. He had given his word to Octavion, promising not to harm Tennyson.

Yet, here was Tennyson, daring to show up.

Didn’t he see how Maison met his end?

“Don’t worry about it. Focus on your cultivation. I’ll meet with Tennyson!”

Jared was terrified that Orion and the others might end up fighting with Tennyson. If they accidentally killed Tennyson, he wouldn’t know how to explain it to Octavion.

Jared followed Bernard to the border of Allardland. Tennyson dared not casually enter that place.

Upon seeing Jared arrive, Tennyson intended to step forward. However, he hesitated for a moment, as he dared not casually intrude into the territory of Allardland at that moment.

“What brings you here?”

Jared turned to Tennyson and asked.

“Mr. Chance,” Tennyson began, “I came specifically to apologize to you this time!” He bowed respectfully toward Jared.

Jared was taken aback, his face full of confusion as he looked at Tennyson, completely clueless about what this guy was up to.

Even if Maison had been slain, who knew it would scare Tennyson into such a state, causing him to come and apologize directly to Jared?

After all, once they left Allardland, the strength of Jared and his companions was still insufficient to contend with Tenth Hall.

“What are you up to? Spit it out. If you’re planning to kill me, I’m ready any time. No need for tricks!”

Jared had initially thought that Tennyson was trying to trick him into leaving the territory of Allardland.

“Mr. Chance, I came here sincerely to apologize. I hope that you can find it in your heart to forgive me!”

Tennyson spoke with a sincere expression on his face.

“Mr. Chance, don’t trust this guy so easily!”

Bernard cautioned from the side.

Upon witnessing the situation, Tennyson tossed all the collected item pouches in front of Jared. “These are all the resources I’ve gathered from the Tenth Hall, and I present them all to you, Mr. Chance! I truly hope you can find it in your heart to spare me. I am willing to follow you wherever you go...”

Jared stared at the item pouches before him, appearing incredibly surprised. Especially upon seeing one that was particularly unique, marked with a special symbol, he immediately picked it up for a closer look.

Upon looking, Jared surprisingly discovered that there were two hundred thousand celestial crystals in this item pouch, along with countless other resources.

“Darn it...” Jared looked utterly bewildered.

“This is the item pouch of the overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall. He has quite a lot of resources. These are all for you, Mr. Chance...”

Upon seeing the situation, Tennyson quickly spoke up.

“The overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall?” Jared was taken aback. “You killed him?”

After all, if the overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall were still alive, there was no way he would have willingly given up his item pouch.

“No, no, no. I certainly don’t have the ability to kill him. It was the expert behind you who did it!”

Tennyson repeatedly waved his hands.

“You’re talking about Mr. Sanders?” Jared asked, a look of surprise spreading across his face.

“Exactly! It was Mr. Sanders, but not in his main body, merely an illusory shadow. After he killed the overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall, he just left!” Tennyson exclaimed.

Jared was quite puzzled. Arthur had previously stated that he wouldn’t assist him in killing his enemies anymore and that Jared should do it himself.

Why was he aiding him in eliminating the people from Celestial Palace?

And certainly, the overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall was stronger than Tennyson. Surprisingly, Arthur managed to defeat him with just a mere illusory shadow.

“In Celestial Palace, aside from your ten halls, are there nine more, or any other divine halls?” Jared asked.

Tennyson shook his head. “I’m not sure. As for the ten halls of Celestial Palace, where exactly they are and who’s in charge, I honestly have no idea. Without concealing anything from you, Mr. Chance, I must admit I’ve never even seen the Celestial King of Celestial Palace. However, the overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall claimed he had reached the eighth level of Celestial Stairway, which should also be in the Ethereal Realm. It seems he often frequented Celestial Stairway Dimension.”

Jared was somewhat convinced by Tennyson’s words.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4782 – “Why did Mr. Sanders only kill the overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall, and not you?” Jared curiously asked.

“The overlord of Celestial Palace’s Ninth Hall was quite a chatterbox, claiming he would beat your hidden expert until they were left in a sorry state. That was what upset Mr. Sanders, leading him to take action against him.”

