

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 441

"Come at you, right? No problem. Just don't beg for mercy later."

Liam was the "King of Demons" who even The Great Eight of Beach City shied away from. He was the best at dealing with such pretentious sluts like Briar.

Cracking his knuckles, he sneered and said, "It's been a long time since I boxed, and my hands can't wait. In the past, when I boxed, one of my favorite things was using a bad women's face as a sandbag. It was so much fun to give them each a punch and bruise their face. Now that you are the one who asked for it yourself, nobody would have more pleasure than me to do the honors..."

"D-Don't come near me. I am a member of the Hunt family. If you dare to hurt me, the Hunt family will not let you go easily!" Briar had long heard of Liam's "terrifying" deeds.

This young man was fearless on account of being favored in the Osborne family, and his means were particularly ruthless, so much so that anyone who had seen it would stay as far as possible away from him. Literally no one had the stomach to provoke him.

She did not expect that this philanderer would be so supportive of Renee. It had been years since the rumor about them surfaced, but they were still together!

Had she known it earlier, she wouldn't have acted tough and defended Francine.

If she overdid it, it would a great loss for her if he really punched her face like a sandbag!

"Didn't I say it clearly enough? I don't care if you are a Hunt or whoever. Anyone who dares to disrespect my boss must be punished!"

As soon as he said that, he smashed the table so hard that his fist went through the table, forming a big hole. "Ah! Help me, Miss Francine!" Briar screamed and hid behind Francine like a tortoise shrinking its head.

"Miss Milford, are you joining her to be a sandbag as well?" Liam clenched his fists and asked with a fake smile. He did this for no other purpose but to scare them away so as not to affect Renee's mood.

If Renee knew that Stefan was dead, it would surely affect her treatment. He did not want to take the risk.

Being a veritable noblewoman of the city, Francine was way more audacious than Briar and had overcome many obstacles. Why would she be threatened by a little kid like Liam?

She tilted her chin up and said arrogantly, "You are just Renee's dog. How dare you bark in front of me?"

He raised his eyebrows slightly. "You are indeed a noblewoman of the Beach City-Look at you, the mother of Stefan Hunt. How brave!"

She snorted. "I still had doubts before I came, but it now seems a hundred percent that you two set my husband up!" "What made you say so?" he asked.

"Azure Group, the company you established, grew rapidly in these two years. It has caused the both of you to get ahead of yourselves by competing with H Group. I guess you must have known that Stefan will be signing a strategic alliance agreement with KCL on the supply of G6 chips at the end of this month. Once the contract is signed, H Group will be the strongest in the field of electronic science and technology, and small companies like yours will only go bankrupt..."

Francine analyzed the situation logically and said, "Therefore, you deliberately harmed him to stop him from getting the contract with KCL. You are simply despicable; vicious to the core!"

Renee felt helpless after hearing this and retorted, "Are we that reckless to you. Miss Milford? If you were really worried about the collaboration between H Group and KCL, shouldn't we think of a way to sign a contract with KCL instead of using such a stupid trick to cause trouble for Azure Group?"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 442

'You are biting off more than you can chew!'

Francine interrupted icily, "You should know the status of KCL in the field of electronic science and technology. They've only collaborated with H Group all these years. How can a fledgling company like yours work with them just because you want to?"

'That's right!'

Briar, who was hiding behind Francine, also raised her voice. "With the scale of Azure Group, you are not even worthy of holding a candle to KCL; what more work with them. I think this is exactly why you used such an insidious method to harm Stefan. You were hoping that H Group and KCL would not be able to collaborate..."

Liam nearly burst out laughing when he heard this. "I can't agree with you. I admit that KCL is strong, but they are not that unattainable. Strictly speaking, I have a good relationship with the boss of KCL!"

Briar snorted disdainfully, "You must be bragging. Even Stefan did not have much contact with the boss of KCL, much less a person of your stature. How could you possibly have a good relationship with him?"

"I'm not bragging. I am indeed close to him. Renee can testify for me... Right, Boss?" When he said that to Renee, he raised his eyebrows meaningfully.

