Chapter 667: The omen of darkness and chaos, Gu Qingyi's words

As Gu Changge ignited the sacrificial rites, the vast power of faith gathered in the Human Ancestor Hall was aroused. In the infinitely vast Upper Realm, there were shocking visions emerging.

Many cultivators saw in a trance that at the end of the sky, there was an ancient and magnificent palace floating up and down, with carved beams and painted buildings resplendent with gold and jade, shining with celestial light, like an immortal capital that would never fall.

What was more, they heard the sound of chanting scriptures from hundreds of millions of Gods and Buddhas in their ears, which was extremely loud. Such a scene lasted for a long time, reflected in the sky, causing countless cultivators to discuss in shock, wondering whether this was a sign of Heaven and Earth.

Of course, some people heard the ancient voice of the Dark Heaven, from across the long river of time. It seemed that there was a voice in the dark telling them that if they found the Dark Heaven, they could gain eternal life. Such a voice was not only heard by ordinary cultivators.

Even some Supreme existences in seclusion, and even those who had become Enlightened, felt it. They felt horrified in their hearts. They knew that this required not only profound cultivation but also the unimaginable power of faith in order to arouse sentient beings.

That was to say, in fact, the Dark Heaven already had countless believers. This guess made all the forces feel palpitating and a little creepy.

“That is to say before we knew it, the Dark Heaven had penetrated into many corners...”

“Even the people around us might be believers of the Dark Heaven?”

Many cultivators felt chills and numbness in their scalps. This was too scary, after all, judging from what happened in the capital of the Great Yu Immortal Dynasty that day, the Dark Heaven even dared to attack Gu Changge.

Thinking about it this way, was there anything in this world that the Dark Heaven dared not do?

Some older cultivators sighed even more, “I have already foreseen that in the near future, the Upper Realm will face drastic changes. Perhaps the dark turmoil from the ancient times will be brought about by this Dark Heaven.”

“At that time, even Enlightened beings may not be unable to protect themselves, and the Upper Realm will become even more chaotic. No one will be spared, and endless darkness will soon cover the earth.”

While the undercurrents were surging in the Upper Realm, Gu Changge had already left the Great Yu Immortal Dynasty and returned to the Ancient Immortal Gu Family. Although he declared that his injuries were not serious, judging from his own record against the three Enlightened beings in black, he should not be seriously injured.

So after returning to the Ancient Immortal Gu Family, only a few people including his father came to see him, and none of the other clan elders showed up. Now Gu Changge was in full swing, no matter whether he was in the Upper Realm or in the Ancient Immortal Gu Family.

Even the Enlightened Ancestors, who usually appeared elusive, had to treat him politely and dare not treat him as a junior. He handed over many things about the Great Yu Immortal Dynasty to Yin Mei and Yu Tianzheng.

Yin Mei, who was now in charge of the Wan Dao Business Alliance, was extremely concerned about such matters. After all, the Great Yu Immortal Dynasty was no better than the Wan Dao Business Alliance.

This was an extremely long and ancient Immortal Dynasty in the Upper Realm, and the energy contained in it was really terrifying. Gu Changge was only initially controlling it and had not completely penetrated it with his own hands.

After all, there were many old antiques and hidden secrets. They were not blind, so it was impossible not to notice the abnormality. He could only draw it slowly, and couldn't be too anxious.

However, to Gu Changge's surprise, Gu Qingyi took the initiative to meet him once. Although it was just a few simple words, it was extremely rare for her.

“The Immortal Path is about to open, the former Immortal Realm will appear again. The barrier of Heaven will disappear, and everything will return to Ancient Immortal... It seems that soon, the Upper Realm will be in chaos. This world is absolutely extraordinary. Not only does it have the opportunity to become Immortal, but there are also many futures and strange things.”

Standing on a bluestone, Gu Qingyi, with a peerless appearance, was as cold as a Moon Immortal, with fluttering long sleeves and dancing hair, speaking softly. She seemed to have spoken this on purpose, and it was rare for her to say a lot.

“What kind of chaos? Are you going to enter the Immortal Realm?” Gu Changge’s expression was a little inexplicable, and then he asked.

Even now, he still couldn’t see Gu Qingyi’s cultivation clearly. One must know that even a Remnant Immortal couldn’t cover up all his aura in front of him. Moreover, Gu Qingyi never concealed her aura from the beginning to the end.

Her existence was like the breeze and bright moon, incomparably natural, and like an invisible nothingness, she was integrated with everything in the world. However, Gu Changge had long guessed that there was a great connection between Gu Qingyi and him.

Her background was naturally extraordinary. Hearing this, Gu Qingyi raised her eyes which were shining like autumn water. She glanced at him, shook her head slightly, then nodded again, without saying much. She knew Gu Changge very well, so she was not worried about the chaos in the Upper Realm, and how it would affect Gu Changge, even if it was the Immortal Realm.

On the contrary, little Wang Yue, who was following behind her, wrinkled her small nose and said, “You irresponsible Master, Sister Qing Yi is here to say goodbye to you.”

“Say goodbye to me?” This time, Gu Changge was a little stunned, and looked at Gu Qingyi with a little doubt, “Are you leaving the Gu family?”

Although Gu Qingyi was an ancient freak of the Gu family, her true origin was not even clear to many Ancestors. What she wanted to say was to leave, to go to the Immortal Realm, or to a certain place.

“I am not leaving the Gu family, it’s just returning to the place where I should belong to,” Gu Qingyi said softly, stretching out her slender jade-like fingers, and holding the hair hanging from her temples.

Gu Changge was silent for a while, then smiled and said, “Will you walk with me?”

Gu Qingyi hummed lightly. She then flicked her sleeves lightly, little Wang Yue’s figure disappeared from here immediately, and she was sent back to the small world she was in before.

Afterward, the two slowly walked down the mountain side by side and walked toward the foot of the mountain. The clear light was shining, the mist was lingering, the breeze was blowing in the mountains and forests, the deers chirped softly, and the birds twittered.

Gu Changge didn’t speak, and Gu Qingyi didn’t open her mouth either. The two just walked casually through the land and mountains and rivers under their feet. There seemed to be an unspeakable tacit understanding between them, which had been maintained for thousands of years.

Even though it had spanned countless epochs and trekked through endless years, it was still clearly engraved in the bones.

In one day, the two of them walked through countless mountains and rivers, crossing the infinite sacred mountains and ancient peaks. Finally, under the warm afterglow, they came to a vast grassland that could not be seen.

When the mountain wind was blowing, the green grass here was undulating, the sky was low, the moonlight was faint, and it was truly beautiful.

“It’s been a long time since I took a close look at this land.” Looking at all this, there seemed to be some kind of emotion in Gu Qingyi’s eyes.

“Maybe I haven’t seen this land like this for a long time.” Gu Changge said with a smile.

“You once said that too.” The corners of Gu Qingyi’s mouth curled slightly, and she said, “Do you still remember the bet we made?”

“The bet? What bet?” Gu Changge raised his eyebrows lightly.

“You will remember sooner or later.” Gu Qingyi shook her head and said, her eyes suddenly became extremely deep, “After all, that is your ultimate goal.”