Tennyson spoke truthfully.

Upon hearing this, Jared couldn’t help but laugh. It seemed that Arthur also had a bit of a temper.

“Are you truly loyal, or are you simply cowed by Mr. Sanders’ authority?” Jared asked.

“Truly, I’m sincere in my intentions. I hope you can grant me an opportunity to prove my worth, Mr. Chance!”

Tennyson hurriedly expressed his loyalty.

“Isn’t it true that you celestials are extremely proud, looking down on other races? Your submission to me now... Doesn’t it contradict the spirit of your race?” Jared asked.

“Ah...” Tennyson gave an awkward smile. “What celestials? It’s nothing more than self-deception. How is our bloodline any nobler than other races? Rather, it was the various rules of the celestials that hindered our progress.”

In order to enhance my strength, I secretly merged with the beast race's bloodline. I couldn't just limit myself to standing still! If it weren't for those ridiculous rules, my son, Octavion, would probably have been married by now. There would have been no need for him to end up in such a tragic state!"

Tennyson was reminded of Octavion, feeling deeply remorseful. All this trouble was stirred up by the celestials' rules.

"Right now, I'm not as strong as you. Are you sure you want to follow me?"

Jared looked toward Tennyson and questioned again.

Tennyson responded, "I am certain that you will eventually rule over the Ethereal Realm, Mr. Chance. After all, you are a prodigy, blessed with extraordinary talents and abilities that surpass the ordinary. You constantly strive for improvement, day in and day out-"

Upon hearing this, Jared immediately waved his hand to interrupt Tennyson. "All right. Enough with the flattery," he said, "Just admit you're scared of dying. But since you've chosen to follow me, you're now my underling. I can't just let you contribute all these resources without giving something in return. Let me give you a gift!"

"What is it?" Tennyson was full of anticipation.

He had no idea what kind of unique and precious gift Jared would present to him.

"Come with me..." Jared beckoned to Tennyson.

The latter was about to take a step forward, but he quickly retreated. He no longer dared to step into the territory of Allardland.

Jared laughed. "It's fine. There won't be any problems as long as you don't harbor ill intentions. You won't be attacked!"

Only then did Tennyson enter the territory of Allardland, subsequently following Jared into the imperial city.

Jared took Tennyson directly to where Octavion resided.

Now that Tennyson had become his subordinate, it was about time to let him and his son meet.

Octavion was in the midst of a dual cultivation with Lorelei in their room when Jared called out for him, interrupting them.

"Jared, why do you always have to be such a nuisance? When you were in your dual cultivation, I never once disturbed you!"

Octavion was extremely angry and stormed out, fully dressed.

Just as he stepped out of the room, he was startled to find that his father was unexpectedly there too.

Octavion was suddenly taken aback, while Tennyson was utterly astonished. However, his shock quickly turned into tears of overwhelming joy.

“Octavion, my son... I thought you were already dead...”

Tennyson suddenly embraced Octavion.

Octavion was somewhat resistant, his expression slightly frantic as he frowned, looking toward Jared.

He couldn't understand why Jared had brought his father along. Octavion wanted to break away from the celestials, to escape from the Tenth Hall, which was why he had thought of faking his own death.

After he had successfully deceived his father with much difficulty, Jared unexpectedly brought his father back into the picture.

“Octavion, your father realizes his mistakes. He won't ever stop you from cultivating with Lorelei again. Moreover, your father is now my underling,” Jared said to Octavion.

“What are you babbling about? Who's your underling?”

Octavion was somewhat displeased. How could Jared refer to his father as his underling?

“Octavion, you mustn't be disrespectful to Mr. Chance. I am indeed following Mr. Chance's lead now!”

Tennyson quickly reprimanded Octavion.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4783 – “Father, what on earth is going on?”

Octavion's face was etched with confusion. He couldn't comprehend how his father, who was Tennyson and a man of such high pride, had suddenly become a follower of Jared.

Smack!

Unexpectedly, Tennyson suddenly slapped himself.

