

Villain 801

Chapter 801: The glorious great sun crosses the sky, refining the eternal, immortal national weapon. The mighty silver force of faith surged and gathered from heaven and earth, flowing like a vast silver ocean, converging in the central region of the upper realms.

Almost every cultivator and powerhouses witnessed this awe-inspiring scene, a staggering display of silver brilliance, overwhelming and all-encompassing as if a divine fire had been ignited.

Throughout the heavens resounded the grandiose symphony of the world, a chorus of worship and sacrifice. Countless cultivators and beings devoutly knelt in reverence towards the focal point.

In the blink of an eye, the Divine Kingdom materialized in the central region of the upper realms. It emanated an unparalleled sense of ancient grandeur. This could only be described as a divine miracle, a realm of untold age, long overshadowed by the Dark Heaven, now manifested.

Within it stood a kingdom, sprawling across boundless territories with colossal structures, towering divine trees, and majestic ancient mountains extending beyond the horizon.

Across vast distances, manifesting in the thousand domains of heavens, numerous forces and groups bore witness to this miraculous spectacle.

The profound echoes of a vast world resonated within that mysterious kingdom, reaching every corner of the heavens.

Moreover, within the radiant kingdom, a brilliant heavenly light enveloped everything. Countless armies mounted on ferocious beasts appeared from all directions, wielding various divine immortal weapons with grandeur and dominance.

The national festival begins!

Apart from this, 108 Dao-building experts stood at the four corners of the kingdom. Their Dao bodies were as tall as millions of zhang, enveloped in divine radiance as they knelt in profound devotion towards the central palace.

These were the 108 heavenly gods of the Dark Heaven, each possessing the cultivation of an attained being capable of suppressing any force.

In another direction, 36 background figures emerged, their vitality overwhelming, pressing down on the entire universe. Clad in attire befitting starfields lords, with various majestic implements suspended above their heads, they ruled over vast star domains.

Similarly, they knelt in homage to the immortal kingdom established by the Dark Heaven, their devotion reaching the pinnacle.

Over the past few decades, the Dark Heaven had swept through heaven and earth, expanding and flourishing. Numerous terrible individuals either followed willingly or submitted themselves, resulting in a terrifying number of followers for the Dark Heavens a quantity unprecedented in its horror.

The kingdom had long been established in this ancient world, but its manifestation in heaven and earth had awaited the opportune moment. Now, as the time ripened, it began descending upon the earth.

Believers continued to kneel and bow, their heads adorned by the surging silver force of faith, transforming into the silver divine fire that ignited the cosmic expanse above the Dark Heaven.

Numerous background figures, each wielding various celestial materials and sacred objects, added them to the silver flames, forging the national treasures of the divine kingdom.

These unparalleled immortal artifacts, crafted with the power of faith and supplemented with various immortal materials, would stand the test of time.

The radiant divine fire, if ignited, could engulf an entire universe. This spectacle unfolded before the eyes of the upper realm as the national treasures took shape.

The scene was so breathtaking that countless cultivators and beings observing it found themselves in a state of shock.

Soon after, all witnessed the emergence of a blurry, supreme figure shrouded in immortal mist. Engaged in the festival, this figure began to cast immortal runes, contributing to the forging of the national treasures.

Limitless radiance erupted, dazzling as if an immortal sun was flowing with an unimaginable brilliance capable of annihilating everything, returning all to chaos.

Even in its nascent form, the beings felt an overwhelming aura capable of suppressing the heavens, permeating and expanding.

The national treasure of the Dark Heaven is cast as the resplendent Great Sun.

Gu Changge mused. His true form materialized, using the silver flame of faith to refine various immortal materials. He then commenced the sacrifice of forging the national treasures, invoking Dao runes.

He had long planned to refine a radiant Great Sun as the national treasure of the divine kingdom, suspended high in the sky, eternal and indestructible, capable of obliterating all in its radiance.

The spectators, unable to contain their awe, couldn't help but submit inwardly.

