Chapter 131: Violent Fire Tangyue!

Chao He turned around and saw Tangyue. He didn't even seem slightly surprised. Instead, he had a sly grin on his face.

"I believe I should have two more charges, and one of them is for killing a member of the Magic Trials." Chao He locked his eyes straight onto Tang Yue, as if he wanted to tear apart her soft clothing.

"There's nothing more to say to a scum like you!" Tangyue didn't bother any further. There was an outline of Fire Star Atlas slowly being formed beneath her feet.

"Do you think I'll go down like this, Miss Tangyue? Aren't you a little naive?" Chao He expressed an even more uncanny grin.

Tangyue's face darkened. Just as she was about to begin to fight, she suddenly realized there was a cloudy thing quickly surging out to the side of her. It then floated in the sky above the small reservoir. It assembled rapidly and formed a dark cloud-like thing, throwing the whole field into darkness.

The dark clouds were so dense that rays of sunlight couldn't shine through. The density of the dark cloud even devoured the Fire Soul Seed's bright flame.

The area instantly turned pitch black.

As for Chao He, his shadow was also assimilated into the dark, or to put it another way, there was now no shadow at the place where he stood.

Chao He was released from the restriction. He shook his head and then burst out into an evil laugh.

"I forgot to tell you. I was aware that you were trailing me. In the past few days where you pretended to be a traveller and ate in the restaurants, I secretly put things in them," Chao He spoke leisurely. He didn't appear like a criminal who had met his judicator.

Tang Yue's face began to stiffen again. She had already foreseen that the enemy still had a card up his sleeve. This convict Chao He had escaped from the Magic Trials several times before, so clearly, he wasn't easily apprehended.

According to what Chao He said, he had poisoned her food. Tang Yue would never believe that.

As a member of the Magic Trial, if you weren't aware of your food being poisoned, then you'd be the same as an idiot!

"I knew you wouldn't believe it, but surely by now your lips are feeling dry." Chao He didn't look anxious at all.

After Tangyue heard this, she subconsciously licked her rosy red lips. Truthfully, she already felt that she was thirsty and dry, but she didn't give it any second thoughts. She thought the reason for this was the dehydrated environment.

“It is impossible to make a member of the Magic Trial eat poisoned food. Thus, even if I am an Apothecary, I did not put any poison in your food. However, I’ve placed substances that are beneficial for your body...” Chao He narrowed his eyes to a line while staring at Tang Yue’s beauty, then slowly uttered “To explain it elegantly, the substances are good for women, they smooth the blood circulation, but, to put it bluntly... oh, you’re already having a reaction.”

Just as he spoke, Tangyue slowly went from feeling dry and thirsty to having inexplicably flushed red cheeks.

Her blood circulation speed increased, the frequency of her heartbeat has also spiked. The most important thing was that she felt like there’s something gently biting on her skin, making it hard to concentrate.

Her breathing slowly became heavier, as if she want to gasp out the thirst from her throat. Her whole body felt weak, unable to muster the strength to stand. While at same time, she felt herself immediately becoming a greedy cat that was unable to control itself from jumping into a certain chest...

“Shameless, shameless!!!” Tangyue finally realized what the substances were in the poisoned food. She trembled with embarrassment and humiliation all over.

“The Magic Trials wanted to learn the source of the Violent Spring from me, thus sending such a beautiful lady judicator like yourself to subdue me. Don’t they know that apart from a magician, I’m also a remarkable apothecary?? I have various methods to deal with women. Oh, didn’t I mention earlier that there’d be two more added convictions toward me, one for killing a judicator, another Tsk tsk , we’re all adults here, I know you’ll understand what it means.”

During the whole progress of trailing Chao He, Tang Yue was very careful. She couldn’t figure out how this shameless convict knew she was trailing him.

Moreover, Tang Yue had been vigilant. She already knew that the psycho was an apothecary, so she had been very wary of things, including nourishment...

Unfortunately, she had been continuously taking precautions against things that were harmful to her, never realizing that Chao He would not poison her at all. Instead he chose to use those things that stimulate your body. No wonder when Mo Fan pressed against her under the shadows of the tree earlier, Mo Fan suddenly emanated an unspeakable attraction. It turned out to be she was under the effect of the stimulants, making her amorous.

Bastard, this damn wretch, why does the world have such a despicable human being!!

Deep inside the woods, Mo Fan had seen the mishap. He was also taken by surprise. He was also an adult, but how did he not figure it out?

At this moment, Mo Fan still couldn’t make up his mind whether to make a move or wait a bit longer for an opening.

Mo Fan certainly wouldn’t watch his beloved Mrs. Tangyue be murdered in cold blood. The problem was, could he even fight against this psycho?

“You swine! I’ll burn you to ashes!!”

While Mo Fan was still struggling to make up his mind, he heard Tangyue roar.

In an instant, a tremendous wave of flames started to spread in all directions with Tangyue as the center. Where Mrs. Tangyue stood, her long hair was even blowing without restraint, like an noble and beautiful phoenix releasing its anger.

“Phoenix Flame!”

Tangyue stood there proudly and gracefully in the raging inferno. Her eyes revealed an amazing scarlet red color. There was a hint of killing aura displayed on her beautiful face.

“Fiery Fist!”

The flames rose to another level!

“Jiu Gong!”

The last was said respectfully. Mo Fan was fairly familiar with Tang Yue’s starting position at releasing Intermediate Fire Elemental Magic, but it also felt different!

First, the flame which Tangyue controlled was not the common red flame that was regularly seen. She named her flame the “Phoenix Flame”, as it presented an overbearing scarlet red color, as if she had noble blood in her!

Second, her Fiery Fist was not the level one Fiery Fist, Exploding Heavens. It had reached the third level, Nine Palaces!

Now that Mo Fan had seen her Phoenix Flame, he had no idea how strong it was compared to common flames.

For the Nine Palaces, when Tangyue agglomerated all the the surrounding waves of flames into her left hand, she threw them ferociously at the ground. It was then that Mo Fan finally experienced what the Fierce Fist Nine Palaces was. Mo Fan was struck dumb at the shocking sight!!

Chapter 132: You fng dog!

No matter what, the small reservoir was still hundred meters in circumference. This hallowed, dried-up ground looked like it had been rammed by countless things as numerous cracks on the ground frantically spurted superheated earth into the air!

The cracks on the ground were like a vermillion-colored whale jumping into the air, charging out of the sea, surging forward.

Following that, eight other majestic molten cracks exploded, it was like the surface of the ground was being released from its shackles.

The waves of fire were spreading into the surroundings. Additionally, the collision of the forces combined into an increasingly ferocious destructive wave of fire as it rolled over.

The spirit of the flames were rampaging around the colossal pillars of the ground cracks. It was like a ferocious beast as it bare fangs and brandished its claws. Its wrath was unfathomable!

A Violent Fist spurted forth from nine ground cracks!

Each of the ground cracks that bubbled forth was reflecting the others. It became a raging flame that was wreaking havoc wantonly in the hundred meter-wide area, setting everything on fire.

The four Intermediate Magicians from the Dongfang Family had used an intermediate magic that could be considered somewhat powerful. However, compared to this Queen of Flames at this moment, they would be considered relatively weak. Although the two magicks were the same spells, they felt like they were of different realms!

This was Mo Fan's first time seeing Mrs. Tangyue's true strength, he was unable to comprehend it.

This Chao He will definitely be burned into ashes.

The colossal energy of the Violent Fist exploded over this part of the mountain range. Not too long ago, this area was a small water reservoir, but after the Phoenix Flames Violent Fist Nine Palaces, there were no longer any words that could be used to describe it.

When the grandiose flame energy had finally settled, Mo Fan stared at Chao He's location, wondering if that guy had completely fallen.

However, Mo Fan was shocked once more.

Chao He was still there, his entire being looked like he was covered in a layer of rock armor.

The rock armor had already been scorched black, it even began to peel off bit by bit.

After the armor peeled off, it revealed Chao He's wounded body. He coughed a few times beneath the smoke, his eyes immediately revealing a killing anger!