“Ah, I was indeed overestimating my abilities, daring to oppose Mr. Chance. I'm grateful that Mr. Chance didn't abandon me. Now, I follow him. You should also show more respect to Mr. Chance in the future!” Tennyson declared.

Octavion was utterly bewildered. He couldn't comprehend what had happened to his father. Such a proud man, and now look at him.

If Octavion knew that not too long ago, his father was so scared that he lost control of his bodily functions, he would understand.

The current Tennyson truly regretted his actions. If he had taken things seriously from the start and not gone looking for trouble with Jared, none of this would have happened.

“It’s all Talcott from Demon Seal Alliance’s fault. If I ever run into him, I’ll make sure he pays...”

At this moment, the person that Tennyson detested the most was Talcott.

After all, the grudges between the Tenth Hall and Jared originated from the Demon Seal Alliance, and specifically, from Talcott’s very own actions.

Had it not been for Talcott’s relentless pursuit of Jared using some hundred-year offering, Jared would never have ended up in a life-or-death struggle with the Demon Seal Alliance.

So, what if a son was killed? Once he’s dead, he’s dead!

Cultivators at our level could live for thousands of years. There’s never a time when we can’t have more sons!

“Tell me about the Haverford family. Jared said to Tennyson.

Surprisingly, Quenric managed to invite a family expert, and he wasn’t even afraid of Tennyson. This clearly showed that the strength of the Haverford family must surpass that of Tennyson.

“Mr. Chance, I must admit that my knowledge of the Haverford family is somewhat limited. What I do know, however, is that they are a great family within the celestials. Many of their elders hold positions of service in Celestial Palace. Quenric was assigned to my Tenth Hall by the higher-ups, which is why this guy often disregards my authority as the overlord of Celestial Palace’s Tenth Hall,” Tennyson explained.

Jared slightly furrowed his brows. “The Haverford family is in the Ethereal Realm too?”

“In the Ethereal Realm, it’s merely a branch of the Haverford family. Despite being just a branch, its power is not to be underestimated! The key point is that the Haverford family is in control of the Land of Finale in the Ethereal Realm. Having control over this place is tantamount to having control of the Celestial Stairway...” Tennyson remarked.

“Land of Finale? I thought the Celestial Stairway could randomly appear anywhere?” Jared looked at Octavion in surprise.

Back then, this was exactly what Octavion said to him.

“The Celestial Stairway’s appearance is unpredictable, but eight out of ten times, it manifests in Land of Finale. Based on years of observation, it’s highly likely that the Celestial Stairway will appear in Land of Finale again this year. This place, known as the Land of Finale, was actually formed during the inception of the Ethereal Realm due to a distortion in time and space. Within this realm, it's free from the constraints of the Heaven and Earth Array, but naturally, it can't receive the nourishment of the universe either. Essentially, this piece of land existed outside the laws of nature!"

Tennyson proceeded to introduce Land of Finale to Jared.

"Is there really such a wonderful place?" Jared was taken aback. "Why didn't those celestial cultivators, who were trapped in the Ethereal Realm that day, go to the Land of Finale and then return to the celestial realm?"

Since there was no Heaven and Earth Array to suppress them, they could simply return to the celestial realm.

Upon hearing this, Tennyson immediately burst into laughter. "Mr. Chance," he said, "In this world, everything has its pros and cons. Although this Land of Finale is not bound by the Heaven and Earth Array, it equally lacks spiritual energy and various resources. Moreover, it's impossible for it to ascend to the celestial realm. Almost every world gives birth to one or more of these lands like the Land of Finale, their sizes merely differ. These places won't reveal themselves within the universe, and they certainly won't connect to other realms! The cultivators of the Ethereal Realm are able to ascend to the celestial realm because there is a pathway linking the two.

However, the Land of Finale is only connected to its own realm. It has no connections to any other realms! So, even without the constraints of the Heaven and Earth Array, the idea that those trapped cultivators from the celestial realm can return through the Land of Finale is simply a madman's dream. Moreover, how can one survive and cultivate in the Land of Finale, given its complete lack of resources?"