The master behind the Dark Heaven

He is a ruthless figure who sends shivers down the spine of the upper realm. He has finally revealed himself.

In some self-proclaimed ancient worlds, many awakened ancient beings, observing these scenes, spoke with trembling voices, conveying profound fear.

Although they couldn't clearly see Gu Changge's true form, they discerned a vague outline. Standing there exuded an unparalleled pressure, naturally emanating and causing heaven and earth to tremble.

Tall and graceful, with strands of five-coloured celestial light flowing from his hair, surrounded by a chaotic aura, worshiped by countless races, none dared to show disrespect.

This was the mysterious Lord of the Dark Heaven, finally unveiling his proper form to the world. His celestial authority covered the universe, causing even background figures to tremble and submit under his gaze.

The Dark Heaven manifested itself as an immortal divine kingdom, illuminating the ages and reflecting across the heavens.

Countless forces bore witness to this event. In the most ancient and mysterious regions, shrouded in mist, supreme beings were stirred from their seclusion, gazing in astonishment.

As Gu Changge continued to sacrifice the national treasures, inexplicable and mysterious phenomena unfolded in the expanse of the universe.

Immortal suns soared across the sky, heavenly phoenixes struck, chaos divided, all things came to life, and ancient ancestors worshiped the heavens

The immense sacrificial text ignited, resembling a sacrifice of an entire world, an offering for the national treasures. Beings from all walks of life participated in the festival and worship, filling the heavens and the earth with living entities.

As the ceremony climaxed, the incantations surged toward the universe wilderness, activating the forces of unknown and mystical realms. Thunderous sounds reverberated across the heavens and the earth, causing entire universes to tremble.

Startling thunderbolts streaked across the sky, massive and terrifying like heavenly bodies. Unprecedented immortal tribulations, unseen since ancient times, were triggered by the forging of the national treasures, crossing the firmament and descending upon Gu Changge.

Within these thunderbolts were hints of heavenly light and chaotic aura, unbearable even for background figures. Following the drastic changes in the cosmic environment, rules were disrupted, and divine laws began to descend, culminating in the most dreadful immortal tribulation, bathing the national treasures.

Countless cultivators and beings were awestruck, witnessing such a vast and terrifying immortal tribulation for the first time. This was no ordinary tribulation but an ordeal only suitable for beings who possessed immortal treasures.

This is unprecedented! Even in the gradual ascent to immortality, such a phenomenon has never occurred

The Dark Heavens dominance is established. Even the national treasures have gained recognition from heaven and earth. Once this tribulation disperses, no one can obstruct them.

In the forbidden zones shrouded in mist, ancient beings sighed and reflected. They witnessed the rise of an immortal divine kingdom in a few short decades, constructed upon the ruins of immortal traditions and supreme sects.

Chapter 802: The radiant world shines brightly throughout the ages, the name of the Divine Lord Undoubtedly, this event was a monumental occasion that will be recorded in the annals of the heavens and earths.

It marks the brilliance of a grand era, illuminating the ages. The immortal traditions and supreme sects, established in ancient times, have witnessed numerous epochs where dominant forces rose and fell.

However, the emergence of the Dark Heavens divine kingdom within a few short decades since the inception of the Dark Era is an unprecedented event.

Witnessing the rise of an immortal kingdom within such a short span, surpassing the ancient and enduring forces, has left countless beings in awe. Although the upper realm still needs to be unified, there is an undeniable trend.

Perhaps in a few more years, the Dark Heaven will truly unify the upper realm, reigning over all the domains , with all groups of immortal forces bowing in submission.

Boom!

The entire heavenly domains tremble at this moment. Countless gazes focus on the sky above the Dark Heaven, observing the colossal immortal tribulation.

Various ancient thunderbolts materialize palaces, temples, towers all kinds of ancient miracles manifest as if a genuine ancient celestial court is being conceived.

The most terrible immortal tribulation in history unfolds at the edge of the universe, transforming into a sea of thunder, relentlessly striking and unsettling the entire cosmos.

