

UNIVERSAL JOB CHANGE: I CHOSE JOBLESS INDIVIDUAL

Chapter 4

The auditorium outside the examination room was naturally not waiting there dryly.

The holographic screen projected into the air is ready to broadcast the copy performance of individual top students in real time.

It stands to reason that this distinction of being observed naturally falls on the students of Class 1 and Class 2.

It's just

The focus is no longer on the rocket class students.

The 'Yunchen' of the third key class, which is quite a maverick and unemployed person, has attracted the attention of all teachers and students.

"Humph.....

"Just let me see what kind of performance this scattered student can perform!".

Principal Fang in the audience looked quite angry, and even blamed Yunchen for not taking the college entrance examination seriously enough, and not taking Xuanlong Kingdom's educational obligations seriously at all.

This anger, even Jin Sheng, the head teacher of the third class, was implicated, and his eyes looked a little unfriendly.

Jin Sheng scolded in his heart, I am afraid that his performance will not be able to be maintained.

He was about to step forward to explain, but the principal was angry in his heart, so he naturally didn't dare to rush forward.

The

invigilator was transferred to Dongyun High School from the province, and although he was not related, he had no reason to refuse a principal.

In addition, he is also very curious about what kind of flowers can be played by an unemployed person!

Buzz!!

Soon

The surface of the holographic screen projected in mid-air suddenly fell like a drop of ink, and the entire surface of the screen was flooded with ripples and water lines.

In the blink of an eye, a real-time projection of a dungeon was immediately displayed on the screen.

The figure that looked nondescript and wore various professional equipment was captured by everyone at once.

Every teacher and student in the school looked at Yunchen who was preparing to equip himself.

At this moment, even the strict and meticulous head teacher of the rocket class was a little curious about how this scattered person wanted to play.

After all, he had also heard Jin Sheng mention Yunchen's name many times, and this outstanding student was not a person who gave up on himself.

"Rely on

"Holding a scepter, carrying a war spear and shield, wearing light armor, and two guns hanging from his waist, the most outrageous thing is that the fist gloves on his hands seem to be reserved for martial artists. "

"It's a hodgepodge, isn't it? "

"There's no way, everyone is coming from newcomers, and before changing jobs, even if you learn the primary skills of other professions, if you want to use them, you can only wear the corresponding weapons. "

"With this momentum, it seems that this guy has learned a lot of all professional skills. "

All professional primary skills, just the career path mastered by the Xuanlong Kingdom, there are at least more than 300 kinds of evidence.

And that's not even counting some general low-level skills.

No matter how you look at it, there are so many more skills than a single profession!

But the problem of shortcomings is also reflected at this moment.

"It's more but not fine, and the more you get to the back, the more it's useless.

It's that everyone can recognize the problem.

The advanced skills learned after the transfer are naturally much stronger than the primary skills, and the more you go to the back, the second and third transfers, this advantage is more and more reflected.

The most outrageous thing is that every time they are upgraded, the person who changes jobs naturally gets more natural attribute points and skill points than the unemployed people.

Advanced vocational skills can't be learned!

The basic attribute is going to be left behind again!

What if there are no jobs and scattered people master hundreds of low-level skills in all professions?!

Weak!

It's just too weak.

"But

".

"This guy is very handsome, and it's more than enough to be a star. "

Some junior sisters in the first and second years of high school paid attention to Yunchen's face.

The angular handsome face is full of perseverance, and with the tall and slender figure, even the most demanding people and even male compatriots are a little sour in their hearts.

"Come on, Yunchen!".

At this moment, there was a school girl cheering up.

And there are quite a few of them.

Ay..... This is a society that looks at faces!

Hearing that there were still people cheering for him, Principal Fang's face became more and more ugly, and he was about to turn around and scold, but in the next second, all the audience behind him erupted in surprise.

"So fast!".

"This guy is carrying so much equipment and running so fast!".

"Oh my God, don't you say I haven't forgotten, with so much equipment on his body, this guy's weight is already a bit outrageous, but he still runs so fast!".

"It seems that a newly transferred soldier can't run so fast at a high speed!".

Everyone immediately noticed the special thing about this jobless person.

Hear the words.

Principal Fang immediately stared at the screen.

I saw that the tall and sturdy figure was walking like flying, carrying heavy loads, and in a state of rapid speed, the rushing figure actually pulled out a burst of afterimages.

"Did this guy give all his attribute points before level 10 to his physique?".

There are teachers who try to solve the puzzle.

It's just

Soon was slapped in the face.

Because the attacking figure had already taken the initiative to raise the scepter, and in less than a second, the surging fireball was wrapped in a huge amount of magic and bombarded the oncoming goblin guards.

"This spell casting speed is so fast, and the magic power is also quite good, it should be that a lot of attribute points are given to the wisdom attribute!"

"No.....

"The power of this fireball technique is a little beyond imagination. "

Watching the fireball that smashed in the middle and completely dispersed the Goblin Guards, everyone was shocked.

"It's so clever

"Without the slightest deviation, the explosion range happened to cover the entire guard, and even if they didn't die, they were all seriously injured. "

In just a moment, all the teachers and students who were watching the joke turned serious.

"It's not like a coincidence.....

"This person can still release stably and accurately land under the attack of movement, he is simply a combat genius!".

"And the skill of fireball seems to have been filled with skill points by him, at least with the power of LV6, is he specialized in spells?".

This is the conclusion that everyone subconsciously comes to.

Because the fireball technique is so strong, this person seems to have specialized in the wisdom attribute, and the weapon in his hand is a scepter.

But the crowd was quickly slapped in the face.

"The blade is out, and there's a long sword hidden in the scepter."

"A sword in a staff!".

With

a bang, I saw Yunchen holding the sword in his hand and stepping on the wind, like a lightning speed, constantly rushing forward and killing.

In a matter of seconds, the 'Wind Slash', which was constantly slashing and taking effect, drew a beautiful lightning movement trajectory.

Behind him, however, were the corpses of fallen goblins.

Death is like the wind, always with me!

At this moment, many people's minds inexplicably thought of this game.
