Chapter 33: Stunning The Crowd(2)

"Heh." Cai Lin couldn't help but laugh. He pointed at the Shen Family and said, "There she is..."

Before he could finish, he swallowed his words.

He saw that there was someone walking behind Shen Qing and Shen Yue. Though alone, Shen Miao didn't look disappointed or sad, but rather, she had a dignified look on her face.

She was wearing a dark gold cloud embroidered shirt and a moon-shaped phoenix tail dress. The hem of the dress was embroidered with large begonia flowers, and as the girl walked, flowers bloomed with every step she took.

As she walked closer, everyone could see her face clearly. She was a girl of 14 or 15 years old. Her hair was simply accessorized with a hairpin. At the end of the hairpin, there was a small begonia that gave a bit of cuteness to her simple outfit.

Her skin was fair to begin with, and in the lotus-green dress, her skin was made even fairer. Her eyes were clear and bright. There was a faint smile on her lips, but at the same time it did not seem to be a smile. Her nose was small, and her mouth was red and moist. She looked quite cute, but when people saw her, they did not think that she was a little girl.

Some people were born beautiful, but they did not have the temperament. Some people were not beautiful, but their temperament was attractive. This girl could be considered delicate and cute, and it wasn't too much to say that she was drop-dead-gorgeous. However, people could not help but be fascinated by her temperament. She was dignified and graceful, and she exuded a noble elegance from the bottom of her heart, making people not dare to have any thoughts.

She walked with her chin slightly raised, and her dress did not move at all. The way she placed her hands was just right, not stiff or casual, as if she had done this thousands of times.

Surrounded by this noble and dignified aura, Shen Miao didn't look like a girl at 14 or 15, but someone who had gone through thousands of tribulations. In front of her, Shen Yue, Shen Qing, Ren Wanyun, and Chen Ruoqiu unknowingly became the background of this girl, like they were the four maids she brought with her. And the one walking at the back was clearly their Mistress.

"Who is that?" Yi Peilan muttered. Even as a woman, she couldn't help but be stunned when she saw this girl. How could she have such an aura at such a young age?

"Is this... a guest of the Shen family?" Bai Wei asked, "She seems to be someone I've never seen before."

Most of the men present were officials, so they could naturally tell at a glance that this girl was different. It was not her appearance, but her bearing. She was like someone who survived the storm and the tsunami, and now she wasn't afraid of any disasters life might throw at her.

She was like a leopard running into a flock of sheep.

“Is that General Shen’s daughter?” The man who spoke to Cai Lin just now looked a little excited. “She’s really good-looking and... noble! She’s better than her father!”

“Shen Miao?” Cai Lin was stunned. When he took a closer look, he exclaimed, “It’s Shen Miao?”

A stone caused a thousand ripples. The silence was immediately replaced by an uproar.
