

An Understated Dominance By Marina Vittori

Chapter 1957

A moment later, the injuries of all members of the Black Scorpion team had been dealt with.

However, due to the broken arm, their combat effectiveness and mobility have been greatly reduced, and now it is difficult to even protect themselves.

"Captain Leo, these brothers under your command, do you want me to arrange for someone to send them back?"

Margaret glanced at the members of the Black Scorpion Team, and then quickly turned to Leo Alexander.

They had just entered the oasis not long ago, and it was still too late to exit. If they continued to go deeper, there would be no turning back.

"Captain! We're fine! It's just a broken arm, nothing serious!" "

That's right! No matter how dangerous things are, we have all experienced them, so what does this injury mean?"

"Captain! Trust us, we will definitely be able to complete the mission. !"

"..."

Seeing that they were about to be driven away, the members of the Black Scorpion Team began to speak out, saying that they were fine.

They knew very well that once they returned the same way, all the treasures obtained in the oasis would have nothing to do with them.

Although the reward for this mission is very high, it is evenly distributed to everyone and is not enough to support them in old age.

Especially when their arms are broken, they must find more treasures and accumulate more money in order to live the rest of their lives safely.

So now, they are never willing to leave like this.

"Ms. Margaret, these brothers of mine are all battle-hardened and experienced, and have long been prepared for death. This small injury will not affect anything. I can guarantee that they will never hold back!" Leo Alexander said with a serious face.

Of course he understood what the brothers meant.

Although this oasis is dangerous, it also contains many treasures.

As the saying goes, wealth is found in danger. If you finally get the opportunity to make a fortune, you can't miss it.

The brothers have been licking blood for so many years, and most of them have already thought of retiring.

As long as this mission is successfully completed, they will get enough money to spend their remaining years in peace.

We have all come this far, and no one is willing to give up.

"Well, they are all your people. You make the decision. If there is no problem, we will continue our journey."

Margaret did not say much, but ordered to continue moving forward.

Everyone has their own choice and she has no right to interfere.

Before leaving, Margaret asked his subordinates to use local materials and put up a sign with warnings on it.

A reminder to future generations, don't touch the blood ginseng fruit, otherwise your life will be in danger.

As for whether anyone believed it, she couldn't care less.

After experiencing a storm, the team set off again.

But this time, everyone became much more cautious than before.

No matter what you encounter, don't dare to touch it easily.

Just like that, after walking a few kilometers, it finally got dark.

The weather was very cold at night, and the cold wind came, biting and freezing, making people shiver.

In order to avoid accidents, Margaret could only order to camp on the spot and build fortifications to prevent wild beasts from invading.

Fortunately, there were a lot of people in the team, so they cleaned up the area in a short time and set up many animal traps.

On the outermost periphery, a groove was dug to store kerosene. In case of danger, the kerosene could be ignited immediately for defense and to drive away beasts of prey.

Although most of the team are elite warriors who are not afraid of ordinary beasts, this oasis is too strange and must be used with caution.

After setting up camp, most people hid in tents to keep warm.

There were only two patrol teams left, patrolling the camp to guard against any eventuality.

After night falls, the entire oasis becomes lively.

The chirping of insects, birds, roars of animals, shaking of the earth, and all kinds of strange movements all came out.

Compared to the quietness during the day, they are completely two extremes.

It was only then that everyone realized the horror of this oasis.

What they experienced during the day was just the tip of the iceberg of the oasis.

After nightfall, the true face of the oasis will be slowly revealed.

At this moment, inside a certain tent.

Dustin and Margaret sat opposite each other, warming themselves by the fire and drinking tea.

"We have entered the oasis. Do you feel anything with your eyes?" Margaret was the first to speak to break the silence.

She asked Dustin to take action, on the one hand because of safety issues, and on the other hand, because the other party had the Sky Eye.

The Sky Eyes can not only see through illusions and decipher formations, but can also be used to hunt for treasures.

As long as a they comes close to a certain distance, the sky eyeball will sense it.

"There is a weak sensation in the southeast and northwest directions, but it is not obvious, and it is not consistent with the Dragon Origin energy you described." Dustin took a sip of tea.

The induction is weak, there are only two possibilities, either it is too far away, or it is like a treasure.

Of course, things like Lapis Lazuli and Blood Ginseng Fruit are not even qualified to be sensed by Sky Eyes.

"It seems like we have to go deeper." Margaret nodded.

She did not expect to find traces of Dragon Origin energy in one day.

But judging from the current situation, the sooner the task is completed, the safer they will be.

"To be honest, I have a bad feeling that it may not be easy to find the dragon source energy this time." Dustin said calmly.

"If it were easy, I wouldn't ask you to take action."

Margaret said calmly: "The energy of Dragon is related to the fate of the country. No matter what difficulties we encounter, I must get it back."

“You are the boss, You have the final say.” Dustin shrugged.

After agreeing to the other party’s matter, he will naturally help her to the end.

”Woo~!”

While the two were chatting, a whistle that represented a danger signal suddenly heard.

Immediately afterwards, there was a roar of a beast.

”Roar!!”

There was a roar, and the whole camp was in a commotion.

Everyone picked up their weapons and rushed out of the tent, preparing to face unknown dangers.

”What’s going on?”

Margaret frowned slightly, and walked out with Dustin, and happened to meet the captain of the guard running quickly.

”Miss! An unknown monster is approaching. Please stay in the tent for a while!” the guard captain said.

”Monster?” Margaret raised an eyebrow: “Come on, take me to see it!”

”Miss, I’m afraid it’s dangerous!” The guard captain hesitated.

”Mr. Rhys is here, he can’t hurt me.”

Margaret didn’t say anything and went straight to the source of the sound.

She wanted to see what kind of monster dared to attack the camp at night?