Chapter 181: Flustered!

Weibo.

Yang Yue Chen had been supporting Jiang Li and Chen Juan, but after watching the videos, she quietly went to delete her previous post. However, the netizens didn't let her off the hook.

"There's no point in deleting the post. We have already taken a screenshot of it!"

"Chen Juan is your greatly respected teacher. It seems that you also didn't manage to escape Jiang Li's grasp back then. From now on, stop acting like a celebrity. We all know the truth in our hearts."

"I, Yang Yue Chen, can vouch that this highly respected teacher would not do such an act..."

"Today, everything is made clear. It turns out that she is not such a good person after all."

Yang Yue Chen was regretting her actions, but it was already too late. At that time, her intentions had been to curry her teacher's favor. Who knew that there would be such a change of events? In the end, she just turned off Weibo. One wouldn't worry about what one couldn't see.

However, the one that suffered the worst wrath of the netizens was Jiang Chen Yu. Even though his Weibo post had been deleted, the netizens had taken a screenshot already. It was one particular sentence that the netizens especially quoted.

"Teacher Jiang helped you to tackle your introverted nature. It seems that he used certain methods to help you tackle the problem."

"Brothers, I just knew that this person was a little sissy. It is no wonder that you sold your butt to Jiang Li to get famous. I really couldn't tell."

"That's disgusting. I'm no longer a fan of him."

...

All the celebrities that had stood by Jiang Li and Chen Juan were flustered. They hadn't thought that the situation would have such a drastic change of events. Since this was the case, they urgently went to delete their posts on Weibo so as to signify that they had no part to play in the matter.

Even though this issue that they were involved in would go up on the news, it was still a scandal. All the reputation that they had built up before this would most probably crumble.

At this moment, many of the celebrities that had gotten dragged into the situation were filled with hate, especially the female celebrities that had graduated at the hands of Jiang Li and Chen Juan. One by one, they posted on Weibo to refute the rumors.

They didn't want to be involved in this matter at all.

Jiang Li and Chen Juan were already stunned by this. They had no idea how those videos had been taken. They were in constant confrontation with each other, but in the end, they both had no alternatives out of this.

The videos had been through professional inspections and there were proven to be real and trustable. The leaders from Starlight Film School were extremely anxious.

They had had their suspicions about this matter from the beginning. However, since Jiang Li and Chen Juan held high positions in Starlight Film School, they had chosen to trust them instead. Since then, they had been trying to suppress the spread of the issue. After all, regardless of whether the matter was true or false, it had already had a tremendous impact on them.

But now that the concrete evidence was out, there was no room left for argument.

On-site.

The Director of Starlight Film School pointed at the two of them on the computer screen. He was so angry that he was lost for words. He had been completely played by them.

Starlight Film School immediately released a press statement. The issue had actually already quietened down before, but the release of the videos had thrown it straight back into the eye of the storm. If they didn't release an answer to satisfy the public, their reputation would really be harmed because of those two.

As of now, they were under great scrutinization. They had never expected the matter to change like that. The videos had already spread like wildfire and it was too late for them to do anything now. If they still decided to attempt to suppress the issue, what would the outcome be? Who would shoulder the responsibility?

Jiang Li and Chen Juan had already been put under supervision. They would be kept away from any interaction with anyone for as long as the outcome wasn't out.

However, when the netizens saw their press release, they got even angrier.

"There already is concrete evidence. What's there to investigate? A wool thread?"

"The brother above, don't be overly anxious. The process is as such. The outcome will be out very soon."

"Starlight Film School is definitely more anxious than us right now. They wouldn't throw their reputation to the ground just for those two people."

It was all because of this matter that people from all walks of life had decided to voice out their concerns.

Capital Film School: "We hope Starlight Film School will be able to deal with this fairly."

Shanghai Drama School: "The art world doesn't need such pests."

...

Cloud Street.

Wu You Lan was happily pouncing around. "Master Lin, you are just too good! How did you get those videos?"

Lin Fan shrugged his shoulders. "I meant what I said when I said that I downloaded those videos. Don't you trust me?"

Wu You Lan didn't believe him. Neither did Fraud Tian.

What a boast.

However, they were also exhilarated at this development. With the change of the events, in the end, there would be a just way of settling the issue.

Lin Fan was scrolling through his own Weibo.

"Master Lin, I am so sorry. I was too rash. I thought that you did what you did to become famous."

"Master Lin isn't such a person. For everything he does, he definitely has an underlying reason for doing so."

"Watching those videos, I am really frustrated. I never knew that such people could exist."

"I've just learned that all the celebrities whom Master Lin had flamed have decided to forgive him. Not only that, they also gave him some praise."

"However, is it true that you really downloaded those videos? How come I have a feeling that you're lying?"

"The person above me, what are you talking about? Of course Master Lin really downloaded those videos. Do you want Master Lin to be in trouble?"

...

At this moment, one particular Weibo post caught the attention of Lin Fan.

Web Inspector: "I have already watched those two videos. Master Lin has a good motive. However, there is suspected illegal activity. As such, we have already informed the Shanghai Web Supervisors. We hope that Master Lin will cooperate with us and come in for investigation."

When this post was sent out, the netizens were extremely angry.

"Wow, what logic is there in this? Master Lin has already said that he obtained those videos by downloading them, what more do you want?"

"B*stard. Even if Master Lin did hack into their network to obtain those videos, what he's doing is a good deed. On what basis do you have to conduct an investigation on him?"

"Exactly...f*cking Web Inspectors."

"Support +1"

...

Lin Fan heaved a sigh upon reading that Weibo. The worst he feared had indeed come.

Not long after, a group of Web Supervisors arrived in front of his shop.

One of the guys said, "How are you, Master Lin? I'm Li Xiangrong from the Shanghai Web Supervisors. Regarding those videos that were secretly taken, we would like to ask you a few questions."

Those Web Supervisors were clear on the situation and were all filled with admiration for Master Lin. However, the law still had to be obeyed.

Lin Fan laughed, "Sure, no problem. I will definitely comply."

Li Xiangrong asked, "May I ask how you obtained those videos?"

Lin Fan replied, "I downloaded those videos from a small website online. I originally wanted to watch a movie, but who knew that I downloaded those videos instead?"

The Web Supervisors didn't trust him. Following their orders, they asked him a few more questions, then decided to go to Lin Fan's apartment.

Inside the house.

Lin Fan pointed at the old computer, "I used that computer to download those videos. Right now, it should still be downloading a few movies. I'm just not sure if it's done."

One of the Web Supervisors went to inspect the computer. Looking at the contents of the movies he was downloading, he was stunned. He thought that Master Lin was a genius to be able to download a few gigabytes of videos at once."

The technical experts continued checking the computer and were trying to follow some backend traces.

Lin Fan had faith in the Encyclopedia.

Before long, the technical experts gave a report. It was indeed true that Master Lin had downloaded those videos from a small website online.

However, the Web Supervisors knew that it was impossible, yet they were full of appraisal for Master Lin's skills. Those two b*stards should be subjected to the law.

Li Xiangrong said, "We're done. Thank you for your cooperation. It is indeed true that you obtained those two videos from the web. However, please be reminded that those videos are prohibited inside our country. It is illegal to spread it."

Lin Fan nodded his head. "Understood, understood."

*Ding*

A loud and crisp ringing sound was heard. The video download had been completed!

The technical experts had already recorded down the name of the website and were going back to block the website. However, seeing that the video download had been completed, the title of the file caught their attention. They opened the file.

A shocking noise came from the video.

"Gourd doll, gourd doll, seven flowers lay above a cane, and when the wind and rain came, it wasn't scared. Lalalalala..."

Chapter 182: Don't snatch the gift from Elder Dog!

One simple 'Gourd Doll' song had devastated many people's youth. Their many hours of hope were all gone in a second.

The Encyclopedia was indeed very reliable. It even had a backup plan ready. It was as if it knew something like that would happen.

He knew that the Web Supervisors did not actually want to investigate him. They were just going through the motion. They were personally people with a huge sense of justice. They knew that many of these cases required evidence from the net. However, for this matter, they were secretly praising Lin Fan.

If they were really to conduct their investigation, it would definitely not be as simple as crafting a few sentences.

As the Web Supervisors were leaving, Li Xiangrong patted Lin Fan on his shoulders, "All the best. Please don't learn from 'Heavenly Wolf Dog' and use your abilities for dishonest practices."

'Heavenly Wolf Dog' got unjustly wronged.

Lin Fan laughed, "I have always been a good citizen."

After sending the Web Supervisors out the door, he collapsed on his sofa and let out a huge sigh. A huge smile emerged on his face. Even though he was only left with 18 Encyclopedic points, it had all been worth it.

At this moment, Wang Ming Yang was ringing him.

Wang Ming Yang said, "Brother, is everything fine on your side? I read on Weibo that the Web Supervisors went to look for you?"

Lin Fan gripped his phone and laughed out loud, "No problem. How can a good citizen like me have any problems?"

Wang Ming Yang: "That's good to hear. I was all prepared to use my name to bail you out."

Lin Fan chuckled, "Bail my a*s. Would a good citizen like me ever do anything against the law? I didn't deliberately download those videos."

Wang Ming Yang replied with a cunning laugh, "If I trust you, I must be possessed."

He hung up the call. Before long, another call came in.

Fraud Tian said, "How was it? There's nothing wrong right?"

