

Vampire 331

Chapter 331 The Founder of Scelestus

Space fluctuated and Arya teleported out.

She was currently standing on top of a cliff and in front of her was a huge city around which was nothing but dense jungle.

In the middle of the city was a hundred floors tall tower spread across many acres. There was the name of the tower written on its top right corner and it was glowing red. The name of the tower was:

Nine Roses Hotel.

Arya took a step forward after having a look at it and instead of falling down the cliff, she vanished from her spot.

Arya teleported out again this time but she was now standing in front of a receptionist in the middle of a grand and luxurious looking reception.

The receptionist, noticing Arya to have suddenly arrived, she bowed without feeling any surprise or panic and said in a professional and subservient tone:

"Welcome back, Madam. How may I be of service today?"

"Call Rain. I'll be waiting for her in my office." Arya instructed and walked through the hallway that had an expensive red carpet laid on it towards a certain room.

The receptionist, while still bowing, said, "understood, Madam."

Arya walked inside a grand and spacious room. This room had an ancient looking wooden table, two chairs in front of it made with the same material were present as well. These chairs had some sort of soft cushion on them.

There was a black chair present opposite these chairs and it seemed very exquisite and premium. Arya ignored that chair and walked towards a black sofa and sat on it. The sofa was made out of expensive materials and felt soft to sit on.

There was a bookshelf present in the room, a weapon area in a corner with a few weapons such as swords and axes attached to the walls, a tea set beside the sofa, and a small glass table in front of the sofa as well.

Arya made herself some tea and waited for Rain to arrive. After only a few minutes, Arya heard a knock on the door and looking at the door, she said,

"Come in."

Rain, wearing a white shirt and black skirt with her black hair tied in a ponytail, walked towards Arya. She stood in front of Arya and bowing, she greeted her first.

"Sit down. No need to be so formal right now." Arya said and took a sip of her tea.

It was okay to be formal if they were in public. They were in private currently and Arya didn't give a single care about such formalities.

Rain, still bowing, said, "Madam, please forgive this serv—"

"Stop it, Rain. Acting so subservient would make people misunderstand me. I'll still you, it doesn't matter to me if you act like that or not. Just get the work I give you done and that's about it that I expect from you." Arya said and sipped her tea again.

Rain stood straight and looked Arya in the eyes. "Madam, I really respect you. I don't do it forcefully but out of my own free will."

Rain was very polite with her words.

Arya shook her hand and said, "Let's leave that aside for now. Let's get to work. Take your seat."

Rain walked towards the wooden chairs and sitting on it, she looked at Arya. The chair was a bit high and it made Rain appear sitting at a height, a bit above Arya. She didn't like this but she wouldn't refuse Arya's orders.

She did however blame Arya internally for not sitting on that luxurious custom made black chair in the room. This chair was made taking into consideration Arya's comfort but she didn't sit on it and rather preferred to be on the couch that was much cheaper than the chair.

She soon cleared her thoughts and paid attention to what Arya was saying. That mattered more currently than her thinking of the position she was sitting in.

"First and foremost, did you issue a black card?" Arya asked the important question.

Rain nodded. "Yes, Madam. Last time you visited the organization, you came with someone who called himself your boyfriend. You didn't deny that claim either and I thought that he really was your boyfriend. So, since that person was Madam's boyfriend, I issued a one of its kind card to him."

Arya chuckled hearing it. "Indeed, that person you're talking about, he's indeed my boyfriend and soon to be husband. Anyway, good job issuing him a special card. Now tell me, what all the benefits will he get by having that card."

Rain began explaining the things and when Arya felt that something was missing or if something needed to be changed, she briefed Rain on that. After talking for a while, they were done discussing the card topic.

'Fufu, my future husband, I am such a good wife and take into consideration so many things for your comfort. I just hope you take advantage of these things and not miss out on it.' Arya thought to herself with a smile.

Even though she made changes and made Lith have a lot of benefits with that card, it would all be useless if Lith never used the card and cut off his connection with Scelestus. But, that thing was a very low possibility as that card could be used everywhere. Such a thing was possible entirely because of one single fact.

It was a card issued by Scelestus!

Scelestus was the number one criminal organization in the world, the ones who controlled and had a monopoly over the entire dark web, and were also the strongest underworld organization. They had their hands deep into almost all places in the world and many didn't even have any idea about it.

Arya was able to provide Lith so many benefits and privilege because she,

She was the Founder of Scelestus!

She owned Scelestus and everything it was today, it was all due to her.

Arya was one of the wealthiest beings in the entire world whose wealth could even rival the Star Dragon's who was officially one of the world's ten wealthiest beings. Arya rivaled her wealth even before she was a Supreme Rank and as far as Arya knew, even Mayzin had no idea about such a thing.

Arya didn't hide things from Mayzin, but Mayzin never asked Arya about wealth and this topic never came up when they talked. Thus, Mayzin was in the dark for now.

Arya, after finishing talking about the important matters, which was nothing else but the issue with the black card, looked at Rain and asked with a smile,

"Now that we are done, I am curious to know how you arrived so early here. I was expecting you to arrive in a few weeks but you came within a few minutes."

"Madam, it's because I was already here." Rain said in a polite manner.

"Oh?"

"Yes. As soon as I got the news that Madam has ascended, I rushed to the headquarters because my intuition told me Madam will visit this place."

Arya chuckled hearing that. "Good job then. Also, speaking of being in the headquarters, did anyone figure out the location of this place yet?"

Rain shook her head. "No, Madam. As I've said before it's almost impossible to locate this place if one doesn't know about it already. There are barriers present everywhere that, I think even someone of Madam's prowess cannot bypass and enter. It's nigh impossible to breach."

Arya stood up and stretching her body, she said, "Yeah, I tried teleporting here yesterday even when I knew the coordinates but I couldn't. It's a weird thing."

Arya was a Supreme Rank now, she should be able to come and go to any place she pleased but she wasn't able to. It was a weird thing for her.

Arya walked towards the window of her office and looking outside, she saw the city surrounded by the dense jungle again.

With a smile on her face and a some seriousness in her voice, she said softly after taking a sip of her tea:

"The Hidden Continent sure is an amazing place."

Chapter 332 The Hidden Continent

"Yes, Madam. It surely is a good place."

Rain replied to Arya's words.

Arya turned her face towards her and looked at her. She had a black blindfold on her eyes and couldn't see Rain with her eyes but there were various other ways. She smiled and said to her,

"Do you know how I found this, Rain?"

Rain shook her head. "Isn't that something confidential that only Madam should have information about?"

Arya laughed and said, "Not really. There are so many people working here and they know how to go in and out of this place. Since they know the existence of this place, you know the existence of this place, I don't think it'll hurt much to let you know a bit about its history as well."

Rain bowed and replied, "It's all upto Madam's wishes."

Rain didn't agree or disagree with Arya and left everything onto her.

"Tsk. Rain, you should always look in the person's eyes while speaking and also, speak what you actually feel and want." Arya took a sip of tea after saying so.

Rain thought to herself, 'but Madam, I can't even see your eyes...' She soon stopped thinking of useless stuff and said to Arya, "Madam, I respect you and have no other opinion on this. Whatever you say will be the right thing for me."

Arya put the cup down and said to Rain, "It seems I can't do anything about this even after so many years. No worries, anyway, so as I was saying... I found this place by accident."

Arya began speaking the tale of how she found the Hidden Continent.

This one time, Arya was bored and so she decided to fly from one end of the world to another. The Dragon Continent had the Equator passing through it and so Arya decided to fly along that.

She was an Emperor Rank for far too long and had nothing better to do. Usually, people didn't do such things as it was a waste of time. Flying like how Arya was trying to do was boring and arduous. There was nothing to see and it was just the blue skies and blue oceanic water in the vision with little to no signs of life present.

Another thing was that it was risky. What if they decided to rest in some place in the middle of nowhere and some high level monster attacked them? Even though they may survive, they would be seriously injured. How are they supposed to travel back to their place with such injuries?

