

UNIVERSAL JOB CHANGE: I CHOSE JOBLESS INDIVIDUAL

Chapter 9

Many people think that summoners are the most brainless and simple profession.

Then, at least in the eyes of the students of Dongyun High School, the mechanic profession is definitely one of the most difficult and operational tests.

The release of 'traps' and 'dangerous devices' requires careful timing.

Although the goblin brain capacity is limited, it is clear that throwing a few mechanical devices in front of the opponent's eyes, the mechanical energy surging in it will inevitably follow the instinct and walk around.

So

The question is, how do you get enemy units to step on your clamps and trigger your trap device?

This is definitely a great test and a difficult problem.

At least many people who embark on the career path of mechanics may also focus too much on the path of arming themselves and wearing mechas.

After all, trap skills are too much for instant reactions and individual operations.

And Yunchen is different.

The mechanic-related skills he has mastered are basically full of this kind of trap-type ability.

In front of him, he even made this centurion boss eat full of damage.

After triggering the knock effect, Yunchen's raised scepter unleashed the fireball spell again.

Whoosh!!

The terrifying fireball flew away and slammed into the flying figure.

This one-handed bombardment not only had a combo effect, but also caused this bulky stupid big man to smash into the monster pile of Goblin Warriors.

With a bang, at least three fellow goblins were pressed to the ground by him and became a pool of bloody mud.

And Yunchen's serial combo is not over yet.

'Entanglement tentacles!'

Class 'Druid', with its pre-primary skills.

Woo-la!!

The earth swelled, and I saw that the roots of plants were extremely thick and thick through the ground.

The

centurion, who was burned by the fireworks, immediately resisted violently, but the extremely difficult green vines refused to let go of his limbs.

What

angered the centurion the most was that it couldn't even unleash its 'War Trample' skill due to falling to the ground.

Berserk is on a cooldown, and the blood is unable to reach the berserk state again.

And now it can only rely on its own unmatched physical strength.

It's just

A single blow of the 'Frost Bullet' has flown in and landed on its body.

This is naturally a pre-primer skill for the Mage.

It is also a favorite skill of every mage who likes to fly kites, dealing cold damage to enemies while reducing their attack speed and movement speed.

"Uh.....

".

At this moment, the centurion who was suffering from pain only felt that his limbs were becoming more and more sluggish under the influence of frost condensation.

Mired in the endless entanglement of plant roots and the slow speed of frost, the Centurion's troubles are not yet over.

After killing more than a dozen goblins, the Thunder Eagle who flew freely in the air immediately stared at the immobile boss with its cold eyes.

Zizizi!!~!

Under the orders of its master, it took the initiative to release the skill 'Falling Thunder', and the terrifying lightning turned into a blue lightning bolt and slammed down on the centurion's head.

On the other side, the water elemental spirit summon that can actively release the skill 'Water Arrow' also immediately sprayed water arrows, giving this boss a make-up blow.

Under the contact of water and electricity, the damage of the thunder was completely all over the body.

It also caused the centurion to stiffen and sway under the cry of pain.

The last of the end

Whoosh!!

Another fireball shot out, and the exhausted centurion was defenseless from his mortal wounds.

There was a loud bang, and its head was completely blasted apart by a surging fireball.

Goblin centurion, a level 14 guard boss, was killed without fighting back under the support of many of his subordinates.

Bang!!

With the sound of a sword being drawn, Yunchen had already drawn his sword out of its sheath.

The sword in the staff struck again, carrying the wind and the wind, and once again reaped the goblin miscellaneous soldiers with the sword.

At the same time, Yunchen's series of actions have once again sparked unprecedented discussion.

.....

.....

"This

".

"This goblin centurion boss is too miserable, he was teased to death, and it seems to have been pinched to death by the other party from beginning to end. "

"Damn, this delicate chain of control is terrifying. "

"Yes, after stepping on the trap from the restricted sight of the fireball technique, everything is broken, and one control skill after another is played, and it is simply not a way to live. "

"It's amazing, not to mention the summoner profession, even the most difficult trap setting skills for mechanics to master have been perfected by him. "

"I have to say that there are too many skills for unemployed people. "

In the audience, all the students watching the game felt that their minds were strongly impacted by the worldview.

They have also seen a lot of videos of professional lethality after two or three turns.

But in any case, the power of those high-level skills is far less shocking than the jobless scattered people who are observing in front of you.

It's obviously a bunch of elementary skills, basic, simple, and everyone who wants to learn can get the skill book from school.

But it is such an inconspicuous little skill, in his own hands, and in the hands of this Yunchen, it completely exerts a very different effect.

The timing of the summon is right, and the environment is even created in advance.

Even the placement of trap devices is more proficient than that of a seasoned mechanic.

There is nothing more imaginative and creative than This person can also trigger the enemy's Stiffness effect with the summon's Hydro skill.

"And Didn't you find a single detail?".

"That's the boss's most lethal range skill, 'War Trample', which can't be used with both feet through the earth. "

At this moment, it is rare for the invigilator, who has already watched and fascinated, to stand up and speak.

His words woke up all the students.

Even some of the teachers showed a look of sudden realization, obviously not expecting it before.

This kid It's so fine!

The details are in place!

If the average person can still say that it is a coincidence, the blind cat meets the dead mouse.

But after witnessing this all-round combat talent and omnipotent unemployed person, who would have thought that it was a coincidence?

!

"Awesome!".

"Congratulations to Dongyun University for producing such a unicorn!".

.....

.....