The words of Tennyson once again left Jared feeling immensely enlightened.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4784 – Intrigued, Jared asked, "In that case, how does the Haverford family survive in this place?"

"By utilizing the Celestial Stairway. Many members of the Haverford family will enter the Celestial Stairway, which contains an abundance of realm resources. Furthermore, there's a toll for cultivators who wish to enter the Land of Finale. If one wants to proceed further, they have to first pass through this land, and the Haverford family capitalized on this by charging for access, thereby collecting resources," said Tennyson.

"The Haverford family sure is crafty..." mused Jared gave a casual smile.

"Mr. Chance, if you plan on taking a shot at entering the Celestial Stairway, you must be wary of the Haverford family. You've killed Maison, and there's no way they'll just let that slide," Tennyson cautioned.

"I understand. If the Haverford family continues to provoke me, I won't mind eliminating them," Jared said with a light-hearted chuckle.

Upon hearing that, Tennyson also chuckled. Jared's backer, Mr. Sanders, alone can take down ten Haverford families, much less one.

"Jared, you should still be careful. Quenric issued that bounty from the Tenth Hall. If the Celestial Stairway really does appear in the Land of Finale, the Haverford family can easily target you with that bounty. When the stakes get raised, there will definitely be some cultivators on their way to the Celestial Stairway who will be tempted. And not everyone knows that you have a powerful backer, so they might try to take you down," Octavion cautioned Jared, urging him not to be too careless.

"I understand." Jared nodded. "You two should have a good talk. I won't interrupt. I need to cultivate, see if I can elevate my level before the appearance of the Celestial Stairway."

Jared had received a considerable number of item pouches from Tennyson, which were filled with a wealth of resources.

With so many resources, Jared believed advancing to the next minor cultivation level shouldn't be an issue.

Inside the Haverford residence at the Land of Finale, Quenric stood in the grand hall, receiving a serious scolding from the head of the Haverford family, Colby.

Quenric stood still, his face filled with terror.

"You good-for-nothing! Instead of properly cultivating in the Tenth Hall, why on earth did you call Maison out? How dare you come back after he's dead!" Colby was seething with anger.

"Old Mr. Haverford, it wasn't Mr. Quenric's fault. All of this was caused by that guy named Jared. He targeted Mr. Quenric and even destroyed the Tenth Hall, forcing Mr. Quenric to call for reinforcements." Rowan cautiously spoke out.

"Shut up! You deserve a smack too. Why did you go out with Maison without letting me know?" Colby glared at Rowan.

Rowan shuddered. "Old Mr. Haverford, Mr. Maison told us not to speak of it. Besides, we felt that none of the cultivators from the Ethereal Realm could harm us, but w-who knew..." Rowan stuttered.

He didn't know an Ultimate Realm cultivator could have a powerful backer.

"The Celestial Stairway is about to emerge, and various hidden forces are itching to make their move. Yet, you fools still dare to run around aimlessly. Don't you understand there will always be someone better than you?" Colby questioned.

“Father, we must avenge Maison. I refuse to believe that Jared will spend his entire life within King Bernard’s country.” Quenric was still intent on rallying others, seeking revenge for Maison.

“I want you to stay put. The Celestial Stairway is about to appear. You’re not allowed to run around aimlessly.” Colby then turned to Rowan. “Increase our manpower at the border. I’m sure many cultivators will arrive early in the Land of Finale during that period. Remember to charge them a bit more when the time comes. Of course, remember to size them up first. If they’re too powerful, concessions can be made to avoid conflicts.”

“I understand. I’ll go arrange it now.” Rowan nodded in agreement.

Quenric gritted his teeth and said, “Father, I won’t find peace until I’ve avenged Maison.”

“You’ve already issued a bounty for Jared, haven’t you? Since no one dared to make a move for a hundred thousand celestial crystals, raise it to two hundred thousand. Remember, money makes the world go round. The Celestial Stairway is about to appear, and we’re about to score big again.” Colby didn’t mind raising the bounty to two hundred thousand celestial crystals for the apprehension of Jared.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4785 – Back in Bernard’s country, Jared was deeply engrossed in his cultivation, with countless resources around him being consumed at a visibly rapid pace.