All in all, it was not worth the risk and almost nobody had plans or interests in flying like that. Even if some did do it, it was usually nothing too significant of an achievement and nobody really cared about it.

So, as Arya was bored and had nothing to do, she ventured out and started flying. After flying for a while, she saw an island with two palm trees. She wanted to rest a bit and so to reach closer to the island, she decided to use teleportation.

But to Arya's surprise, she wasn't able to. Feeling curious, Arya flew closer to the island and after reaching there, she inspected each and every place. She found there to be nothing extraordinary or out of place and everything felt normal. But, Arya didn't give up searching and soon she noticed that there were three rocks present around each of the two palm trees.

She got curious and wondered why it was there. Fiddling around with it for a while and one thing leading to another, Arya soon found some clues that led her to discover the code to enter some other dimension.

After Arya entered that dimension, she was shocked. The reason was that she was in the sky above a massive chunk of land. This chunk was almost as big as the Dragon Continent.

After she descended down on the land and roaming this place a bit, she, with the knowledge she possessed and after finding a few hints and clues on the land, came to a conclusion that this place was indeed the Hidden Continent.

The world was said to have 10 continents and not 9. The Neutral Continent was at an equal distance from every continent present and acted as a hub for a lot of things. Though that was the case, people thought that if they moved in the direction opposite to the Neutral Continent from their own, they would find the Neutral Continent or some continent like the Neutral Continent again.

But to everyone's surprise, at the opposite place of the Neutral Continent, there was nothing present other than the ocean and it disappointed a lot of people.

Soon, many scholars from all over the world came together and formulated a hypothesis that there definitely existed a 10th continent, which was the same as Neutral Continent, that is, equidistant from every other 8 continent and could act as a stop between two continents.

But for some reason or the other, this 10th continent was not available now. But they firmly believed that it was there, they just couldn't see it. Thus, they named it the Hidden Continent and said that if there were ever to be a 10th continent in this world, it would be definitely present in the place opposite to the Neutral Continent and equidistant from the other 8 continents.

By accident, Arya found this place and she ended up shifting everything related to Scelestus here. After she shifted everything to this place, she made the people bound through a seal to never speak about this and added a lot of clauses in them so that there was no loophole present that the people could take advantage of.

Thus, the main headquarters of Scelestus were present in this place and as Arya roamed this place more, she found a few tribes still living here and took them under her. She ensured that they got well educated and updated with the current world and after everything was done, she made them the employees of Scelestus and had them work for her.

She gave everyone a good life and also a chance to venture in the outside world and interact with the people from the outside. These people then became very loyal to Arya and Rain was among one of these people who was eternally grateful to Arya for giving her such a good shot at a new life. She cultivated hard and was now a King Rank.

Rain finally understood the history about the Hidden Continent and how Arya appeared in this place so suddenly. But despite knowing the story, she still had the same respect for Arya as before and was eternally grateful to her for giving her such a good life.

After the thing about the Hidden Continent was over, Arya decided to do some work in the organization. It was her organization and it was in this place that the servers hosting the entire Dark Web were present. There was a reason why Scelestus had the monopoly over them and it was this.

These servers were never seen by the public and they also couldn't find them. This thus became the safest place for everyone and hacking was almost nigh impossible. Of course, the only exception to all such things was Scelestus itself and could do anything they wanted. But despite having such power, they didn't do much and stayed passive and like a pacifist for most of the time.

Arya walked towards her chair and sitting on it, she took out her laptop and began working on it. This was her organization, she had to work as well. It wouldn't do without working. Now that she became a Supreme Rank, there was even more work in the initial days.

Rain left the place and went about her business and Arya continued to do her thing.

A few months passed.

Lith could feel that he was very close to making a breakthrough to Rank 4. He was surprised with this speed as well but thinking that it was all due to his potential, he didn't dwell much on it and decided to continue cultivating.

He was out of his meditative state and Lilith knew about it. She looked at him and said,

"You got distracted quite easily."

Lith opened his eyes and looking at Lilith, he said softly, "I comprehended a few things and wanted a bit of rest."

"Oh? But isn't meditating the same as resting?"

"No, it isn't. I may be not doing anything physically, mentally I am doing a lot of things without breaks. It's tiring."

"I see. Right, I can now recall and remember that I used to have those days as well. No worries, take a break and continue again after a while."

Lith shook his head. "No, I am not taking a break."

Lilith chuckled and getting close to him, she hugged him from behind and nibbling on his ear, she said, "you are taking a break."

"N—" Lith was about to say something when Lilith put a finger on his lips and shut him up.

"I won't take a no. Burnout is a real thing and it'll affect your cultivation if you are burnt out. Do you understand what mama is saying?"

Lith thought for a bit and nodded. He was a college student previously and knew about such a thing. He felt that his mother's concerns were reasonable and thus he decided to take a break.

Lilith sat down beside him and put her silver hair to one side. She revealed her smooth neck and said to Lith,

"Quench your thirst and sleep for a bit."

Chapter 333 Quenching Thirst*

"Quench your thirst and sleep for a bit."

Lith nodded and bringing his mouth close to his mother's neck, he bit onto it. His fangs first pierced her skin, making blood ooze out and Lith started drinking that.

A sweet and rosey flavour assaulted Lith's tongue and made him feel satisfied. Lith would never be bored drinking his mother's blood. This was just the best drink in the world for him. There was no match for anything else.

Lilith hummed in pleasure and closed her eyes. It's been a while since Lith last drank her blood and now that he did so again, it was starting to arouse Lilith.

Lith heard her humming and opening his eyes, his gaze first fell on his mother's big breasts. Lith could see that her nipples had become slightly erect and there was also a wet spot formed in that region.

To see if what he was thinking was true, Lith lowered his mother's gown and then her bra and her boobs jiggled their way out of it.

Lilith didn't say anything and simply let Lith do as he pleased. She still had her eyes closed and was enjoying the feeling Lith was giving her by drinking her blood.

What Lith was thinking was true. His mother was indeed aroused. He could tell from looking at the milk secreting out of her big milkers.

Lith stopped drinking Lilith's blood and pulling his fangs out, he licked her wound clean and then looked at Lilith.

"Mom, I could've just drank blood from your wrist. Look, now you're aroused." Lith chuckled and said.

Lilith chuckled as well. "I made a slight mistake it seems."

Lith nodded. "Yes, I said I'll abstain from having sex until I am Rank 9, now look at you, you're making things hard for me."

Lilith smirked and said, "I am making things hard or am I making you hard?"

Lith laughed out loud hearing that. "Both, both."

Lith then got in front of Lilith and parting her legs, he got on his knees and positioned his face right in front of her big jugs. Lith held both of his mother's nipple in between his index finger and thumb and rubbing them, he said,

"They are already this hard."

Lilith nodded. "They are indeed. What are you gonna do about it?"

Lith didn't reply and instead, he latched onto one of Lilith's breasts and started drinking milk out of it. He played with the other breast and in the meanwhile, Lilith simply caressed his hair and looked at him with a loving gaze.

After drinking milk from it for a while, Lith let go of it and looking his mother in the eyes, he smiled and lifted both of Lilith's boobs and asked, "Just how much milk is in there, mom? Even after drinking so much, it's still coming out."

Lilith chuckled and ruffling Lith's hair, she said, "enough milk to make my two children feel full."

"That's indeed a lot of milk." Lith chuckled as well.

"I am a good mama, ain't I?" Lilith giggled and said.

Lith chuckled and getting up, he kissed Lilith on the lips and said, "Yes, no doubt."

Lilith got up as well. Her big motherly milkers were still out of her gown and had milk leaking out of them. Lilith brought out a bed from her ring and got herself seated with her back resting on the bedrest. She patted her thighs and said to Lith,

"Come here, don't leave the other one lonely."

Lith chuckled. "I wasn't planning to. And also, mom, control yourself or I might really end up losing my own control and having sex with you."

Lilith smirked again and said, "that's my goal, fufu."

Lith got onto the bed and making his head lie on his mother's thick thighs, he said while pinching and pulling both her nipples, "It won't happen. I am a man of my words."

