

Village Head 78

Chapter 78 The Third Day

After I finished cumming, I collapsed to the side on the frigid, unyielding ground, clutching my mother's body tightly in my arms. Her body lay still, now unconscious, likely overwhelmed by the thrill that surpassed any sensation she had ever felt in her life prior to meeting me, rivalling even the euphoria I had granted upon her just yesterday.

Regardless, I heaved a resigned sigh, acknowledging the fact that it might take a while for the women of this world to adapt to my advanced unconventional sexual techniques.

I gently spun her body around and drew her near, her head resting against my chest as her calm breathing brushed against my chest, indicating that she was peacefully asleep. I decided to glance up and gaze upon my sisters before I, too, succumbed to exhaustion. The raw emotions I had unleashed, coupled with the strenuous tasks I had tackled on the farm, had left me thoroughly fatigued.

I couldn't resist flashing a mischievous grin as Reena appeared before me, her fingers caressing her dripping-soaked pussy as she gasped for air, her moans quickening as she tried to match the level of ecstasy she had just witnessed me provide for our mother.

As usual, frustration etched her features as she failed miserably to achieve even an inch of satisfaction. Watching her struggle, I knew that it wouldn't take much to make her mine completely - to have her willingly surrender herself to me whenever she was aroused or needed comfort. With a satisfied nod at how everything was going, I turned my head slightly and caught Gina's gaze, her eyes ablaze with a mix of anticipation, shock, and pleasure. Following her gaze downwards, I realized why - the front of her tulga was soaked, evidence of her having reached climax just from watching us go at it once again.

'Great,' I thought as I finally turned my head and settled into a comfortable position on the cold clay-moulded floor. I balanced myself easily and rested my jaw on her head, observing as she stretched her hand and wrapped it around me tightly. With nothing left to ponder, I gave her forehead a warm and affectionate kiss before closing my eyes and drifting off to sleep.

Tomorrow is the final day of my awakening ceremony, so I need to wake up early.

.....

"Orion, wake up!" The urgent voice pierced through my sleepy fog, jolting me into consciousness. My body shook and shuddered as I struggled to open my heavy eyelids, but the sun's piercing rays made me quickly shut them again. I heard the voice again, louder this time "Orion, wake up! You can't afford to be late."

Slowly, I turned to face the source of the sound, and there was Reena, her eyes fixed on me with a raised eyebrow. Her voice softened as she spoke "If you don't get up now, you're going to be late for your third day."

My senses were still adjusting as I slowly released my hands from my mother's warm embrace, my mind still foggy with the remnants of sleep. But then Reena's voice suddenly sunk into my mind, jolting me into action. Without a second thought, I jerked upwards and sprang to my feet. "I'm late!" I exclaimed aloud as I bolted towards the room, eager to grab an extra tulga before dashing to the backyard for a quick bath.

Emerging a few minutes later, my body clean and refreshed, I saw my mother and Gina still asleep, while Reena was sitting peacefully on the side as she munched on some juicy kalna fruits. "Here," Reena offered, tossing a fruit my way. "You can eat that on your way to the village chief's compound." I caught the fruit and took a big bite, relishing the sweet, tangy flavour.

"But what about you?" I asked, eyeing her relaxed posture. "Aren't you going to the farm today?"

"I am, but it seems that I will be late," she replied with a heavy sigh. "I'll have to wake up Mom first and help her bathe before I head to the farm." She turned to look at our mother, who was still sound asleep and shook her head. "After all, even though she was able to move easily the other day, doing it two nights in a row might have taken a toll on her. So, I don't think she'll be able to stand on her two feet for a while."

I nodded in understanding, feeling a little embarrassed. As much as I would have loved to stay home and take care of our mother by myself, I knew it wasn't feasible. Plus, it was obvious that she would be furious if she woke up to find out I hadn't gone to the village chief's compound yet. So, I took a deep breath, inhaled the fresh air, and exhaled, looking at both my sleeping mother and younger sister. Then, I turned to Reena and said, "Take care of them."

Reena snorted at my words, exaggeratingly biting down on the kalna fruit in her hands as she retorted, "You are talking as though they aren't my family too."

Feeling the intense gaze directed towards me, I turned towards the door and made my way out, making sure to close it behind me. Now that I had taken care of my mother, the next person in line was my elder sister. But, for the time being, I pushed that thought to the back of my mind. My focus needed to be on my gift - whatever it may be. I also needed to focus on the fact that we would be testing our inner strengths today to see who would be able to awaken theirs.

Fiona had mentioned that the odds of unlocking our inner strengths were slim, but her words didn't hold much weight in my mind. I refused to worry about something beyond my control and opted to reserve my judgment until I was tested. After all, how could I worry about something I had no control over and didn't even understand?