"You have actually destroyed my treasured Armor Equipment. It seems like you will have to use your plump body to let me vent out the anger of several years, only after that will I allow you to die!" Chao He's entire body trembled as he shook the destroyed armor off his body.

The wounded Chao He no longer had that morbid grace. His entire being was more like a wild animal, cruel and savage.

His eyes were fixated on Tangyue, who began to heavily gasp for breath. It was like his gaze had torn Tangyue's body into pieces.

"Shit!!" Seeing Chao He not suffering a mortal wound, Tangyue grew increasingly alert.

The truth is, when it came to fighting one-on-one, the Tangyue who possessed the Sparrow Flames was a league above Chao He in terms of combat. Otherwise, the higher-ups wouldn't have let her pursue Chao He by herself.

However, this guy Chao He was incredibly sinister. The drugs he had dosed her with weren't life-threatening. However, they did severely affect Tangyue's control over her stars. Her desires were simply so strong that they nearly made her lose all her reasoning.

Just how many of those slow-acting drugs did she eat for her to become like this?

If it was only the effects of the drugs, then Tangyue would still be able to do something. Unfortunately, she was currently feeling traces of cold coming from her surroundings. It was precisely his Curse Elemental Magic. This gods-forsaken Chao He had even included her in the magic!

Tangyue was preparing herself for the worst-case scenario, which was falling into the hands of the criminal. She'd have to destroy her body so she could avoid the insults.

However, she still carried a slight hope.

That hope was Mo Fan, who she had called over as a back-up plan.

Tangyue called Mo Fan over because she was afraid there'd be some kind of accident. Furthermore, Chao He had also cultivated the Fire Element. Thus, fighting against him by herself would not be an easy job.

"Nnngg~!" Tangyue couldn't help but let out a moan. She felt her body growing increasingly weaker, she had no choice but to lean onto the rock next to her as her breathing became more intense.

The black, incorporeal spider web binding, and the effects of the drug made her want to strip off all of her clothes, the heat made her go nearly crazy.

Chao He's violent gaze was fixated on Tangyue's curvy, delicate physique. Seeing her weak, yet repressed appearance made his previous irritable mood from before slowly settle down. It was like he was watching a sheep that was waiting to get slaughtered...

"Fiery Fist, Exploding Heavens!"

As Chao He just relaxed his vigilance, a colossal fist of flames suddenly charged forth from within the forest.

The trees were abruptly turned into ashes beneath the sweep of the colossal fist, the flames was surging as it became incredibly savage!

The colossal Fiery Fist's objective was precisely Chao He. Chao He's face displayed a shock of horror, he never thought that there'd be another Intermediate Mage hiding inside the forest as he was taking his sip of victory.

Boooooom!

The Fiery Fist exploded on the location of Chao He, once again becoming the center of a colossal explosion of flames.

Mo Fan was staying back as he looked at the chaotic flames. He thought Chao He had been blown into dregs.

However, the cautious Mo Fan would not easily walk out of the forest. If there was yet another trap there, then he and Mrs. Tangyue would definitely perish together.

“Still not dead!” As Mo Fan saw Chao He standing there, his face also turned serious.

Even this kind of sneak attack did not succeed, just how many cards does that guy have in his sleeves?

Mo Fan’s current mood could only be described with three words: You fing dog!

On the other side, Chao He’s surroundings revealed a half arc shield made of water.

Behind the water shield, Chao He’s face had turned incredibly distorted.

Even though he was able to open the Abundant Water Shield to protect him, he still felt the shock of the Fiery Fist, his viscerae and bowels were in incredible pain!

“Kid, if you want to act like a hero and save the beauty, then you need to know if you are capable!” With blood flowing down his mouth, Chao He’s gaze was viciously staring at Mo Fan. He looked as though he was going to eat him. “We’re both Fire elementals, do you really think you can hurt me? You are merely someone who has just treaded upon the Intermediate level, and you have yet to awaken a second Element, do you really think you can fight against me?”

Magicians with a higher cultivation could easily determine the cultivation of another Magician through the use of perception and intent. Initially, Chao He thought there was yet another judge from the Magic Trials appearing. However, after observing carefully, he realized it was merely a guy who had just entered the Intermediate level. His strength hadn’t even reached the level of the four people from Dongfang Family.

He hadn’t even Awakened his second element, this made Chao He feel at ease!

It was obvious that this kid was together with Tangyue. It seemed like he was still able to contend, and still had a high chance to seize victory!

Chapter 133: Intermediate Lightning!

“I will stand here as I kill you.” Mo Fan did not take a step from his location, he was just standing a safe distance away.

“You can try. However, with your pitiful mana as someone who has just entered the Intermediate level, even if you were to use all of your Fiery Fists, you still won’t be able to destroy my Abundant Water Shield. Look at that woman, she has already been trapped by my Sinister Spider Trap. After a while, she will be just like the few people before her, her life completely absorbed!”

Mo Fan glanced at Mrs. Tangyue. At that moment, her whole body did indeed look like there was an indiscernible black silk around her. The dark threads wrapped around her body looked like they were beginning to penetrate into her flesh. It was clear that her current condition was similar to that of the four from the Dongfang Family.

This Chao He had prepared for Tangyue since the beginning, and they didn’t even know just when she had fallen into the curse trap, it was simply too strange.

“You want to use my beautiful teacher’s life to threaten me? The truth is, I am indeed a person who is greedy for life, I won’t make meaningless sacrifices. Therefore, even if you kill her, I won’t just stand there and get myself taken by you... How about this, I’ll stop trying to destroy your Abundant Water Shield, and you’ll release the curse on her. The Fire Soul Seed belongs to you, and the corpses of the four Dongfangs will belong to me?” Mo Fan bargained from afar.

Chao He was clearly shocked for a moment.

He could say that, but did his heart truly think that way?

To tell the truth, it was hard to say how many more Fiery Fists the Abundant Water Shield could block. Even if it was able to block all of them, his own viscera would most likely shatter.

The loss of an incredibly attractive and rare beauty from the Magic Trials was indeed a pity. However, being able to harvest the Fire Soul Seed was the objective. Thus, Chao He was definitely willing to make this deal.

However, seeing how someone else had proposed this idea, it just seemed so suspicious. It seemed like the other party was not a good person either, or else, how could he be on the same wavelength as Chao He himself?

“You won’t just attain the remnants of the four Dongfang members...” Chao He lewdly smiled as he glanced toward the lady judge from the Magic Trials, whose face had already turned red.

“That’s a deal, then, let’s have a good cooperation.”

“Don’t be too hasty. I’m currently in control of the curse, I won’t let the curse directly harm her life. Within this period of time, I will refine the Rose Flames, and after I have finished the refinement, I will let you take her away,” Chao He said.

“How do I know whether you’ll kill her once you’ve finished refining?” Mo Fan rebutted instantly.

“The curse needs a period of time before it takes a life, you can confirm that point with her. Naturally, if you are use Fiery Fist to destroy my Abundant Water Shield within this time, I guarantee that she will die immediately. Don’t worry, when it comes to a transaction of benefits, I always negotiate in good faith.”

The twisting power of the curse did indeed take a period of time. Currently, Chao He only wanted to take the Rose Flames and walk away. That way, he could avoid the kid and his beautiful teacher’s suicidal attempt to kill him. They still might be able to kill him if that happened.

Furthermore, if he was to delay even longer, then there would be other people coming here. If that happened, it would be even more inconvenient for him. Especially if a Light Element or a Spirit Element Magician came along, then his Curse Traps would be completely useless in front of them.

“A freak that kills people can still be honest? This makes me, a youth who follows the ideology of Magic, a bit embarrassed.”

Mo Fan confirmed with Tangyue the time it would take for the curse to take her life, and then confirmed that Chao He had no other trump cards other than the Abundant Water Shield!

“What did you say?”

“Nothing, it’s just, who said I could only use the Fire Element?” From the forest, Mo Fan’s voice suddenly became incredibly dignified.

At the same moment, a beautiful purple Lightning Star Path could be seen interlinking beneath Mo Fan’s feet. It thirsted to break through all restrictions. Its yearning was turned into the energy that was called forth upon his palm, making all organisms in front of it tremble!