The divine light scatters and even the residual waves cause the silent collapse of starfields in all directions. The sight is awe-inspiring and unimaginable; if these thunderbolts were to strike a cultivator, they would likely disintegrate into dust instantly.

Yet, Gu Changge stands tall, his expression profound and calm, enveloped in an endless aura of immortal energy. The sea of thunder descends upon him, but a mysterious realm of rules surrounds him, preventing any contact.

He raises his palm to sacrifice the national treasures, manipulating the forces of this world and incorporating each Dao rune into the process. Even the sea of thunder becomes continuously refined material in his hands.

Ultimately, it transforms into an incredibly radiant Great Sun, radiating with five-coloured heavenly light and surrounded by chaotic mist. This dazzling sun devours the vast rules and even purifies the surrounding light, evaporating everything without a trace.

Boom!

The heavens and the earth quiver as the resplendent Great Sun hovers at the edge of the firmament, akin to a genuine sun, its brilliance reaching every corner of the heavens, leaving no living being untouched.

Countless cultivators and beings could see the radiance emanating from that place. A strand of light seemed capable of penetrating through the ages, carrying a power that even background figures would find chilling.

The national treasures are complete.

Gu Changge whispered. His white robes fluttered as he displayed an otherworldly demeanor, and his figure slowly disappeared into the depths of the palace.

As a national treasure, this item not only rivaled true immortal treasures in terms of power but primarily drew strength from the Dark Heavens power of faith. As long as the power of faith didn't wane, this national treasure could unleash boundless light and even erupt with forces surpassing this realm.

The national treasure suppresses the countrys fortune, transcending the ages, endless and immortal.

Witnessing this scene, countless Dark Heaven followers prostrated themselves in worship towards the direction of Gu Changge. All races submitted, and numerous beings were shocked and awed.

It was an unimaginably magnificent spectacle, with beings worshipping and all races showing reverence.

From deep within the immortal divine kingdom established by the Dark Heaven, various heavenly sounds resonated, thunderous and earth-shaking.

Multiple phenomena that shook ancient and modern times manifested here, giving everyone, from ordinary cultivators to background figures, a feeling as if facing the most terrifying supreme existence from ancient times.

For ordinary cultivators and many younger generations of the current era, this sight would likely remain unforgettable for their entire lives.

In every corner of the starfields, countless cultivators gazed from afar at the radiance emanating from this place, observing the immortal divine kingdom that illuminated the heavens.

The birth of an immortal power, recognized by heaven and earth, was accompanied by auspicious clouds and golden lotuses within a radius of millions of miles.

Immortal flowers bloomed in the void, and golden divine lotuses radiated a brilliant glow. The universe was filled with five-coloured divine light, and the immortal heavenly kingdom shone brightly.

We pay our respects to the Divine Master.

Subsequently, a boundless and majestic voice echoed across the heavens and earth.

With the establishment of the divine kingdom, all believers and citizens devoutly headed towards the central region of the Supreme Divine Kingdom, offering their sincere respects. Although not every step involved a bow, the reverence was unmistakable.

The title for the Lord of the Dark Heaven had always been the Divine Master, symbolizing the supreme lord of the divine kingdom.

Many powerful beings from heaven and earth referred to themselves as Divine Disciples or Divine Envoys. They had acted as followers of the Divine Lord in various domains, spreading the existence of the Dark Heaven. Becoming a follower of the Dark Heaven was considered an honor.

I was once a neglected family waste in the Ancient Immortal Continent, but I received the summons of the Divine Lord

A young man with wings on his back, filled with zeal and reverence, gazed excitedly at the location of the divine kingdom. His words were so fervent that it was difficult to contain his emotions.

His sister's name was Hei Yanyu, a divine general within the Dark Heaven. Yet, he harbored a secret unknown to others. When he was disregarded by his family, he mysteriously heard the voice of the Divine Lord and was bestowed with secret cultivation techniques.

