

29: Dance With Me

STELLA'S POV

"I'm sorry. I'm deeply sorry for everything I've done and said to you Stella. I'm sorry. I'm sorry because I make you feel worthless to me even though you're the most precious person in my life" My hands shakily raise to wipe the tears that are streaming on Vance's face.

I may hate him for making me feel awful to myself but ever since I met him. Through ups and down, my feelings, my love for him never change.

"Stop crying you stupid" I joke at him while still wiping his tears.

"Why didn't you tell me? I'm your husband we could have done something to make you live longer" He said with a shaking voice that made me teary-eyed also.

I cupped his face.

"The truth is. The day we had our very first fight, I was really planning to tell you about my condition but I was so hurt to everything you said to me. I feel so worthless, useless, name every me every words that describe what you said to me. I feel so bad to myself that I couldn't make my very own husband contented to what I could give. I feel so bad because I was the very reason why my beloved husband became someone who is he now" I confess and I can't hold back my tears as I said to him those words.

"No! Don't say that. Forget everything I said to you Stella. You're the best wife every man could ever dream of. You're the most wonderful mother to our son. You're the greatest woman to our family. And most specially you're my most beloved wife. So, forget every word that I said to you. I was a jerk back then. My mind was clouded and my eyes are blinded for your love. I was selfishly afraid of being alone and let that I forget that you are here staying with me even knowing all my schemes that I had to our family. So, please Stella. Forget about those painful words and forgive me for being a jerk to you. I know it may not be true but I do, Stella. I love you and thank you. Thank you for being my wife and staying with me, so hang in there please? I still want to make you feel what a husband must do to his wife. I will make you the happiest wife so hang in there please? Give me a chance to be with you not in anger, selfishness or greediness but a life full of happiness and love. So hang in there please? I love you"

My tears continuously run down to my face hearing those dreamy words from my husband.

It's been a long time that I heard him say I love you to me.

And it's my first time hearing him how thankful he was to me but then.

My tears fastly flow down when something hit me.

I don't have much time left and experience what he promised. I know that it was too late now that he realized but then. As an amazing wife he could dream of.

I say to him my last wish.

The only thing we hadn't done ever since we are married.

"Dance with me"

Continue reading next part □