Although the speed of using the Lightning Star Atlas Book was not very quick, Mo Fan had gotten enough time by ‘making friends’ with Chao He.

Chao He was able to use his senses to discover that Mo Fan was a guy who had just entered the Intermediate level. Furthermore, he even knew that Mo Fan hadn’t completed his second Awakening yet. However, Chao He could never have imagined that Mo Fan had Awakened dual Elements during his first Awakening!

When the incomparably violent sound of thunder tore through the forest, Chao He’s face was immediately filled with shock and horror.

The Abundant Water Shield was very effective in terms of blocking Fire Magic. However, when it was facing Lightning, it would be just like a decoration. After all, Water directly conducted Lightning!

Chao He didn’t even have time to run when the Lightning Star Atlas emerged. Furthermore, he didn’t have enough time to make the curse twist around Tangyue’s life, the time he had at hand was too short!

If it was some other Element, Chao He would have been able to contend against it. However, against the Lightning element, he was simply too unfortunate, the roles of he and Mo Fan had been reversed. His Abundant Water Shield, that had defended against Fire so marvelously, was now useless, and the condition of his body was poor. How could he possibly imagine that he’d encounter an Innate Dual Element!?

Lightning was the strongest of all the Classical Elements!

Its Primary Spell was already a force to be reckoned with, incomparably impetuous. When it reached the Intermediate level, its power would be increasingly more violent and tyrannical!

If Chao He’s Rock Armor was still intact, he wouldn’t be afraid of Mo Fan. Now, he felt like his final moments were coming!

As Mo Fan was chanting, his hands pointed toward the sky!

As he pointed toward the sky, a purple thunderbolt came down unexpectedly, slicing the space in half. The thick and solid purple Thunderbolt let out a sharp noise as it shot toward Chao He, who was standing on edge of the hole made by Mo Fan's Fiery Fist.

The Thunderbolt came incomparably fast as it fell from the sky.

As the Exploding Apex fell, the area around Chao He unexpectedly sank and shattered!

Chao He, who was standing right beneath the Exploding Apex, could feel his entire body beginning to change.

Booom!, the thunderclap tolled.

Chao He was blown apart by the ferocious energy of the Thunderbolt, turning into blood rain sprinkling down.

The speed of the Thunderbolt was simply too fast. At same time, Chao He, whose body was completely shattered, was not actually that gross. The Lightning had shattered his flesh into tiny scarlet fragments. It looked like numerous bloody drops, with not a single sign of the previous freak, Chao He.

Whether it was the Intermediate Wind Magic, Wind Disc: Tornado or the Fire spell, Fiery Fist, Exploding Heavens; they all had an incredibly dominant aura. It was either the whole atmosphere suddenly distorted, or a surging heatwave. However, this Lightning Intermediate Spell had no sign of attack, unlike the other spells...

With the point of a finger, the Lightning fell.

Simple and cruel!

That Abundant Water Shield was just a useless decoration!

The death of Chao He was far too sudden, there was no time for him to dread. His flesh had already been turned into blood rain, and his soul was caught completely unprepared as he stood there. He no longer had the chance to taste the lady judge from the Magic Trials, and no longer had the opportunity of growing his Flames into the Spirit level. He could no longer run amok committing crimes, and he couldn't even curse the kid with the Innate Dual Element for killing him!

Chapter 134: Refining the Rose Flames!

The Curse was slowly being released. The chit chat Mo Fan had with Chao He was not for naught. At least, he was able to save Mrs. Tangyue from the same fate as the other four members of the Dongfang Family.

“Mrs. Tangyue, are you alright?” Mo Fan asked of her. She was weakly leaning against a rock.

At this moment, Tangyue’s clothes were slightly revealing. With two of her hands covering her chest, it was hard for Mo Fan to figure out whether she was trying to protect her jade body from being tainted or she wanted him to directly tear her clothes apart.

“Don’t... don’t come over here...” Tangyue resisted the desires that made her nearly want to jump on Mo Fan as she forcefully made herself sit down.

Within a number of kilometers, Mo Fan was currently the only man. The deceptive things that you usually see only see on bad TV dramas could actually end up happening to her. If he was a handsome, elegant, and princely man, then she might be able to endure this temptation!

Not good! In this kind of situation, any normal man would definitely take advantage of things! She had to think of some way to get him to get away from her. If she gave herself around ten minutes worth of time, she should be able to subdue her instincts. A Magician’s mental strength was much stronger than that of a common person.

Originally, this thing would belong to the Magic Trials. However, right now, she could only take advantage of it.

“You... Go and refine the Rose Flames,” Tangyue said with a deep inhale.

“The Rose Flames can be refined at any time, your safety is more important right now,” Mo Fan said in a honorable way.

Tangyue didn’t dare to raise her head to look at Mo Fan, cursing several times in her heart, Mo Fan, you mad person. Hurry up and reap the harvests, don’t tell me that you don’t know what kind of condition I am in right now, if you dare to take one step, I will feed you to the dogs!

To tell the truth, Tangyue was genuinely worried that this guy might do something to her, or she’d do something to him. Either way, she clenched his teeth and said, “The Spirit grade Fire Seed will soon disperse.”

“Oh, oh, you’ll really give it to me?” Mo Fan asked sincerely.

“Yes!!” Tangyue’s teeth clenched even harder.

“Then I hope you take care of yourself, I’ll go ahead and refine the Rose Flames, if there’s anything you need me for...”

“Get moving!” Tangyue nearly went crazy.

Mo Fan walked away helplessly, feeling slightly depressed.

His current appearance looked as though it was saying “Innocently consulting the teacher with a question, yet harshly get told to get out...” The only thing he could do was sigh in sorrow about the current teacher’s nonsensical mood, and walk out of the bathroom...

However, after thinking about being able to obtain the astronomically valuable Fire Soul Seed, Mo Fan quickly forgot everything else!

Indeed an charming man! He himself was just a trash, but, the girls who approached him just could not stop themselves from throwing themselves at him, it was like they were on drugs! As a rare man in this world, Mo Fan would definitely not... Alright, the truth was, Mo Fan had seen a ball of flames being condensed in Mrs. Tangyue's hand.

Rose Flames were clearly not comparable to his own life.

The current Mo Fan was already extremely poor. This kind of rare treasure was not something he'd say no to!

The Dong Family, the Hunter Squad of Panxiong, and this murderer were badly injured in order to obtain this Rose Flame. Mo Fan had thirsted for this Rose Flame from the very beginning, so, he was extremely grateful for Mrs. Tangyue's support. Otherwise, this kind of precious thing would never have fallen into his hands.

Currently, in order for Tangyue to maintain her innocent self, she had begun to resist the curse in her heart. With the treasure falling into his grasp, his hands began to tremble.

I have to hurriedly refine this and leave this place with Mrs. Tangyue. If more Magicians appear, then it will be problematic!, Mo Fan thought to himself.

Mo Fan didn't dare to waste any more time, and he quickly put his hand on the exceptional Rose Flame.

A burning feeling immediately transmitted from his palm to the rest of his body. Originally, it felt unbearably hot, however it quickly began to feel like this Rose Flames that was brimming with spirit had no intention of causing pain to Mo Fan.

It gradually began to feel like boiling blood was entering his body. Mo Fan closed his eyes to better feel the bizarre sensation of the element.

The Flame Rose was indeed docile, like a infant; it perceived the first person that approached it as a parent. In the beginning, it was indeed vigilant, but it quickly let its guard down. It was as though it was stretching out its hands to get a hug. It assimilated into Mo Fan's body, merging into his Fire Elemental Nebula.

This process made Mo Fan feel as though he was going through some sort of Fire Baptism. His innate flames began to transform with the Rose Flame.

The first thing that changed was Mo Fan's body, as his skin seemed to darken somewhat. It was only slightly different from fine copper. After the Rose Flames had assimilated into him, the color of his skin gradually turned into a color that was closer to them, more glossy and smooth.

His blood seemed to have transformed somehow as well, turning increasingly redder and more energetic.