'Stop it,' Renee said calmly. 'Get someone to find Stefan now. Where the heck is he? I'm also worried sick about him.' "Stop pretending. I have never seen someone who can talk nonsense so confidently like you!"

Briar got very emotional and urged Francine. "Miss Francine, I think we should stop this empty talk with them and call the police. Let them question these two so we don't have to waste time here and delay the search for Stefan!"

Francine nodded. "You are right. We can't settle this with them anyway. It's better to let the police handle it."

"No, you can't call the police!" Liam shouted firmly. "If anyone dares to call the police, I shall not show mercy!"

His reaction only further convinced Francine and Briar that there was something strange going on in his mind. Even Renee felt that something fishy had to be going on.

Briar said, "Just listen to him. Look at his arrogance. He does not even want to pretend anymore! Wait no more, Miss Francine. Hurry up and call the police. I don't believe that his family can be more powerful than the law. IV

Renee said, "Since that is the case, ask the police to come. I believe the law is fair and will prove our innocence... If you won't make the call, I will do it myself."

She fished for her mobile to call the police.

Seeing this, Liam walked forward and snatched away her mobile. "Listen to me, Boss. Don't. The fewer people who know about this, the better. And I believe the Hunt family wouldn't want too many people to know either."

Renee was sure that Liam was hiding something from her.

She frowned and asked solemnly, "If you really respect and trust me, you should just tell me. What exactly are you hiding from me, Liam?"

"I..." He hesitated, as he knew that she would not be able to bear it if he told her about it.

And if Francine still did not learn about Stefan's death, she would go crazy right on the spot when he said it. Things would become even more complicated then.

'Come on, say it. Not to mention that they will suspect you; your behavior implies that we really killed Stefan!'

Renee hated the most to be a scapegoat, but Liam's reactions were turning her into one. It was driving her nuts. "Okay. If you insist, then I will tell you. But you must prepare yourself.

Stefan's condition is very serious, more serious than amputation. He has..."

Just as Liam took a deep breath and was about to tell Renee everything, Francine's phone rang. 'What did you say? Stefan...'

She looked tense and was frowning while listening to the person on the other end of the line. After a long time, she hung up the call gloomily.

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 443

'What is it, Miss Francine? Is there any news of Stefan?'

asked Briar anxiously. "Yes." Francine nodded without the slightest joy on her face.

"That's great. How's Stefan now? Where is he? Did he say that it was them who did it to him?" asked Briar eagerly.

She guessed that something unpleasant must have happened between Renee and Stefan. Liam's reaction wouldn't have been so defensive otherwise.

Now that Stefan was found, she certainly wasn't about to let them escape!

After a long silence, Francine said with a complicated expression, "Stefan is ... quite well. We have misjudged Miss Everheart and Mr. Osborne."

"What?" Briar and Liam shouted simultaneously in surprise.

"It's good that he's okay." Renee was relieved to hear the news.

Liam would've concealed something to not make her worry, but a calculating person like Francine would've pounced on her long ago if something bad happened to Stefan. As Francine had no reason to hide from her, she had reason to believe that Stefan should be fine and that she didn't need to be so worried.

"Stefan is alright. He told me to tell you to recuperate so you can be discharged from the hospital soon..."

Francine stared at Renee. She was obviously saying some caring words, but her extremely cold gaze made her seem as if she wanted to flay Renee alive.

"This is impossible. Miss Francine, you heard what the nurse said just now, that Stefan's condition is very serious. How come he's suddenly fine and even emphasized that it has nothing to do with them?"

Briar, eager to stir up trouble, refused to let go of such an opportunity to slander Renee and continued to fan the flames. "Who's the call from? Have you been cheated? I think we'd better call the police first!"

Francine glared at her coldly. "Do you really hope that something bad has happened to my son?" "1-1 don't mean that, Miss Francine.

You've misunderstood me. I'm just worried that..."

"Enough. I know when we should or should not call the police!"

Francine stopped Briar impatiently and, with a grave tone, said, "I will find out who exactly the culprit who harmed my son is. But, I, Francine Milford, will never slander an innocent person, nor will I let a guilty one go free!"

Finally, Francine and Briar left the ward.

Renee stared into the void for a long time at the direction they left.

