Novel Chapter 261

Chapter 261: 261

Eventually, Darya understood what Leon was planning, and despite the pain, she started to smirk . Leon was creating a more prominent and much heavier version of his spears, aside from those aspects, the only difference was the small tip and the butt of the spear, which was large and had a rectangular shape .

After five minutes, Leon a spear that was twenty meters long and weighing over a ton . After casting Regeneration on himself and on Darya again, Leon flew to the ceiling of the boss room and then just let the spear fall above the undead Trent's body .

'What are you . . . Urgh!' The Trent moaned in pain when the spear pierced the top of his body with ease .

It was hard to do calculations while one was almost being crushed by its own weight, but Leon concluded that Stagnation increased the gravity of that area at least ten times . So, the spear was piercing the undead Trent's body with ease since its current weight surpassed ten tons . Leon intended to increase the weight over the spear by creating some steel blocks . But the effects of Stagnation disappeared . . . it was hard to be sure if the undead Trent canceled its own spell, or it suffered to much damage . It didn't matter, either way, Leon couldn't use Appraisal because he was preparing his next attack while he was retreating to where Darya was . A Lightning fell on the spear and electrocuted the insides of the undead Trent .

‘Urgh... you little bastard! How dare you!’ The undead Trent shouted .

Ignoring the beast’s complaints, Leon cast Lightning after Lightning . Even though they were one hundred meters away from the monster, they could still smell a strong odor of burnt wood . Leon’s attacks were being a lot more effective, so he kept casting them .

‘Wait! Wait!’ The undead Trent pleaded . ‘Don’t kill me, if you spare me, my master and I will grant you an outstanding power . ‘

That was too convenient to be true, so Leon ignored and continued to attack using bolts of Lightning . The poor undead Trent didn’t even have time to recover and try anything . Eventually, the whole place was covered in smoke, but Leon already knew where his spear was, so he didn’t have to see .

‘You are really merciless...’ Darya frowned . ‘Don’t you think that monster can give you the knowledge you want?’

‘I will never trust in the words of a monster...’ Leon said . ‘Much less in the words of a monster who called me ‘little insect’ . Sparing the life of a thing which wanted to drown us on mud is too stupid . ‘

Eventually, the undead Trent stopped from saying anything . Despite that, and continued to moan in pain for several minutes . . . the vitality of such a monster wasn't something to laugh at . In the end, Leon and Darya killed the creature . He leveled up his Lightning several times while the basic wind skills also leveled up a few times .

‘Why didn't this disappear?’ Leon frowned .

The moment Leon asked that the roots started to move . However, instead of attacking him, the roots moved to the crystal and got absorbed by it . Leon imagined something bad would happen, but nothing happened .

‘What was that . . .’ Darya frowned .

‘... It looks like the reservoir of mana . . . was pulled by something .’ Leon rubbed his chin . ‘Considering what we heard, most likely, the master of the undead Trent wanted that reservoir of mana .’

‘What are the chances of the master of that monster being the god of death?’ Darya asked .

‘Pretty high, actually,’ Leon said . ‘I thought the monster had Zen to grow stronger, but perhaps it was just a way to recover his own mana, while absorbing the mana of this world, to send it to the other world... maybe the liches are being used by that . ‘

‘That makes sense . Although the undead Trent was strong, it had way too much mana . ‘ Darya said, and its attacks didn’t consume even one percent of its mana pool . ‘

Leon nodded, everything was way too suspicious about that place, and now that they solved the problem, they had to worry about the mention of Darya’s grandfather’s name .

‘... I always thought that something was weird with my grandfather . ‘ Darya said, her head was down . ‘I heard that he was powerful, but he wasn’t leagues above others . After losing his wife, he worked hard to protect this world... but twenty years ago, he suddenly got strong and repelled a harvester by himself... I guess everything makes sense now . He probably is working with monsters of the world beyond this crystal . ‘

‘Don’t jump to conclusions,’ Leon said . ‘ That being said... considering what we know, that is possible . From what I can see, harvesters are creatures that have more physical strength than magic powers... so, I guess a huge deal of mana would be necessary in order to let someone face them properly . Since we saw those roots accumulating mana... perhaps your grandfather has a method of increasing his mana beyond his limits . ‘

If it was a skill that he had, it would be dangerous to use, but if it was a magic item, Leon wanted one for himself . He already could think of many ways to use such a magic item . . . still, that was putting a carriage before the horses .

Everything useful and convenient was bound to have severe limitations and drawbacks, after all .

Novel Chapter 262

Chapter 262: 262

‘Well... what are we going to do now?’ Darya asked . ‘The only way to discover what is going is to use the purple crystal or talk with my grandfather, and I guess none of those situations will end well . ‘

‘You are right... if your grandfather can make a harvester run away, we are no match for him . ‘ Leon said . ‘As for the master of the undead Trent, he received a massive pool of mana, and that made him an obstacle impossible to defeat in his domain . ‘

Leon wondered if he could create a magic item that could store his mana, most of the time, he was practicing his spells, strengthening them and making good use of his recovery . However, it looked like a good idea to store his mana in an object, maybe to use as a bomb of mana, or perhaps to restore his own mana in the middle of a complicated battle . The problem was, he had no idea how to do that . Leon created thousands of magic items so far, and none of them had such skill or effect .

‘It would be a pain to transport those containers and not make good use of the mana liquid,’ Leon added . ‘Let’s stay here for a while until we use all the mana liquid . ‘

‘What are we going to do if another undead Trent appears?’ Darya asked .

‘We will defeat it, we already know the best way to do it, after all,’ Leon answered .

In the end, Leon had to create another spear since that one lost its sharpness, and it was damaged . Meanwhile, Darya trained to reproduce Lightning . They stayed there for two days practicing their spells and making good use of the mana liquid, but no lich or undead Trent appeared, and that made Leon and Darya conclude one thing .