Lilith smiled and extended her hand towards Lith's shaft. She put her index finger on Lith's erect cock's tip and gently moved it to and fro. Lith was wearing pants and so she had her finger over his clothes.

"You say that, but look at your body. It's more honest than you, fufufu."

"Don't worry, I won't have sex no matter what." Lith said with a smile. "The reason is, it'll be even more enjoyable a few years later when I do all five of you together."

Lilith moved her hands and lowered Lith's pants, making his mighty dragon to roar and look at the heavens. She held it gently and stroking it a bit, she said,

"Even if I do this?"

Lith nodded. "Even if you do that. No matter what, I won't put it inside any of your three holes, mom."

"Oh? So a handjob is okay?" Lilith asked with a smile.

"As long as it's not in any of the three holes, it's fine." Lith answered.

Lilith made a smirk and asked, "then what about a rimjob? Can mama do that?"

Lith looked at his mother with visible surprise on his face. Just how naughty was his mother? "I don't think so."

Lilith made a fake sad expression as she heard that. "Sniff... Sniff... my baby has grown up now and doesn't want mama to touch her anymore. This is so sad."

"I am a grown man now, mom. Rimjob doesn't seem like a good idea." Lith put out his thoughts.

Lilith was still doing her fake cry. "You can do it with mama but mama can't do the opposite? What are these biases? And also did you forget that mama used to clean you everyday there."

Lith sighed and said, "mom, that was a different time. Now is different. Anyway, we'll see about that in future. There's no need for now."

Lilith sighed as well. "Fine, we'll see in the future. For now it seems I'll have to be happy with you drinking mama's milk and mama giving you a handjob."

Lith nodded. "You can also give a titjob but it doesn't feel good without a blowjob and so, I don't think we should do that."

Lilith nodded. "Yes, I don't want to see your thing come close to my mouth and I am not able to have a taste of it."

"Anyway, we talked a lot already. I need to rest and cultivate again." Lith said and immediately latched onto her nipple and started suckling milk out of it.

"Yes, have a good rest." Lilith caressed Lith's hair with one hand as he drank her milk and stroked his shaft with the other hand.

Lith was rough with Lilith. He was hungrily devouring her milk and this caused his face to slap on her soft breasts. His other hand was kneading the other one and there were red marks starting to form on that boob.

Lith knew that his mother liked it this way, he was doing it for this reason. Another reason was that he had less time on his hand and he had to hurry up, drink, and sleep.

Lilith continued to give Lith a handjob while breastfeeding him and when she felt his dick buldge, she knew that he was close to coming. Lilith looked at Lith and asked,

"Can I really not use my mouth? Your semen will be wasted if I don't."

Lith let go of her tits and said, "Yeah mom, no putting it in mouth. You can still drink it though. Aren't there a lot of ways to do so?"

Lilith chuckled. "There are."

Lith got back to sucking her and soon, in a few minutes, he felt he was about to climax. Despite feeling that, Lith continued to latch onto her.

Few more minutes later, Lith's body jerked a bit and his semen shot off. Lilith immediately put her mouth above Lith's shaft and took all of it in, without wasting anything.

Lith bit onto Lilith's nipples while he was orgasming and aroused Lilith even further.

Lilith stopped stroking Lith and gulping down his seeds, she brought her tongue out and licked Lith's tip to clean off the remaining cum from it.

Feeling his mother's tongue on her while he was still sensitive made Lith shiver in pleasure. Her soft and slimy tongue on his shaft made him realize that he should suck on her tongue later.

Lilith continued to lick Lith's shaft as if it was lollipop. Soon, Lith got up as he felt that it was enough for now.

But he felt right at this moment that he wasn't feeling lethargic enough to go to sleep yet. So he knew that he needed to drink more of her blood.

Lith's gaze fell on his mother's thighs right at this moment. He soon had an idea. 'I should try that.'

Chapter 334 Quenching Thirst (2)*

'...I should do that.'

Lith got in front of Lilith and putting his hands on her legs, he parted them and spread it wide.

Noticing this, Lilith chuckled and said, "can't control yourself anymore? It's okay to break words sometimes, don't worry too much about it."

Lith looked at his mother and said, "Yeah, no. I am not trying to do what you're thinking of, mom."

Lith took her gown off after saying so and Lilith was now only on her bra and panties. She was wearing a pair of black laced lingerie. Her bra was lowered and her tits were out currently.

Lith nodded in satisfaction while looking at this scene. His mother was indeed the most beautiful and sexy person he had ever seen.

Lith then noticed a wet spot on his mother's panties. He lied down on his stomach in between her legs and bringing his face close to this wet spot, he rubbed his index finger on it.

"Looks like this is leaking as well."

Lilith chuckled. "Of course it is. Even if you kiss mama, it would become slightly wet."

Lith brought his face even closer and took a sniff of her panties. He smelled roses and nothing else in there. 'If I was on Earth, judging from what the doujins and everything said, I would've been able to smell the sweat and such stuff as well. It's a pity, but this scent is very nice.'

Lith then extended his tongue out and licked that wet spot. He still tasted roses and there was no sweaty or salty taste on it. Vampires hardly ever sweated.

After tasting it a bit, Lith thought of tasting the actual thing now. He pulled the panties to the side and Lilith's divine fleshy folds were presented in front of him. He parted the labias with both his thumbs to have a good look at her pink insides.

Lith soon saw a tiny hole contracting and expanding and leaking a lot of juices as well. Noticing that, Lith poked it with one of his fingers and said, "It seems this place hasn't been visited for quite a while."

Lilith chuckled and ruffled Lith's hair. "Yeah, I wonder who is to blame."

Lith smiled. "I wonder as well."

He let go of his thumbs and Lilith's labias got back in position. Lith kissed Lilith's lower lips and said, "Sadly, I am not here for this."

Lilith was a bit confused. Wasn't he going to eat her pussy out right now?

She soon got her answer as Lith licked Lilith's thigh. The place he licked was right beside her pussy and was very close. Lith bit onto it and started sucking blood.

Lilith let out a low moan, feeling Lith sucking on her thigh.

Lith let go of it as licked it clean. He then did the same with the other thigh and after he was done, felt that he could sleep now. But then, looking at his mother's dripping pussy, he suddenly had another idea.

What if he bit onto her clit and drank blood from there? What would be his mother's reaction? To test it out, Lith brought his mouth close to that. Just as he was about to insert his sharp fangs in it, Lilith stopped him by putting a finger on his mouth.

"Not there, baby. Mama won't be able to control herself if you drink from there and would end up forcing herself onto you." Lilith said with a smile.

The clitoris was a very sensitive spot for all ladies. It applied to vampire ladies as well. Biting it and sucking blood from there would add onto its sensitivity and would make any vampire lady become lust crazed and extremely aroused. They would have nothing else but just sex on their minds.

Lilith, although she was a Legendary Rank, it was her son that would suck her blood from there. She would definitely end up feeling aroused and want Lith's dick inside her.

Thus, she stopped Lith from doing it. Had she not, Lith's words of abstaining would've been broken.

"Okay." Lith removed the thought of biting it from his mind and sucked on her pussy instead. He drank a good amount of his mother's juices and after he was done, he got up and made Lilith lie down on the bed.

He got behind her and lied down. He hugged Lilith's waist and made her upper body slightly turn towards him. He kissed her lips and hugged her waist.

Lith then made her let out her tongue and started sucking onto it. He also made his shaft get in between her thick thighs and close to her pussy and grinded it on her wet lips.

Lilith was amused to see Lith perform such new moves on her.

Lith moved his hand and placed it on her breasts again. He squished her soft boobs and with his other hand, he tried to grope her plump and big butt.

Lith felt more horny than lethargic now. It was for this reason that he was doing it. Though grinding his shaft on her pussy lips and in between her thighs good, it still didn't compare to putting it inside her and getting his shaft massaged by her soft walls. Still, it was better than nothing.

Lith soon stopped grinding onto her and playing with her breasts. He also stopped sucking her tongue and instead went in for a passionate kiss.