Although Francine had said that Stefan was alright, she had a feeling that things were not as simple as they looked...

"Liam, you said that Stefan's condition is more serious than amputation. What exactly is that?" Renee pushed Liam for an answer.

"Didn't you hear what Francine said? He's quite alright. Stop thinking too much. We should think properly about the next step since this incident has disrupted our plan for Azure Group."

Liam was also confused about what was going on with Stefan right now, but he was more concerned about Azure Group's plans being disrupted. If the company failed this time, then all the hard work and time Renee had put in would simply evaporate

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 444

Renee's expression was very calm, and she said with confidence, "We will just do what we should. Azure Group was not affected by H Group in the past, and so will it be in the future. H Group has been prosperous for so long, but it is time to change that.

We'll let them taste how it is to be under the thumb of someone."

Liam's confidence was boosted instantly. He looked at Renee with starry eyes as if gazing at his only God. He admired her so much that he could practically kneel down in front of her.

"Don't worry, Boss. I have already set up the press conference site.

Whether it is the media or our peers, they won't be attending this press conference just for fun. We shall let the whole nation watch how the magnificent H Group falls from grace!"

The man was very excited. He and Renee had waited too long and put in too much effort for this day, so only success was allowed, not failure.

He could not deny that the incident of Stefan happened just in time.

Supposing H Group was in a mess now without its leader, it wouldn't be too much of a problem for Azure Group to take its position to become the giant of the industry.

However, Liam was unsure if Renee would stand firm if she knew that Stefan was no longer alive.

"Boss, Stefan has gone all out to save you this time. Will you... pity him?" Liam could not help but test the waters.

Renee laughed coldly. "You are not saying this right. I have done so much and planned so long just to earn enough for my kids. It is not that I want to wipe out everyone. What does it have to do with pitying him?"

"Um..."

Liam, at a momentary loss for words, could only tease her. "Boss, don't you think what you are earning for your kids is a bit excessive? If everything goes smoothly, I think the money you earn will be more than enough for the entire Everheart family, even for another ten generations!"

'Let's hope so."

Renee raised her eyebrows and was lost in thought. She inexplicably felt uneasy though everything was going smoothly, as if something was going to happen... How troubling!

In Sun Island in Southeast Aeos,

Abby sneaked into Adie's little laboratory when Margaret was not looking.

However, she found herself alone in the laboratory. Adie was nowhere to be seen.

So, she carefully launched her smartwatch and made a video call to her older brother, Adie, after properly locking the door of the laboratory.

"Brother, are you in Beach City already? Mommy and Margaret have been mentioning you every day. If you don't come back soon, we will be exposed. I'm afraid Mommy will be angry!"

The moment the call was connected, Abby's chubby face instantly went up to the camera as she talked in a childish voice with the volume purposely turned down.

"Sister, I am already in Beach City. I'm getting ready to go to bad daddy's company. I think it will take only three days to get the thing Mommy always wanted and defeat that bad daddy. You still need to cover up for me. It will not be so hard for Mommy when things are successful!"

On the other end of the line, Adie, like a little adult, was wearing a plaid suit and sunglasses and carrying a small briefcase when he told Abby seriously, "But Mommy is too clever. She will find out if you don't have a long video call with her. Besides... Mommy seemed to be bullied by a bad guy and hurt her leg. What should I do when she finds out that you left Sun Island? Won't she get worried?"

"What did you say? Mommy is hurt?"

Adie frowned immediately and propped his chin, and pondered. He looked just like a mini version of a domineering president when he said in a childish voice, "Who is that uppity man who dared to hurt my Mommy! I will not spare him once I find him!"

'You are awesome, Brother!

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 445

Abby clapped in excitement.

As Adie's biggest fan, Abby regarded him as an all-powerful superhero. In her heart, her brother was the most powerful person in this world.

As for the second, it was no doubt her beautiful and gentle mommy!

As for the third... she thought that it should be her bad daddy who hurt her mother. Only he had the ability to make her strong and brave mother shed tears.

"Brother, I think the bad guy who hurt Mommy could be our bad daddy. After all, Mommy is so powerful. Who apart from him can bully her?"