A sequence of expressions burst out of Lin Fan, "Sigh... It's a tragedy. I might have to go to jail..."

"Ah..." Fraud Tian was shocked. After which, he replied, "No worries. You can go. I'll take care of the shop for you."

Lin Fan: "..."

Fraud Tian didn't have a single bit of worry. He didn't even give any thought on how to save Lin Fan. He really was a dog.

...

The next day.

Lin Fan was no longer following the issue on Weibo. The rest of the situation was up to the officials to deal with. This was the most he could do.

However, Xia Yi Mo sent him a private message. She was showing her appreciation towards him, and at the same time, she reported something to him.

She had been sabotaged by Jiang Li and Chen Juan and had been expelled. After Starlight Film School did some investigation, she was allowed back into the school and was also given some form of compensation. At the same time, they shouldered the responsibility for the losses that Xia Yi Mo had suffered as a result of the Weibo incident.

Jiang Li and Chen Juan dealt with the matter very swiftly. There was quite a lot of information available on the videos and it involved even more people. However, in order to settle the public opinions, Starlight Film School didn't dare to procrastinate any longer. At this point, it wasn't a matter of just trying to suppress the issue as and when they liked, but it was to give the followers some sort of notice. At the same time, the higher-ups looked at this matter very seriously. This gave Starlight Film School a lot of pressure. Jiang Li and Chen Juan were stripped of their positions and were subjected to investigation. It was the end for these two people. It didn't matter how large of a support they had, it was of no use. Under such circumstances, no one dared to take any risks.

Inside the shop.

Elder Dog Nicholas was lying atop Lin Fan's legs with his eyes closed. It was quietly laying there.

Lin Fan was using his phone. Originally, his follower count on Weibo had dropped tremendously, but now, it had increased significantly. He now had three million followers!

"Hehe, I'm now an Internet celebrity!"

However, he knew that his follower count would drop again. It was only for this period when he had gained the attention of many netizens that he gained so many followers. It wouldn't be long before his follower count would drop once more.

He was no celebrity, nor did he have any entertainment skills. He also wasn't an entertaining Internet star. He knew that he would be forgotten by the netizens without anything to attract their attention.

At this moment, Zhao Zhong Yang took out his phone and went over to Lin Fan. "Master Lin! I, as your fan, would like to give thanks to you!"

Since he was bored, he decided to do a broadcast. As soon as the live stream display popped up, his audience started sending gifts.

"I finally get to see my Master Lin. How exciting!"

"Say no more. I've sent a gift. Master Lin is way too domineering."

"666...I have been following this issue from the beginning to the end. Only Master Lin dared to challenge them. He is a true warrior."

"Master Lin, I'm a pretty girl. I like you. I have a great figure. I have a D cup. I can let you get real comfortable. Do you want to be my boyfriend?"

"666...young girl, if Master Lin is not willing, I am."

Little Brother also wants to be God Hao: "Master Lin, thank you so much! After roaming around in the garden for two days, I have finally found my significant other and have since left the single life!"

Lin Fan finally spoke on his live stream. "Congratulations to this 'Little Brother also wants to be God Hao' on finding his significant other! It seems that my predictions are still pretty accurate."

Little Brother also wants to be God Hao: "Say no more. During this month, even if I have to eat dirt, I will send a hundred rockets to show my appreciation to you, Master Lin."

Master Lin clapped his hands. "No need to send gifts. Save the money for dating use. When dating, money is a must. If you really must send, just one will do."

Little Brother also wants to be God Hao: "Much thanks to Master Lin for your understanding. One is definitely not enough. I'll send 10 first. I'll top up the rest another time."

10 rockets started flying.

One rocket already cost 500 dollars. 'Little Brother also wants to be God Hao' had used 5000 dollars in a blink of an eye. From Lin Fan's point of view, doing live streams could sometimes be a great way to earn money. This was because they were all imaginary goods. You don't feel a thing when sending them. However, if it were actual cash, it would be a different story.

"666, Little Brother is really talented."

"Master Lin is a really good person, unlike other broadcasters. They only want gifts."

"Master Lin I beg you to help me read my fortune. I have already been alone for thirty years. I have already mastered all my skills, but now I just need to find love."

Lin Fan laughed, "Sorry everyone, if you want your marriage fate to be read, you can come down to Shanghai Cloud Street, Shop No. 8861 to find Master Lin. I will be waiting here for anyone to visit."

Zhao Zhongyang was watching from the corner and he was very envious of Master Lin. He realized that even on his own live stream, Master Lin was more welcomed than himself. He then looked at the lens and mumbled, "You all don't love me anymore. You'll be losing this baby soon."

The sad expression on Zhao Zhongyang caused some of the audience to laugh out loud.

Little Brother also wants to be God Hao: "Brother Yang, my gift is for Master Lin. Don't use it for your own selfish reasons."

Zhao Zhongyang slapped his own forehead, displaying his grief. "You actually dare to think that I would use Master Lin's gift for my own selfish reasons? You've really hurt me..."

"666...Brother Yang, don't cry."

"Brother God Hao, your words are too honest. Look what you've done! You've hurt Brother Yang."

Lin Fan laughed while looking at this discussion. At that moment, Elder Dog Nicholas woke up. He lifted his head and looked directly at the live stream. His eyes were lifeless as if he had just woken up.

The netizens watching the live stream went crazy after seeing Elder Dog Nicholas. The gifts kept coming in.

"Brother Yang, this gift is for Elder Dog. Don't you dare snatch it from him."

Zhao Zhongyang: "..."

Lin Fan laughed. However, at this moment, he looked out and saw that something had happened.

Chapter 183: Sister Hong's missing daughter

On the opposite side of the road, at Sister Hong's shop, there were several policemen in the shop. The doorway of the shop was surrounded by the shop owners and there were even townsfolk preparing to buy scallion pancakes.

Lin Fan asked curiously, "Fraud Tian, what happened over there at Sister Hong's shop?"

Fraud Tian took a puff from his cigarette before putting his phone down. He replied, "I don't know. I'll go over and check it out."

Zhao Zhong Yang pointed his phone camera outside and he said, "Looks like there's some commotion across the road. I have no idea what is going on."

"Brother Yang, let's go check it out."

"When there's trouble, there's Brother Yang. Brother Yang, hurry up and bring us there to take a look."

...

Lin Fan stood at the doorway and looked on with a puzzled expression. Suddenly, Fraud Tian rushed over and told him, "Something big has happened, Sister Hong's daughter is gone."

"How can it be?" Lin Fan remembered that when he had reached the shop just now, she had still been playing with her poodle, how could she suddenly disappear?

Wu You Lan walked over to the other side and Lin Fan followed her as he was also curious about what was going on.

When they got to Sister Hong's shop, the people surrounding the shop were all in deep discussion. They were wondering if the child had been kidnapped, something which was appearing more and more frequently on the news.

"What happened?" Lin Fan stood outside and asked some of the shop owners.

"Little Boss, Sister Hong's daughter is missing. She searched for her for 20 minutes, searching the whole of Cloud Street to no avail. Afterward, she reported it to the police and they came down to see what's going on," one of the owners replied.

Lin Fan kept squeezing his way until he made it into the shop. He saw Sister Hong's face streaming with tears, looking completely stunned while she was being questioned by police officers.

"My little girl..." Sister Hong did not know what to do, she was just pinning all her hopes on the police.

Lin Fan stepped forward and asked, "Sister Hong, what in the world happened?"

When Sister Hong saw Lin Fan, it was like she saw a glimmer of hope. She grabbed Lin Fan's hands and said, "Little Boss, you've got to help me. My little girl is gone. I've searched all over Cloud Street and I still can't find her."

Lin Fan sympathized with Sister Hong and understood how she was feeling. At that moment, Sister Hong grabbed onto the policeman next to her and very anxiously asked him, "Have you found her? Have you guys found her yet?"

The policeman's palm had been squeezed by Sister Hong until it was red but they were also very anxious themselves. They said to her, "Calm down, this is not the time for panic. We are going through the video footage right now."

Lin Fan walked to the small room in the back and saw a policeman looking at the screen, staring at the footage from the past half an hour.

"Officer sir, how is it? Did you find anything new?" Lin Fan asked.

The policeman saw Lin Fan and he was stunned for a moment. He recognized Lin Fan. He had seen him before when he had been working with Chief Liu.

"Still nothing so far, Master Lin. I'm still at the part where she is playing with the dog. I'll be reaching the important part soon," the policeman replied.

Lin Fan looked at the monitor and saw a few women in the shop looking at clothing. The little girl was outside the shop playing with her poodle and Sister Hong was interacting with her customers, who were looking at various pieces of clothing.

"Hold on," Lin Fan said.

The policeman paused the video and on the screen, there was a lady looking down and walking out of the shop and for some unknown reason, the poodle started following her. Naturally, the little girl followed as well.

The screen also showed Sister Hong still interacting with her customers, oblivious to the fact that her daughter had left the shop.

If only they could capture the lady's face and scan it, then they would be able to find her. However, the images captured by the camera were unclear and they could not see the face at all.

The policeman said, "The surveillance cameras only capture until this point. We feel that this lady on the screen is extremely suspicious. We must check the cameras on the outside."

Lin Fan replied, "The surrounding shops all have surveillance cameras installed. Maybe we'll be able to see which direction they went off in."

Afterward, the police left the shop to go to the surrounding shops to check out the surveillance footage.