After his blood was his bones. His bones was not much different than a normal person's, but after the baptism of the Rose Flames, his bones had turned into something like steel. Although it was not something Mo Fan could see, he could clearly feel they were different from before.

The biggest transformation was naturally the Fire Nebula inside his Spiritual World!

Originally, that scarlet red Nebula had some impurities in it. Inside the vast cosmos of the Spiritual World, it was only beautiful. When the Rose Flames arrived, they increased the Fire Nebula's lineage by one level...

The Fire Nebula originally had a spiral around it. After the Rose Baptism, the pitch-black cosmos looked as though it had blossomed into something grander, a great and mysterious fiery rose now formed the entire Nebula!

After he had refined the Rose Flames, this was the visible result!

Even without casting any spells, Mo Fan was still able to feel that the Rose Flames held a power that was much stronger than the scarlet Common Flames!

It wasn't lively, nor agitated. It blossomed by itself... but Mo Fan knew it was just as dangerous as the thorns on a rose!

Originally, if Mo Fan's Fire Burst: Rupture hit a Magical Beast, then most of them would survive with a heavy wound.

Now that he had this Rose Flame, his power had nearly doubled. A Fire Burst: Rupture would essentially blow a common Magical Beast half to death, or even reach a level where he could immediately kill them!

The majority of Magical Beasts could move extremely fast, and there was no way they would just stand there and get hit by a Fire Burst. Even if other Magicians possessed the Rose Flame, it would only increase the effect of it... if it hit the enemy!

However, Mo Fan was a man with an Innate Dual Element!

First, he had Lightning Strike, so he could forcefully restrict a Magical Beast. After that, he could immediately use the Rose Flame Fire Burst: Rupture! That way, he would most definitely kill them!

Mo Fan only needed 1.5 seconds to use his Lightning Strike, and the Fire Burst wouldn't take more than 1.5 seconds either!

As long as you gave him three seconds, monsters like One-eyed Magical Wolves, or Colossal-eyed Ape Rats, would definitely die! The power was just that unreasonable!

The mana usage of Primary Magic wasn't too much. As long as Mo Fan didn't get surrounded by Magical Beasts, it wouldn't be a problem for him to kill his way out of a situation. Even if he was surrounded, he would let them have a taste of the incredibly powerful Fiery Punch!

Chapter 135: That's far too provoking!

The pillar of Rose Flames had disappeared.

They were merging into Mo Fan's body like a child wanting to follow daddy Mo Fan in exploring the world!

As soon as Mo Fan took a step, a scorched footprint was burned into the ground. A layer of red flames shrouded him right now. The feeling of possessing a newborn power spurred Mo Fan to roar aloud, like a tyrannosaurus bellowing towards the sky.

Beside the rocks nearby, Miss Tangyue's breathing gradually returned to normal before she opened her beautiful blurry eyes.

After noticing Mo Fan's transformation, Miss Tangyue _hmmphed_. This time he had really benefited...

If it wasn't for the dangerous chemical stimulation, Miss Tangyue would've never given it to Mo Fan. This thing would've been given to the country.

However, brining Mo Fan with her this time had not been a bad idea, either. If Chao He had prevailed this time, then matters would've gotten even worse. The price of unsealing that layer of curses would have been astronomical, so much that it even made Miss Tangyue consider burning herself to death.

"All the people's remains will be confiscated, don't worry about it," Miss Tangyue coldly said after she saw Mo Fan's greedy face.

Mo Fan grinned as he replied quickly, "Of course, of course... Miss Tangyue, are you alright?"

"I'm fine, I have disappointed you." Her emotions were written all over her face.

The flustered woman's expression seemed just like a shy, overworked woman. Mo Fan seemed like the man that had just sat there and enjoyed his life.

Mo Fan knew that Miss Tangyue was not happy because she had been drugged by that sort of substance. He didn't want to annoy her further, and obediently followed her order to report the dead to the higher ranks.

Magical Tools were bound to the owner's soul. When the owner died, their spirits dispersed, and the magical items they owned would also be destroyed. They wouldn't have many other worthy items with them.

Miss Tangyue took away only one weirdly shaped ring from Chao He's corpse. Normally, she would explain things that Mo Fan didn't understand. This time, her cold expression hinted to Mo Fan that she wasn't in the mood!

Mo Fan and Ms. Tangyue returned to town after they quickly left the crime scene.

It was clear that she was still dealing with residual effects. She called a taxi and had it drive her back to the city.

While sitting in the rear seat, Mo Fan closed his eyes while savoring the strange feeling which the Rose Flames were giving him. He could smell something faint at the tip of his nose, vaguely like the scent coming off from Ms. Tangyue. It smelled like a rose; sexy and alluring.

"The Spiritual Fire can change the physique of the Magician. Unless you meet a stronger Fire Seed, any damage done by other type of fire will be weaker," Tangyue broke the silence with a cold and elegant voice, showing once again the traits of a teacher.

“So that’s how it works! I thought a Magician’s physique would always remain this weak.” Mo Fan was pleasantly surprised.

There was a certain level of immunity against fire, an excellent protective effect! When fighting against Fire Magicians in the future, this would essentially make him invulnerable!

No wonder Spirit grade Fire Seeds were so expensive. For those wealthy people, it was certainly worth spending so much money on these upgrades!

Mo Fan nodded back to her, thinking back to the conversation Chao He and Ms. Tangyue had. He asked, “Is the reason behind why you were chasing him related to the Violent Spring and what happened at Bo City?”

Ms. Tangyue looked out the window and replied, “Yes. The Violent Spring is a special type of medicine. It should not be easily found in the hands of The Black Vatican, and in such a massive quantity. We think there is some apothecary in the Magic Association defying the rules, and selling high level contraband to the Black Vatican for their own benefit. Chao He should have had some information in regard to this, but unfortunately he is gone. Hopefully we can find some information from his ring.”

It might be because of some embarrassing scenes in her mind, but she refused to make eye contact with Mo Fan at this moment.

It did not matter to Mo Fan. He was just staring at Ms. Tangyue, who still had noticeably flushed cheeks.

Mo Fan looked down a little and found her petite hands were gripping tightly onto the cushion, almost ripping it apart.

Looking at her evasive eyes again, her pupils seem to be hiding some sort of impulse!

“Ms. Tangyue, are you really alright?...” Mo Fan wholeheartedly asked without any wicked thoughts.

It was obvious how dangerous the evil maniac Chao He was. He assumed that if it he wasn’t her very last resort, she definitely would not have let Mo Fan come and assist her.

Moreover when fighting against Chao He, Ms. Tangyue did not actually plan on having Mo Fan take action.

Chao He was too horrifying and cunning, and Mo Fan didn’t have the experience and proper abilities to protect himself. Out of protection for Mo Fan, Tangyue didn’t ask him to directly interfere. How would Mo Fan not notice this kindness from her? Now that this kind of embarrassing thing had happened to her, Mo Fan let go of his wicked thoughts to help her.

Just when Mo Fan was about to ask a question out of concern, his whole being froze!

Just like that, one rosy red lip kissed Mo Fan, the soft tongue looked as if it instantly wanted to ignite all his primitive lusts. It broke right through Mo Fan’s untested defenses and scattered all his pure thoughts.

He used Lightning to attack his enemies, but Mo Fan felt the electrifying feeling on himself this time. The numbness from the tip to the end of his tongue, from the bottom of the tongue to his whole body. It felt like he was being baptised once more. All of his cells were active and his blood seemed to thunder in his veins.

There was a soft fragrance carrying a wild characteristics of a beauty as it crashed into him. He was completely unprepared, and felt extremely apprehensive... however, he quite enjoyed it!

_Groan~ _

When the pleasant sound passed by the driver, he subconsciously turned around and saw what had happened, his heart began to pump fast!!

Aren't you a bit too impatient! I understand if you youths want to please yourselves in a car, but this is a taxi!

If I remember correctly, the young man called the beauty a teacher. Heavens! This... This is too exhilarating!!

Bzzz~~~!

Suddenly, purple lightning lashed out to the front seat of the car.