She blinked her big, round eyes and guessed suddenly. "Well, it is possible."

Adie nodded. Though he was a four-year-old child, his handsome small face already revealed its potential to charm.

"I will soon be able to meet bad daddy, and I will naturally know if he is the one who harmed Mommy. If he really did it, I will not forgive him!"

"But Brother, Mommy said that he is very powerful. Can you beat him alone?" "Of course, I can."

Adie patted his small briefcase and said confidently, "I have very powerful weapons here. With them, no one can be my opponent."

"Good luck, Brother. I will wait for your good news. Don't worry. I will cover up for you!" Abby was very confident in Adie when she saw that briefcase.

And the two little ones finally ended their conversation.

At the moment, Adie was standing in front of H Group's tower.

Using a loophole in the airline system, he managed to leave Sun Island and landed safely at Beach City a few days ago. He planned to use the same method to infiltrate H Group and directly intrude into the system of the president's office.

"Mommy once said that bad daddy is the president of H Group, and there are confidential documents crucial to the survival of H Group in his office. As long as I get them, I am sure bad daddy will not disobey me."

Adie pushed the sunglasses on his nose and opened his briefcase. He took out a brick-sized computer and started hitting the keyboards.

He perfectly inherited Stefan and Renee's high intelligence, and in particular, Renee's talent for hacking.

Since birth, he'd been very interested in all manner of electronic gadgets. Under the influence of his mother, he naturally became a great hacker.

He was now typing on his computer right in front of the office of H Group because he could only crack the passwords of the departments when he was connected to its public network.

As long as he succeeded, he would be able to get around the entire H Group unhindered.

Tap, tap, tap. With Adie's lightning-fast tapping, the virus he created infected H Group's access control system step by step, and the progress bar soon hit eighty percent.

Right then, a security guard ran over and drove him away.

"Hey, where did this kid come from? What are you doing here? Where are your parents? Go away!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 446

At the sight of the man, Adie put his small computer into his briefcase nonchalantly. He then took off his sunglasses, revealing his round, shiny, tiger-like eyes, and said sweetly, "Hello, mister. Nice to meet you!"

"Oh, what a little good guy!"

The previously ferocious security guard's heart melted instantly the moment he had a good look at the face of the small handsome man. He smiled calmly and said, "What's your name, little guy? What are you doing here? Where are your parents?"

Little Adie was well aware that his cute and harmless face was his biggest weapon. No ordinary man would be able to resist once he saw his face.

Therefore, he deliberately blinked his eyes and put on a pitiful look, and started manipulating the man.

"Mister, I am waiting for my dad to get off work here. I feel so bored, but I can only play a game here. Aren't I look pathetic?"

"That's too much!" The security guard felt very sorry for Aide when he saw him frowning and said angrily, "Who is your father? He is too irresponsible. How could he leave such a small kid alone outside? What if you encounter a bad hat and get kidnapped?"

"I have no choice. Daddy is too busy. If only someone could take me to him If

When the little guy said that, he lowered his head sadly and touched the tips of his forefingers.

"Anyway, I better not trouble other people. H Group is so big and has many impressive people inside. How can a small kid like me get in? If I really encounter a bad guy, I will just run faster. Go ahead with your work, mister.

Don't worry about me." "Um..."

The security guard hesitated at first, for H Group was known for its strict security, and they never arbitrarily allowed anyone in, let alone a child. But when he saw this little one being so thoughtful and so pitiful, he suddenly grabbed the kid's small hand and said on impulse, "You are so adorable. I can't let you stay outside alone. How about this? I will bring you to the lounge first, and you wait there until your father gets off work, okay?"

"That would be wonderful. You are so kind, mister. I will ask my daddy to give you a raise when I get the chance," Little Adie promised very seriously.

He was not saying this for fun. Mommy had taught him that one shouldn't be ungrateful and that kindness had to be repaid.

The security guard was amused. He rubbed Adie's soft hair and said, "You are quite generous to make your daddy give me a raise, little guy. Who is your daddy? The security chief? Or... Mr. Hunt?"

His joke was nothing serious, but the security guard suddenly realized something and widened his eyes. As if studying an alien creature, he stared fixedly at Adie, and a bold idea emerged in his mind.