Lith got up from his position and got on top of Lilith while kissing her passionately. As he got on top, he lay low on top of her and started grinding his shaft on Lilith's labias again. He was very careful to not have it get inside her accidentally.

Feeling Lith constantly rub his dick in her clit, Lilith became more and more aroused and pleased. Though Lith couldn't put it inside any of her three holes, what he was doing right now was still better than nothing.

Lith let go of his mother's soft lips after a while and got up. He positioned his cock on her pussy and turning one of her legs to the side, he sandwiched his shaft in between her thick thighs.

Lith started moving his hips again and bent down to place his lips onto his mother's wet and glossy red ones. Lith had his eyes open as he was kissing her. They were doing a French kiss and Lilith also had her eyes open and was staring at Lith.

The two simply stared at each other through their amethyst purple eyes and both knew very well how aroused the other one was.

Staring at his mother for a good few minutes while kissing her, Lith could tell that if it was anime, she would definitely be having hearts in her eyes right now.

A while later of doing the same thing, Lith felt that he would cum at any moment now. He broke the kiss and got up. He held her legs above in the air and tightened her thighs holding onto his shaft and started grinding it on Lilith's pussy faster.

Soon, he and Lilith both let out a low groan as they both climaxed together. Lith's cum splattered all over Lilith's stomach and Lilith's juices made Lith's lower region and the bedsheet wet.

Lith then slumped to his mother's side and lay there on his back to rest for a while.

Lilith made all of the cum splattered on her body to get inside her mouth and gulped it down. She then hugged Lith from the side and placed her head on his chest.

Lith rubbed her back and kissed her forehead. He then bit onto her neck one last time and drinking just a few sips of her blood, he felt his eyes become heavy and threatening to close.

He gave in and soon slept while having his mother in his embrace.

Chapter 335 Rank 4

Time passed.

Lith cultivated and took rest from time to time. It's been a few weeks and he was close to ascending to Rank 4. As he had predicted earlier, even with just simple meditation and his past experiences, it was easy to cultivate.

While he was doing his boring cultivation, changes took place in the outside world.

Lucy was finally done with everything related to the hierarchy of the vampires and now, only an official announcement was needed to be made. She wanted to do it as soon as possible but Lith was busy meditating and was not available. For this, she postponed this thing again.

Arya was in Scelestus, managing things. She took Alexandra with her and was training her there in the Hidden Continent itself. Arya had ascended to Supreme Rank and before this she felt that being a Supreme Rank was the last stage of cultivation.

But, she was wrong. She felt that she could still cultivate and improve and so she was doing just that. Training Alexandra was helping her cultivate and so, Arya got twice the benefits from doing so. Not only was she able to train her little sister, she was also able to train herself.

Alexandra was still a member of the Shadow River Sect. Since she was a core court disciple, she had a lot of leeway and could do many things. One of which was to train alone or leave the sect if needed. Since the sect was on lockdown, she wasn't allowed to leave but making an excuse that she was cultivating in seclusion, she left the sect.

Being with Arya for a while, she realized that Arya was much stronger than she could even think of. She finally knew the prowess of her sisters. Arya was a Supreme Rank and Emilia was an Emperor Rank Seraphim. She started having a bit of respect for the two and readily agreed to train with Arya.

She didn't know that she was in the Hidden Continent or in the headquarters of Scelestus as Arya hadn't mentioned it to her. The reason was that she forgot. Arya hardly cared about such things and focused only on the main ones. The main goal of her's was to train Alexandra and cultivate by herself from time to time.

Leaving the two aside, Emilia was in the academy. As usual, it was nothing out of the ordinary that was going on with her. She trained Ralph and Dennis and worked in the office. Sel was amused watching how sincere Emilia had become to work and was trying to finish it.

It was true, Emilia was working harder than usual. She was doing so because she wanted to be free for a while a few years later when Lith would come back from his training. He said he would marry her and so she needed to make time for herself.

Emilia was the head of the academy, the principal. Her decisions affected the daily lives of the students in the academy and she couldn't just take things lightly. The future of these teens would be in danger if she did so.

Being a Seraphim, she cared for all beings in this world, no matter the race or anything else. Add onto that, the academy kids were her responsibility now as she was the principal. She thus ensured that she didn't mess up things that would create problems in their career ahead.

There were two mistakes that happened already while in her term as the principal. There were many smaller ones happening as well but these two mattered to her the most.

One was that Alexandra's parents were killed due to the academy's mistake and the other was that Lith's identity was almost revealed to the world. Despite being careful, such problems still occurred.

Emilia had learnt from her mistake and brushed off the thing related to Alexandra from her mind. But now that Alexandra became her family, these memories were brought back to her and it mattered more. Thus, she worked extra hard to ensure that such a thing never happened.

A few more days passed.

Lith finally felt that he would ascend to Rank 4. He prepared himself for it and started with his breakthrough.

Lilith was sitting just a few meters away from and was watching over his every move. She was doing it to ensure his safety. The last time when Lith was breaking through to just Rank 3, he accidentally ended up in the Astral Plane. She hadn't expected such a thing to happen.

Lucy entered the Astral Plane when she broke through to the Immortal realms, that is, became a Saint Rank. Things happened much earlier with Lith, surprising her. Thus, she was extra careful this time and was watching over him.

A few more days later, Lith began his ascension to Rank 4.

Lith had comprehended almost all elements. Just comprehending the laws of Light were remaining. Once he does that, he would ascend immediately.

Lith started doing just that now. As he did so, bright rays of light shined all around him, making him appear as some divine being. The dimly lit cave became brightly lit and the intensity of light was increasing further as Lith cultivated.

Two days later, Lith's Magic Core changed colors fully, ensuring his successful breakthrough to Rank 4.

Changes occurred in his Magic Core's area as well as the inside environment of it. But nothing too major occurred and it was just the usual increase in area and improvement in the environment present. His Magic Core now had water formed in it and was slowly increasing in mass.

Lith could guess that a few years later, life would start to form as well there. He had read the Evolution chapter in his biology books and from it, he knew a lot of things about it. Judging from how changes occurred in his Magic Core, it was clear that it was following the route of the same thing he had read in the books.

After Earth was formed, it was just like a ball of fire. Then water was formed and then land came into existence. Soon, anaerobic organisms came into existence like cyanobacteria and they made oxygen be available in the atmosphere.

The gas composition of Earth's atmosphere changed later and oxygen became available in a good amount. Soon, due to that, a lot of organisms came into existence and these were the aerobic ones.

From being single celled organisms, these organisms evolved further and finally after many millions of years, they became a complex organism containing billions of cells, which was no one else but the homosapiens, also known as humans.

As of now, only a bit of water was formed in Lith's core and it would take time for it to develop further. But whatever the case, Lith finally became Rank 4. He was a bit surprised knowing nothing flashy happened and he ascended normally.

But brushing this thought off, he once again started cultivating and aimed to breakthrough to Rank 5 as soon as possible.

Chapter 336 Rank 5

A few weeks passed.

Lith had comprehended as much as he could and felt that he needed to do something else or his progress would slow down. Thus, he asked his mother to drop him to the Neutral Continent and after reaching, he said goodbye to her and went on an assassination mission.

Lith was now a Rank 4 and he could easily defeat a Rank 8. But, it wasn't possible to do the same with a Rank 9 and above. Still, having prowess to defeat a Rank 8 made him be above average in the world.

Lith went to the Nine Roses Hotel to take an assassination mission and gain experience from it. Just as he reached there, he was greeted with a bow by ten receptionists.

He was amused to see this but since he thought that he was now a Black Card Holder, it was due to that.

He was led to a private room on the 99th floor of the hotel. The room was more luxurious than Lith had seen on the floors 40 to 50. It was almost as good as the rooms in his castle back at home in Nightingale.

As he reached there and sat on the soft sofa, the chubby man Andres attended him once again. The man was much more respectful to him than before and he tried his best to ensure that he provided everything that Lith asked him to.

Though he was respectful and working hard, he wasn't boot-licking and this made Lith not get uncomfortable.