Sister Hong was lying down in her shop while Wu You Lan was watching over her. Just as Lin Fan was about to leave the shop and follow the policemen, out of nowhere, Sister Hong had a sudden jolt of energy and ran towards them. She frantically asked them, "Have you found...have you found her?"

Lin Fan tried to comfort her, "Sister Hong, don't worry, we already have a general idea of what happened. We're going to the shop next door to check out the surveillance footage. Hopefully, we'll find some leads."

Along the street, this was the only shop whose surveillance camera was able to capture what was happening along the road. The rest of the cameras were all pointed towards their own shop's doorway, unable to see anything happening on the road.

Right now, since they were running out of leads, all the other shop owners were very anxious as well. They had been neighboring Sister Hong's shop for a very long time and they all loved her daughter. They would not be able to rest easy today if they did not know she was okay.

"Quick, everyone, go check your surveillance cameras, see if you all can find any leads."

"Our modern day networking is so advanced, it might be worth a try posting her picture on WeChat to see if we get any leads."

Sister Hong was paralyzed and glued to the floor, her face was pale and lifeless. Afterward, she blamed herself by saying, "It's all because of me. If my little girl doesn't come back, how am I going to live with myself?"

Lin Fan, in an attempt to comfort her, said, "Sister Hong, don't worry, we will definitely find her."

Fraud Tian brought him to the side and asked, "Can you use your fortune-telling to read where she is?"

Lin Fan shook his head and replied, "I can't. If only we could get a picture of the lady's face, only then would we have a chance."

Fraud Tian was a little confused and did not get it. He then proceeded to ask Lin Fan, "Don't they have a picture of the little girl? Why don't you just use that and you'll be able to find her."

Lin Fan replied, "It's no use, I've tried already. There are way too many possibilities. It's impossible to calculate."

Lin Fan then asked the policeman, "Can't we just use the cameras along the road? Maybe we'll be able to find something."

The police replied, "We already have someone on it. However, it's a tough and tedious job. I'm afraid it'll take too long and by then they will be long gone."

Sister Hong had already entered a state of complete panic. She had no idea what to do and didn't have any semblance of direction at all.

"Sister Hong, post her picture online. Looks like we'll have to rely on the good Samaritans online. Hopefully, they will be able to help us. The manpower will also be much larger," Lin Fan said as he himself felt powerless and unable to help. He was not a god after all. If only he knew how to track people, then that would be great.

"Yes, yes, post it online. There's still hope."

The surround townsfolk were in deep conservation, all coming up with various ways to try to find her. When faced with this kind of issues, everyone was very caring, especially since, deep down, everyone was still very kind-hearted. Though not a certainty, getting so many hands involved may just lead to this situation taking a turn for the better.

Zhao Zhong Yang broadcasted to everyone, " Hello everyone, let's get the search for the girl started. Master Lin has already posted the girl's pictures and features on his Weibo. Everyone, please go online and share it with your social circles. If you guys find the girl, I vow that I, Zhao Zhong Yang, will post a photo of myself in female clothing on my Weibo."

"D*mn, it must be those child traffickers again. Once we find them, we'll beat them to death."

"Everyone, quickly go and study her picture as well as spread it around."

"Even if there wasn't the promise of seeing him crossdress, I'd still help. But now, I feel even more motivated.

Lin Fan went to post her picture and particulars online, knowing that all that was left now was for him to try his best to find her.

By now, Lin Fan's Weibo had become very popular. Once the news of the missing girl started spreading, everyone went and posted it around.

...

Chapter 184: My little daughter is gone

In the store, Lin Fan was rubbing his fingers together and trying to figure out where she was for real and not just for show this time. He had finally realized that the Encyclopedia, as good as it was, could not defy the natural laws of the world. The technique of fortune telling could be used to see a lot of things, but there were some things that simply couldn't be read.

It was just like the whole Qin Chuan incident. He had been able to roughly figure out where he was just by checking his picture. However, he knew that it had been because the Heavens were fair and wouldn't let the bad go without punishment, thus he had been able to get help from them.

However, in this situation, the lady's facial features were not very clear and the little girl could've have gone anywhere. There were simply too many possibilities for him to consider. If it was before this whole fiasco had even happened, he would have been able to foresee that this would happen to the little girl. But now that it had happened, it was way too late.

Wu Tian He was standing at the side and shaking his head. He said, "People frequently say that fortune telling can change the future. However, it is only before the dawn of time that you can actually change your future. Once it has started, it's impossible to change your future and you can only rely on the Will of Heaven."

Lin Fan nodded his head. He understood what Wu Tian He was trying to say and he agreed with him.

Wu You Lan looked on with a face of concern and asked, "Is there any news from anyone?"

Lin Fan went to check his Weibo and there were a lot of private messages. However, looking at these messages just made him feel more frustrated.

"I have information, but I'll only give it for ten thousand dollars."

"I've seen this kid before, but I'm not going to tell you anything just to make you anxious."

When everyone saw these messages, they were also extremely furious.

Zhao Zhong Yang, with a lot of anger in his voice, said, "To be able to say these kinds of things, these people's souls must be filled with darkness."

Wu You Lan, who was even angrier, said, "If these people were here right now, I'd give them a big and hard slap."

...

A black-colored Volkswagen was stopped at the traffic light, waiting for the color to change.

Inside, there were 2 ladies and the driver in front was a middle-aged man who looked very good-natured.

One of the ladies, who was a little bigger sized, was hugging a small girl and at her feet was a small poodle which looked extremely afraid and was shivering in fear.

"We've got a pretty good haul this time. This little girl is not bad and should fetch a pretty good price," the dark-skinned lady at her side said with a little laughter.

The fat lady also laughed and replied, "Do you guys think we should sell this to Wang Er Mazi and let him sell her overseas or give her to Li Xiao Biao and let him break her legs and make her beg for money?"

The dark-skinned lady took a glance at the little girl. She let out an evil expression and said, "Sell her to Li Xiao Biao, break her legs and bring her to the subway in the south to beg for money."

The man driving laughed and said, "You are really too cruel. She's such a small and cute little girl. If we just sell her to Wang Er Mazi, we'll make a pretty good amount of money."

The fat lady then said, "I think we should just sell her to Wang Er Mazi. This small girl is quite pretty so I think we will definitely be able to fetch at least three thousand dollars."

At this moment, the driver's attention heightened as he said, "Watch out, the traffic police are coming."

The driver lowered his window and said, "Is there a problem?"

The policeman replied, "Just a routine check. Can I see your driving license?"

The driver laughed and presented his license. He said, "Must be my lucky day. I've been checked 3 times already."

The policeman looked at the license and laughed. He replied, "I'm very sorry, it's just a temporary regulation. There was a post on Weibo about a little girl being taken away by child traffickers. So if you see anything about it, please report it to the police."

The driver's heart was beating quickly, but on the outside, he let out a smile and replied, "Yes, definitely. These child traffickers are really too heartless. It must be so heartbreaking for those families who lost their children."

The policeman passed the license back and said, "Yes, it really is very sad. What happened to your kid at the back?"

The poodle at the back started to make a lot of noise but it was stopped by the dark-skinned lady who grabbed its neck and said, "Little Flowers, be quiet."

The fat lady who was hugging the little girl laughed and replied, "Officer sir, the child is sick and asleep now. We are bringing her to see a doctor."

The policeman nodded and said, "Then I shall not hold you up. Quickly go to the hospital. The child's health is very important."

The driver took his license back and replied with a bit of laughter, "Thank you. Your job must be tough on you."

The policeman laughed and then went to check the vehicles behind as the Volkswagen drove off.

Inside the car, the dark-skinned lady took out her phone and went to check Weibo. She realized that the girl was trending on Weibo with millions of people discussing it. She said, "I never thought it would blow up so much. It's only been on the internet for 10 minutes and it is already trending all over the world."

The fat lady said, "Looks like we can't sell this girl to Wang Er Mazi. Looks like Li Xiao Biao is our only option."

The dark-skinned lady nodded and said, "Mmm, we better tell Li Xiao Biao to use hot water and burn the little girl's face. Otherwise, she would be easily recognizable. Also, there's this d*mn dog that we need to go and sell. We should be able to get some money for it."

The driver said, "We should go to a deserted area to hide this little girl before we contact Li Xiao Biao and deliver her to him at night. That sounds like a safer plan."

...

Cloud Street.

Lin Fan was constantly checking his Weibo, reading every single message that he received. However, most of the messages were people asking about the situation and none of them were even providing any information.

A townsfolk inquired, "Master Lin, how is the Weibo situation?"

Lin Fan shook his head and said, "For now, there isn't anything. The situation is getting direr and direr as time passes and if we pass 6 hours without any information, it will be extremely hard to find her."

The townsfolk shook their heads and one of them said, "Sigh, even though child traffickers are becoming more and more creative with their methods, we can't even seem to deal with a simple kind where the child was just taken like this in the open."

Another person said, "Yes, I agree. One of my friends had his child taken by a trafficker. They checked everywhere and even now are searching all over the world and they still have no idea what happened."

At this moment, Wu You Lan came over from Sister Hong's side with a black face. She had gone over to comfort Sister Hong but Sister Hong still looked like a lifeless corpse, without a single bit of energy in her.

Lin Fan asked, "How is Sister Hong?"