The bolt instantly broke the car's rear view mirror into pieces, scattering them everywhere. The driver turned back shivering, his face pale white.

"if you dare to turn around again, you're dead!" Mo Fan shouted at the driver when he was finally able to take a breath.

The driver didn't dare to do it again, he behaved and stared straight at the steering wheel. Occasionally, he heard the erotic sounds the girl was making from the back of the car, and felt like he was about to faint from hearing them.

Chapter 136: I Will Take Responsibility

The sound of the mirror breaking cleared up Ms. Tangyue's scrambled mind a little.

She pushed Mo Fan away before pulling away to the very corner of the car. She looked like a scared cat as she curled up there.

As Mo Fan saw her forcefully get her mind together, he couldn't help but sigh. One half of his heart was frustrated... and the other half was extremely frustrated!

On a curvy road along the lonely mountain a taxi was speeding along. Inside was a driver whose heart had completely crumbled, and a young man and grown woman whose hearts were currently being tested.

Out of respect and consideration, Mo Fan also began to shift away from Ms. Tangyue. His eyes gazed at the outside of the window, acting as though what had just happened had not occurred at all.

Not too long after, a fragrance suddenly invaded his nose. Mo Fan could feel the seat next to him slowly sink. He turned his head around, only to realize the Ms. Tangyue who was just like a scared kitten had turned into a fierce cat baring fangs and claws as she once again pounced at him. Her captivating small red lip kissed him, her four limbs were like the tentacles of an octopus as she tightly hugged him, a hug that seemed like it would never leave him.

Mo Fan didn't know how to respond to this. Suddenly, she pushed him away once again as she retreated to the other side.

Watching her as her mood swung so wildly, Mo Fan felt terrible for her.

Heavens, just kill me. Stop tormenting a pure and innocent boy like me...

It's not like I won't take responsibility. You dare to give me this kind of delight, and then just let it walk away. Originally, I could've been a proper gentleman, now I am completely confused...

This road was even more tormenting than when they were charging into the monster-infested city area. Either way, Mo Fan felt like he was being constantly encouraged by a witch. He was just a young, handsome boy whose heart was left with numerous wounds.

Anyhow, they finally reached the city and finally purchased the medicine for suppressing the symptoms. The lover of his dreams was filled with shame as she ran away, leaving behind a Mo Fan whose chaotic heart was still billowing as he stood in an unfamiliar part of the city completely perplexed.

After he had finally regained his senses, Mo Fan wanted to take a stroll around the city of Hangzhou. However, he quickly received a threatening text message.

"If you dare to tell anyone about this, I will castrate you!"

"I actually will take responsibility," he texted back.

"A judge of the Magic Courts is allowed two chances to kill, do you want me to use one of them on you?" The clear threat had been made through the texts. He could feel the killing intent of Ms. Tangyue when she sent the message.

"I am a man of virtue... Since we're at it, could I inquire why you're in Hangzhou right now? Coincidentally, I live in Hangzhou as well. I haven't seen you since the fall of Bo City, do you want to grab a coffee together?"

In the apartment in west Hangzhou, the flush-cheeked Ms. Tangyue held onto her mobile. As she saw the most recent message, she wanted to give herself some respect by acting like he was a stranger. Yet she couldn't help but giggle a little.

Hmph, how could a someone who couldn't use Intermediate Magic without the use of Star Atlas possibly take responsibility? There are even Advanced Magicians who would stand in line for me!

After strolling around Hangzhou, Mo Fan took a bus directly to Shanghai... To be fair, it couldn't even be called the outskirts of Hangzhou. Either way, it took a little more than an hour to get back to Shanghai using the metro, and roughly another hour using a train to get home.

Mo Fan's original plan was to meditate at home for two months, and then see if he could rely on his outstanding ability as an Intermediate Mage to make the Jewel Institute recruit him.

Let's go back home and think carefully through this.

The priority was to learn how to control the Star Atlas. If he relied on a Star Atlas Book to cast Intermediate Magic, he'd be far too slow. Furthermore, if he was to continue using the Star Atlas Books, then the stars most likely wouldn't see him as their father anymore.

Either way, going to University was essentially using most of the time to control the Atlas. He might as well stay home and meditate, and learn the skill before stepping into the institution. In one aspect, he had to show off. For someone like him who enjoyed showing off, he would have no way to do that if he did not have any hidden power. On the other hand, he'd have even more time to interact with new things.

I just don't know anything about things like the Curse Element. Who knows, maybe there'll be a day where I'd die like the four people from Dongfang Family; completely clueless...

Furthermore, it's not like I don't have to cultivate after I get to University. I'll Awaken a third Element, and then I'll have to spend even more time on top of that...

Right, I've made my decision! I'll cultivate for a year and then charge my way into Jewel Institute!

Ms. Tangyue was indeed very sincere. Originally, Mo Fan thought because of the moment of passion in the car, she would never again look at him. Unexpectedly, she still sent him a message to go to the Magic Association of Shanghai to Awaken, with someone there to guide him.

The Magic Association of Shanghai was also known as the Dongfang Magic Association. This Dongfang Magic Association had nothing to do with the Dongfang Family, other than the Magic Association was located on the Oriental Pearl Tower.

When Mo Fan passed through the skyscrapers that pierced the heavens like a treasured sword, the Lujiazui, he arrived at the Oriental Pearl Tower. His emotions were rather complex.

In the world he was born in, the Oriental Pearl Tower was the symbol of Shanghai, and also a place for tourism. In this place, it was actually the freaking headquarters of the Magic Association!

The Magic Association had always been the most authoritative Magic organization in this world, recruiting most of the young and powerful Magicians. As long as you were a Magician, you would have to follow the rules drawn up by them!

The Magician's Conventions had a few clear regulations. One of them said that no Magician was allowed to use a Destructive Magic above the Advanced level within the city, and magic beneath the Advanced level cannot be used without proper reasons.

The second regulation was to never use Magic against commoners, it would result in a punishment of the same level as killing someone.

The third regulation was that Magicians were allowed to have duels, and injuring someone in them was fine. If death occurred, punishment would be determined by the Magic Court.

The Magic Association was equivalent to a Magician's police force and legal system. The Magician's Conventions were something that all Magicians in the world had to comply with.

Naturally, the ones who drew up these laws were also the lawmakers and the enforcers. In the exchanges between Magicians, and their transactions, interactions, and cultivations, the Magic Association held the highest level of authority. Normally, only the most outstanding young Magicians would be recruited into the Magic Association!

Within the Magic Association, there was also a Magic Court.

The Magic Court was extremely secretive and mysterious. It is reported that the Magic Courts consisted of people whose combat powers were all off the charts!

Mo Fan only found out about this afterwards on the internet. If Chao He hadn't used all kinds of dirty tricks back then, then he most likely would not have been a true foe for Ms. Tangyue. Recalling the destructive power of the Fierce Fist: Nine Palace, he could still feel some lingering fear in his heart.

Ms. Tangyue looked like she was only twenty-something, and she was already in possession of such a great power in combat. It seemed that this was the very standard of the Magic Court, and clearly demonstrated that freaks existed within the Magic Court!

Chapter 137: The Second Awakening

According to Ms. Tangyue, Mo Fan had come to the most renowned Magic Association in the nation!

He could already feel a magnificent aura streaming across his face while he was still standing out in the square. This was at a completely different level than the Magicians Association in Bo City!

The passing people on the stairs were dressed no differently than normal citizens, but judging by their auras, all of them were most definitely Magicians. Some were weaker, some were about the same level as Mo Fan himself, but there were also quite a few magicians that Mo Fan wasn't able to sense.

If he couldn't even feel the magic aura of those Magicians, it was without a doubt because they were at a much higher level than he was!

This was undoubtedly the most amazing Magic Association in the nation! Intermediate Magicians in Bo City were an existence that could be considered at the peak, while here, they could be seen as... Oh, those people were just here for sightseeing. They weren't Magicians. That's probably why I couldn't feel them. Right.

The Oriental Pearl Tower was open to the public. Visitors had paths that were specifically arranged for sightseeing. Thus it was only natural for Magicians like Mo Fan to walk along the Magician's path instead.