‘I don’t know how, but it looks like someone on the other side of the purple crystal obtained the power to control the other purple crystal and choose of sending monsters to this world or not,’ Leon said .

‘That seems the case . . . ‘ Darya furrowed her eyebrows . ‘I didn’t want to think of this, but perhaps the other world is a place that in an advanced stage of the assimilation . Usually, it wouldn’t be possible for two planets to keep a link like that when they are in different stages... but if we consider that someone is using their own mana to keep the dungeon connecting both worlds...‘

‘If that is possible, why the harvesters didn’t do the same?’ Leon asked .

‘Most likely, because they lack the specific skills or the mana necessary to do so,’ Darya answered . ‘They are fighters, not wizards . ‘

If that was the case, it looked like the god of death, who was the master of the undead Trent, was also a type of harvester . . . it was a pain since it looked like individuals like that wanted to grow stronger and could do so in many ways .

‘It pains me to say this, but we can’t face the master of the undead Trent, and we don’t have the means to make your grandfather give us the answers we want,’ Leon said . ‘In any case, we obtained the things we wanted here . Let’s leave this place . ‘

When they approached the island, Leon recalled that Darya said something about a system that prevented harvesters from invading the continent . Still, he wondered why Darya didn’t say anything when they tried to leave the continent for the first time . So, he decided to ask her about it .

‘ . . . I thought you decided to use an underground path because you knew the defense system couldn’t stop anyone from invading through underground paths . ‘ Darya frowned .

‘No, I just chose that option because we wouldn’t be seen,’ Leon said . ‘If the defense system has such a weakness, why didn’t harvesters discover this until now?’(function() { googletag.display('div-gpt-ad-InStory-1'); });

‘They probably already know, but they wouldn’t accept invading the continent using such methods,’ Darya explained . ‘Besides, their goal is to become stronger . So, the most efficient way to do that is by fighting against the soldiers of our world . They probably try to invade to make the soldiers more eager to fight and kill them . ‘

Leon frowned after hearing that . It sounded pretty stupid . . . he also wanted to obtain power, but he wouldn’t care about the means . As long as he obtains the power to return home and protect his friends, he wouldn’t worry about such silly things . If they genuinely wanted to get stronger, the harvester would kill their targets and move to another planet . . . but considering that they were deemed to be fake harvesters, it couldn’t be helped that they were using such a roundabout way .

Novel Chapter 263

Chapter 263: 263

After creating another underground route, and escaping from several krakens that were close to the coast, Leon and Darya begin to create some checkpoints while looking for a suitable island to use . In the southern part of the continent, there were numerous small islands, but none were big enough for their purposes So, they used those to create checkpoints . The cost to use them wasn't low, but it was the best way to escape from a place without showing to an enemy where they went .

Eventually, Leon and Darya found an island that was four times larger than the island Leon first got stuck on . They would have the chance to plant around four times more plants there . . . While it would be troublesome this would allow them to plant and harvest four times more plants . This became necessary due to the new training regimen that he wanted to begin .

‘Here we go again . . . ‘ Darya let out a long sigh .

‘Less complaining and more working,‘ Leon said .

Even though Darya was using Telekinesis to do everything, the job was too repetitive and monotonous . Even though they hurried, Leon and Darya only finished everything after a week .

‘All right, you can have this,‘ Leon passed the ring of gravity to Darya . ‘I would like you to try to crush me using the skill of this ring . Don’t hold back because we don’t have time to waste . ‘

‘ . . . I thought I got used to your crazy ideas, but it looks like you get worse every day . ‘ Darya frowned . ‘Well, I don’t want to kill you . So, I will increase the power of the spell gradually . ‘

Leon nodded, he wanted to level up his resistances as much as possible, but in the end, he couldn’t force a friend to do something so unreasonable . Besides, Leon also wanted to discover some insight into gravity magic while he was at it . He wanted to learn how to fly as soon as possible, and if he didn’t learn by using Telekinesis, he would learn by using Gravity .

Regardless, Darya wanted to start slow, while she was holding back, her powers already could be compared with the liches Stagnation . Little by little, increasing the pressure of the space where he became very unpleasant . The pressure exerted was so great that even the sand on the beach was damaging Leon's skin .

After practicing for the rest of the day, while conjuring Heal non-stop, Leon managed to level up his Gravity Resistance six times, and he even understood a little how Gravity worked . Just like the time he wanted to learn how to control the magic inside his Mana Shield, he had to move his own mana to emulate the increase of gravity .

‘This will be hard . . . I will have to send and control my mana to a place away from me and make the mana move emulating gravity . ‘(function() { googletag.display('div-gpt-ad-InStory-1 '); });

‘Well, my intelligence is increasing by the day thanks to Zen . . . so it shouldn't take that long to learn it . ‘

Leon eventually got used to the pressure that Darya and the ring of gravity could cause . Since Darya couldn't increase the power behind that anymore, they have to do that for one week until Leon's Gravity Resistance reached level fifty . In the meantime, Leon and Darya were also trying to learn Gravity themselves, but since their mentality was high, they barely felt anything . Besides, the whole process was too complicated .

Congratulations! You have learned the skill: Gravity .

You obtained 01 status points .

It took Leon and Darya one month to finally receive that notification . In the meantime, they only increased their status and only leveled up a few skills .

However, they endured that because they knew the potential of that spell .
Both of them wanted to be able to properly fly instead of just using Telekinesis or earth under their feet .(function() { googletag.display('div-gpt-ad-InStory-3'); });

Without wasting any time, they used Gravity to cancel the effects of Miebos gravity over their bodies . However, they had to level up the spell until level ten before their bodies could finally levitate . At the very moment, they used the spell to change the direction of the spell to downward to upward . They received another notification .

Congratulations! You have learned the skill: Fly .

Cost: 10 mana per second .

You obtained 01 status points .

‘Hahaha, this is so fun!’ Darya said, showing a large smile .