"You don't say. I think that you look rather familiar. I think have seen you somewhere... Come to think of it. You do look a little too much like Mr.

Hunt. You are a carbon copy of Mr. Hunt, just a smaller version. Your daddy can't be our Mr. Hunt, right?"

It was common that the wealthy had illegitimate children these days, especially an outstanding like Stefan. He would be owing his good genes an explanation if he did not have a lot of children!

Had he hit the jackpot and met the prince?

Adie did not want to expose his identity yet, so he shook his head with a confused look. "Who is this Mr. Hunt? I don't know him. My daddy is just an employee."

"Right." The security guard calmly down. "If you are Mr. Hunt's son, how could he be willing to let you wait alone outside? He would have sent someone to take care of you properly... Anyway, it doesn't matter. No matter whose child you are, you are so adorable and well-behaved. I like you very much. Let's go. I will bring you to the lounge!" So, under the escort of the security guard, Adie entered the H Group headquarters unhindered.

At the same time, the intrusion program he wrote had completely gained access control of each department of H Group. In other words, he could enter and exit every corner of H Group as he wished.

'Little guy, you sit here first. I'll get you some snacks.

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 447

After sending Adie to the lounge, the security guard zealously went to get snacks for him. However, when he returned to the lounge with a plate of cake and fruit, no one was there!

Adie successfully evaded all the cameras with perfection and got to the top floor of H Group. The top floor exclusively belonged to Stefan. It was where the president's office was.

The floor was so spacious and cold that it was close to empty, save for his secretary and the executives.

Because there was no news of Stefan these days, his secretary and the executives were so swamped with handling important business that they rarely went to that floor.

Adie soon made his way to the door of the president's office. He entered the cracked code and unlocked the door easily. "Hah! It's just as Mommy said. The security system of H Group sucks.

That wasn't even a challenge!"

The little guy shook his head in disappointment. Clenching his teeth, he pushed the door with all his might and strutted in.

Stefan's office was as luxurious as offices could get. Adie seemed like a microscopic creature amid the massive office space. 'I can't believe that bad daddy is not here. Great, I can help Mommy to get the document she wants."

Adie was a true-blue action-oriented person. He climbed into the office chair without waiting and carefully went through Stefan's documents on the desk.

As the president of H Group, Stefan enjoyed a privileged status. His office was naturally guarded to the teeth, and no one could enter without his permission. There were too many crucial documents stored in his office, and if anyone with ulterior motives were to get their hands on them, the consequences would be unthinkable.

Adie turned the place upside down but found nothing special. When he was about to give up, an envelope labeled 'confidential' drew his attention.

'Could this be the important document Mommy has been trying to get?" Adie frowned and opened it to examine its contents.

At that moment, Briar, who had been trying to find Stefan pushed open the door and ran in happily when seeing the door ajar.

"You finally showed up, Stefan. Where the heck have you been..."

She stopped talking as soon as she saw the tiny figure in front of the desk. Her expressions were complicated, and she was extremely surprised.

'You, you are..."

She had seen Stefan's picture as a child, and this child in front of her was almost identical to him. This led her to draw the conclusion that this had to be Stefan's child.

She learned from William before that Renee had two children. The boy was Adie, and the girl was Abby, so... 'You are Adie, right?" Suppressing her astonishment,

Briar immediately posed the question

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 448

Adie put down the envelope and looked at Briar calmly. "Who are you? Why are you here at Stefan's office?" His questions only invoked Briar's guilt.

"I..."

Now, she was almost sure that this boy was Stefan's son. Not only did he look exactly like the childhood Stefan, but he carried the same strong and confident aura his father had!

"Adie, I am your Mommy's good friend. You can call me Aunt Desrosiers." Briar was all smiles as she approached Adie gradually.

She could only be sure that this kid was Stefan's. As for his mother, she was still unsure if it was Renee.

Stefan was so outstanding. There were countless women who wished to bear his children. It might not be Renee, after all. "You are Mommy's good friend?"

Adie's chubby but handsome face showed a confused expression.