Wu You Lan shook her head and said, "She is still the same. Her husband came over and didn't dare to scold her. He's also trying to comfort her. I think that if we do not find her child, Sister Hong's condition will become really bad.

Everyone sighed. They really wanted to help but they had no idea how to. It was like finding a needle in a haystack.

At this moment, Elder Dog Nicholas ran from outside and in through the door. He had a gloomy expression as he let out 2 barks.

No one except Lin Fan understood what he was saying. He knew that what the dog meant was 'Where is my mistress? Why isn't she here?'.

"Your mistress has been taken by someone. You'll never be able to see her again," Lin Fan said as he faced Elder Dog Nicholas.

The surrounding residents were all confused, wondering why Lin Fan was talking to a dog, and wondering if the dog could even understand what Lin Fan was saying.

Zhang Zhong Yang looked at the live broadcast. His fans were all helping to spread the news but none of them had any new information.

"This is scary. Master Lin is talking to a dog. I think we should be worried."

...

*Woof woof!*

Elder Dog Nicholas let out a bark at Lin Fan.

"My mistress can't possibly be taken by other people. She can smell her way back home."

Lin Fan let out a laugh but suddenly started to stare blankly.

He asked the dog, "Are you able to follow a smell back to its owner?"

At this point in time, everyone was dumbfounded. They saw a man and a dog having a conversation and they had no idea what they were saying.

One of the townsfolk said, "Master Lin, we know that you're very kind and anxious, but what good does talking to a dog do? How does this help us find them?"

...

Chapter 185: The amazing Elder Dog

Everyone thought Lin Fan was definitely crazy, if not, why would he be talking to a dog. The worst part was, they looked like they were having a proper conversation, each of them taking turns to talk. When Lin Fan spoke, they understood everything but when Elder Dog Nicholas spoke, they had no idea what he was saying. They could only hear the dog's 'woof woof' and each call didn't really sound different from the others.

One of the townsfolk said, "Master Lin, are you okay?"

They all felt as if Lin Fan was just talking to himself. Lin Fan told them to keep quiet and he turned back to look at Elder Dog Nicholas.

"Can you find her?"

*Woof woof*

What Elder Dog Nicholas said was, "Of course I can. My nose can sniff out anything."

Lin Fan's heart started to tremble. He wondered how had he not thought of this in the first place. He said to Elder Dog Nicholas, "If I gave you something to smell, would you be able to find out where the owner is?"

Elder Dog Nicholas replied, "Yes, I can."

Lin Fan smiled and said, "Then can you help us with our search?"

Elder Dog Nicholas laid down on the floor and said, "Why do we have to find her?"

Lin Fan replied, "She's been taken by child traffickers and she's in danger."

Elder Dog Nicholas blinked his black little dog eyes and replied, "What are child traffickers? Why are they dangerous?"

Lin Fan felt that even though he could communicate with Elder Dog Nicholas, in the end, he was still a dog and would have limited knowledge of this kind of human things. Thus, Lin Fan knew that he would have to think of more creative tactics.

Lin Fan said, "As long as you find her, there will be scallion pancakes for you to eat everyday. Also, you can eat as many of them as you want."

Elder Dog Nicholas, who initially had no interest in helping at all, suddenly stood up and was hopping around on his four tiny legs.

*Woof woof woof*

The surrounding residents all had no idea what the dog was saying but at that moment they could all sense the happiness of the dog.

All the people who were listening to the live broadcast were all completely dumbstruck.

"Sh*t, don't tell me that Master Lin can really understand the dog's language."

"Look at them carefully, it seems like they're having a conversation. For every sentence Lin Fan speaks, the Elder Dog replies with 2 barks. Especially when Lin Fan mentioned the scallion pancakes, the Elder Dog suddenly became very happy. This shows that Elder Dog understands him."

"I know that dogs can understand humans' feelings, however, dogs simply can't understand human words. Those dogs on the television that are better at understanding have been taught for a very long time and it's only a few basic commands. If they were to hear it from a different person, they wouldn't understand anything at all. Their owners spent a long time trying to teach them and whenever they give an order to their dog, they themselves would do the action to try to teach the dog. However, right here, Master Lin is just conversing with a dog directly."

"It can't be. Is he that amazing?"

"That is basically what I've seen on the news. There has never been a person capable of conversing with a dog and it seems like Master Lin is also able to understand what the dog is saying. This is truly amazing."

"666... although I don't know about the backstory behind this, it definitely has a very weird feel to it."

...

At this moment, Lin Fan got up and started walking towards Sister Hong.

Inside the shop, Sister Hong sat there, her eyes completely void of any emotions. Next to her was a man keeping her company. The expression on the man's face was also one of pain but he kept on comforting Sister Hong as he knew that she was already in a great deal of pain and he couldn't give her anymore pressure.

The man saw Master Lin enter the shop and he nodded at him. He knew how much effort Master Lin had put into helping his family find their little girl and regardless of the outcome, he was still extremely grateful for his help.

Lin Fan opened his mouth and said, "Sister Hong, do you have any of your little girl's clothing or something that she frequently uses?"

Sister Hong looked up and with a very weak voice replied, "Master Lin..."

Lin Fan replied with more urgency this time, "Sister Hong, if you want to get your little girl back, you'll get back to your senses and quickly give me the item."

The policeman on site asked Lin Fan with a hint of doubt, "Master Lin, what do you need her clothes for?"

The surrounding townsfolk immediately replied, "Master Lin wants to use the dog to find the little girl. Hurry up and give the item to Master Lin. He will definitely have a solution."

The policeman heard this and he was stunned. He felt that the idea was outrageous. He knew how powerful a dog's sense of smell was but that would only work after a long period of training. Also, the child trafficker would definitely take the little girl to a place far away. Even a well-trained dog would not be able to find her.

Sister Hong was already stuck in a state of complete shock and she had no reaction at all. However, her husband immediately went to the sales counter and started searching for an item. Eventually, he found a small yellow hat.

"Master Lin, is this alright? This is the hat that my little girl wears every time she goes to school."

Lin Fan took the hat and immediately left the shop. The surrounding residents all followed him. Sister Hong's husband supported her and they, too, followed Lin Fan.

The policeman was still in complete doubt. He felt that this was impossible and completely went against common sense.

Lin Fan brought the hat to Elder Dog Nicholas who was sitting outside the shop. He placed the hat in front of the Elder Dog's nose and said, "Elder Dog, please give it a sniff and help us find her."

The policeman saw Lin Fan taking to a small white mutt and was completely dumbfounded. He couldn't believe this was the dog he had in mind to help them. He thought Lin Fan was joking.

*Woof woof!*

Elder Dog Nicholas shouted, "I want to eat some scallion pancakes."

Lin Fan, with no hesitation at all, went to his shop and started to make the scallion pancakes."

The surrounding residents were all dumbfounded. They were wondering what in the world Lin Fan was doing. Was he not supposed to let the dog find the girl? Why was he suddenly making scallion pancakes again?

Zhang Zhong Yan took out his phone and was filming Master Lin. The people watching the live broadcast were all stunned.

"What in the world is Master Lin doing? How can he still be in the mood to be making scallion pancakes at a time like this?"

"What do all of you know? Did you guys not see the look on the dog's face? That's the expression of a very hungry dog."

"D*mn it, this Elder Dog is useless. He doesn't do anything at all."

"666...The Elder Dog is really an Elder Dog after all. If he doesn't find the girl then he should just be a d*mned dog."

"I agree."

"He is just giving the Elder Dog a treat to boost his morale."

Sister Hong's husband was starting to get a little angry. He said, "Master Lin, if you don't have an idea then you didn't have to lie to me."

Lin Fan waved him off and said, "Don't worry."

Once he finished making a scallion pancake, he immediately passed it to Elder Dog Nicholas.

Elder Dog Nicholas wolfed down the scallion pancake and finished it in no time. Afterward, he took a sniff of the small yellow hat, lifted up his head and started sniffing the air. Following that, Elder Dog Nicholas turned around and started barking at his surroundings.

*Woof woof*

After witnessing this, Lin Fan had no idea what the Elder Dog was trying to do. All of a sudden, there was the sound of barking from the surrounding streets. A few domesticated dogs from the various surrounding shops came running out. There were even a few stray dogs that came running out from the streets.

One!

Two!

...

Tens of them!

Elder Dog Nicholas' bark may not have been very loud but these dogs, with their sharp sense of hearing, had already heard the Elder Dog's call to assemble.

The residents saw all these dogs and were stunned.

"Where did these dogs come from? And why are there so many of them?"

In the broadcast room.

"Cool... this Elder Dog has called in backup."

"D*mn, there are so many of them. I've never seen anything like this before."

"F*ck, if I didn't know that this was a live broadcast I would have thought that I was watching a movie."

*Woof woof!*

*Woof woof!*

The tens of dogs were all standing next to Elder Dog Nicholas and all of them were of different breeds.

Upon hearing the call of all these dogs, Lin Fan let out a very weird expression. He was thinking that this Elder Dog was really very mighty. Having only been at Cloud Street for a short period of time, he had already become the big boss of so many dogs.

"Elder Dog Nicholas, I'm here," said one of the dogs.

"Elder Dog, I found a bone, let's go eat it together," another dog said.

Although Elder Dog Nicholas was small in stature, all the dogs were all looking up at him with their tails raised and barking towards him.

The Elder Dog said, "My owner needs to find the source of this smell. If you guys help me find it, there will be the promised scallion pancakes."

