Chapter 30

Unwanted Mate Of The Lycan Kings By Jessicahall

"Correct. Once the rules are written, they can not be changed, so choose wisely, Regan." King Regan looks at his father, and his eyes glaze over. My eyes dart to the King, who also has the same faraway expression on his face. And I know two rules.

marker out to me.

1: Can't kill the bride.

2: Must remain faithful.

3: Must plan a date when the bride is in Must share a bed with their bride.

No pornography in her presence.

Must ensure she eats three meals a day.

Kings are to run the kingdom

it, meaning it was King Regan.

The Kings will not force her to have

TOGETHER as one while I am gone.

The ninth rule makes me frown. If they paws off me!

side.

their care.

marriage work.

their rooms.

written

sex with them.

1: I can't kill the Kings.

2: I must remain faithful.

The fourth is different.

I cannot run away.

them.

I must share a bed with the Kings.

I swallow when I see the next five rules.

5: The Bride must bathe her Kings.

I grit my teeth, not wanting to be near them, and I definitely don't want to wash

6: The bride must eat and drink whatever the King whose care she is in.

Wouldn't that be two rules?

8: If the bride breaks any rules or assigned daily King can pick her punishment.

9: The bride can't refuse their touch or "What's the rule?" King Regan asks, his eyes trained on his brother, and King

"Read the rule out. Is it one of mine it goes against?" King Theron states.

"No, it's..." I start to say when King Glaring at Zeke, I read the rule. "9: The Bride can't refuse their touch or faithful. I can't expect them

he looks at Regan.

Zeke snarls.

much.

to mine.

and is cut off.

at his brother.

side-" Zeke starts to say.

you three." King

"It's mine!" Regan snarls.

affections."

Regan, who is glaring at his brother, speaks up.

prick with tears as I glare at the board, knowing I can't change it.

"Let me or Regan add conditions to it," Lyon speaks abruptly, looking at Regan.

"I know she's a virgin! Why do you think I placed that rule on our side?!" he snaps with himself before he turns his head to glare at Zeke.

"No, it's my rule; it can't be changed!"

Theron says, and King Regan's eyes move

"Regan, she's a fucking—" Lyon snarls

"I swear, Regan if you take this bitch's

"You'll what? Snarl at me, voice your empty fucking threats!" King Regan growls, pushing up from his chair.

"Well, it's decided Regan will add conditions but won't remove the rule."

me to write on the board. His chest his fingers, holding the marker between mine.

"You owe me!" he whispers, and I quickly

look back at the board. He adds brackets what he writes. When he doesn't call me out, I move the and then stops, leaving it blank.

marker. When I'm done, he drops his hand and holds the marker out to me.

"What did he add?" Zeke demands as I read my rules and theirs once more as I

figure out I am a witch, but another worry

Regans handing the wolves' back and not before turning the board to show the King.

granted 24 hours of grace, Zirah, states. His brows pinch before his eyes

"Behave yourselves!" He scolds his sons.

"No, you'll leave her in pieces, but you three, there won't be anything left of for

I snicker, and Lyon raises an eyebrow at tilts his head, and Regan lifts his.

"House of parliament." King Theron

"There have been notices requiring your attendance. I would have seen those.

retorts, pushing his chair in.

What are you hiding?"

This human, I want answers."

"You don't have to accept anything, but "Not when with me she doesn't. She is a insinuated; I hate them. So why did his words affect me so?

"If you think so poorly of her, why did you change the rules to protect her?"

"That is not why I changed them?" Regan booms and he turns his deadly gaze on "You had nothing to say until Zeke suggested sleeping with her. The moment oppressiveness of them. The room spins, and my vision blurs. What's happening to harsher, and I barely catch myself before headbutting the table.

"Zirah!" Shelley shrieks, and her panicked voice brings everyone's commoner, a peasant!" Regan growls.