After passing through an exhibition hall filled with magical advances and items of historical significance, Mo Fan took the elevator which skyrocketed him a hundred meters upwards.

His current floor was called the lower sphere, and was where the majority of the Magicians gathered. Although it was a sightseeing floor as well, its main purpose was to service Magicians from all corners of the country.

After exiting the elevator, the first thing that came into his sight was a majestic hall. The structure itself was a spherical building over fifty meters in diameter. However, after examining the painting on the curved dome that had a Western Renaissance style to it, he could feel a secretive and mysterious Magic assailing him.

The receptionist, wearing a white qipao with cloud designs, asked him with a polite smile, "Is there anything I can help you with, Mr. Magician?"

"I'm here for Awakening, someone already has booked an appointment for me." Mo Fan replied, his eyes unconsciously staring at the receptionist's beautiful long legs. Tsk, just as expected of a grand city, even the receptionists are extremely beautiful!

"Let me check it for you, may I please have your name...?"

"Mo Fan."

"Ok, Mr. Mo Fan, do you wish to look around, or do you wish to head to the Awakening room straight away?" the receptionist asked with another smile.

"Let's go straight to the Awakening room."

Between sightseeing and Awakening, Mo Fan cared more for his Awakening.

After experiencing so many things, Mo Fan clearly understood the importance of having yet another Element!

As Mo Fan passed through the main lobby, he noticed a relatively interesting fact. There were many one-to-one counters. Some magicians were able to enjoy lone service by a receptionist, while the majority of the Magicians were seated on the comfortable chairs in the hall. They looked like like they were retail investors as they watched the giant screen, searching for the information they wanted.

"The screen will announce some bounties, as well as weekly resources issued by the Magicians Association. Those who want them can apply for them." The receptionist seemed to know it was Mo Fan's first time here, and explained this in a friendly manner.

"What about the one-to-one service?" Mo Fan asked.

"They either paid a large sum for this special service, or have reached the level of an Intermediate Magician. All Intermediate Magicians automatically will have one on one service. The employees will do a price estimation if they are looking to trade items, as well as methods for selling them. Furthermore, they will also properly explain to the Magician information regarding any suitable bounties. Any matters which need to be followed closely or applied will be done on your behalf. This saves time and removes many tedious procedures. But of course, there are also employees who are specialized to get information which you normally cannot!" the thoughtful receptionist explained concisely.

"So that's how it works!" Mo Fan nodded.

Everybody thirsts for special privileges, but those who are privileged are in the minority... and I am in the minority!

Mo Fan was brought to a beautiful spherical room. The room was filled with countless amounts of Awakening balls, causing those who saw them to feel dizzy.

"Mr Guo, the... the person who is here for Awakening has arrived." After the girl dressed in qipao arrived here, she hesitated a moment before she spoke.

"Oh, I know, instruct him to sit there." The man called Mr Guo looked as if he was busy as he replied in a neutral monotone.

"Then... then I shall take my leave." The receptionist peeked at Mr Guo before her face displayed some disappointment.

Mo Fan followed Mr Guo's instruction as he sat down to the side and waited. At this moment, he was a little excited. It was just like his first Awakening held at the school's practice grounds.

On the other side of the room, the man named Mr Guo hadn't even looked at Mo Fan once as he carelessly walked into another room.

The room was dim. Mr Guo looked at the young woman who was his apprentice and asked, "Xiao Mian, is the Awakening Stone ready?"

"Which Element's guiding stone should I use?" the apprentice named Xiao Mian inquired.

"Let me see..." Guo Liyu walked up to the door and looked at Mo Fan from a distance. He didn't bother asking Mo Fan as he showed his impatience, "Lightning Element,"

"You're not going to ask??" Xiao Mian questioned him.

"I hate these kind incompetent second generations. His age should be around 17 or 18, yet he still came here for Awakening with the belief he could use money to awaken the Lightning Element. If my Awakening house wasn't in need of money to bring in new stock, I wouldn't even bother wasting Awakening Stones on these people," Guo Liyu replied.

"How much did you charge for the service, Master?" Xiao Mian asked weakly.

"One hundred thousand yuan. The probability of Awakening the Lightning Element is just slightly higher compared to normal circumstances," Guo Liyu replied.

Xiao Mian was shocked after hearing his reply.

One hundred thousand for just increasing the probability of Awakening a Lightning Element for a person, Master is ruthless!

Xiao Mian didn't say much as she obediently put the Lightning Element guiding stone around the giant Awakening Stone.

This was the Magician's Association's largest Awakening house, the Awakening Stones they used were of the best quality. Normally the fees were relatively high, but it was a free service if it was a special case, such as a recommendation from extraordinary people.

"Come here, kid. I must tell you in advance, what you Awaken is up to the heavens and your talent. Even using an Elemental Guiding Stone, the success rate is only raised by a little. If you Awaken the Light Element, Water Element, or whatever Element, don't blame me." Guo Liyu walked up to Mo Fan with the appearance of having a bad day.

"I got it. Can we begin?" Mo Fan asked.

"You may go in, we won't disturb you during the process of Awakening..." the girl named Xiao Mian answered Mo Fan, still not knowing why they were being unfriendly to him.

Chapter 138: Awakening the Shadow Element

Mo Fan walked to the Awakening room which was completely lit up by luminous stones. As he walked to the location where the Awakening Stone was located, he realized there were many lustrous purple pearls around the giant Awakening Stone.

Mo Fan was confused when the pearls were clearly emitting the aura of the Lightning Element.

"I want to awaken a Dark Element, how come the Lightning Guiding Stone is placed here??" Mo Fan asked as Guo Liyu was about to leave and close the door.

Guo Liyun was currently pondering over how to remove the impurities from those precious Guiding Stones. He really did not want to waste another second with this second generation. He didn't even bother to ask as he said to the female apprentice, "He wants the Dark Element, then just give him the Dark Element."

"Oh." Xiao Mian obediently nodded, and changed to the Dark Guiding Stone straightaway.

Guo Liyu didn't even bother asking as he once more focused on the difficult task of his own research. Before he began, he couldn't help but mutter, "You want to Awaken the Dark Element on your first Awakening? You're expecting too much! Whatever, the Lightning Guiding Stone and the Dark Guiding Stone's price tags aren't too far apart..."

After swapping to Dark Guiding Stone, Mo Fan was locked inside the Awakening Room.

The Awakening Stones felt so familiar, but there was a clear difference from the mass-produced cheap ones used by his school.

Awakening Stones were restricted items. You had to register yourself every time one was used. The Magic Association was basically in control of the Awakening Stones, and they dispatched them to the schools, military, Hunter's Unions, or other appointed organisations.

Half of the tuition fees for High School were actually used to purchase the Awakening Stones.

Although the even more expensive Guiding Stones could be purchased, the high schools as well as Universities had no reason to provide something that expensive for their students.

Mo Fan wasn't sure if he would succeed, either. Looking at the black elemental pebbles covering the Dark Guiding Stone, his heart couldn't help but beat faster.

Mo Fan closed his eyes as he slowly placed his palm on top of the cold Awakening Stone. He felt uneasy, similar to a virgin boy touching his girlfriend's breasts for the very first time.

When the glossy, cold Awakening Stone sensed the warmth from his palms, it immediately began to react. From the very center of the stone a light blossomed.

It was very similar to his first Awakening. With his eyes closed, Mo Fan was able to feel a bizarre energy flowing through the blood vessels within his body, and in a flash, it all poured into his Spiritual Universe...

It was as if a new life was being birthed somewhere in the chaotic field of his Spiritual Universe. It was changing his Spiritual Space, slowly forming a territory that belonged to itself.

The motes of energy were as tiny as dust as they carefully tiptoed into this territory, while carrying the intentions of invading. They wanted to own a much larger expanse of territory. The energy wasn't as fierce and overbearing as the Lightning Element, and it wasn't as active and inciting as the Fire Element, either. The motes displayed a different kind of calm and a coolness that other Elements didn't have, like they were peeking around with ideas of their own.