The groups of dogs all barked in unison and then frantically started smelling the small yellow hat.

Lin Fan said, "As long as you guys find the owner of this small yellow cap and come back to me, I'll prepare a feast for you guys."

Elder Dog Nicholas said, "Move out..."

*Woof woof*

To all the residents of the other streets who had no idea what was going on, seeing all these dogs frantically and aggressively roaming around was extremely scary.

At this moment, the shocking scene that was unfolding in front of their eyes left all the people stunned.

One of the townsfolk said, "Am I dreaming?"

The policeman exclaimed, "How can this be possible?"

The live broadcast room exploded with activity. None of them had seen anything like this before.

Chapter 186: The great dog operation

"Damn! Elder Dog Nicholas is unbelievable."

"Can someone please answer me if it's possible that these dogs have turned into some evil spirit?"

"My mother asked me why am I kneeling and watching the live broadcast. I told her that I've been completely shocked by it."

"This has to be sent to the Guinness World Records."

"This cannot be, no it cannot. I need to go and lie down. I must be a little malnourished and now I'm just having hallucinations."

Back at Cloud Street, it was just complete silence. All the residents could not believe what was happening in front of their eyes and they were all just stunned.

A resident asked, "Master Lin, what in the world is going on? What's up with these dogs?"

The residents all looked like they had seen a ghost. One by one they all started to stare at Master Lin as they all knew that this was all the doing of Master Lin. Although they all knew that Master Lin was amazing, however, this was really a truly amazing feat.

Lin Fan laughed and replied calmly, "Don't worry, this will definitely work."

The policeman looked at Master Lin in complete shock, wondering if he was even human. When he saw that Master Lin was capable of talking to a dog and that these dogs were also capable of understanding him, in all his years of being a policeman he had never seen anything like this before.

Sister Hong was feeling very emotional. She grabbed Lin Fan's arm and asked, "Master Lin, will you be able to find my little girl?"

Lin Fan nodded his head and said, "Don't worry, the chances of finding her are very high."

Sister Hong's husband walked up to him and said with guilt in his voice, "Master Lin I'm very sorry. Just now I thought that..."

Lin Fan waved him off and said, "I understand. I think anyone in this situation would have felt the same way."

Zhao Zhong Yang looked at the live broadcast and said, "Everyone, the Elder Dog has sent out his army to search for the little girl. I will be here on site to keep everyone updated on the latest situation. If the Elder Dog is able to find her, from today onwards, the Elder Dog will be my idol."

"+1."

"+2."

"The Elder Dog will definitely be successful."

...

On the road, a whole pack of dogs was frantically roaming around, leaving all the residents stunned.

Elder Dog Nicholas came to a halt, turned around and barked a few words to the pack, "The smell appears to be coming from 3 different directions. One group will go over there, another will follow me. If you guys don't find anything, then come back to this spot."

Woof woof!

"Yes, Elder Dog," the pack of dogs replied.

Some of the residents who had stopped to watch them had a shocked expression on their faces. They felt like the small little dog in front of them was talking to all these other dogs around. But they thought that it was not possible since they did not think dogs could communicate with each other.

After this, Elder Dog Nicholas took one group with him and headed to the north side while the remaining dogs split into 2 groups and headed to the other 2 directions.

Although Elder Dog Nicholas had very short legs, he could run pretty fast. With his four legs all working together in sync, he did not lose to the other much larger dogs.

Some of the residents took out their phones and started to record what was unfolding in front of their eyes on video. They felt that this pack of dogs was extremely scary and they had no idea where they came from.

One of the dogs following Elder Dog Nicholas was a fat and big-sized husky. He was sticking out his tongue and panting as he said, "Elder Dog, I'm too tired, I can't go on."

Elder Dog Nicholas immediately turned his head around and glared at the dog, saying, "With the way you are, how are you fit to be one of my four leaders? I'm not going to call upon you next time."

The husky grieved and then his four legs started to work like a motor, running even faster.

Elder Dog Nicholas barked loudly, "You're just a little brother, you should be following behind, why are you running so quickly?"

When they reached an alley, Elder Dog Nicholas came to a halt, he turned his head and said, "One of my companions is in danger. Come, follow me."

In the alley, there was a man in a sleeveless shirt holding onto a rope that was wrapped around a dog's neck and the dog was letting out a blood-curdling screech.

There was a smile on the man's face as he said, "Pure black Formosan mountain dogs are good for health!"

But at this moment, a stream of constant barking came from a distance and the man became very puzzled, wondering what had happened and where this barking was coming from.

Woof woof~

All of a sudden, a pack of dogs came into the alley and had the man surrounded.

The black dog who was being tied up also started to shout at him.

The man started laughing and said, "Look at all these dogs, some of them are even of an expensive breed. If I can catch all of them I'll be able to earn a small fortune."

Elder Dog Nicholas hissed, showing his teeth and took up a vicious stance. He started to slowly creep towards the man like he was getting ready to attack.

The dogs behind him all followed suit, taking a ferocious pose.

The man who had initially planned to catch all of the dogs suddenly felt a little shocked and felt the situation was a little grim.

Woof woof~

Elder Dog Nicholas' black eyes had a very fierce look in them as he held an unwavering stare at the man, almost like he was trying to warn him.

The man was starting to feel very scared. There were a lot of dogs and some of them were pretty big in size. If any of them came up and bit him, the consequences would be pretty bad. In response to this, the black dog started to struggle while the rope was around his neck.

The man seemed to understand what was going on as he let the rope go, freeing the dog and then he started to back into the corner.

The black dog let out a bark to Elder Dog Nicholas saying, "Thank you for saving me."

Elder Dog Nicholas thought for a moment and let out a bark before turning around. He said, "My name is Elder Dog Nicholas. If you want to roll with me then come and follow me."

Woof woof~

Elder Dog Nicholas moved out again, continuing to follow the smell and trying to find the origin of the smell. The black dog, with no hesitation, followed along with them.

The man who was standing in the corner swallowed his saliva and said, "It's like I've seen a ghost today."

Back on Cloud Street, the residents were still there quietly waiting. They were eagerly waiting for the outcome of the search and there were more and more residents gathering there.

At the start, they had no idea what was going on but they heard about it from other people. They heard that Master Lin had talked to the pack of dogs and sent them to go search for Sister Hong's little girl.

To these residents, the whole thing was simply unimaginable and impossible. How could a dog listen to what a human says, let alone go and find a person?

A resident said, "Master Lin, it's already been 20 minutes. Why has there not been any news at all?"

Lin Fan was extremely calm and composed. He knew that if the Elder Dog could not find her he would have come back already. If he had not come back yet, it meant that he was still searching or that the destination was very far away. However, what Lin Fan did not know was that Elder Dog Nicholas was about to get a huge breakthrough.

On the first floor of a building, Elder Dog Nicholas instructed another dog, saying, "You can go back, we have already found what we are looking for."

The Chihuahua barked. The Elder Dog knew that she was a young girl and her fighting strength was not very great so he did not want to drag her into this affair.

The two packs of dogs that split up initially had gathered to where Elder Dog Nicholas was.

Woof woof~

Woof woof~

Many different breeds of dogs were all barking in unison.

"Elder Dog, what are we doing right now?" one of the dogs inquired.

"The smell is coming from upstairs," he replied.

"Are we done with our job?" the dog asked again.

Elder Dog Nicholas let out a bark and said, "Follow me, we're going to rush in."

This building was very old, altogether having 5 stories and no lift. Also, the people living in this building were all elderly. Those taking a stroll were very curious after seeing so many dogs together.

Elder Dog Nicholas' small legs made climbing the stairs very hard. He would jump with his rear legs and then climb up with his front legs, continuously climbing up the stairs. The husky thought the Elder Dog was climbing very slowly so he grabbed him by the neck and rushed up the stairs, dragging him along.

At the fourth floor, the husky put Elder Dog down and then looked at Elder Dog, like he was expecting him to reward him. He was thinking that he was very awesome to be able to lift him up the stairs.

Elder Dog Nicholas thought for a moment before looking at the husky and then using his two front legs to kick the husky in the face, trying to stop him from being so arrogant.

Woof woof!

"Husky, go and charge into the door and then rush into the room," Elder Dog Nicholas instructed him.

Elder Dog Nicholas started to formulate his plan. He knew that with his small body he would not be able to break the door.

Bam!

Bam!

Inside the room, the two women and the man heard the sound from the door and felt a bit anxious.

The man said, "Don't make any noise, I'm going to go check it out."

The two women nodded.

The man looked through the peephole on the door and looked outside. He realized there was no one there but there was still the sound of banging on the door and there was also the sound of dogs calling.

The man turned around and laughed, "There's no one there, looks like it's just a dog."

The black-skinned lady laughed and said, "Let the dog in. We're already in contact with the dog trafficker and we can just sell him off as well."

The man nodded and let the door open. But right as he opened the door, a husky came charging into the room.

...

Chapter 187: A horrendous scene

The male driver cursed under his breath. "F*ck! What the hell is that?"

"Woof woof!"

"Woof woof!"

The barking noises became more prominent.

Elder Dog Nicholas stood at the door, barking out commands. "Go...go...go!"

Husky leaped at the male driver and licked his face, tasting him. His saliva dripped all over.

Elder Dog Nicholas looked in his direction. "Bite him."