Lith was starting to like the services of this place. The staff was humble and polite from the first day he was here to now as well. He was given snacks and tea and while Andres was browsing through the mission list that would best fit Lith's needs, Lith read the news and saw what new things were happening in the world.

He read for a few minutes and stopped when Andres found the perfect mission for him. Lith took it and walked out of the Nine Roses Hotel in Espat.

The mission was to assassinate the staff members of a small business. These staff members were planning to kidnap and kill the owner's family so that the owner would be left broken and would give away all the belongings of the company to these staff people. But the owner soon realized their plans and asked for help online.

Scelestus controlled the entire dark web, it was only natural that they knew everything related to the normal web. As soon as the owner posted his request, Scelestus took the mission and sent him a notification about it.

A few days later, this mission was now given to Lith and he was on his way to kill the members.

All members involved in this were just mere Rank 6s. It was an easy task. Lith still was careful with his approach and went for the assassination.

Few hours passed.

Lith was able to kill half the members of the staff easily in this time. These people were right outside the owner's house. But, he hadn't seen the rest of the members yet. So, Lith went to look for them and kill them.

A few hours later, almost all were killed except for two people.

When Lith killed the people outside the owner's house, he alerted the others involved in this. The people fled from their places and everyone went in a different direction and escaped.

Lith thus had extra work. He would've sworn that he saw no people when he was attacking the ones outside but when they fled, they found out about it.

He chased one of the guys after killing the guys outside the owner's house and after catching him, he made him cough up answers about where the others were.

The person was simply too afraid to lose his life and so he easily gave Lith the answer. After he was done, Lith killed him and went for the other people. Same things repeated and Lith ended up killing all except for two who were much better at hiding than Lith could think of.

It took an entire day to locate them and kill them and Lith was finally done with the things. The two guys had apparently changed their appearances and blended with the crowd. It was thus hard to locate them but Lith found the two by the traces of spiritual power present in the surroundings wherever they went.

The simple assassination mission was over and Lith felt that this was enough to catalyse his progress. He called his mother and Lilith took him back to the cave.

Lith sat down and began to meditate immediately. He comprehended the emotions of the people he killed, right before the time he was about to kill them and related it with the elemental laws.

Life and Death was a natural thing for a mortal and in this small lifespan, he would always ensure that he had led a fulfilling life. The mortal would try his best to do everything before he died and usually, many died in a content manner.

But there are times when Dark elements take over. This causes a fire of greed to burn in the mortal hearts and causes them to stray from their path, leading towards the path of Destruction.

But one day when things become too problematic for the mortal, he would become conscious of it and would seek the help of Light to have him get out of this path of darkness and destruction and die content.

Light wouldn't reject anyone's request as long as the person realized his mistakes and wanted to better himself. The mortal would soon go through Wind and Lightning filled stormy path and after passing through many trials in life, he would end up becoming as calm as Water and finally die, having his body go back to where it came from, the Earth*.

The mortal's soul would then traverse through Space and Time and finally reincarnate and make him have a fresh start at life.

Just as Lith finished comprehending this, his aura burst out and his spiritual power got out of his body and covered him to protect him from the naked elements present in the surroundings. The elements had broken the equilibrium and it wouldn't actually harm Lith, but it was just a defensive mechanism of Lith's body and a natural thing.

A few days later, Lith broke through again and finally became Rank 5.

*Earth here refers to the ground and elemental energy, not Lith's previous world.

Chapter 337 Are you an animal?

Meditating and noticing the changes in his Magic Core, Lith was amused to find the water becoming a bit better and less polluted. From what he could understand, the water was drinkable. Now, if only he could go inside his core would he be able to have a first hand experience at it, but such a thing wasn't possible unless he was an immortal.

The area had obviously increased and a few more types of terrains had been formed. Lith could predict from the changes that life would soon develop in his Magic Core and he was anticipating it.

In his past life, scientists did predict how life was formed and humans came into existence, but nobody has ever seen it themselves and such hypotheses and theories were present only on the basis of evidence found in the soil and other places.

Lith would get to experience first hand how life formed and he was excited about it. In his excitement, he didn't stop cultivating and went for a few more days.

Lith stopped when he felt that he should rest a bit. He opened his eyes and like usual, he saw his mother sitting on a chair and looking at him.

Lith got up and stretched. "Aren't you bored watching me?"

"Nope." Lilith answered with a smile.

Lith walked close to her and sat on her lap, facing her. He wrapped his arms around her neck and placed his head on her shoulder. Lith gave a lick to Lilith's neck and said, "I sometimes wonder how it's entertaining to just watch someone meditate for days."

Lith then bit onto her neck and started sucking her blood.

Lilith chuckled and hugged Lith back. She rubbed his back and said, "it's just what it is."

Lith didn't say anything and simply slept in her embrace after he was done drinking her blood.

Lilith kept patting his back and watched him sleep. Times such as these made her a lot happy. Her baby was in her embrace, what more did she want? She was content with such little things and enjoyed them.

.....

Scelestus, Hidden Continent.

BAM!

Alexandra crashed on a wall and spewed a mouthful of blood.

"Try harder." Arya said with a neutral tone, facing Alexandra. She had a blindfold on her eyes and was looking at Alexandra through her senses.

Alexandra got out of the wall and spat a mouthful of blood. Her bones were broken and she was bleeding both internally and externally. But as she walked in a staggered manner towards Arya, her body repaired itself and halfway close to Arya, she was fully healed.

Alexandra skipped in her place and readied herself for the coming round. It has been 27 rounds and 4 continuous days of training. Yet Alexandra still hadn't managed to out do Arya in anything.

It was only natural that such a thing would happen. Arya was a Supreme Rank, a very strong one at that, and Alexandra was a mere Rank 8 in front of her. The power gap was just too much.

Alexandra knew about this but she was still trying to fight with Arya. At first she did it because Arya asked her to. Arya wanted to see what moves Alexandra knew of and was using in her combat style. She wanted to have a better understanding of Alexandra's combat style so that she could teach and train her accordingly.

But a while later, what ended up happening was that Alexandra found thrill in this one sided fight and kept going without stopping even though Arya hit her brutally. Part of the reason was that she loved fighting the strong and another was that she finally understood something.

The King which annihilated her clan and banished the remaining ones, he was a Supreme Rank. Arya was a Supreme Rank as well right now and Alexandra thought that the difference in boths' prowess shouldn't be too much. Thus, she found another good reason and kept fighting Arya.

Arya was patient with Alexandra. She didn't tell her that it was a futile effort to fight with her like that or that she would never beat her. Instead, Arya patiently waited to see how Alexandra would react to the different things Arya was throwing at her and was testing all her capabilities to make a solid plan to train Alexandra.

Alexandra charged towards Arya once again and Arya simply stood in one place without moving.

Alexandra ran and just as she reached close to Arya, she twisted her body and swirling in mid air, she hit Arya's head, sides, and legs with a triple kick.

Arya simply blocked them with her hand and didn't feel anything other than a light breeze.

Alexandra didn't give up, she did a flip and got away from Arya. She then took out her double bladed sword and prepared herself to perform the 35th Ancient Sword Strike, a secret technique of the Shadow River Sect given only to a select few people.

Arya looked at Alexandra with interest. She could tell that Alexandra was preparing to perform some sort of technique.

Alexandra gripped her sword tightly and looked at Arya. A serious glint was in her eyes and she bent forward and readying herself, she charged towards Arya once again.

Streaks of lightning and dark sparks were produced around Alexandra's body as she charged towards Arya. As soon as she reached her, she immediately flipped and attacked Arya's back.

Arya once again blocked it by dodging.

Alexandra thrust her sword in Arya's direction and Arya once again dodged it.

Alexandra wasn't able to touch Arya even slightly. If she isn't able to touch, then she wouldn't be able to implement the technique. The technique worked like a power-up method. The more you hit, the more the strength in it will become. But Alexandra wasn't able to land any hits and so it was becoming a problem.