What is this?? Mo Fan was momentarily unable to determine what it was.

From the looks of its color, this Element looked as if it was merging with his Spiritual Universe!

Dark color, yes, this was a dark color!!

Does dark have a color and its own luster?

The truth was Mo Fan's dark Stardust had its own characteristics and its own luster. If he hadn't carefully tried to feel it, then it would have been quite easy to completely overlook its existence. However, the motes existed right there as they gave out a dark Stardust radiance!

The guidance was successful!

Ms. Tangyue said this Guo Liyu's Awakening Stones were renowned across the country, and the success rates of his Guided Awakenings were far higher than what the schools could offer. Who would've thought that it really would succeed!

Shadow Element!

So this is the Shadow Element, mysterious, crafty and dangerous!

Good! With the Shadow element in my possession, I'll be able to escape through the shadows like Ms. Tangyue! The usage of the spell is one thing, but things the spell can do is extraordinary cool!

In a University filled with romance, how could I possibly receive the attention of everyone, distinguish myself above the rest, and capture the heart of the girls and teachers without the incredibly cool Shadow Element?

Cough, ahem! Forget it... Under his circumstances, where he had two violent magical Elements, obtaining a spell that was capable of quick relocation was extremely important to him. Perhaps the Wind Element was a good choice, but from how Mo Fan saw it, he thought Wind was missing that mysterious feeling and potential for controlling things.

Now, he had finally Awakened the Shadow Element. Give him some time to complete the Primary spell, Escaping Shadows, and he wouldn't ever have to go through the efforts of sneakily peeking at Xinxia... Oh, he meant, he could fight against Magical Beasts without restraint!

Hahaha, three Elements in my hands!

Mo Fan was completely excited and about to retract his hands when suddenly a new sensation was transmitted from the Awakening Stone like lightning, hitting him so fast he didn't have time to react.

Mo Fan trembled. Before he was able to regain his senses, a new mysterious power was flowing into Mo Fan's palms. Just like the previous Shadow Element, it quickly melted into Mo Fan's blood vessels, and furthermore, it opened up yet another whole new world within Mo Fan's Spiritual Universe!

MY!

GOD!

At this time, Mo Fan was unable to talk. He mouthed the words, but no sounds came out.

Recalling the first time he Awakened, the Lightning Element came first, and then the Fire Element immediately and vigorously followed. The Fire didn't even give Mo Fan a moment's leeway to wonder about it.

Now, the same thing had happened again!

After his third Element was Awakened, there was actually yet one more energy that charged its way into his Spiritual Universe. It didn't even give Mo Fan the time to rejoice properly over the previous Element before sending Mo Fan to an even higher level of excitement!

This was just like a father who was about to hug his son who had been missing for many years before discovering that... It was a buy one, get one free? One hit, two sounds? Shit, there is no way to describe this. In short, he was happy beyond reason!

A fourth Element!

I have four Elements!

Other people at the Intermediate level would only possess two Elements. It seemed like they had to cultivate to a level above the Advanced stage before they'd be able to Awaken a fourth Element...

However, Mo Fan had only just stepped into the Intermediate level, yet he had directly Awakened a fourth Element!

This was against the rules of heaven!

Calm down, calm down...

Shit, I can't calm down!

Mo Fan was so excited that he felt like he was blowing up. Controlling the emotions billowing up inside him, he finally directed his attention toward the color of the fourth Element.

What did I Awaken this time?

At this moment, Mo Fan's mood was like he had won a lottery. As to whether it was a sports lottery or a money lottery, that wasn't the important part. This winning pool's reward was at a different level!

"What is this??" Mo Fan blurted out when he finally found the fourth Stardust in his Spiritual Universe.

The color of this Stardust...

Chapter 139: The Fourth Element!

It seemed like there was no color to it!

After Mo Fan carefully examined it, he realized that this Element actually had no color whatsoever!

It was transparent!

The reason why he could see it was because he was able to sense the outline of its Stardust within the chaotic area. However, it was very close to being invisible. If it was to be described with a color, then it would be the radiance that it emitted occasionally was the color of the moon!

What Element was this?

Mo Fan was momentarily unable to make a determination.

"Are you done?" The apprentice, Xiao Mian, opened the door without permission. She saw that Mo Fan had finished Awakening a long time ago, thus she began to pout.

"If you're done, come out. There's gonna be a Magician coming here to Awaken at the recommendation of the Magic Court, please don't... Eh? How come the Element you Awakened is colorless?" The young apprentice Xiao Mian was surprised as she looked at the Awakening stone.

On the other side of the room, Guo Liyu immediately stood up as he heard his apprentice's astonishment. He ran over to the Awakening Room and peeked inside.

When he discovered the Awakening Stone didn't have any color, yet there'd be an occasional flicker of moonlight, his face was filled with shock.

This... what kind of luck does this second generation have!? He actually awakened the Summoning Element!

The vast majority of the people would only Awaken a Classical Element as their first Element. Those who Awakened White Magic, Black Magic, or Dimensional Magic could be considered as being favored by the heavens. After all, the first Awakening's Element were the Major Cultivations. Elements of Major Cultivations provided Magicians an increased amount of time to cultivate and practice. It made them far more proficient compared to those with a Secondary or Minor Cultivation Element.

Guo Liyun originally thought that if this person Awakened a Lightning Element, he would go back home with honor in his hands. Who would've thought that he would've changed to Dark Element at the last second, and while that did fail, he got a Summoning Element out of it!

According to the rules, the first Awakening being a Classical Element was the most common one. The following one would be either Black Magic or White Magic, and the one with the least probability would be Dimensional Magic.

Magicians with a Summoning ability for their first Element would enjoy an unlimited benefit from those major powers as long as they were willing to. Their rarity and price were far too high.

"This is the Summoning Element... Hmph, kid, the 100,000 RMB your family spent on you sure was worth it!" The corner of Guo Liyu's mouth twitched as he spoke to the dumbstruck Mo Fan.

Mo Fan gasped as he looked at Guo Liyun with an unconvinced face.

Summoning Element, it was actually the Summoning Element!

Even today, Mo Fan has been unable to forget about the amazing scene of Chief Zhankong's subordinate calling the Skyhawks flying through the sky of Bo City. That seemed to be the Summoning Element!

He always imagined himself one day being able to mount an awesome beast as he landed on the street. Who would've thought that he unexpectedly be closer to that now!?

This happiness came far too suddenly. If Ms. Tangyue was here, Mo Fan would endure the danger and hug her before giving her a couple of kisses.

Speaking of which, if I was to tell the matter of Awakening the Shadow and Summoning Elements to that old scoundrel Mu Zhuoyun, would he package his beautiful Mu Ningxue and present her to me?

That seemed to be equally possible!

Where else would you be able to find a son-in-law with four Elements?

"Alright, alright. Since you're done Awakening, leave! I am busy." At the end of the day, Guo Liyu was a busy person, he began to wave Mo Fan away.

"Oh, oh, thank you!" Currently, Mo Fan only wanted to find a place to calm his state of mind.

“Even if you Awakened a special Element, if you don’t put effort into your training, it’ll still be useless. Furthermore, you’re already relatively old. You’re much slower than other people, there is nothing to be excited about,” Guo Liyu said.

As Mo Fan heard this, he felt cold water being poured over him. He didn’t understand why Guo Liyu would say he was old...

According to Tangyue, being able to tread into the Intermediate level at this age would still be considered as being incredibly impressive even in Shanghai. Could it be that Guo Liyu’s scope of people was even higher?

Alright, the City of Demons was the City of Demons, after all. There were many strong people here, even Intermediate Magicians couldn’t be considered anything special here...

Mo Fan didn’t say anything else, and immediately left.

As he walked out, the receptionist girl in her white qipao guided another fat youth who looked relatively old into the room.

Mo Fan didn’t care as he left excitedly

As Guo Liyu saw this fatty, his face immediately broke into smiles. He greeted him as he ordered Xiao Miao next to him to make tea. “Oh, you must be the Intermediate Magician that Tangyue recommended... your name was Mo Fan, right?”