Husky looked up, expressionless. He lunged forward and bit the male driver on his nose. The other dogs bit his shoulders and thighs.

The male driver struggled and tried to fight off the dogs, pushing them aside. "F*ck off, will you?"

Elder Dog Nicholas stood at the door as he observed the male driver standing up and running off. He immediately leaped and bit him on his crotch.

"Ah!"

The male driver screamed in agony. Elder Dog Nicholas used his super strength to bite the male driver and he was firmly latched on to his crotch region, dangling in mid-air.

The fat lady and the black woman were stunned. "Where are all these dogs coming from? They're f*cking insane."

*Barking noises.*

A group of dogs bared their teeth as they became more aggressive, charging at the two females.

"Ahhh!"

The black woman flailed her arms and was scared to death. All of the dogs have gone crazy.

The large black dog barked loudly as it dashed forward aggressively, sinking its teeth into the black woman's buttocks. She screamed out in pain.

"Woof woof!"

The thunderous chorus of barks emanated from inside the building. An army of dogs started charging towards the two women.

Monger and Tai Di wrapped themselves around the black woman's thighs, before sinking their teeth deep into her flesh, aggressively going at her.

The fat lady was pinned down by a dozen dogs, as her helpless cries pierced the air.

They were at a loss on what to do. It was a complete mystery how this situation came to be. The dogs just came out of nowhere.

If it was only a few dogs, it wouldn't be a problem since they could just brush them off. But there were ten over dogs, and it was simply a terrifying sight and a horrible experience for whoever would fall victim to the dogs.

At Cloud Street!

The people were all waiting.

Sister Hong's husband was getting anxious. He was taking too long. "Master Lin, is there any use?"

Lin Fan checked the time. It had already been forty minutes. He didn't know what was going on. But at that moment, barking sounds emanated from the behind them.

"Woof woof!"

One of the shop owners exclaimed in surprise, "That's my dog, Li Li! What's she doing here?"

The chihuahua ran over to Lin Fan, barking at him.

The townsfolk couldn't understand what the chihuahua was trying to say. It seemed like Master Lin was the only one capable of understanding it.

Sister Hong asked anxiously, "What's going on? What's going on, Master Lin?"

Lin Fan grinned cheekily. "It has been found. Let's go."

The crowd erupted in a flurry of speculation.

The townsfolk were all stunned. Could it be that it has really been found?

The policemen who were standing by had their doubts, but they were sincerely hoping and wishing that it was really true. They immediately mobilized. "Get in the car. We're going there now!"

Lin Fan picked up the chihuahua and carried him in his arms.

"Guys, we've found it. The dog that was sent to find the little girl has returned. We're headed towards the location to find the kidnapped girl now," Zhao Zhongyang broadcasted into his phone.

Upon receiving the live update, a flurry of reactions ensued.

"This is just too cool! We must definitely report this on the news, Brother Yang."

"Yea! This is just too magical to even think something like that could happen."

"Brother Yang, hurry up and follow the rest of the crew. We must survey the location ourselves."

"These human traffickers are so despicable. They'll finally get their comeuppance. Let Master Lin teach them a good lesson."

In the police car.

"Where are we headed to now?" the police officer asked.

"Which direction?" Lin Fan turned and asked the Chihuahua.

The Chihuahua replied with a bark.

Lin Fan nodded his head as he pointed the way, "Turn left at the junction ahead."

The policeman who was driving was stunned and mystified, but at this time, he could only trust Master Lin's instructions although he thought it was bogus.

"Master Lin, can we really find her?" Sister Hong asked anxiously.

"Trust me on this one, Sister Hong. You don't have to worry, we'll find her soon." Lin Fan consoled her.

The sight of Lin Fan talking to the Chihuahua was almost unbelievable. After asking the Chihuahua for directions, the Chihuahua would reply, followed by Lin Fan directing the driver.

A car followed on at the back.

Zhao Zhongyang sat in the other police car, talking on his phone. "I'm sitting in the other police car, and Master Lin is sitting in the car ahead of me. We're headed towards the location. I don't know how this is gonna turn out, but I'm hoping for a miracle to happen."

"Haha, it's time to witness a miracle happen before your very eyes."

"Once the dogs have gotten a scent of their trail, there is simply no escaping or hiding."

"If we can really find her, Elder Dog Nicholas will be famous."

When I first saw Elder Dog Nicholas, I just knew he wasn't any ordinary dog. I have faith that he will succeed."

...

After twenty minutes of driving.

"Stop the car here," Lin Fan commanded as he pointed toward the old neighborhood in front of him. "She's in this small neighborhood."

Everyone got off from their cars.

Lin Fan let the Chihuahua down onto the ground, and the Chihuahua immediately ran into the neighborhood.

The others followed behind, reaching the bottom of a building. The building had many people standing around, and from their conversations and expressions, one could sense the general air of disbelief.

"Why are there so many dogs upstairs?"

"I'm not too sure. This is too scary. No one dares to go upstairs. It's as if the dogs have gone crazy."

"That's right. The police are here."

At this moment, Lin Fan and the rest could hear multiple barking noises coming from above.

"Master Lin, is it upstairs?" the police officer asked.

Lin Fan nodded. "Yes, it's here. We should hurry."

Sister Hong felt a sudden rush of adrenaline. She didn't need anyone to hold her anymore as she rushed upstairs with all the strength that her two legs could muster.

"Do you hear that? The barking noises from upstairs is really loud. I'm afraid that Elder Dog Nicholas has already occupied this place. As for how things are gonna turn out, we'll have to wait and see," Zhao Zhongyang proclaimed into his phone.

On the fourth floor.

As they got closer, the barking noises got louder.

As the team peered into the room from the doorway, the scene that unfolded before them confuddled them.

"This..." the police officers started stammering.

Zhao Zhongyang took his phone and recorded the scene in the room.

The netizens were also stunned.

"What the f*ck! This place is a living hell!"

"Oh man... I'm shocked..."

"This is too much..."

"Damn, Elder Dog Nicholas and the rest really didn't need any help in settling this. All the kidnappers are all mauled beyond recognition."

...

As Lin Fan surveyed the carnage in the room, he tried to process what had taken place. He never thought it would turn out like that.

The male driver was at his last breath. He struggled and reached out his hands as he sensed that there were some people entering the room.

"Hh..help me..."

The husky sat next to the male driver, biting onto a doll. When he saw the male driver squirming, he raised his paw and placed it on his mouth, silencing him.

Next to the male driver were two other figures. They were disfigured beyond recognition, with bloodstains all over and clothes torn and tattered.

"Save us... dogs..."

Tai Di lay on the shoulder of the black woman, enjoying every moment of her pain.

The black woman didn't have any more energy. She couldn't take it any longer.

...

Chapter 188: The law doesn't apply to dogs

"Xiao Ya... Xiao Ya..." Sister Hong rushed into another room. Laughter was coming from that room.

As she opened the door, she saw Xiao Ya playing with a bunch of puppies. Tears of joy streamed down her weary face.

Xiao Ya looked up at Sister Hong. "Mummy!" she exclaimed happily. The dogs were frolicking around her.

Sister Hong rushed up and hugged Xiao Ya, heaving a huge sigh of relief.

Outside.

Elder Dog Nicholas was sauntering on his four stubby legs, walking out of the building while wagging his tail.

"Woof woof!"

Elder Dog Nicholas walked towards Lin Fan. "Aren't we amazing? When will you give us some of your scallion pancakes?"

Lin Fan gave a huge thumbs up. "Elder Dog, you're really amazing!"

The police officers stared in disbelief as they looked at the scene before them. Everything that they thought they knew was all turned upside down.

In the live broadcast chat.

"Elder Dog Nicholas is just too amazing! I'm going to send him a gift."

"Damn, watching this live broadcast today was totally worth it. I've just witnessed a miracle today."

"Who said mutts are useless? I'll go and punch that person."

"Ten burning arrows for him!"

"I can only express my gratitude by sending some gifts. Say no more, take these 20 rockets as a gift!"

...

The police officers looked at Master Lin. They were fortunate to have him, but they never imagined that this was possible. Right now, they had to call an ambulance to tend to the kidnappers.

"These bite marks look serious, but I don't think the dogs will get into trouble, will they?"

The police officer shook his head. "The law doesn't apply to dogs."

The police officers detested the kidnappers. They had received their retribution for what they did.

They would have loved for the kidnappers to bleed to death but they were police officers. Duty came before everything else, so they still had to call an ambulance to tend to the kidnappers.

Lin Fan looked at Elder Dog Nicholas. "Why don't you go downstairs and wait for us?"

Elder Dog Nicholas barked twice and the other dogs who were playing around immediately walked over as they moved downstairs neatly.

Elder Dog Nicholas's legs were too short to go downstairs. As he extended his legs to take a step, he rolled down the stairs instead.

He was in a daze, feeling slightly embarrassed.

Husky pranced over and held onto Elder Dog Nicholas by his neck, carrying him downstairs.

Downstairs.

Husky looked at Elder Dog Nicholas smugly, but this was just an invitation for Elder Dog Nicholas to whack him with his paws.

Presumptuous!

...

Zhao Zhongyang took his phone, recording the terrible state in which the kidnappers were in. "Everyone take a look. These kidnappers have done terrible things. Just because of money, they have inflicted suffering on others, and it is good that they have received their just deserts."

"How despicable! They deserve this!"

"Everyone should recognize these dogs. They've done well in wrecking these kidnappers."