Although Leon and Darya weren’t flying that fast, they felt an indescribable feeling of freedom . Controlling Gravity, they could fly . However, by using Fly, they could move toward all directions at the speed they wanted with a single thought . . . they didn’t have to control their mana . That was why they felt so free .

That fantastic feeling disappeared when Leon felt something weird on the horizon . It looked like the air was vibrating in the distance . . . at first, it was just a small point, but the point slowly was getting bigger . Something was approaching...

‘Quickly, let’s hide!’ Leon said .

Darya got caught by surprise, but soon she recovered herself because she knew Leon wouldn’t act like that without reason . Without wasting time, they cast Mana Concealment on themselves and hid in a hole on the beach they created in case something like that happens . There was also a checkpoint under their feet that would transport them to an island thirty kilometers away from there, but before using that, they needed to see who or what was approaching .

Novel Chapter 264

Chapter 264: 264

Leon opened his eyes widely when the figure got close enough and let him notice that it had the size and shape of a human . It wasn't short like Darya , so it wasn't an inhabitant of that world . Still, Leon didn't drop his guard because the soldiers of that world were constantly increasing their powers since they were always fighting against the harvesters . Besides, that figure was making the space around him vibrate . . . it looked to be a man and Leon saw something like that before .

'The fire titan . . . ' Leon murmured .

'The flames of the fire titan certainly make the air around him vibrate,' Darya murmured . 'But, it looks like you forgot the difference in size . . . '

That was true, so Leon nodded . The fire titan was like one hundred meters tall, while that figure didn't look taller than Leon, who was just 1,75 meters tall . Despite that, Leon was certain that something was off regarding the titans . Would Leon grow like them if he gets stronger physically ? Leon couldn't imagine or explain why someone grew so much, just increasing strength and endurance . . .

'That armor...' Darya frowned .

For some reason, that man was approaching the island they were using . That was bad, even though it couldn't be helped, it would be a pain to build another base in another island . Putting such worries aside, Leon also recognized the pieces of equipment on the legs of that man . . . it was the same gear the fire titan was using . Since Darya recognized the circlet, the sword, and the other pieces of armor, it became clear that figure was the fire titan . . . in a smaller version . Its body didn't look like it was made of magma, as one could think to look for a safe distance . His body was emitting some heat, but the blazing inferno that he used as armor and to scare his opponents disappeared . Leon didn't see his upper body before, but now he could see a beard . . . it was kind of disappointing, but his beard wasn't on fire .

'We always wondered why they could be so big . . . ' Darya murmured .
'They probably use some kind of skill to grow their size and increase their overall strength . '

'It looks like a very useful skill,' Leon nodded . 'Since it could make it grow his weapons and equipment while increases his range . '(function() { googletag.display('div-gpt-ad-InStory-1 '); });

Leon was itching to use Appraisal on that guy and see its status . . . he wanted to see how strong a being that could invade other planets could be . However, if Leon uses Appraisal, he would cancel Mana Concealment . Although that man was someone who chose to increase his physical stats, he probably had good instincts and would feel Leon's presence .

'I see now... that man is just another person who managed to survive the arrival of the system . He is just like any sentient being... he just probably lived a lot more than any of us, but other than that, nothing is different . The fire titan is just a being capable of dying, made of bones and flesh...'

It was obvious, but Leon never thought that way . Still . . . he wasn't an opponent Leon could defeat now . Someone who could give Leon the answers he wanted was nearby, but at the same time, it was very far away from him .(function() { googletag.display('div-gpt-ad-InStory-3'); });

‘The fire titan always fights for two days, but then he disappears and usually only returns after four days,’ Darya said . ‘Our soldiers analyzed him, and he always retreats when his health or stamina dropped to twenty-five percent of his total energy . . . this is the best chance to attack him, and I doubt that we will obtain such a chance again . ‘

Leon was aware of that fact, but even though the fire titan was on a weakened state, it wasn't enough . Leon himself would observe and study the targets of that level, formulate a plan, and only after that . He would challenge the creature . He couldn't attack without a plan and when a friend was nearby . So, Leon shook his head .

Leon and Darya would be forced to abandon that place and the plants, even though Leon had thousands of samples inside his magic box, it would be a pain to create another base . Still, much to their surprise and luck, the fire titan woke up a few hours later and then just left . . .

‘Phew... that was tiresome . ‘ Darya got rid of the sweat on her forehead after she left the hole .

‘I thought he would feel the presence of the plants... I guess his senses aren't that good . ‘ Leon rubbed his chin . ‘A surprise attack will definitely work... in any case, let's watch our surroundings day and night from now on . If he returns, we cannot let him surprise us . ‘

Fortunately, the hut they created was in the center of the island, well-hidden by the dense forest Leon and Darya created . Even to find the plants, would have to walk for a while to see the plants . . . that caution was what saved Leon and Darya's base .

Although they just learned two awesome spells, they didn't feel like celebrating anymore . They needed to train more because without defeating creatures like the fire titan, Leon would never return to Earth as soon as he wants and Darya would never be truly free . To reach their goals, they needed even more power and diligence . . . so, they resumed their training .

Chapter 265: 265

Since Gravity and Fly would be essential for Leon and Darya, both of them practiced only those spells for a week until they reached level forty . The flying speed improved the more Fly leveled up, but they couldn't forget that they had other goals . Leon wanted to learn Slow , and Darya needed to create that new metal .

Slow would certainly help Leon, making himself faster and decrease the speed of an enemy would make the battles much easier... even though the cost of mana would be insane . However, he would have to touch the target to activate Slow , and that was a severe drawback . While Leon was thinking of that, he noticed the forest on that island, all in all, the plants of Miebos weren't much different than the ones on Earth . But since that planet was on the second stage of assimilation, he wondered if the planets suffered some kind of mutation . Although Leon and Darya's hands were already busy harvesting, blue, red, and green angel leaves, it wasn't a bad idea to search for more types of useful plants .