The fatty’s face was blank. He pointed at his wrinkled nose as he said, “My name is Yang Dahai.”

“The youth who just left was Mo Fan,” the receptionist quickly explained.

The jaws of both Master Guo Liyu and apprentice Xiao Miao both dropped as they glanced at each other. The expressions on their faces couldn’t be described with just a couple of words.

After a moment had passed, the apprentice finally regained her senses as she weakly said, “Master... Did we make a mistake?”

Guo Liyu’s face was stiff as he nodded, “It seems like it!”

“Then...then he was actually Awakening his second Element...” Xiao Miao said.

“As expected of the ancient Magic Court, producing such a monster! An Intermediate Mage that young... Awakening the Summoning Element on his second Awakening! I, Guo Liyu, am thoroughly defeated!” Guo Liyun let out a long sigh.

The receptionist didn’t know what was going on between the master and the apprentice, she just directly went back to the hall.

The fatty called Yang Dahai was also sitting there, completely confused about the situation.

“Are you the kid from the Yang Family that wants to Awaken the Lightning Element?” Guo Liyu asked as he glanced at the fatty.

“That would be me!” Yang Dahai replied, as he shook the fat around his body.

“Xiao Miao, bring him to the Awakening Room.”

“Master, didn’t you tell me to go make tea?”

“Make what, don’t waste my good tea,” Guo Liyu replied as he left to do his own work.

That fatty Yang Dahai was completely dumbstruck.

How come the happy and sincere Awakening Master suddenly looks as though I owe him five hundred thousand RMB? Did Daddy give him too little money?

Chapter 140: Cultivating Four Elements Together!

After returning home, Mo Fan saw Xinxia sitting on the small balcony in peace. Her eyes were closed, so she must’ve been diligently meditating.

She planned on participating in the Magic High School Exams in the coming year, so she still needed to learn quite a few things.

Mo Fan wanted to share with her the happiness in his heart. However, seeing her earnest and dignified appearance, he didn’t disturb her at all.

Thinking about it carefully, he decided not to tell her yet. When the time came, he’d just give her yet another big surprise.

It was currently afternoon. The bright and beautiful sunlight was like a bright-colored muslin as it softly and quietly draped itself over Xinxia’s delicate body. She sat there with a particular elegance as she slowly opened her tender lips. She looked like a beautiful girl that only appears in dreams.

It seemed she had gotten a huge benefit from cultivating. She who regarded everything lightly would not usually be in such high spirits.

Mo Fan didn’t make a sound as he stood to the side, staring at her.

Her dark black hair cascaded across her small, flawless features. Xinxia did not just have a perfectly oval shaped face, her cheeks filled out and made her look incredibly cute when she lightly bit her lips. When she calmly closed her beguiling eyes, those defined eyebrows of hers made her look all the more enchanting and ravishing.

With this kind of girl, there were rarely times where you’d want to disrespect her. Adding the wheelchair to her delicate appearance only increased one’s desire to protect her.

The night of the destruction of Bo City, Mo Fan had told her that if she couldn’t walk, then he would give her a pair of wings.

Magical Equipment in the form of Wings did exist.

However, their price was something a commoner couldn't afford even in several lifetimes.

In the past, it would be near impossible for Mo Fan to fulfill this wish. However, right now... he held unlimited potential and would only grow stronger and attain even more riches. There would be a day where he would personally gift her a pair of beautiful wings and allow her to experience the incredible freedom. She will be able to enjoy the wind through her hair, and the clouds beneath her feet.

Mo Fan didn't disturb her.

He knew what he ought to do. The joy which the dual Element Awakening had brought upon him had now cooled down. It had been turned into an unlimited expectation and thirst for the future, a self confidence that would allow him to control everything around him, and the power that burned fiercely within his heart!

After returning to his own room, Mo Fan didn't want to waste a single second more.

Awakening four Elements did not necessarily mean that he had grown stronger. It only signified that if he was to put even more effort in, then he had even more room to improve.

He had to invest even more time into cultivation now. He had to practice the control of even more Elemental Stars, and spend even more resources.

Thankfully, the Little Loach Pendant provided Mo Fan with a great amount of assistance.

The truth is, the majority of people weren't able to cultivate a single Element's magic to a higher level, thus, how could they possibly have time to meditate on others? Mo Fan who planned on raising the levels of all four of his Elements, the time he was going to have to spend on them was not going to be small.

With the nourishment of the Little Loach Pendant, Mo Fan would be able to cultivate literally all day and night without getting tired.

Mo Fan simply sat in his room with his eyes closed as he spent every day like this.

The waters of the Underground Holy Spring had been absorbed by the Little Loach Pendant. Although it couldn't achieve the same effect of the Underground Holy Spring, it was still able to double Mo Fan's meditation speed!

A common grade Stardust Magic Tool increased cultivation speed by roughly twenty percent.

A Spirit grade Stardust Magic Tool was able to increase cultivation speed by roughly forty percent.

The Little Loach Pendant that absorbed the Underground Holy Spring had evolved once more, and Mo Fan was no longer able to determine what grade it was at. However, as long as Mo Fan entered a meditative state, he'd be able to enjoy the twice the effect for half the amount of work.

It doubled over what it had been previously!

This double effect of the nourishment was a solid increase. It wasn't that Mo Fan's comprehension of cultivation was very high, either. The time he could spend meditating was already extremely long, and when he wasn't meditating, the Little Loach Pendant's nourishing would still be active. With this kind of thing influencing him discreetly, he was able to further increase his cultivation.

The effects he obtained from meditation would be different everyday. Even if Mo Fan was a Magician whose innate talent in cultivation was inferior, he would still be able to race ahead of his peers by many levels by relying on the nourishment provided by the Little Loach Pendant.

Mo Fan had completely planned his time out efficiently.

After three months of constantly cultivating, Mo Fan had pleasantly discovered that the Stardust of his Shadow Element's development had achieved the same level it took him a whole year to accomplish with his Fire and Lightning.

The increased speed of the Shadow Stardust was just like a rocket, even Mo Fan had some difficulty believing it.

"It seems like after reaching the Intermediate level, the Stardusts are simply something familiar for the Magicians who possess a Nebula. Thus, the speed at which they increase is much faster than it was in the past." Mo Fan mused to himself.

The average cultivation time for one Element was roughly a day. This was something that everyone did.

The Little Loach Pendant's nourishment was able to increase his own cultivation speed by roughly 2.5 times.

It would be logical to say that cultivation three months with the 2.5X buff was equivalent to cultivating for a little longer than half a year. However, it was actually more like a whole year worth of cultivation. If this was the annual examination, then it wouldn't even be a problem for him to get a S!

Thinking this over, Mo Fan could only think of one reason. His meditation effect had increased by roughly fifty percent compared to before he was an Intermediate Mage!

Because he had to carefully look after the Nebula level Fire and Lightning Elements, it made it much easier for him to look after the Stardust level Shadow and Summoning Elements.

This kind of feeling was just like being a father who had already raised his two children to the age of ten or so years. Dealing with the third and fourth child would be like a casual pinch, his management over them would be neat and tidy, making them docile and obedient.

The Shadow Stardust and Summoning Stardust has already reached the level where he could cast their spells. Only then did Mo Fan begin to connect the Shadow Stars.

Similarly, the Star Path was something Mo Fan was very proficient in. Even though the Shadow Stardust and Summoning Stardust were something that required him to start from the very beginning again, he used swindling as his method to once more make the arrogant Stars obey him.

Cultivating the Shadow and Summoning Elements was much smoother compared to the Lightning and Fire Elements. He wouldn't make any detours, nor would he lose confidence if he failed.

Control was something Mo Fan had practiced first. Normally, those who had connected seven Stars would impatiently attempt to cast spells, and put the majority of their time towards completely utilizing that spell. Considering the limited amount of time, Mo Fan had to suppress his urge to do the same thing. Instead, he put most of his time into consolidating his foundations.

When he got to the University, he would have all the time and grounds to practice at. In this desolate place with mountains around, there weren't any pretty ladies with good figures for him to sneakily peek at and distract him...