"They deserved to get mauled by the dogs. Not dying is already showing enough mercy. "

"So cool! Although Elder Dog Nicholas has stubby legs, he was still able to wreck the kidnappers. Consider me a fan of Elder Dog Nicholas from now on!"

"+1!"

...

Sister Hong's husband grabbed Lin Fan's hands and thanked him profusely. "Master Lin, I can't thank you enough. I am forever grateful to you."

Lin fan shook his hands. "Don't thank me. If you want to thank anyone, it should be all these little dogs here. If not for them, we would never have found her."

Sister Hong's husband nodded his head. "Yea that's right! I should thank all the dogs who helped us with this!"

The male driver lay on the floor whimpering in agony. "Save me... save me... I've been bitten by dogs... I don't want to die...".

Lin Fan looked over at the male driver whose pants were torn into shreds after being bitten by a multitude of dogs. He chuckled. The male driver completely deserved it.

The kidnappers would never understand how they got caught.

The emergency medical team arrived at the scene.

As they surveyed the scene, they couldn't help but gasp in horror. The scene was full of bloodstains and tattered clothes. The smell was repulsive.

At first, the nurses didn't know who these people were and treated them as per usual. But when they learned that they were kidnappers, their attitude took a turn. One of the nurses 'accidentally' lost control of her hand, causing the stretcher to fall to the ground with a thud. The kidnapper on the stretcher groaned in agony.

One could pass it off as an accident, but it 'coincidentally' happened to the three kidnappers.

Downstairs.

The residents of the small neighborhood didn't know what was going on at first. Upon learning that the three were kidnappers and that they were brought to justice by the dogs, every single one of them applauded loudly.

It was simply too miraculous. These dogs deserved every single bit of admiration for they were simply too amazing.

"Master Lin, what's going to happen to these dogs?" a police officer asked Lin Fan.

"They'll find their own way back," Lin Fan grinned.

The policemen nodded. This case had caused them to be puzzled.

"Master Lin, can you actually talk to dogs and understand what they are saying?" a policeman asked.

The people who heard that question turned their heads, curious to know the answer.

"Just a little bit. To say I completely understand is a little bit overboard." LIN fan replied humbly.

In the eyes of the people, Master Lin was being overly humble. Master Lin's 'little bit' could very much be a good understanding of dog speech.

"Elder Dog Nicholas, it's time to go back. Be safe and don't beat the red lights!" Lin Fan chided Elder Dog Nicholas.

"What's a red light?" Elder Dog Nicholas barked.

Granted, talking to dogs about traffic rules was as good as talking to the wind.

Everyone laughed heartily. Now that everything was good, everyone's mood started to lighten up.

At Cloud Street!

Lin Fan posted on Weibo, 'A big thanks to everyone who helped out in spreading the news online. The child has been found and the kidnappers have been brought to justice.'

This garnered a huge response on Weibo. This wasn't any other ordinary case. Any ordinary person would have helped out however they could. The Internet users all heaved a sigh of relief as the case was brought to a close.

At that moment, Lin Fan kept his phone. What happened next was unexpected.

More than ten over dogs gathered outside Master Lin's shop with their tails wagging and eyes wide, looking at Lin Fan with puppy eyes.

Elder Dog Nicholas sat in front of the group, barking.

"Give us scallion pancakes! Give us scallion pancakes!"

The people walking past all turned their heads, looking at the odd scene that was going on outside Master Lin's shop.

Lin Fan stood in front of the scallion pancake counter and sighed. A deal's a deal.

He might have to change the name of scallion pancakes in the future.

"Doggie scallion pancakes."

People were already fighting each other over the scallion pancakes. But right now, these dogs could get a scallion pancake as and when they liked without even needing to put up a fight.

Piping hot servings of scallion pancakes came out of the oven.

The people who were walking past all started salivating. If only those scallion pancakes were theirs. This batch was for the dogs only, and they didn't have a share in it. The only way of getting it would be to wrestle it from the dogs, but that would just make them a laughing stock.

Chapter 189: Is he able to climb on top?

The dogs devoured the scallion pancakes. Both humans and dogs alike enjoyed the taste of it.

Lin Fan had already lost track of how many scallion pancakes he had made. The dogs were all bloated to the brim, and his hands were sore from making so many scallion pancakes.

"Master Lin, now that the dogs are full, why don't you give us some as well?" one of the townsfolk asked.

This aroused a rally of approval from the rest after seeing the delicious pancakes Master Lin made for the dogs.

Lin Fan hands waved them away. "I'm tired. These dogs deserve this treat today for their hard work."

The townsfolk all laughed. They had indeed witnessed a miracle today, and the dogs were just simply amazing.

The surrounding shop owners.

"With all these dogs around, our children will be safe here. We won't have to worry about a thing."

"Before these dogs came here, everyone thought owning dogs was a hassle. But looking at it now, I guess it's a good thing."

"Let's adopt all these wild dogs as our own. They've done something great today."

"We've really got to thank Elder Dog Nicholas. I never thought that he would be capable of such a feat! He's so amazing!"

"Hey, we can't forget about Master Lin either. Without him, we won't even be able to communicate with the dogs."

"Yes, that's right! Master Lin is Cloud Street's great blessing. Ever since he showed up here, all our businesses have boomed. Sister Hong's child was kidnapped and was found almost immediately. These were all thanks to Master Lin!"

Master Lin chuckled as he waved them away. "You guys are too kind. We're all neighbors here. We should all help one another."

...

At the police station.

The kidnapping case at Cloud Street was still being investigated, and the police officers were all busy compiling the case.

The policemen who witnessed the dogs in actions arrived at the police station. They couldn't stop discussing how the dogs solved the case. It was such a great mystery, and they still couldn't figure out how this came to be.

"We've liaised with the transport department for CCTV footage around the area and we'll conduct an investigation on that," one of the female police officers said.

"Notify the transport department that we no longer require the footage from the CCTV," said the police officer who returned from the scene.

"Oh? Why don't we need it anymore?" The policewoman raised her brow, looking seemingly confused.

"We've already found the kid and the kidnappers have all been admitted to the hospital."

The female officer heaved a sigh of relief, smiling. "Brother Wang, you guys are really brilliant to have solved this case."

The male police officer chuckled. "It wasn't us at all. You won't believe me when I tell you that the ones who found the child was a group of dogs. We were only just there to clean up."

"Ah? How's this even possible?"

The male officer's expression brightened up. "This will take quite a while to explain. How about I explain it to you over dinner tonight? My treat!"

"Sure."

The male officer was elated. He had been wanting to ask her out on a date but hadn't had any progress. Her agreeing to have dinner together was a huge step forward.

...

At the hospital.

"What happened to me, doctor?" the male driver lay on the bed, groaning.

The doctor would usually treat his patients the same, but after learning that that patient was a kidnapper, he didn't really want anything to do with him. "Forget about it, there isn't any hope."

The male driver's face turned pale as if he received a huge slap to his face.

The doctor could see that it was a dog bite.

He really had to give it to those dogs. They really gave him a good bite. Serves him right.

The next day!

Someone uploaded the video of the live broadcast online.

"Wow! I don't believe this. This is all too much!"

"A man talking to dogs? Are you screwing around with me?"

"A child was kidnapped and was rescued with the help of a bunch of dogs? Who wrote this story? We need a good talk."

"Didn't Master Lin write a post on this kidnapping case yesterday? What if it was really the dogs who rescued the child?"

...

The netizens were having a discussion on this topic. The video footage wasn't clear. After reviewing the footage, they felt it was rather impressive, but they didn't really think much about it. Hence, the resulting reaction wasn't very big.

Moreover, it was a live-streamed video, and so there were some parts which were intermittent and some other parts that were cut off. Those who watched the video didn't have many emotions about the situation. But for those who were there, this case was really a miraculous one.

The next morning, Lin Fan was worried that he had finished the task in the Encyclopedia, and so he stayed at home for a while. After idling for a while, he still did not receive any notification from the Encyclopedia that he had completed the task, and so he thought that it was clear to go back to his shop.

At Cloud Street.

The townsfolk were all queuing up while discussing the happenings of yesterday.

"Come over here, Elder Dog Nicholas!" The townsfolk waved Elder Dog Nicholas over, who was laying on the floor. However, Elder Dog Nicholas didn't even lift up his head. He laid there as if contemplating the meaning of being a dog.

"Elder Dog Nicholas isn't responding to us..."

"If only we could talk to dogs like Master Lin, then we could make a deal with the dogs and ask them to hand us their free supply of scallion pancakes."

"Hey, Master Lin is here..."

Lin Fan was sauntering over from afar. He was in a good mood after solving the nerve-racking case from the day before.

Lin Fan stood in front of the scallion pancake counter, getting ready to make scallion pancakes.

Elder Dog Nicholas immediately stood up and walked over to Cloud Street, barking. Almost immediately, a group of dogs came from all over, wagging their tails as they made their way to Master Lin's shop.

Elder Dog Nicholas went up to Lin Fan and barked. "We want some scallion pancakes!"

Lin Fan heaved a huge sigh. This was definitely a scam, except it wasn't by humans, but by a bunch of dogs.

Lin Fan worked his a*s off all the way till 1030 before finally feeding all the dogs.

The townsfolk who weren't able to buy the scallion pancakes looked at the dogs enviously. Why were the dogs treated better than humans?