‘As far as I know, when we reached the second stage of assimilation, the plants didn't change all that much,’ Darya said .

Although Leon doubted of Darya's knowledge since she only had three hours of memories of each day of the last ten years, soon he forgot about it . He didn't see any plants when he was flying over that massive city, after all . Besides, since the government strengthened their forces by increasing their magic knowledge, there was no way to apply things like poisonous plants to spells, at least not in an effective way .

‘Well, even though I won't be able to replicate skills like Sleep Power, using poisons won't be that effective either . At least, non-magical poisons...‘

Leon could probably learn a spell similar to Sleep Powder, but it would be weird if he could replicate an animal and create those kinds of spores . Anyway, after forgetting about that minor problem, Leon focused on learning Slow . Since he already knew the logic behind the spell, he just had to practice . After two weeks, he received that notification .

Congratulations! You have learned the skill: Slow .

‘Ha! Take that you little piece of shit!’ Darya shouted and then threw something on the sand .

Leon didn’t even have time to celebrate . It looked like a failure after failure messed with Darya’s mind . Although she looked a bit older, her mind was still of a teenager thanks to the fact that her memories had been erased over and over again . So, that kind of behavior couldn’t be helped . However, contrary to Leon’s expectations, Darya didn’t act like that because she was sick of that, but because she finally succeeded . Leon saw the small piece of crystal-like metal, its color was light-blue, and he could feel a lot of mana coming from it . However, Leon couldn’t analyze it .

‘What was the trick behind it?’ Leon asked .

‘Ah... so it is a metal that it is born after huge amounts of mana concentrate in a single place .’ Leon nodded . ‘It doesn’t sound so complicated, why wouldn’t the other people of this world discover something like this?’

‘I have no idea... maybe because the cost of mana is stupid?’ Darya said . ‘I had to spend one thousand points of mana to create a single gram of that... Besides, there is always a chance that my grandfather decided to stop researching this kind of material . I can already imagine how powerful weapons creating this kind of metal can become, and even though it would strengthen our world, it also would give a chance to someone to overthrow him . ‘

‘I see... there is also a chance that he received a weapon like that from the Trent or the undead Trent’s master, too . ‘ Leon nodded . ‘The people of this world are managing to stop the harvesters, for the time being, right ? So, they don’t feel worried about researching something they don’t know that actually exists . ‘

‘That is right,’ Darya said .

Although the theory was simple, Leon had to practice for a few days how to condense his mana in a single spot . The good side was, once he controls his mana to that extent, the rest was quite easy, and since they had a nearly infinite supply of blue angel leaves, mana wasn’t exactly a problem . That being said . . . Leon had to use the entire stock of leaves he and Darya consumed in a single day to create a single dagger .

Leon frowned when he saw that the dagger was way too powerful, and considering he just worked for a few hours . He didn't expect to receive those notifications .

'Ah... I should have created a ring . ' Leon said .

'Then why the hell did you create a dagger?' Darya asked .

Still, such a thing didn't matter since both of them knew now how to make weapons made of a mythical material .

Novel Chapter 266

Chapter 266: 266

It has been a while since the last time Leon felt he wasn't progressing, but he felt weird imagining that several months had passed since the last time he felt depressed . Back on that island, he would always spend at least three days in a month doing nothing . . .

Maybe it was a coincidence, or perhaps Leon's behavior was influencing Darya more than he thought . A few days after discovering how to create mithril, she looked restless, she looked a bit restless . Darya was a woman who had a small appetite and tended to sleep a lot, but recently she had eaten less and sleeping more .

'What's wrong?' Leon asked . 'Getting impatient?'

'I was thinking . . . won't you solve your problems if you negotiate with my grandfather?' Darya asked .

'What?' Leon frowned .

'I mean . . . if you help him defeat the harvesters, he will probably ignore the problems we caused,' Darya said . 'And you will obtain the chance to question the harvesters . '

'Do you think your grandfather needs the help of someone like me?' Leon asked . 'Is the army of this world that pathetic?'

'The soldiers of this world don't have the freedom to choose what they will learn and train,' Darya explained . 'They are specialized in certain types of magic and work together as a proper army to protect our lands . While you probably can't face the full power of the best spell of a specialized soldier, you probably are fast enough to dodge those attacks and counter-attack them with other spells . At least in a battle one-on-one, I don't think you won't lose to most soldiers . But if you get surrounded by a small team...'

'So, I am at that level already...' Leon rubbed his chin . 'Well, it doesn't matter, I don't intend to work with someone who uses his relatives like tools . Just that alone isn't enough to make me trust him... and there is even the question about the liches dungeon . '

'Are you sure about that? Don't you want to go home as soon as possible?' Darya asked .

'I want to go home as soon as possible, but I can't sacrifice my conscience to achieve my goals,' Leon answered .

Leon had never seen Donan, but he felt like if he sees him, the first thing Leon would do was to kick his face . It didn't matter if he did everything to protect his world, some things couldn't be forgiven, and treating family like tools was one of them .

Although Leon didn't know if Darya was satisfied with his explanation, he decided to focus on other things, for example, what to do with his weapons now that he could create better ones made from mithril . He had no problems whatsoever changing everything . The problem was the Emperor's Katana . Leon barely used the sword in the past months, but that didn't mean he had forgotten the promise he made to Yuki . Besides, even though they only talked a few times, that sword was a memento of a friend .

Leon started to wonder why he didn't try that before . Maybe it was because clearly would fail . . . in the worst-case scenario . The weapon would break . Before trying that, Leon created a perfect replica of the Emperor's Katana made of mithril .

Mithril Katana

It grants you Strength + 80, Speed + 80, Dexterity + 80 .