King Theron walks around the table

I don't want any part of this, either.

would have to check later.

his father. King Theron chuckles.

that was mentioned, you suddenly cared

"Interesting." The King says, then turns,

"You didn't eat last night or this

"I'm fine." I shrug her off.

"Why do you care?" I snap.

"When did you last eat?" Regan demands, and I lift my gaze to him.

you faint in town, now answer the question!" He bellows at me. I roll my eyes, trying to think; I know it was before

"Because I am not carrying you home if morning. When was your last meal?"

Shelley gushes, waving down another walking out of the room, leaving us staring after him.

Theron snarls.

under the me?

grows

stops.

servant.

I came here.

"I can't remember."

sure.

him. 2

you will do as I say and have some manners. Your bride has a name."

son!"

unattended with us?"

"You don't wish us the same, father. Do you fear she will be no match for us?"

his words, yet Regan remains silent, staring at the table. "Son?" King Theron

"Where are going that is so important that you would risk leaving her one piece," King Theron

fall on Regan and Lyon.

me jig saw back together."

Lyon taunts.

they've given me. Some are kind of two rules rolled into one, like using them against them technically can be seen as two rules.

decide what to add to their side.

hand.

gnaws at me.

So I write my rule.

comply.

However, when he lifts the marker, his father speaks.

presses to my back and rumbles as he steps closer and dips his head.

nod. If it means not having Zeke force himself on me, I would agree for now.

look at him over my shoulder, nearly brushing my nose with him when his eyes flicker, making me

Zeke snarls, rising from his seat. He growls, and his father snarls back at him in a warning.

Zeke glances between the lot of us before. he turns on his heel and storms out of the dining hall.

I glance over the rules, trying to think of one when it occurs to me that if they demand to choose what I wear, they'll

9: The bride can pick her own clothes, and the Kings can't hurt any of the Kingdom's people to make the bride

"Very well, King Regan will take you into town, and as of tomorrow, you will officially be his for 24 hours. You've been

"What I am doing and where I am going is none of your business. You do as required, and don't dare question me,

"No, if I am being forced to remain here, forced to accept these rules, and forced to accept..." King Regan's eyes move to me.

slowly while Regan glares daggers of disgust at me. Lyon presses his lips in a line before glaring at me too. Suddenly I feel as small as Regan

King Theron drops his hands on his oldest son's shoulders, leaning down. His aura oozes out like a volcano erupting, it's suffocating, and a bead of sweat rolls down the back of my neck. Yet the longer I remain here, the more I feel and recognize their auras, which is becoming for the rules. Now, why is that?" Theron retorts. Regan growls, his aura slipping out and challenging his father. I suddenly feel lightheaded

"You don't know, do you? Yet you went against your brother because instinct told you to. Maybe instead of questioning my choices, question your own and the meaning behind them." Regan shakes his head, and I suddenly see two of them across from me. My breathing attention to me. Their auras drops, along with the sickening feeling inside me; my arm burns fiercely, and so does my spine, and then it Hands clutch my arms, and I shake the feeling off. Only to find Regan suddenly standing and Lyon. The King, however, purses his lips.

Granny and I hadn't done much hunting as she was unwell from casting, so maybe a couple of days before that. So I can't be "Feed her. We leave in an hour." King Regan snarls before stalking out of the room with Lyon jogging to catch up to quite concerning. Maybe grandma was wrong about them not affecting me or maybe these runes were wearing down; I rules Zeke chose.

affections.

the King.

press my lips in a line.

Theron looks at me.

Unwanted Mate Of The Lycan Kings by Jessicahall Chapter 30

somehow they can communicate that way because it's like their auras merge briefly. King Theron nods once to his son, and Regan turns back to look at Zeke, who he is chest to chest with.

Regan takes his seat and glares at me when Zeke saunters over, holding the Dinners must be in the dining hall, and all three grooms must be in attendance.