After an entire day of rest, Sister Hong had finally calmed down. The first order of business for her was to properly thank Lin Fan with a huge gift.

For Lin Fan, it didn't even require much effort on his part. However, Sister Hong felt extremely indebted to him.

Sister Hong brought an exquisite kennel. "Elder Dog Nicholas, I got this for you. Do you like it? I can't thank you enough for yesterday."

Elder Dog Nicholas stuck out his tongue as he let out a sneeze. He looked at Sister Hong and turned his gaze at the poodle who was blocked by a glass panel in her shop.

"Woof woof!"

Elder Dog Nicholas barked at Lin Fan.

Sister Hong asked curiously, "Master Lin, what is Elder Dog Nicholas saying?"

Lin Fan felt a little awkward. "Sister Hong, Elder Dog Nicholas said that the poodle in your house is pretty good-looking, and he wants to get to know her."

But whatever Elder Dog Nicholas said was embellished by Lin Fan. If Lin Fan hadn't filtered what Elder Dog Nicholas said, it would have just been a few crude words. "I want to bang her."

Sister Hong patted Elder Dog Nicholas on his head. "That's a good thing. Go ahead!"

Lin Fan looked at Elder Dog Nicholas, squinting his eyes. "Go ahead..."

Elder Dog Nicholas immediately dashed over to the poodle with his four stubby legs, tongue sticking out after hearing that Sister Hong gave him the go ahead.

Elder Dog Nicholas wavered.

The people in Lin Fan's shop all laughed.

"Looks like Elder Dog is going to smash!" Fraud Tian said crudely.

Zhao Zhongyang laughed. "Elder Dog Nicholas is so short. Can he mount?"

Everyone was speechless.

They had never considered that question before...

Chapter 190: Too many gifts

Sister Hong took her leave.

Elder Dog Nicholas also never returned. No one knew where he went off to play. Maybe he was thinking of ways of how to get onto the poodle.

Elder Dog Nicholas' body was short and stout. Even if he stood up straight, he wouldn't be able to penetrate, let alone get onto the poodle. Perhaps he was cowering in shame now.

"Express delivery for Elder Dog Nicholas!"

At this moment, a man working for an express delivery company came with a huge box. It's contents were unknown.

Lin Fan looked up at Fraud Tian. "Can you help me see what's inside?"

The express delivery worker looked at Fraud Tian. "You're Elder Dog Nicholas? Can you sign this express delivery form."

Fraud Tian signed the document with his own signature. He saw Elder Dog Nicholas chasing after another dog, then pointed at him. "That's Elder Dog Nicholas, we're just signing as recipients."

The express delivery worker turned his head and took a glance, looking overjoyed. There were a lot of interesting happenings around recently, but he didn't say anything more as he took his leave in his delivery van.

Lin Fan curiously looked at the humongous box in wonder. "I wonder what's in the box."

"Not sure, but it's rather heavy." Fraud Tian shook his head.

"Maybe it could be one of Elder Dog Nicholas' fans?" Zhao Zhongyang chuckled.

Lin Fan laughed. "How can it be? If any fans were to send him something, it would have to go through me first."

"What's there to guess? Just open it and take a look." Fraud Tian took a key and sliced open the tape on the box. "This is for Elder Dog Nicholas, and if you b*stards want it too, you've got to fight him for it."

Lin Fan immediately lost interest when he saw the contents of the box.

Premium dog food!

Expensive dog food!

It was a whole box of dog food, together with a few dog food bowls.

"Wow, I never realized that Elder Dog Nicholas was this popular. Someone even went out of their way to prepare a whole feast for him."

Zhao Zhongyang opened his live broadcast chat. "Which generous person gave this to Elder Dog Nicholas? This is so kind of you!"

In the live broadcast channel.

"So cool! This brother is so fast! The case happened only yesterday, and this gift box was already sent today."

"I was the one who sent it. Elder Dog Nicholas is just too strong! He should be rewarded well."

"Damn. We should also do the same as well! Elder Dog Nicholas is so awesome! We would be doing him a disservice if we didn't give him something after all that he's done."

While the people were all tuned into the live broadcast, the express delivery van roared down the street to the front of the shop once more.

"Another delivery for Elder Dog Nicholas! Please sign here," the express delivery worker shouted.

Lin Fan and Fraud Tian looked at each other in disbelief. This was completely against any logic.

Fraud Tian signed the document and opened up the box. Another box of dog food, dog bowls, and dog toys.

"Looks like Elder Dog Nicholas is really popular. This is his second gift already, and it's huge! This amount of dog food would be enough to last him a lifetime," Wu You Lan said.

"Our shop isn't big enough to keep all the dog food." Lin Fan sighed and shook his head.

Wu You Lan thought for a while. "Actually, we can distribute the food to the other dogs. There are quite a few abandoned dogs out here on Cloud Street. There should be no problem if we distributed it to all of them."

"That's a good idea." Lin Fan's eyes brightened up. "Either way, Elder Dog Nicholas won't be able to finish all of these. It's better to just share it among all the other dogs."

Not long after, the express delivery worker made another round to Cloud Street.

"Another delivery for Elder Dog Nicholas!" By this time, the express delivery worker was smarter. He looked for every single package delivered to Elder Dog Nicholas at the goods delivery center and gathered them before making his delivery.

He was in disbelief. Who exactly was this Elder Dog Nicholas? Every single delivery for him were just huge boxes after huge boxes. He couldn't believe it when Fraud Tian pointed out to him that the dog who was running around was Elder Dog Nicholas. How could a dog get this popular?

Fraud Tian signed to receive one box, and the express delivery worker brought him another. "Every single package in the van is his."

At this moment, Fraud Tian was stunned. He took a glance at the back of the delivery van. There were at least ten huge boxes inside. If he were to keep all of them in the shop, there wouldn't even be space to move a leg.

Lin Fan slapped his forehead after realizing the reason why there were so many deliveries for Elder Dog Nicholas. Zhao Zhong Yang's live broadcast channel was quite popular, especially that day when they were looking for the missing child. The viewership went beyond hundreds of thousands. Viewers sending gifts was a normal thing to expect.

Leaving all the express delivery boxes at the shop front, Lin Fan asked Fraud Tian to gather all the other shop owners at Cloud Street to split the goods. All the dogs on Cloud Street won't be able to finish the food, let alone Elder Dog Nicholas. He would explode from eating all of it.

"Well, it's official. These dogs are more popular and more valuable than us." Fraud Tian let out a huge sigh.

All the shop owners in Cloud Street gathered around Lin Fan's shop front. Their view of the wild dogs Cloud Street changed completely. Before, they were always afraid that those dogs would bite and were too dirty, but after Sister Hong's case, they suddenly became welcoming of the dogs. Each shop owner took one or two boxes back so that they could feed the wild dogs or their own pets.

What was originally Elder Dog Nicholas' gift was given out to everyone. Lin Fan only kept a few packs of food for Elder Dog Nicholas.

If Elder Dog Nicholas knew that he was so well liked by the netizens and had received so many gifts from them which were subsequently given away by his heartless owners, no one could tell if he would leap up suddenly to bite them on the balls. Word of this better not get out.

What bothered Lin Fan the most now was his promise he made to them the day before. The promise that the dogs could ask for scallion pancakes anytime. Looking at the current situation, these dogs didn't have any sense of decency. On Elder Dog Nicholas' command, all the dogs would gather from all around and sit in front of Lin Fan's scallion pancake counter to wait patiently for their scallion pancakes. This was too much stress for him.

It looked like Lin Fan had to have a talk with Elder Dog Nicholas. But no matter the outcome, he had to make sure that Elder Dog Nicholas was on his side.

"Woof woof!"

Elder Dog Nicholas was depressed. He plopped himself in front of Lin Fan's shop, unable to move, his olive-black eyes gloomy and overcast. He had lost all hope and confidence in himself. He looked up at the poodle across the street and then looked down and buried his face in the ground. His plan was a complete failure.

"Elder Dog, I have something to discuss with you. I don't have enough ingredients to make scallion pancakes, so you won't be able to eat that many in the future. If you keep on calling your other dog pals to come and eat, I'm afraid there may not even be enough scallion pancakes for yourself."

Elder Dog Nicholas' mood was in a slump, and he didn't feel like talking at all. But upon hearing that he might not have scallion pancakes to eat, he immediately stood up and barked.

Lin Fan shook his head. "I can't do anything about it. I don't have enough ingredients. But if it was just you eating every day, I'll have enough ingredients then."

Lin Fan thought for a while more.

"But since you're the Elder Dog, I reckon you won't just keep it to yourself, will you?"

"Woof woof!"

"They don't have to eat it then. Just let me eat it. Just make one for me every day!" Elder Dog Nicholas barked.

Lin Fan chuckled. "Good, good. Please don't be so generous next time. I'll make scallion pancakes for you only. But if you tell your other dog pals to come, there won't be any more scallion pancakes for you."

"Woof woof!"

Elder Dog Nicholas agreed without hesitation.

Lin Fan was laughing on the inside. Although Elder Dog Nicholas wasn't stupid, he wasn't very smart either. He was rather easy to dupe.

"Can I ask if there's a Master Lin around here?" A voice came from outside the shop.

Lin Fan looked up. There were two people standing outside. He recognized one of them as Director Zhang from Ren He Hospital but he didn't recognize the other.

"That would be me. What's up?" Lin Fan replied.