'What are you doing?' Darya frowned after watching Leon doing nothing but forging a katana made of mithril for three days straight .(function() { googletag.display('div-gpt-ad-InStory-3'); });

'A test... you should create a magic staff made of mithril, too .' Leon answered . 'You should start forging a wand . Once you complete it, I will Seal the spirit of a Kraken in it if you want .' '

Leon wanted to test if all magic items were the same, if that was the case, there was a chance that Leon could use Seal on the emperor's katana and pass the spirit within to another weapon . Still, Leon soon realized that it wouldn't solve anything . The material and the overall appearance of the weapon would change as well .

Instead of making such tests using the emperor's katana, Leon created a ring made of mithril and then sealed the spirit of a Kraken inside of it .

Mithril Ring of the King of the Seas

It grants you the skill: Cyclone Lv 130 . Intelligence + 80, Mentality + 80 .

It was a very powerful ring and granted Leon an absurdly powerful skill . However, the cost to use Water Cyclone was one hundred points of mana per second . Still, that wasn't over yet . Leon defeated another Kraken and tried to Seal its spirit in the same ring . This time Leon felt some rejection . The spirit almost dispersed, but thanks to his control, Leon succeeded .

Mithril Ring of the King of the Seas (+1)

It grants you the skill: Cyclone Lv 143 . Intelligence + 88, Mentality + 88 .

‘Well, it improved... even Cyclone became stronger . However, I don't think I can add spirits of any monster inside the magic weapons . The spirits inside the magic weapons must have some sort of compatibility... the emperor's katana doesn't have any elemental attributes, so the spirit of a neutral monster should be enough to strengthen it . ‘

Although that was a good development because Leon would be able to make War Cry stronger, soon he found some obstacles . He didn't know why, but the more spirits he tried to Seal in a single magic weapon, the more time he had to concentrate in order not to let the process fail . It looked like he would have to increase his control a little bit, because, with his current skills, Leon could only improve the mithril ring up until +3 .

It has been a while since the last time Leon felt he wasn't progressing, but he felt weird imagining that several months had passed since the last time he felt depressed . Back on that island, he would always spend at least three days in a month doing nothing . . .

Novel Chapter 267

Chapter 267: 267

Now that Leon and Darya learned about the spells they found at the research center, Leon started to wonder if it wasn't about time to make his preparations to take down a harvester . The problem was, according to Darya, that while he was powerful, the teamwork of the soldiers would make it impossible for him to defeat them alone . If that was the case, could he take down a monster that could fight against hundreds perhaps thousands of those soldiers for two days straight ? The answer was no . However, it has been one year since Leon was summoned to this world . Since he could use magic items made of mithril to counter the harvesters' skills, he needed to work on that as soon as possible .

‘Darya, how many harvesters are attacking this world?’ Leon asked .

‘Six, three others are like the fire titan, creatures that control other elements to strengthen themselves,’ Darya answered . ‘The remaining two can’t control the elements their bodies like that, but in what they lack in flashy attacks and appearance, they compensate with the strength and savagery . The government didn’t reveal this kind of information, but I’m pretty sure they may have come from the same galaxy . ‘

‘What makes you think that?’ Leon asked .

‘Because they appeared at the same time in this world,’ Darya answered .
‘Because they are all giants and never fight against themselves, even though their goal is the same . Sometimes, they will argue in the middle of the battle, but nothing more . ‘

‘So, they come from a galaxy that was probably wiped out from a real harvester,’ Leon said . ‘Their planets probably were assimilated by the system around the same time... that is why they decided to work together to have their revenge . They are training here to obtain the power necessary . ‘

‘The chances of that being the case are certainly high . ‘ Darya nodded .

‘... Based on what you said, it is safer to assume the battles against the harvesters that are more savage will probably be less difficult for me . ‘ Leon said . ‘ While I would probably cause more damage to the fire titan using ice attacks, his fire attacks could kill me with ease, unless a level up my Fire Resistance a lot . ‘

Leon’s first targets would be those will be those two harvesters, but Leon would have to make some preparations since they were working together, he would have to defeat them faster . Although Darya knew a few things they could do, Leon felt that things would be more convenient if he sees them himself in action . However, that was another problem . It was impossible to determine when and where the harvesters would attack .

‘To attack them by surprise and knock them down, you will have to use one hell of a spell, too,’ Darya added . ‘I don’t think we have enough mana to do that, and if we try to carry those containers filled with mana liquid, we will be spotted with ease . ‘

‘You are right... by the way, do you intend to fight alongside me against the harvesters?’ Leon frowned .

‘Of course,’ Darya answered .

‘Why ? You may end up dying, you know . ‘ Leon said .

‘Well... we are f-friends, right ?’ Darya looked away a bit embarrassed . ‘It is only natural to help a friend . ‘

Leon could only shrug and laugh a little after hearing that, even though Darya sometimes says things without thinking, she had a great sense of responsibility . She felt indebted to Leon, so she wanted to repay the favor . Although they didn’t do much in the past few months but train and learn more spells, Darya felt like she had been alive like never before . That being said, Leon had no intention of putting a friend in danger . So, he would make sure to keep Darya out of the harvesters’ sight .

‘First things first . . . we have to collect intel without being noticed,’ Leon said . ‘The frontline probably has some means to observe enemies from a distance, so we have to find a way to counter that . ‘

‘Yes . . . the only way to find the harvesters without letting them notice us is by looking for them near the coast of the continent . ‘ Darya nodded . ‘We will have to move quite a bit, and we won’t be able to find them without using mana . So, we can’t use Mana Concealment . ‘

There were two ways to solve that problem, learning the Invisibility spell, or create a magic item . Neither of them would be easy, not even creating a magic item since Leon and Darya didn't know a monster that had such ability . But then Leon recalled the fact that those choppers were made of mithril, and they could become invisible . Creating a helicopter made of mithril wouldn't be easy, and it would take more than a few days . . . Still, Leon couldn't help but feel excited about building his own vehicle . Although he was already twenty-seven, some things would never change in a man's heart and mind .

