

A Man Like None Other [On-Going]

4966

---

Jared gritted his teeth, a flicker of resolve flashing in his eyes. He pulled out the Demon Flogger, a weapon specifically designed to restrain Demonic Cultivators.

The Demon Flogger swirled in the air, creating a snapping sound. Wherever the whip's tip reached, the bodies of the devil beasts were torn apart, splattering blood everywhere.

However, the devil beast leader remained utterly unfazed. Once again, brandished his battle axe and charged toward Jared and Maceo.

The power of the Demon Flogger was significantly diminished due to the distinct differences between a demon and a Demonic Cultivator. With a firm resolve, Jared drew out the Divine Bow.

The Divine Bow was an ancient sacred item, possessing immense power. However, using it required the expenditure of a significant amount of marked aura.

Jared channeled his marked aura into the Divine Bow, and in no time, an arrow materialized, its shaft shimmering with dazzling brilliance.

"Drop dead!" Jared let out a roar of fury, releasing the bowstring.

The arrow flew like a streak of golden lightning, aimed directly at the devil beast leader.

The devil beast leader seemed to have perceived the threat of the arrow. In a hurry, swung his battle axe, attempting to deflect it. However, the power of the arrow was simply too immense. It pierced right through the battle axe, lodging itself into the shoulder of the devil beast leader.

The devil beast leader let out a painful roar, its body beginning to tremble violently. Dark blood ceaselessly gushed from its wounds. Yet, the devil beast leader didn't fall right away. Instead, it launched an even more frenzied attack on Jared and Maceo.

Jared knew the devil beast leader would go all out now that it was on the brink of death.

"Come out now!" Jared released the fire unicorn.

When the fire unicorn emerged, the surrounding temperature instantly spiked. It let out a Skyward roar and charged toward the devil beast leader.

The fire unicorn was engulfed in a roaring blaze, and wherever it went, the air itself seemed to ignite. It battled with the devil beast leader, where fire and dark forces continuously clashed, resulting in intense explosions.

Seizing the opportunity, Jared once again raised the Divine Bow. He notched an arrow and aimed straight at the heart of the devil beast leader “Die!” Exerting all his strength, Jared released the arrow.

The arrow, carrying a destructive force, was launched toward the devil beast leader.

The devil beast leader attempted to evade, but was tightly entwined by the fire unicorn, rendered utterly immobile. The arrow accurately pierced the devil beast leader’s heart, prompting a roar of rage that shook the heavens. Then, it collapsed dramatically.

With the death of the devil beast leader, the morale of the other devil beasts plummeted instantly. They all wanted to flee in disarray.

Jared and Maceo weren’t about to let them escape. Capitalizing on their victory, they pursued and eliminated all the remaining devil beasts.

“Jared, you’re truly impressive. I’m utterly astounded by your capabilities and the numerous people around you, not to mention the celestial beast you possess.”

Bewildered, Maceo looked at the unicorn beast, which was engulfed in flames, and exclaimed, “This celestial beast is a fire unicorn, right? Isn’t this a mount only those heavenly immortals have?”

“I honestly don’t know. My fire unicorn is still young. It needs time to gradually grow, and only then can it demonstrate its power.” Jared shook his head.

He wasn’t sure what level of immortal would have the fire unicorn as their mount.

Gazing at the seemingly endless celestial gem mine, Maceo turned to Jared and asked, “Jared, there are so many celestial gems here. Should I go back and call some people to mine them?”

“No need. The matter of this Treasure Land should only be known by you and me. Let’s not let anyone else know.”

Jared didn’t want others to find out about the celestial gem mine of Treasure Land.

Once they had taken away the celestial gem mine, others would still continue to covet the Treasure Land. At that time, Maceo could use this worthless Treasure Land to swindle resources from others.

“I got it...” Maceo nodded.

Jared gazed at the celestial gem mine, realizing that neither an item pouch nor a Storage Ring could help carry them away.

On the other hand, was far from reassured to leave the celestial gem mine there.