

UNEXPECTED TEMPTATION: BILLIONAIRE LOVE STORIES CHAPTER 31

Blake Coster

“You bitch!” Alexis hugged Jean tightly. Her parents already went to the hotel and will check on Jean tomorrow. I always sat beside her and we talked about a lot of things.

I just love everything related to her. Her beautiful eyes, her beautiful smile, her attitude and just everything. I swear I never felt something like this. I might have sleep around with a lot of girls but none of them left me feeling like this.

Being with her for a few hours was never enough, I want to be with her 24/7. Call me whip, I don't care. I knew the feelings that I feel now is more than 'like'.

“You look like a love-sick puppy.” Ken said and I turned to him.

“Wait till it's your turn.” I said and Ken laughed.

“I'm going back to New York in a few hours.”

“Thanks man, for helping me.” I patted his shoulder and he chuckled.

“Owe me one.” He smirked and I nodded.

“Sure.”

“Wanna go get coffee?” Sebastian asked.

"I need to watch Jean."

"Jean, can we take this boy for a coffee?" Sebastian asked Jean, Jean turned to him and then to me.

"Take him, he needs to get out from here for awhile."

"You're kicking me out?" I asked her and she chuckled.

"Just go, you watched me all the time." Jean smiled and I shook my head.

"Go! I want to talk to her." Alexis said and I glared at her.

"Come on!" Sebastian pulled me and Ken out from the room. We both walked to the lift and almost everyone stared at us.

"I got a lot of stare wherever I'm with you guys." I said before going inside the lift.

"He's famous." Sebastian pointed at Ken. I rolled my eyes.

"7 Gold Lifes always took a lot of attention." I said.

"Thanks for reminding that but I see you get whipped." Sebastian smirked.

"Am I that obvious?"

"You looked at her like a love-sick puppy." Sebastian said in a really teasing tone.

"That's what I say earlier." Ken said.

"It's just different." I said as we walked out the lift. We walked towards starbucks across the street.

"You'll get bored."

"I don't think I will get bored. Talking for her for hours still not enough for me." I said truthfully and they laughed.

"Congrats man, besides you don't need to get married now since your dad gave you his full heritage." Ken said.

"I will get married." That came out from my mouth seriously and I know I want that.

"Seriously?"

"Yeah." I nodded.

"You're kidding right?" Sebastian asked again.

"Then explain what's with you and Alexis?" I asked and he laughed.

"Fling, dude. She's georgous as hell." He answered making me and Ken laughed.

We sat down and talked about business for awhile. Actually, I miss hanging out with these guys. We've been so busy so it's hard to meet these guys.

"Going somewhere these days?"

“Going to Swiss next week with Sky, want to join?” Ken asked and I shook my head.

“I need to take care of Jean, idiots.”

“Dude, are you serious? Like serious? You said this is all going to be fake and things like that.” Sebastian said.

“I can’t control it.”

“So you’re going to move to LA?” Ken asked.

“Still thinking about it.”

“Jean’s in New York though.”

“Can you guys stop teasing me like that? It’s not a crime.”

“It’s a forbidden thing for us.”

“We don’t stay with one girl kind of guy.” Ken smirked.

“One day you’ll understand and experience it by yourself.”

“No thanks.” After that, we talked for hours about a lot of things. It’s been awhile for me since I’m not a part of the 7 Gold Lives.

“Let’s go boy.”

“Where?” Sebastian asked.

“I can’t stay out long knowing Jean is in that condition.”

“Whipped.” Ken commented.

We said our goodbyes to Ken since he’s going back to New York. He has a lot of work waiting for him. I thanked him a lot since he and Sebastian sent their men here.

“Hey, babe. How are you feeling?” I asked as I walked into her hospital room. Alexis looked at me weirdly and I shrugged.

“Better. Thanks to Lexy.” She smiled to her bestfriend.

“Nice to hear that.” I said sarcastically and she laughed.

“Oh come on, don’t be a baby. I was teasing you.” Alexis chuckled.

“Can I have time alone now?” I asked Alexis and she glared at me.

“Let’s get them something to eat.” Sebastian said to Alexis and she turned to him shaking her head.

“Come on.” Sebastian walked to Alexis and took her hand. He pulled her out from the room.

“They have a thing, don’t they?” Jean asked and I sat on the chair beside her hospital bed.

“Yeah.” I nodded and held her hand.

"Can you just stay with me when we go back to New York?" I asked and she looked at me.

"I'll think about it." She smiled.

"Why?"

"Can you help me get up? Let's take a walk, I'm so bored." She asked and I knew she's changing the subject.

I helped her to get up by picking her up first. I put her down on her feet and I took her her IV stand with me. She linked her arm to me and we walked out from her room.

"So do you have a great time with Ken and Sebastian?"

"It's just been awhile since I talked to them."

"I can't thank them enough."

"Don't worry, they're my good friends." I kissed the side of her head.

"I like you.. a lot, Blake." She as she she leaned her head to my arms.

"Me too." I smiled as we walked out to the small garden.

"It's more than just like feelings,Blake. I fell in love with you." She said as she stood in front of me. She looked at me and I smiled. I hugged her gently and stroked her hair.

"I'm new to this but I know it was more than that too. I'm sorry if I can't say it straight away because everything was happening so fast. Will you wait for me?" I asked and I felt that she wrapped her arms around me.

"I know."

"Gosh, being with you for a few hours isn't enough."

"I'm yours now, you can have me all the time." She said and I can't help but smile.

"Of course, you're mine." She released the hug and looked at me.

"Can we go back to New York?"

"In 2 days okay?"

"Thankyou, Blake." She said.

"Your welcome, beautiful." She pulled my shirt and crashed her lips to mine. I cupped her face and kissed her back passionately.

I like this girl a lot and I won't let her get out from my sight again.