Now that Leon and Darya learned about the spells they found at the research center, Leon started to wonder if it wasn't about time to make his preparations to take down a harvester . The problem was, according to Darya, that while he was powerful, the teamwork of the soldiers would make it impossible for him to defeat them alone . If that was the case, could he take down a monster that could fight against hundreds perhaps thousands of those soldiers for two days straight? The answer was no . However, it has been one year since Leon was summoned to this world . Since he could use magic items made of mithril to counter the harvesters skills, he needed to work on that as soon as possible .

Darya, how many harvesters are attacking this world? Leon asked .

Six, three others are like the fire titan, creatures that control other elements to strengthen themselves, Darya answered . The remaining two can't control the elements their bodies like that, but in what they lack in flashy attacks and appearance, they compensate with the strength and savagery . The government didn't reveal this kind of information, but I'm pretty sure they may have come from the same galaxy .

What makes you think that? Leon asked .

Because they appeared at the same time in this world, Darya answered .
Because they are all giants and never fight against themselves, even though their goal is the same . Sometimes, they will argue in the middle of the battle, but nothing more .

So, they come from a galaxy that was probably wiped out from a real harvester, Leon said . Their planets probably were assimilated by the system around the same time... that is why they decided to work together to have their revenge . They are training here to obtain the power necessary .

Chapter 268: 268

In the end, creating a helicopter was a bit too much . So, Leon ended up creating a far smaller version, one which Leon and Darya barely had room to sit and move their bodies . Still, Leon managed to create a box using his own magic box as a reference to store mana and use it as fuel to drive the mini-chopper . However, Leon and Darya had to transmit their mana into it . . . Leon didn't know how to replicate the ability to drain mana from the surroundings yet . Despite that, somehow, the mini-helicopter could become invisible . . .

‘I thought this might happen, but I’m still surprised . . . ‘ Leon frowned . ‘Is it because I created the mithril with that idea in mind?’

‘That is probably the case,’ Darya said . ‘When you think about it, creating weapons made of mithril, it is the same thing as creating weapons made of our mana . The same way we convert mana into spells to attack, crystalized mana probably has the same attributes we wish them to have in the moment of the creation . ‘

‘Well, I wished the chopper to be able to absorb mana from the surroundings, and it didn’t work,’ Leon said . ‘I don’t know how to become invisible either, so why the vehicle I created can have that kind of ability?’

‘I don’t know . . . but when you think about it, it doesn’t make any sense that the weapons we created ourselves can increase our status,’ Darya said . ‘ The most plausible explanation is that the system recognizes such items as magic items, and it also recognizes our wishes when we turn mana into mithril . Let’s test that . . . try to create a dagger than can increase intelligence . ‘

Leon wondered if that wasn’t a waste of time . . . but after hearing that and using analysis and then Appraisal on the mini-chopper, he decided to do it .

Magic Mini-Chopper

Mithril Dagger

It grants you Intelligence + 30, Mentality + 30 .(function()

‘... It worked, but the status bonus is too weak .’ Leon frowned .

‘Maybe it was because you didn’t wish for it all that much .’ Darya rubbed her chin . ‘Or perhaps we also have to consider the compatibility of weapons... daggers are usually weapons that fast people use, after all .’

‘That still doesn’t explain why the chopper can have two skills,’ Leon said . ‘No... it probably has Fly level fifty because I created the blades and connected to the box where the mana is stored . As for the Invisibility... it is probably because I made the fuselage thin in order not to become heavy . It is weird... but it makes sense . I created this vehicle to observe enemies, not for combat, and that is why it doesn’t have offensive skills or status bonuses .’

Leon wondered if an armor with those properties wouldn’t be more convenient . However, it would be challenging to create one that could cover their entire bodies and could be easily taken out .

‘Well, let’s make a flying test,’ Leon said .(function()
{ googletag.display('div-gpt-ad-InStory-3 '); });

Congratulations! You have learned the skill: Driver .

You obtained 01 status points .

Surprisingly, Leon obtained a new passive skill . . . even though it was more like a title than actual skill . In any case, since Leon and Darya had a lot of mana and their recovery was also high, they could keep flying without having to stop . They couldn't keep Mana Concealment and transfer mana at the same time, but that much was fine . Leon had no intention of getting too close to the battles the harvesters will start after all .

‘I can't understand why you were so excited building that...’ Darya frowned .
‘Flying myself in the air is much more fun . ‘

‘... Anyway, I will build an underground garage for this . ‘ Leon said . ‘In case we receive an unexpected visitor... I cannot let such a useful item fall on someone else's hands . ‘

Leon created another hole hidden on the beach of that island, and there they put the chopper . Although he wanted to level up Driver, he would have a lot of time to do that once he starts to look for the harvesters . One problem had been solved, so things were going well . However, Leon still had to find a way to knock down a harvester and find another way to decrease the creature's strength while he interrogates him .

‘Maybe the undead Trent branches will come in handy... even if their Curse Resistance is at a high level, I will be able to numb their senses if I use it again and again after knocking them down . ‘

Leon could also try to replicate those handcuffs that could cancel spells . He would create a much better version, but it would help . . . However, Leon needed first to knock them down, and that was the tricky part . Leon's most powerful spells were Lightning and Magma Spear . Lightning wasn't the best option since Leon had to prepare for a while to cast the spell, and as for Magma Spear, if he levels up it too much, he could end up killing the harvesters if he hits the wrong place .

‘Nah... I don't think they will fall so easily . I will train Magma Spear until I'm sure that it can destroy their limbs completely . ‘

Leon was hoping that eventually, he would think of a better way to achieve his goals, but for the time being, the only thing he could really do was to grind like there was no tomorrow . . . again .

‘Are you sure that only this much is fine?’ Darya frowned .

‘Yep, do you want to train something else?’ Leon asked . ‘If you want to, you can attack as well . This is actually excellent to level up skills . ‘

‘No... I will just keep using my Telekinesis . ‘ Darya answered .