He had only heard his Mommy mention a good friend called Aunt Leia and had never heard of her having any friends surnamed Desrosiers.

However, he heard that Aunt Leia often cursed a woman called Briar, saying that it was she who bewitched bad daddy and separated him from Mommy.

Could she be Briar?

"Yes. Your Mommy is Renee, and you are Adie, right? You know, your Mommy and I have been very close. I even told your Mommy that I want to be your godmother!"

Briar thought that a four-year-old kid would be very easy to coax, so she lied enthusiastically, hoping she could gain Adie's trust.

Adie's grape-like black eyes twinkled, and he immediately took the chance to probe her. "Wow, are you really Mommy's best friend called Briar Desrosiers?"

Briar's face stiffened. She suddenly felt a bit overwhelmed. "You-your Mommy mentioned me before?"

"Uh-huh. Mommy said that Aunt Desrosiers is very beautiful and kind, even more so than her. Now that I have seen you, you are really as she said.

Aunt Desrosiers, you are beautiful and kind!"

Adie suddenly jumped out of the office chair and opened his arms as he rushed into Briar's embrace. Then, he muttered coquettishly, "Aunt Desrosiers, I really, really like you. Apart from Mommy, you are the prettiest and kindest woman..."

"Um..."

Adie's action stupefied Briar. She literally froze on the spot and even stopped breathing.

'What's happening here? The son of the woman I hated the most is actually hugging me and saying he likes me a lot?'

The actual fact, however, was that she and Renee had always been at odds and hated each other to the guts. She refused to believe that Renee would say anything good in front of this little kid.

Then... what exactly went wrong?

"Are... are you sure that your Mommy said I am kind and gorgeous?" Briar looked at the fluffy head of this little guy and asked curiously.

Still hugging Briar, Adie tilted his head up and gazed cutely at the woman with bright shiny eyes uncannily similar to Stefan's.

"Yeah. Mommy even said I must hug you and not let you go if I meet you. She said you are very kind and will take good care of me."

Briar was speechless.

She looked at Adie's eyes, a complicated feeling clouding her heart.

On the one hand, she hated Renee so much to the extent of killing her, which meant she should naturally hate her kid.

On the other hand, this boy was simply too adorable. She was a woman who nearly became a mother. It was especially when she saw his eyes that her heart, which had long turned rock-hard, softened

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 449

"Aunt Desrosiers, don't you like me?"

Little Adie blinked his eyes like how his sister, Abby, always did. He tried hard to act cute with the same intention as Briar, to gain her trust, as he knew that it was her who worked with bad daddy to bully Mommy.

Therefore, he needed to find a way to teach this woman a lesson! "I..."

Briar couldn't bring herself to even say that she hated this little kid the moment she looked at his adorable face. "Aunt Desrosiers, can you pat and hug me? You are just like my Mommy. I like you very much!"

Adie beamed and held Briar's hand.

Briar was instantly defeated. She failed to restrain herself and cupped Adie's fair and soft cheeks, and said, "How can I not like you? You are so cute! Don't worry. I will take good care of you. Why don't I take you somewhere to play later?"

"Sure. You are the best!"

Adie continued to hug Briar tightly while plotting a small plan in his mind.

She indulged in the feel of Adie's soft cotton-ball-like cheek, unwilling to let go.

She sighed inwardly. If her baby developed normally and was born at full term, he should already be as big as this kid. She wondered if her child would be as cute as him and if his cheeks would be as soft as his. If only Aide were her child...

Soon, she shook her head and came to her senses.

This brat was Renee's child. So what if he was cute? He was just a bastard. This was such a good chance, and she couldn't afford to waste it!

Briar took a deep breath, suppressing her liking for Adie, and asked, "Adie, did you come to Beach City with your Mommy? Who brought you to this office? Are you planning to see your daddy?"

"Yes. I have never seen my daddy. I have a lot to say to him. Do you know where he is?" Adie answered with pretended innocence.

"Your Daddy happens to be my best friend. He won't be not coming here for a while, and you might not be able to see him..." "Then do you know where he is?"

"Of course. I am your daddy's best friend!"

"That's fantastic. Can you bring me to Daddy, Aunt Desrosiers?" Adie knew that Briar must be thinking of kidnapping him, so he played along and begged her.