Alexandra used all the skills of close combat she knew and tried to hit Arya with her sword. But Arya always just dodged it and didn't come in contact with the sword.

Hours of trying to attack later, Alexandra felt tired finally. Her hands were numb, her spiritual power was almost dried up and her body was refusing to move further. She had over trained herself out of thrill and now her body was showing response to it.

Though vampires had a good regeneration ability, it didn't mean that they wouldn't be tired. Being mentally and physically tired was a natural thing for all beings. Once spiritual power is exhausted, one would feel tired by all means.

But despite being tired and exhausted, Alexandra continued to fight with Arya. Half an hour later, her body wasn't able to take it anymore and she was about to fall down on the ground.

Arya rushed to her and supported her, ensuring that she didn't fall.

"Why must you work so hard? Are you some kind of animal that knows only to use brawn and not brain?"

Arya made Alexandra sit down cross-legged along with her but noticed that she wasn't able to support herself even this much and her body was still falling down. This was a problem but nothing too inconvenient.

Arya held Alexandra in her embrace and made her sit close to her. Alexandra's back was facing Alexandra and she was sitting in the space present between Arya's legs.

Arya hugged Alexandra and since she was taller than her, Alexandra's head only reached Arya's chin.

Arya rested her chin on top of Alexandra's head and asked, "not going to answer me, little sister?"

Alexandra was too tired and finding herself in a comfortable position, she had slept already.

Arya noticed it now and sighed again. It seems that she should've stopped Alexandra from working so much. She definitely knew that Alexandra hardly learnt anything in the meantime she was fighting her.

But no worries since Arya got to know a lot of things about Alexandra and had formulated plans in her mind to teach her further. She let Alexandra sleep for a while and waited for her to get up.

As Alexandra slept, Arya caressed her hair and said with a small smile, "You'll be a great warrior someday."

.....

Months passed.

The Seclusion Cave.

Lith was now 15 years old and without even him knowing, two years had already passed by since he possessed a Magic Core and began his cultivation journey. It wasn't just that, in just two years, he was a Rank 5, which was almost an impossible thing in the world.

Even for the elites of the elites, it would take minimum three years and Lith had done it in just two. Not only that, Lith would ascend to Rank 6 this year itself, uplifting the threshold even further.

Nobody had seen or heard anything about anyone who has broken through to 5 realms in just 3 years. From being Rank 1 to being Rank 6 was nigh impossible.

But not for Lith as he was the son of God itself.

Lith meditated and was comprehending things. In the past few weeks, he went ahead to do an assassination mission again and was now digesting all the knowledge and experience he gained from that.

Lilith, like usual, was sitting on her chair and was going through her phone. She had recently come across something called as 'memes'. She was not sure what they were but they did feel funny to her. So she was browsing through those and entertaining herself while Lith cultivated.

A few hours later, she looked at Lith and judging from how he was comprehending things, she felt that he didn't need to get out of this place until he was a Rank 6.

So she decided to speed things up even further. She walked towards him and inscribed a magic circle around him with him as the center. She imbued some of her spiritual power in it and waited for Lith to break through.

A few days passed.

Lith was shocked to know that he was about to become a Rank 6 now. From his estimations, he could guess that he would be a Rank 6 only half a year later and not earlier than that. But it's been just 4 months since his ascension to Rank 5 and now he was already going to be a Rank 6.

It was an amazing feeling that Lith wasn't able to describe in words. He continued to meditate and prepared for a breakthrough.

Chapter 338 The tale of the First Immortal

Looking at Lith getting fired up and cultivating with a lot of enthusiasm, Lilith smiled. 'It seems giving him a push has helped.'

She had inscribed a spell that helped one have a better connection with the elements and be calm and think rationally at all times. It wasn't anything exaggerated such as helping Lith understand the laws better or straight up raising his cultivation.

Lilith could do it if she wanted but doing so would shake the well built strong foundation of Lith and he would end up suffering in future when his cultivation would see a drop. Not only would that happen, Lith would also become the weakest in his rank with time and this would end up making him a lot depressed.

Lilith would obviously want the best for her child and she wouldn't do any of such stupid things. She only gave him a small push and he was on his own from there on. It was his own comprehension that was leading him to make a breakthrough.

Time passed.

It had been five days since Lith felt he was about to break through. Now, that is, five days later, it was a different situation.

He was about to undergo his ascension to Rank 6 finally. All he had to do was comprehend the Fire laws a bit.

Lith took a deep breath and started recalling everything he knew about the Fire element.

Two days later, he was done recalling everything and he started to take in the Fire elements around him to get a better further understanding of it.

Three days later, Lith had finally comprehended the things and now he was summarizing the things he understood.

Fire is a boon for all creatures. Since time immemorial, it has helped creatures with a lot of things. Comprehending just this one law would help a person better understand the nature of life itself.

After summarizing this much, Lith recalled the tale of the being who became the first immortal.

The first mortal to have ever walked the path of immortality and opened up new possibilities for every creature in this world.

From what Lith knew, in the most ancient times, way before the start of the Immemorial Era, the beings present in this world were just like the ones from Earth. They didn't know anything about cultivation and were just mortals having a lifespan of less than hundred years.

These mortals were sparse in numbers and at that time, the beings from the other races, the angels, demons, vampires, dragons and everyone else also shared similar traits.

Every being had a limited lifespan and sentient beings were very few in number. The world was filled with irrational monsters and beasts and these sentient beings had a tough life. They had to hide and defend themselves from these powerful irrational monsters and these mortals hunted these monsters for food, clothing, etc.

So, far before the Immemorial Era, there was once a small settlement of mortals. In this settlement, around fire, during night, a mortal was sitting and gazing through the burning flames.

It was cold outside yet he was still present there. The burning flames didn't provide much heat but it didn't matter to the mortal. He simply kept staring at the naked flames with a lifeless gaze.

Emotions were something that all beings felt, be it irrational or rational ones. The mortal sitting around the fire was no exception to this. He was out in the open at this hour of the day because he had no joy in life.

Every closed one of his was gone. His wife, children, family, friends, everyone. This made the man lonely and sad. One could feel his emotions just by staring at his lonely back.

A plague had occurred recently in his settlement and everyone was affected by it. Only a few ended up surviving and this mortal was one of them. The man's appetite was lost as well and he felt no drive to hunt monsters for food or anything.

The mortal, having nothing to do and having no drive, simply sat around the fire and stared at it.

As he was doing, his lifeless eyes suddenly felt something coming towards him from the fire. It appeared like a thread and had the same color as the fire.

The mortal's lifeless eyes suddenly had a trace of curiosity appear on them. But soon his melancholy took over again and he ignored the thread coming towards him.

The thread didn't stop and came closer and closer to the mortal. Soon, it touched the man's stomach, just a few inches above his belly button.

The mortal jolted awake as something foreign suddenly touched him. He felt a warm sensation all throughout his body and within a few moments, he felt this sensation travel to a certain place in his body.

"O mortal, why are you so sad?" The man suddenly heard a gentle voice in his head.

The mortal looked around, but found nothing.

"O mortal, why are you so lonely?" The man heard the voice again.

"Who?" The mortal asked, alerted.

"I am Fire, I saw you lose all your desires and your heart felt lonely and cold. So I took shelter in it." The gentle voice said again.

"What!?" The mortal was shocked. "Get out of my body!"

"O mortal, worry not, for I am not an enemy. I am here to help you."

"But I can't even see you! How am I supposed to believe something like this!?" The mortal questioned.

"Look with your eyes, and you shall never find me. Feel me with your eyes closed, and you shall find me everywhere. O mortal, I am the element, Fire. I am everywhere in the world, going from place to place. But I wanted a resting place and I found the coldness in your heart. This is a perfect resting place for me."

The mortal was dumbfounded hearing this. He panicked once again, knowing something foreign was residing in him. The mortal asked Fire to get out of his body but Fire refused, stating it was very comfortable in there.

The mortal soon felt helpless as no words made Fire go away. He gave up his struggle and sat back around the fire. He was once again back to gazing at the fire burning in front of him and his eyes soon became lifeless as he recalled how his closed ones died and he was alone in this world.