Leon thought he would have a hard time leveling up Magma Spear, but the only problem was to recover his mana . However, once he turned an ancient whale into a zombie, that had been solved . He could store several containers of mana liquid inside of its mouth, after all .

Leon and Darya were currently underwater hunting monsters like Kraken and ancient whales . Although Magma Spears didn’t cause a lot of damage to them and even lost a lot of power while it traveled through water, that wasn’t a problem . Leon wanted to level up that spell, not to kill monsters, after all . While Leon was shooting Magma Spears and hunting every colossal monster that lived in the ocean, Darya was using Telekinesis to move the mana liquid and restore Leon’s mana .

Finding monsters was quite easy, Leon only had to use Haste on the zombie whale, and they could find a big-ass monster every five minutes . Although they also had to worry about the water of the ocean the moment the whale open its mouth, by manipulating some water, Leon could quickly solve that .

‘The combination of two types of magic is even better than I expected,’ Darya said, watching several Magma Spears crossing the waters and causing a lot of damage to a Kraken .

‘It is probably because while using this spell, I receive the bonuses of manipulation, transformation, and creation of both earth and fire magic,’ Leon explained . ‘Lightning is more useful, but even though it consumes less mana, Magma Spear is more powerful . ‘

Despite that, Leon wasn’t that impressed . He spent more than a year to learn that spell, so he expected at least that much of raw power . Still, the effectiveness of Magma Spear even underwater made Leon create a mental note to learn more spells that combined two elements .

For some odd reason, even Spearmanship was leveling up while Leon was using Magma Spear . It wasn't that unexpected that Fire Creation and Earth Creation were leveling up; after all, his mana was being consumed to create those . In any case, Leon was obtaining some extra status points, and he had no reason to complain about it .

The possibility was high; in any case, Archery would level up more if Leon uses his magic arrows a little more often . After killing more than twenty ancient whales and thirty krakens in a single day, Leon started to wonder if it wasn't a good idea to create a zombie army and use them to attack one of the harvesters . That certainly would make things easier for Leon, as long as he uses Gravity and Telekinesis, he was certain that the harvesters wouldn't be able to escape . But still . . . Leon had that feeling that Summon Zombie was a skill that would cause his downfall . So, he was hesitating a lot in considering using that kind of strategy . Leon couldn't even remember any time in his life; he felt so conflicted about doing something or not .

'You are making that expression again...' Darya said .

'... What expression?' Leon frowned .

'The expression that as if you are in doubt, and no matter what you choose, you will end up regretting,' Darya answered . 'I'm kind of relieved, even though you have some crazy ideas and never stop working to achieve your goals, sometimes you can't help but hesitate a little bit . '

'Thank you for your insight, Captain Obvious,' Leon smirked .

After patting Darya's head for a while in order to annoy her, Leon felt relaxed as if a huge weight had disappeared from his shoulders . In the end, Leon decided to forget that idea again . He would end up losing a lot of time to put his plans into action without relying on that kind of spell . Still, in the end, the only choice Leon had was to believe in himself that eventually that he would obtain the power that he needed . He also would have to trust his friends who are on Earth, they survived without him for four years, and Leon also gave them items to help them in their growth .

'Mmm... let's see if I can use Seal on the Steel Ring of the Liches . Maybe I can make a better version without returning to the liches' dungeon . '

Leon tried to use Seal, but there was no response, in the end, he would have to return to that place . . . even though he didn't want to since the chance of some trap waiting for him there was high .

Regardless, Leon was aware that even though he could choose his methods, he couldn't choose his enemies . He wouldn't choose the easiest path, but he would choose the shortest . It would be dangerous, but it was better to get rid of dangerous opponents like the master of the undead Trent, instead of letting him do whatever he wants and cause problems later .

Are you sure that only this much is fine? Darya frowned .

Novel Chapter 270

Chapter 270: 270

Three months passed in the blink of an eye, while Leon was practicing Magma Spear like a madman, he noticed it would take years before he could obtain the power to destroy the harvesters' limbs using a single spell . Maybe if Leon could learn something that had more potential than Magma Spear, things could be different, but he had no time for that . So, Leon developed another passive skill that could multiply the growing speed of his spells and even increase the amount of damage he could cause at the same time .

Congratulations! You have learned the skill: Multi-Conjuration .

You obtained 01 status points .

The trigger to learn that skill was to create two identical magic projectiles at the same time and fire both of them . The cost of mana duplicated, but just like that, Leon's damage output increased . The stronger the spell, the faster the skill leveled up, so soon, the skill reached level ten, and Leon now could shot three Magma Spears at the same time .

‘The speed you learn new skills sometimes scares me...’ Darya frowned . ‘I don't remember seeing anything like that being show in any the footages that were revealed to the public in the battles against the harvesters . ‘

‘Really?’ Leon rubbed his chin . ‘I guess I have some talent in learning and discovering ways to increase my powers... that being said, the people of this planet discovered this that I always wanted to learn but had no idea how to replicate . So, you shouldn't feel that impressed . ‘

That made sense, but the thing was, the people of that world had decades and resources to study many things . Meanwhile, Leon discovered a new type of skill just by himself . Still, because he wasn't that creative learning anything aside from offensive magic, he was stuck in that world .

'What type of magic the soldiers of this world exactly use?' Leon asked, wondering if now he could take down a small team of soldiers by himself .

'I guess it is evolved form of the magic you taught me at the very beginning,◆◆◆ Darya explained . 'People here tend to focus on Pyromancy, Cryomancy, and skills like that . With that kind of skill, the soldiers here can learn new spells almost instantly . However, instead of doing that, they focus on strengthening those skills in order to stop harvesters like the fire titan . '

Leon nodded; he could see the logic behind that . That kind of thinking would truly make soldiers specialized in opponents that were also specialized in some types of elemental magic . Although soldiers wouldn't obtain that many status points, they would be able to react and do many things even without using offensive spells . It was the best way to raise an army that could do many things, but it was the most efficient way to stop the growth of some individuals that grow to become much stronger, even using the basic version of that kind of skill .