"Sure. Get your stuff, and I will bring you to him right away." Briar's smile slowly turned cold.

A child was indeed a child. With just a few words, he was already fooled.

Honestly speaking, this little one was indeed very cuddly and adorable. He was the kind of child she dreamed of having. Unfortunately, he was born into the wrong family and became the son of her nemesis, Renee Everheart.

Not only that his fate was bad, but also his luck. He had just returned to Beach City but was already in her hand before meeting his father...

Now, his life and death would depend on his luck. She had a vicious plan in her mind.

She held Adie and left H Group unnoticed, avoiding all the surveillance cameras..

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 450

A week later, Renee recovered well from her leg injury. She was now able to get her cast removed and was discharged from the hospital.

Liam, Leia, and William came to pick her up.

"Today is such a good day. Our Boss can finally remove her cast and come back to life with full blood in her veins. We must celebrate this!"

Liam was apparently excited, and even thoughtfully prepared a wheelchair for Renee.

"Of course! I have booked a restaurant and prepared a surprise for Ren. I think that she will like it!" Leia said in suspense, smiling like a flower in full bloom.

They drove to the restaurant Leia had booked in advance.

The feast on the table made Renee drool. She couldn't wait to dig in.

Take your time, Boss. Don't choke yourself."

Liam patiently diced the steak for Renee and put them onto her plate quietly as if he was taking care of a child. He did everything so meticulously.

He could not help it, as he cared too much for her. He would not allow her to be hurt even a bit, so he has to take care of even the smallest things.

Renee was a little overwhelmed and said helplessly, "Liam, I just hurt my leg. I am not crippled. Don't treat me like a disabled who can't take care of herself."

She had been eating and drinking too lightly in the hospital that she felt that she almost became a nun. Today was a rare opportunity to eat as much as she wanted, yet here she was, closely monitored by a man. This was so frustrating!

"I want to eat fast. I want to eat a lot. I would rather die choking than to starve to death!" Renee threw a childish tantrum and argued with Liam.

But to her embarrassment, she choked and started coughing fiercely, as Liam had predicted.

"Cough! Cough! Cough!"

"Sigh. Look at you now. Drink some water!"

Liam was so anxious and quickly gave her some warm water and patted her back gently, his actions gentler than coaxing a kitten.

"Tsk ts. Brother, can you be any mushier? Why don't you just treat Ren like a baby?" Leia had goosebumps all over her body as she was watching from the side.

One thing always conquered another. The previously philandering man who would make women die for him transformed into the most affectionate lover as soon as he met Renee. He had stooped so low to the point of losing his dignity!

William also sighed helplessly. "I always thought that it was difficult for an older woman to tolerate and care for her younger partner, and such a couple wouldn't last long. Now it seems that I've been too narrow-minded. Mr. Osborne is really a role model for us men. I shall learn more from you and spoil Leia like a baby like this!"

Leia flushed immediately and leaned toward William's shoulders. "Hmph, you are such a sweet talker. How annoying!" she flirtatiously cooed.

Renee got her breath back after taking a big gulp of the water and teased them. "Don't you feel embarrassed for commenting on us? It is you who are the cheesy ones... Especially you, Leia. This is the first time I'm finding out how mushy you can be when you're dating. You are so mushy that you seem to be possessed. It makes me sick!"

"You don't understand this, Ren. All women will become like this when they find their true love. Speaking of this, I always think that you and my brother are too respectful to each other. You don't look like you're about to get married. You should act like me sometimes and flirt with my brother!"

Leia always felt that Renee chose to be with Liam not because of love but simply out of familiarity and gratitude. Such a relationship would, over time, become a double-edged sword that would cut both parties at the same time. "I..."

Renee bit her lips, feeling awkward and powerless.

How could she not know that it wasn't love between her and Liam?

It was just that she firmly believed that if she tried hard enough, the other feelings they experienced would slowly turn into love.

"Ren, why don't you do what I did and flirt with my brother? If you guys keep respecting each other like this, and your hearts are separated by a hundred thousand miles, when will you really walk into each other's hearts?"