"O mortal, why are you sad?" The gentle voice asked again.

The mortal sighed. He knew that asking the thing to get out was useless. So having no other choice, he started narrating his tale of why he was sad.

Fire listened carefully without interrupting. After the mortal was done speaking, Fire said, "O mortal, I know why the plague occurred."

"You do?"

"Yes. It was the fault of your own people."

"What are you saying..." The mortal sighed and said. He was mentally too tired to argue or bicker with anyone and so he didn't say much other than that. How could his own people cause a plague to occur, they had done no such thing in their life to cause an outbreak such as that.

Fire soon explained, "O mortal, you underestimate the desires of the sentient beings. Your people, they never cremated the dead and just left the body lying in the open. This caused the plague to spread in the village and killed many."

"How is that even possible? From what I know, the dead are left in the river and they are washed away by it. They go to the afterlife along the flow of the river." The mortal said.

"No, you got it wrong. The dead are not made to travel the river as your people believe that it would make the water dirty and unfit for consumption. So they simply let the bodies lie around. Their thinking was that it would be eaten up by some monster sooner or later but such a thing never happened, and for various other reasons, the plague spread in your village through these bodies." Fire explained in a calm manner.

"The deaths of everyone in the village was caused by themselves. Had they shown a little respect to the dead and cremated them, such a thing would never have occurred." Fire said.

The mortal stopped speaking as he heard this. Was the thing that was inside him saying true? He had no idea and couldn't believe it.

Fire could sense this and so it said, "O mortal, come, I'll take you to that place and show you the truth."

"How can you even do that? I don't see you anywhere." The mortal said.

"As I said, I am everywhere." Fire said and soon a strand of the color of reddish-brown flames appeared out of the mortal's belly and went in a certain direction.

"Follow." Fire said.

The mortal did that. Even though it was dark, the mortal didn't care. He didn't have anything on him, no family, no materialistic attachments, no nothing. He didn't feel afraid to die and also didn't have any interest in staying around the fire.

Soon, the strand stopped and Fire said,

"We are here."

Chapter 339 Rank 6

As the mortal stopped in his tracks, a bad stench assaulted his nose and he had to hold it to not smell it. It was dark everywhere and he couldn't figure out where the stench was coming from.

The mortal looked around everywhere but still couldn't see anything. He said, "O Fire, I can't see anything."

The mortal had given up asking Fire to get out of his body and had started communicating with him.

Just as he said that, a small ball of fire got out of his belly and into the air. It lit up the whole surrounding and made the mortal have a better view of everything.

But just as the mortal saw what was in his surroundings, he couldn't help but vomit. The mortal soon shivered and started crying in the middle of this environment.

Around him were the dead bodies of the people of his previous settlement and this included some of his closed ones.

"O mortal, don't cry. Everything that has happened was due to the people's own actions." Fire said gently.

"But what wrong did the children do!? Why did they have to die!?" The mortal asked, looking at the bodies of children.

"O mortal, the children were innocent. It's due to the unfairness of Life that such a thing has happened."

"If they were innocent, why did they have to die!? Why this unfairness!?" The mortal bawled out.

"O mortal, that's the law of the universe. Life is unfair and will always be. But, the one thing which is fair is Death. Death treats all beings equally. Don't be sad that they are gone, be happy that they don't have to face the suffering of these times." Fire said gently.

"O Fire, I don't understand what you're saying." The mortal said while crying.

"O mortal, the body is but a medium for souls to interact and experience things. The body may die but the soul lives on forever. Karma may have led the people to their demise in this life, but in the next one, they still have a chance to repent and correct themselves."

"O mortal, the innocent children will lead a good life in the next one. The era you are in, the times were tough for those children. Sentient beings get eaten by irrational beings, sentient beings have to survive the harsh climates, and whatnot. This era is too cruel for those children."

"O mortal, worry not, for those children and your close ones will reincarnate into an era where there's prosperity and peace for everybody."

The mortal stopped crying as he heard that. He wiped his face and snot and said,

"O Fire, is everything you are saying true?"

"O mortal, I am one of the twelve elements of the universe. I am the law, I am the rule, I am in you and I am everywhere around you. I am born from the Creation of the universe and I will stay here until the end of times when everything will go to Destruction."

The mortal was confused as he heard this. "O Fire, are you perhaps God?"

Hearing this, Fire chuckled. "O mortal, I am not. I am but just a law of the universe."

"Then how do you know that the children will lead a good life?" The mortal asked.

"O mortal, in future, sentient beings will be much closer to the elements than they are now. The souls interacting with me in the future make me understand what's happening there. I cannot see the future if they don't interact with me."

"O mortal, the ones who have died now, they are leading a good life in future. I can tell you with assurance. This era is chaotic and the coming few ones, it'll get even more chaotic. Peace shall only be truly available until very far in the future."

The mortal fell silent hearing it. His thoughts ran wild and he thought of many different things.

Soon, he said, "O Fire, will I ever be reunited with my close ones?"

"O mortal, I do not know. Your soul is currently living in this time and there's no version of you in the future."

"Then by any chance, will I have a way to meet them?" The mortal asked, hoping to see them again.

"O mortal, there is a way. You can strengthen your soul and the medium it is currently in and by surviving the hardships of time, you can meet them. Your body will turn weak with time and won't be able to hold your soul. Once the body dies, your soul will enter the reincarnation cycle."

"Is it possible to do such a thing?" The mortal asked.

"O mortal, it is. But you will have to survive many hardships and your Karma will be very chaotic. The more chaotic it is, the time when you die and reincarnate, the worse your life will be."

The mortal fell silent again. "O Fire, I'll do whatever it takes to meet them. I have already suffered enough and there's nothing more that can make me feel even worse than this."

"O mortal, then I'll help you. But I alone am not enough to help you strengthen your body and soul. You need to take help from the other elements as well."

"O Fire, please, I'll do anything needed." The mortal said.

"O mortal, I admire your determination. Come, I'll help you walk the path of immortality. Firstly, try to feel me around you and once you're done, cremate the bodies in front of you. The bodies still have remnants of their souls in them and until they fully leave, they wouldn't be able to enter the reincarnation cycle."

The mortal was confused. "O Fire, I understand. But how do I cremate them?"

"O mortal, you can bury the bodies in earth and the Earth element will ensure that the souls leave the bodies and enter safely into the reincarnation cycle. Or, you can burn the bodies with my help and I'll do the same thing. The choice is up to you."

The mortal thought about things a bit and asked, "O Fire, what are the advantages and disadvantages of both cremation methods?"

"O mortal, the bodies will slowly disappear out of existence when you bury them in earth. It'll take time for the souls to leave the bodies. But if you burn them, it'll be gone in just a few moments and they'll enter the reincarnation cycle."

"O Fire, so it means the speed is different for both?" The mortal asked.

"O mortal, it indeed is. But you should know, some souls want to stay in their times as much as they can and they prefer being buried than being burnt. But the situation you are in, nobody had any preference for cremation and so you can perform any of the two choices."

The mortal nodded his head. He understood the thing. Since he was here, he wanted to have the people reincarnate faster and so he sat down on the ground and tried to feel the Fire elements around him.

Soon, he started seeing the surroundings he was in, even though he had his eyes closed. The surroundings became clearer and a few moments later, he saw a red glow everywhere.

"O Fire, I can see a lot of things but I can't see you."

"O mortal, you cannot see any element yet. You can only sense and feel them. Try to feel me, I am everywhere. If you are unable to do that, then feel me, in you."

The mortal nodded and tried to sense the fire in him. Soon, a few moments later, he felt warm and as time passed, he started feeling hotter. The mortal was sweating and was wondering why it had become so hot.

He couldn't meditate anymore and so he decided to get up and try again later.

The mortal opened his eyes and the scene in front made him shocked.

All bodies were lit on fire!

"O Fire, how did this happen!?" The mortal asked in shock.

"O mortal, I told you, I am everywhere. You just need to sense me. This is caused by you, you shouldn't worry about it. You sensed me and called for me and I came to your help."