Considering that those seven were fake harvesters, they belong to at least to worlds that reached the third stage of assimilation . They had at least a few hundreds of years to grow stronger, even though they chose a world that had opponents that didn't pose much of a threat to them, Leon couldn't hope to defeat them without the surprise element . Instead, trying anything aside from that was close to madness .

‘Still . . . we have grown a lot in the last few months . Maybe it is about time to create and upgrade at the same time the mithril rings of the lichs . ‘

Leon created some equipment made of mithril, but all of those only had generic spec . He would have to develop specialized versions to caught the harvesters by surprise and knock them down . Unfortunately, he was fighting against aquatic monsters, and it was stupid to hope that those would give Leon bonuses that would increase his fire and earth magic . That being said, the rings of mithril would continue to be useful against all harvesters and even more before the battles .

‘I guess it is about time to create better rings and pay a visit to Anton,’ Leon said . ‘We probably are powerful enough to survive any trap that god of death may have prepared for us . ‘

‘Shouldn't we learn Zen ourselves instead of creating magic items that have that skill ?‘ Darya asked .

‘That would usually be the case . . . but how do you feel when you have that ring equipped ?‘ Leon asked .

‘Calm and relaxed . . . even while we fight against monsters .’ Darya furrowed her eyebrows .

‘That is because the ring forces you to stay in that state,’ Leon explained .
‘You will probably get nervous if you get wounded or if we see an unusually powerful foe, but the effects of the ring won’t disappear . However, the same can’t be applied if you learn the skill . Because the skill will be under your control .’

‘Ah . . . that makes sense .’ Darya nodded . ‘But what about the extra status points?’

‘Don’t worry, we will learn it eventually,’ Leon answered . ‘The problem is, to learn that skill, we will have to reach the next stage of meditation . . . I’m guessing that we will have to truly clear our minds and body to the external world to learn that skill . Meaning, in that state, we won’t be able to feel, hear, or notice anything that may approach us . . . our notion of time will deviate . So, I think we should get more powerful before we try something like that .’

‘ . . . You keep growing stronger, but you never drop your guard .’ Darya sighed . ‘I don’t know if you are cautious or just a scaredy-cat .’

Leon could only shrug after hearing that both options were probably right, but he would instead think of himself as someone cautious .

Three months passed in the blink of an eye, while Leon was practicing Magma Spear like a madman, he noticed it would take years before he could obtain the power to destroy the harvesters limbs using a single spell . Maybe if Leon could learn something that had more potential than Magma Spear, things could be different, but he had no time for that . So, Leon developed another passive skill that could multiply the growing speed of his spells and even increase the amount of damage he could cause at the same time .

Congratulations! You have learned the skill: Multi-Conjuration .

You obtained 01 status points .

The trigger to learn that skill was to create two identical magic projectiles at the same time and fire both of them . The cost of mana duplicated, but just like that, Leons damage output increased . The stronger the spell, the faster the skill leveled up, so soon, the skill reached level ten, and Leon now could shot three Magma Spears at the same time .

The speed you learn new skills sometimes scares me...Darya frowned . I dont remember seeing anything like that being show in any the footages that were revealed to the public in the battles against the harvesters .

Really? Leon rubbed his chin . I guess I have some talent in learning and discovering ways to increase my powers... that being said, the people of this planet discovered this that I always wanted to learn but had no idea how to replicate . So, you shouldnt feel that impressed .

That made sense, but the thing was, the people of that world had decades and resources to study many things . Meanwhile, Leon discovered a new type of skill just by himself . Still, because he wasnt that creative learning anything aside from offensive magic, he was stuck in that world .

What type of magic the soldiers of this world exactly use? Leon asked, wondering if now he could take down a small team of soldiers by himself .

I guess it is evolved form of the magic you taught me at the very beginning,◆◆◆ Darya explained . People here tend to focus on Pyromancy, Cryomancy, and skills like that . With that kind of skill, the soldiers here can learn new spells almost instantly . However, instead of doing that, they focus on strengthening those skills in order to stop harvesters like the fire titan .

Leon nodded; he could see the logic behind that . That kind of thinking would truly make soldiers specialized in opponents that were also specialized in some types of elemental magic . Although soldiers wouldnt obtain that many status points, they would be able to react and do many things even without using offensive spells . It was the best way to raise an army that could do many things, but it was the most efficient way to stop the growth of some individuals that grow to become much stronger, even using the basic version of that kind of skill .

Considering that those seven were fake harvesters, they belong to at least to worlds that reached the third stage of assimilation . They had at least a few hundreds of years to grow stronger, even though they chose a world that had opponents that didnt pose much of a threat to them, Leon couldnt hope to defeat them without the surprise element . Instead, trying anything aside from that was close to madness .

Still . . . we have grown a lot in the last few months . Maybe it is about time to create and upgrade at the same time the mithril rings of the liches .

Leon created some equipment made of mithril, but all of those only had generic spec . He would have to develop specialized versions to caught the harvesters by surprise and knock them down . Unfortunately, he was fighting against aquatic monsters, and it was stupid to hope that those would give Leon bonuses that would increase his fire and earth magic . That being said, the rings of mithril would continue to be useful against all harvesters and even more before the battles .

I guess it is about time to create better rings and pay a visit to Anton, Leon said . We probably are powerful enough to survive any trap that god of death may have prepared for us .

Shouldnt we learn Zen ourselves instead of creating magic items that have that skill ? Darya asked .

That would usually be the case . . . but how do you feel when you have that ring equipped ? Leon asked .

Calm and relaxed . . . even while we fight against monsters . Darya furrowed her eyebrows .
