

Village Head 64

Chapter 64 Kushi With Mother (2)

"Pah~~ Pah~~"

After a minute of playing with her buttohole, I began to slow down and soon removed my shaft. With a sense of satisfaction, I said "I have cleaned it properly now."

"Haaa... Haaa..."My mother let out a heavy breath as she silently nodded her head and straightened her back. While she continued to bathe, I stood by her side, having finished washing her backside, and patiently waited for my turn to bathe.

After she finished bathing, she turned to face me and spoke, "I understand washing my buttohole with your penis must have been a bit tasking for you. Come closer, let me help you bathe." She scooped another bowl of water and gestured for me to step forward.

Without any hesitation, I stepped forward and slightly bowed my head to allow her to pour water over it while she extended her hand to wash my body. As she focused on washing my chest and upper body, I carefully stretched my fingers under her and inserted them into her vagina. Whenever she needed to bend down and scoop another bowl of water to pour over my body, I would discreetly remove my fingers. We continued like this until we finished bathing and walked out of the backyard, putting on our tulga and rearranging the clay pot to its proper position before heading back inside the hut.

Initially, I had considered the idea of doing it with her while we were still bathing. However, after taking care of her buttohole, I realized that it would be more appropriate for us to finish the rest inside, within from the prying eyes of my sisters whether they were awake or asleep. As I thought about fucking my mother in their presence, I couldn't bring my cock down as the thought continued to linger in my mind.

.....

As Orion and his mother walked back inside, he surreptitiously slipped his hand under the fabric tied around her waist and placed it on her large, bare buttocks. In the past, she would have given him a smile before continuing with whatever she was doing. However, due to his frequent actions, it had become a routine that they both overlooked, accepting it as his new habit.

Sensing her son's hand graze her vagina lips before returning to playing with her protruding buttocks, Celeste didn't give much thought to his actions as it had become a routine for them. Instead, she shifted her focus to her two daughters, her gaze lingering on Reena for a moment. "You're back," Celeste said, walking forward with her son's arm still around her waist. "Orion went to the farm today and hoped to see you, but unfortunately, he missed you."

As she listened to her mother's words, Reena continued chewing on the fruit in her hand while turning to look at her brother with a snort. "If you really wanted to find me, then you should have asked around for me. I am one of the best workers on the farm, so it wouldn't have been that hard for you to locate me unless you weren't trying to," she said before taking another bite of the fruit. "Besides, I'm sure you went straight to Mrs Shani when you arrived, so I don't think she would have given you the chance to find me, especially since you guys are there for your awakening ceremony."

'Mrs Shani?' Orion questioned inwardly, remembering the middle-aged woman he and his group had met.

Meanwhile, Reena continued, "You'll only get to meet me when you start working on the farm full-time. By then, I'll have the chance to show you around, so don't worry and just focus on awakening your gift."

Orion nodded his head, his mind not particularly dwelling on the matter as he already had something that occupied his mind. Celeste was about to take a seat close to her daughters when Orion suddenly stopped her by tugging her waist upward. "Huh!" she turned her head to look at him in confusion and watched as he sat down with his legs stretched outwards on the ground, in the position where she wanted to sit.

Orion's smile widened as he gestured towards his lap and said, "Why don't you spoil yourself for once, Mom, and sit on my legs? I promise it's much more comfortable than the hard floor."

Celeste shook her head in response, "No, don't worry about it. I don't want to stress you, especially with your busy day tomorrow."

But Orion was persistent in his offer, "Come on, Mom. You worry too much. Let me pamper you a little." He reached out and firmly clasped his hand around her waist, pulling her onto his lap with unexpected force. Celeste was taken aback and couldn't resist the sudden pull, settling on her son's lap with a gasp. "See? Isn't this better?" Orion teased, wrapping his arms around her in a loving embrace.

Observing the exchange between Orion and Celeste, Gina couldn't resist faking disgust as she let out a snort and retorted, "You want to pamper mother, yet your poor sisters are neglected." In response, Reena simply rolled her eyes and redirected her attention to the fruit she was nibbling on, uninterested in the sibling banter.

As Celeste observed her daughters' reactions, a sly grin spread across her face. From their envious looks, it was clear that they were jealous of the playful gesture Orion had directed towards her. They all knew that the previous version of Orion would never have acted in such a way. The fact that he was now so affectionate towards her now was a new development, and the fact that she was the first to receive this kind of attention while her daughters looked on with envy was enough for Celeste to play along. "There's nothing wrong with him pampering his mother, especially since he first met me before you guys," she said, settling herself comfortably on Orion's lap as she proceeded to skilfully divert the conversation and talk with her daughters about their day.

Meanwhile, amidst the conversation, Orion could only let out a muffled grunt as he noticed the fabric covering his mother's curvaceous bare ass was dangerously pulled back, exposing the other half of uncovered buttocks to the warmth of his scorching penis, still nestled within his tulga.