"O Fire, I am grateful for your help." The mortal said.

"O mortal, now let's go, you have to do other things to become immortal and survive the hardships of Time."

The mortal and Fire left from the place after having a small discussion and the mortal finally started his journey to become the First Immortal to have ever existed.

BOOM!

Lith's aura exploded as he finished recalling everything. His comprehension of the Fire element became stronger and all around him, red colored Fire elemental energy waved wildly.

Lith was still in the meditative state and he was undergoing his ascension to Rank 6.

A while later, Lith's aura stabilized and he successfully became a Rank 6. He continued to sit there and consolidate his cultivation.

His core was a bit unstable and he was stabilizing it. There were also the signs of life starting to form in his core. Not only this, he could also feel the elements enter his body and nourish him.

'It seems that I no longer need to eat food for nutrition.' Lith thought to himself.

A few days passed and after Lith had stabilized everything, he opened his eyes and saw a beautiful silver-haired lady looking at him through her amethyst-like eyes.

Who else could it be but Lilith?

"Congratulations, baby. Mama is very happy for you." Lilith clapped her hands and said.

Lith smiled and getting up, he stretched and said, "just a few more ranks now, mom."

Lilith nodded. "Come rest a bit. You can start cultivating afterwards."

Lith nodded and took out his bed from his ring.

He made Lilith lie down on it and after drinking her blood, he slept soundly in her embrace without doing anything naughty.

Chapter 340 Rank 7

A year passed.

Lith was now 16 years old and he did the same thing as before. Assassinate, meditate, and cultivate. There was nothing else he did apart from that in the past one year.

He worked hard to raise his cultivation and now it was time for ascension again.

Lith was sitting cross-legged on the pedestal and was focusing on the things he had learnt from his assassination missions and from his mother during his breaks.

Lilith, as usual, was sitting on the chair and was going through her phone. She was currently on video call with Lucy and was talking to her. She had a transparent barrier around her and it isolated her voice, ensuring that Lith doesn't get disturbed.

Lith was comprehending the Light laws currently and was busy in it. From what he felt, he would ascend in just a few days.

Even though a year had passed, nothing changed in the outside world. Everything was the same and no major or sensational news was there. The era Lith was in was very peaceful and it was no wonder that things would be like this.

A few days passed.

Lith's aura became chaotic once again as he was ascending. But, it wasn't as violent as it was during his ascension to Rank 6. It was calm this time. His aura caused ripples in the elemental energies outside. It was the same as someone dropping a stone in the middle of a calm lake.

Lilith could notice this change as well and comparing it with Lucy's ascension to Rank 7, she felt that Lith was much more stable than her at this time. And judging from the time, Lith was ascending faster than Lucy. He was a year early.

She was happy for Lith and continued to look at him with interest.

A few days passed.

Lith opened his eyes and said softly to himself, "I broke through."

There was nothing flashy or exaggerated that happened when he ascended. His core had changed color already and his core area had also increased and had changes. He was really a Rank 7 now but because there was no strong stimulus during ascension, it felt a bit unbelievable to him.

Lilith smiled and said, "You did, baby. Congratulations."

Lith looked at her and said, "I ascended just like that?"

Lilith nodded. "There are times when everything is perfect, your preparation, your foundation, etc., and this would cause a smooth ascension to another rank. You didn't feel it for this reason."

Lith couldn't understand fully whatever his mother said but he roughly had an idea about it.

He took a deep breath and sighed in relief. Just two more ranks then.

After he became a Rank 9, he could continue roaming the world again and adventuring.

Lith got up and stretched. He felt like having food out of habit but then realized he wasn't hungry and he could just nourish himself with elemental energies.

He hadn't tried nourishing himself yet as he had no time. He was busy with his cultivation. For that reason, his body simply took the elemental energies inside automatically in low quantities and nourished him.

Lith tried to feel the elemental energies around him and soon thought of making it enter his body.

It was if the energies could hear him, a bit of energy around Lith entered inside his body through his skin pores and nourished his skin, muscles, bones, etc, directly.

'Oh wow. Food used to get transported everywhere in the body via a series of complex steps but now the energies can directly enter every cell in my body and nourish me. Amazing.' Lith looked at the energies entering him and thought.

After he was done analyzing a few things, he slept with his mother again. He drank her blood and slept. He was tired and wanted to rest. There was nothing else he could do anyway right now.

He had taken a pledge to not abstain from having sex until he was a Rank 9. It was torturing but with enough efforts, he could do it, he felt.

For this, he controlled himself and didn't do anything lewd with his mother and slept after quenching his thirst.

.....

A few weeks passed.

Though nothing major happened in the world, it was a different case in the Abalax World Academy.

Ralph and Dennis, these two prodigies, had successfully become Rank 6s in just their third year in the academy. It was a shocking thing and the discussion on this was going on everywhere in the academy.

Their graduation became a hot topic on the sky island and teachers and students alike were amazed by this. Everyone in the academy was proud of their achievements as this was a really very amazing feat.

Ralph and Dennis were the first guys in their generation to ascend to this rank. Among all the kids who awakened their Magic Core 3 years back, these two were the first.

The sky island had a cheerful atmosphere and the students from Ralph and Dennis's batch were the ones the most fired up of all. They all were extra enthusiastic to cultivate as they saw someone from their own batch achieve such an astonishing feat.

Amidst the cheerful atmosphere, there were two guys who had a neutral look on their faces and were sitting on a bench and staring at the ducks in the small pond in front of them.

One was a black-haired teen and another was a pink-haired teen. These two were none other than Dennis and Ralph respectively.

"First of our generation to become Rank 6, was it?" Dennis said with a sarcastic look on his face and threw bread to the ducks in front.

Ralph flashed a rare smile and said, "It's just been two years but people had already forgotten about that monster it seems."

Dennis turned his head to look at Ralph and squinted his eyes. "Don't call His Highness a monster."

Smack!

Ralph smacked Dennis's head and said, "It's a metaphor, stupid. I wonder how you managed to ascend right when I did with that stupid brain of yours."

Ralph and Dennis were best friends now. Ralph opened up in front of him and it was only when he was with him that he would show his true side. Otherwise he was a cold and emotionless guy most of the time.

Though these two were best friends, they considered Lith as one as well. For Dennis though, Lith was first the prince and then his best friend. Whatever the case, these two considered him as their bestfriend as well.

Dennis rubbed his head and said, "I definitely am smarter than you."

"Moo, moo." The cow, Mu Mu, sitting beside Dennis and Ralph on the ground, mooed while shaking its head.

"See, even Mu Mu agrees." Ralph pointed at Mu Mu and said.

"That cow is dumb. Why would you even bother taking its opinion into consideration."

"Moo!" The cow harrumphed. How dare he call a genius as dumb?

"Anyway, we sure are in the limelight while he is gone." Ralph stopped bickering and said while staring at the ducks.

"Yeah. But no worries, I am sure that in future, His Highness's name will be on everyone's tongue all throughout the world."

"Yeah, I guess. Anyway, tomorrow we will be graduating and leaving the academy." Ralph said.

Dennis nodded. "I'll finally be free from the torturous study sessions and can do as I please."

Ralph smiled hearing that but didn't say anything to Dennis. He knew that it was easy up until this point and things were just getting started.

Dennis thinking that he'll get to be free and laze around all day, he couldn't be more wrong. Ralph knew that Dennis would be made to work even harder than before and life won't be as easy as it was in the academy.

Him and Dennis were both in the same shoes. Both were the heirs of their respective family and clan and had great responsibility on them. Dennis couldn't run away from it and neither could Ralph.

Though for Ralph, things were much easier since his mother never pressured him into doing anything and he was free to do as he wanted. As for Dennis, both his parents were Emperor Ranks and there was Cecilia as well. These three people constantly forced him to cultivate and work hard to better himself and Dennis had no way out of this.

In any case, both had to work hard and would get very busy from here on.

The two chatted for a while and left the place. Tomorrow is their graduation and they will finally leave the academy.
