

UNEXPECTED TEMPTATION: BILLIONAIRE LOVE STORIES CHAPTER 81

Janet Stanmore

Smelling the hospital scent is not my favorite but since my dad is here, I have to breathe this air almost everyday to check up on him. I entered my dad's room and couldn't help but smile. I miss my dad, a lot actually. I hope he will wake up soon.

"Hey dad, how are you today?" I asked cheerfully and held his hand tightly.

"You know you have to wake up soon dad, I miss you so much.", I held my tears back and slowly caressed his hand.

"Mark misses you too you know.. until when will you sleep like this?" I mumbled.

Suddenly my phone vibrates and I quickly answered it without looking at the caller ID.

"Jenny, I want you to take a file from Aaron. I have an emergency meeting right now and after taking that file I need you to, send me Winston Cordel file to my email ASAP." He said clearly.

"Okay." I answered.

"Are you okay?" He asked but I heard a moan at the background. So disgusting, is he sleeping with someone while calling me?

"Fine, I'll send that right away sir.", I said.

"Good", I ended the call not bothering to reply anything to him. I talked with my dad for some moment and decided to go to work. I quickly got to the office and made my way to my office room.

After looking for Winston Cordel files and sending all these files to Sky's email, I checked the email I before quickly making my way down, and took a taxi towards Aaron Samuel's building.

Suddenly I got a call and it's from Sky again.

"Hello." I picked up.

"Are you stupid or what?? I wanted all the files but you only gave me 4 of it!" He bursted in a really angry tone, it's a really outburst that I've never heard before.

"That's the only file left in your secretary's computer." I said.

"I need 3 more, Janet! I don't fing care! You have to find it!" He bursted angrily before ending the call. I told the taxi driver to turn back to Locason's building, paid it off and quickly ran back to my office again.

I slowly started looking for it and tried to calm myself so I won't miss the file. I searched through all the folders but found none, I only got 4 instead of 7. I called Sky again and after a few beeps he answered.

"I already went through all the files but I still got 4 Sky , there's no 7 files I-"

"Find that fucking file, Janet! I need that right now!" This time his tone was worsor than before.

"I told you I already went thr-"

"Don't make shitty excuses b*, just find that fil-" I ended the call and turned off my phone. Tears suddenly fall from my eyes and I quickly wiped it. I decided to just grab the file from Aaron and go to my favorite place to calm down.

I took a taxi again and went to Aaron's office, I politely asked the receptionist an access to his office and she called Aaron's PA to confirm it. After that she gave me the card and I made my way upstairs.

As the lift doors opened, I walked out and saw the PA's table. I asked her where is his office and she lead the way. I knocked the door politely and got a permission from him to get inside.

"Good morning Mr. Samuel." I greeted him with a small smile.

"Morning , uhmm what-"

"Janet, Janet Stanmore." I said and he nodded.

"You came here to get the file right?" He asked.

"Yes sir."

"Here it is." He gave me a big brown envelope and I took it from his hand.

"Okay, Thanks", I said and he smiled. As I turned my body towards the door when suddenly it opens revealing the beautiful, Sophia Celastio. Her eyes widen and she smiles after seeing me.

"Hello, finally we meet again." She gave me a big hug and I hug her back awkwardly for a moment.

"Yeah." I smiled.

"So is Sky being nice?" She asked and I shook my head.

"He will never be nice." I answered and she hissed.

"That guy-"

"Baby aren't you going to give me a kiss first." Aaron said and Sophia gestured him to stop talking.

"He's an asshole sometimes but he's a great guy" , Sophia held my shoulder and said.

"He's more than an asshole." I said truthfully.

"Boys always like that." She whispered and I chuckled.

"As much I wanted to talk, I have another task to do. " I said and she nodded.

"Next time let's have a talk".

"Okay bye" I said.

"Just a reminder, Sky has a temper problem, although you already mentioned that in your blog. He has a terrible temper and it needs time to be controlled." She reminded me and I nodded.

"Thankyou Ms. Cel-"

"Call me Sophia and just call my boyfriend Aaron. No need to say Mr-"

"Sophia." Aaron warned and she smiled at him sweetly.

"Thanks Sophia and I'll see you next time." I said and walked out from Aaron's office. Aaron has settled down? What a nice news to hear.

Dropping the file I asked the receptionist to give it to Sky when he comes here. Now I don't want to deal with that bastard, I'm tired of him. I decided to clear my head, and maybe rest from work for a couple of days would do.

I took a taxi to the Riverside Park, where I can breath a fresh air and just write anything or walk on the riverside trail.

How can I get fired from Sky's office? I don't like him a bit and I hate to admit it I miss his kiss.

I know it sounds stupid but I love how his lips fit perfectly with mine. Beside his kiss, I hate all things about him.

I just despise him.