The Kings must take her outside at least once daily and not confine her to "Fucking pussy!" Zeke growls back, barging past him with his shoulder to catches

"Choose wisely. You only get one, love!" Zeke taunts. I instantly know what I will choose for them to keep their grubby

Getting up, I move to the board, feeling their eyes on me. My eyes go to the rules first that the King set out on the groom's

I nearly snort as I keep reading. It was like the King was just trying to find any rule to give them to force them to try to make this sham are to compete, why must they work together? However, when I see the 10th rule I'm supposed to make, it is already filled in, but with My eyes dart to Regan, who has turned his chair slightly and is watching me with an indecipherable expression on his face.

My brows furrow, and I glance at King Regan. He gave up one of his rules and added one to their side. But why?

I shake my head and move to the next. Lyon's weren't too bad, though the bathing one makes me want to scream in

My stomach sinks at that one, knowing their wolves are my only protection, yet nothing makes my blood run colder than seeing the two

My mouth opens at Zeke's last rule, and my heart rate quickens. Zeke must know where my mind went because he speaks before I can ask "That doesn't contradict my rules, or the one Regan added to your side. Marriages have physical and sexual contact. They are to remain not to have some of their needs met, Zirah. Please do try to understand, dear. They can't have sex with you, Regan assured that." My eyes

"That is my mistake, dear. It never occurred to me, but I made the rule that the rules can't be changed," he says, looking genuinely angry

My eyes move to the three Kings. King Regan looks furious, Zeke looks smug as a pig in shit, and Lyon. He is staring down at the table when "He won't be changing it. He'll simply be adding to it. Majority rules, Zeke. Father said he would compromise. I vote we compromise on that rule." Lyon snarls at him. Yet I'm shocked to see any of the Kings actually defend me, making me wonder why when they all despise me so Zeke scoffs, looking at his father, who, in turn, looks at King Regan. "Son, you have to agree or disagree with breaking the majority between

The King adds, and Regan stalks toward me. He steps behind me, plucking the marker from my hand and leaning over

"Make sure not to change the rule Zeke made completely." I peer over the board, looking at him, when King Regan grabs my hand, sliding

He moves my hand and his toward the board, and my hand trembles, wondering if he is letting me add the condition or if he is doing it. I

Was he giving me the choice? He taps my foot with his and I grip his fingers, waiting for him to tell his father I was trying to manipulate

Regan steps away and takes his seat. My eyes go to Regan, then back at the board. And I read out what I put in the brackets using Regan's

"That the kings will not penetrate the bride without her permission, or touch below the waist without her permission." I read out to him, and

The King may not harm his own people, but would his sons in order to get me to comply? My eyes dart to Shelley. Looking over the rules

Stepping back, I look at the rules. "Make sure you sign it as they did." King Theron says, and I glance at their signatures. I quickly sign it tomorrow, you live with my sons as their wife. So please behave; I leave tonight and wish to come home to my future daughter -in-law in

"But it's the same thing," I tell him, looking at the King. His eyes soften, and he looks down at his hands and curses.

anger. I come to the next rule, which I know by the handwriting is King Regan's.

embarrasses the Kings or causes what we deem as trouble within the Kingdom, the "Father said as long as they don't go against his rules, they're allowed." I

"Your rule is basically the same thing!" I snap at him, and King Regan turns his head to look at his brother.

7: She must hand back our wolves and not use them against us.

Glancing at my side and the rules set out, I read the rules the King has written. The first three rules are the same as the Kings.

different handwriting, I gasp. My mouth opens in shock when I realize it isn't King Theron's handwriting and Zeke definitely wouldn't have it, and Zeke storms over to look at what he wrote. A feral snarl tears out of him, when he suddenly smiles wickedly. "Very well," Zeke sneers, scribbling his rules. His eyes flicker, but he says nothing. Instead, writing on the board and tossing the marker at Zeke. It bounces off his chest, and he just curious as to why they are fighting when they each got to pick two. My stomach sinks when I see Regan read the current stand behind him. Yet it makes me

"Move! I will only ask once!" Regan sneers, and Zeke glares at him.