“Jared, come out! Where are you hiding?” While Jared was amid his cultivation, a wave of angry voices reached his ears.

“Catalina, didn’t you promise me you’d speak nicely? Please, don’t be mirobas upset...” Fraser followed behind Catalina, persistently trying to persuade her.

Upon returning to Twilight Imperial City, Fraser immediately spilled the beans about Jared sleeping with Yelena.

In a fit of frustration, Catalina sought Jared out.

Upon seeing the infuriated Catalina, followed closely by Fraser, Orion and the others all shared a subtle smile. They knew Jared’s good days were over.

Jared could have multiple women, but he also had to bear the burdens of having too many women.

At that moment, Yelena stepped forward. “Mr. Chance is in the midst of his cultivation. No one is allowed to create noise and disturb him.”

Upon seeing Yelena, Catalina was instantly enraged. “So it’s you who’s been trying to steal my man? Why can’t you find someone else? Why does it have to be Jared?”

“It wasn’t me who sought him out. It was he who sought me.” said Yelena.

If it weren't for Jared wanting Yelena to teach him Gentle Rain Formation, he wouldn't have needed to perform dual cultivation with Yelena.

"You're spouting nonsense. It must be you who seduced him. Let Jared come out and clarify this." Chance simply couldn't believe it, so she wanted to rush in and confront Jared.

"I've said it already that Mr. Chance is cultivating, and no one is allowed to disturb him." With a wave of her hand, Yelena cast an arcane array, blocking the passage to where Jared resided.

At that moment, Catalina was seething with anger. Seeing Yelena casting an arcane array, she didn't hesitate to attack Yelena.

Seeing the situation, Yelena didn't hesitate to engage Catalina in a fight.

While the two women were fighting, everyone else could only stand by and watch. No one dared to step forward.

Left with no other choice, Fraser could only stand by and try to talk them down. "Stop it!"

The two women were engaged in a back-and-forth, but Catalina's abilities were no match for Yelena, and she was quickly losing.

Had it not been for Yelena's mercy, Catalina would have likely been defeated much sooner.

However, since Catalina was the young lady of Twilight Imperial City and her brother, Fraser, was watching from the sidelines, Yelena didn't dare to lay a heavy hand on her.

Boom!

As the two women were fighting, suddenly, a booming sound erupted.

Suddenly, the sky turned pitch black as lightning tribulation clouds blanketed the country.

It was as though the end of the world had arrived.

Upon witnessing that scene, Bernard hurriedly said, "Mr. Chance is about to make a breakthrough!"

Upon seeing the situation, Yelena and Catalina immediately ceased their actions, staring blankly in astonishment.

They knew that it was Jared's most perilous moment, and they absolutely could not allow anything to distract him.

After all, the lightning tribulation was extremely dangerous.

Boom! Crackle!

Lightning flashed and thunder roared as bolts of lightning tribulation fiercely struck down.

After an indeterminate amount of time had passed, the sky began to clear up and the lightning tribulation clouds drifted away.

The door gradually swung open, and Jared slowly emerged.

At that point, Jared had already reached Ultimate Realm Level Three.

The advancement of a minor cultivation level had become somewhat insignificant to Jared.

That level of lightning tribulation couldn't possibly harm Jared anymore.

"Who was yelling so loudly when I was cultivating?" Jared's gaze swept over Catalina and Yelena.

Facing Jared, Catalina suddenly became coy, no longer daring to shout or yell.

"Mr. Chance, she wanted to see you. I was worried about interrupting your cultivation, so I stopped her," Yelena said.

"Don't you know it's taboo to disturb someone when they're cultivating? Are you trying to drive me to madness, killing me?" Jared questioned Catalina.

"I... I didn't... I'm not..." Catalina quickly shook her head.

Of course she didn't intend to harm Jared. She was just too upset.

"It seems I must punish you today." After speaking, Jared took Catalina's hand and intended to head inside the house.