The Divine Lord even instructed him to develop followers. Though many years had passed without seeing the Divine Lord again, it didn't dampen his fervent heart.

In another direction, numerous cultivators and beings, just as devoted as the young man, were heading towards the divine kingdom. The divine radiance there illuminated the heavens and the earth, and all structures, mountains, and rivers were adorned with a brilliant hue.

We have met the Divine Lord.

Within the divine kingdom, thirty-six background figures, like gods, exuded a dazzling divine aura as they knelt towards the central palace. Among them were many puppet-like figures, but many genuine individuals were also sincerely seeking to serve the Dark Heaven.

Apart from these background figures, many leaders of immortal forces who had received news earlier brought their figures of profound background to this place. They appeared together, heading towards the divine kingdom in the mortal realm.

There were figures from the Great Yu Immortal Dynasty, the Wan Dao Business Alliance, the Ancient Immortal Clans, the Ancient Immortal Gu Family, the Peerless Immortal Dynasty, and the Hidden An Clan, and even some ancient existences from secluded forbidden zones. They appeared outside the divine kingdom.

The Divine Kingdom, towering like an immortal golden realm, was constructed with buildings stretching endlessly, almost without visible boundaries. In the deepest part, clouds and mist obscured the top, with immortal ladders on both sides, magnificent and sacred, emitting endless celestial light that spread all the way to the ground, ascending in steps with no apparent end.

Countless golden-armored heavenly soldiers patrolled the area, riding colossal beasts that eclipsed the sky.

Divine mountains, ancient peaks, immortal mists, and cascading silver waterfalls adorned the landscape. Various primordial beasts roamed, emitting earth-shattering roars.

It was a vast and ancient world with rich vitality, almost every part glowing. Even ordinary cultivators could sense the fluctuations of this atmosphere, not to mention that the rules of heaven and earth here were vastly different from the outside upper realms.

Although it was the first time for outsiders to arrive in the country where the Dark Heaven resided, they could feel the difference in the rules of heaven and earth.

It was more suitable for cultivation than the outside world. Many older cultivators showed astonishment, feeling that in this divine kingdom, they could better comprehend the rules of heaven and earth, aiding in their ascension.

Chapter 803: The heavens come to worship; he really is lonely in the world

Indeed, to establish the Divine Kingdom, Gu Changge spared no effort in using the Kun Ji Universe as a prototype, melting down several broken universes to craft this world.

The Epoch Tree, in particular, was being planted within the Divine Kingdom, supporting the sun, moon, and stars, surrounded by a vast sea of chaos stretching endlessly.

Inside the heavenly palace, Gu Changge sat there, indistinct and hazy, shrouded in traces of the Great Dao-building expert, making it difficult to see clearly. It seemed as though he sat high in the Ninth Heaven, overlooking the immortal past, indifferent to the mortal world.

Only supreme pressure and a brilliant immortal aura pervaded the surroundings, overwhelming the heavens and earths.

The cultivators and followers who came to the Divine Kingdom were now outside the heavenly palace, witnessing this awe-inspiring scene, involuntarily compelled to kneel down.

Believers filled the sky and the earth, and within the palaces on both sides were numerous Divine rulers of various stars, each governing vast starfields beyond description.

Divine generals and heavenly soldiers marched in abundance within this Divine Kingdom, ready to heed Gu Changges commands to patrol all domains of heaven.

We pay our respects to the Divine Lord.

The many deeply moved guests arrived outside the grand hall and bowed respectfully towards Gu Changge above.

Establishing an immortal Divine Kingdom was a momentous occasion, especially since it was initiated by a Dao Figure. How could they not show reverence? Even if they came with fearful hearts, they dared not claim ignorance, choosing to kneel and pay their respects instead of staying in their sects territories.

In particular, many from the younger generation were among the guests who were once Gu Changges peers. They were people he had known in the past.

There were also younger cultivators of the present generation, full of confidence, carrying the ambition of becoming Dao-building experts, and believing in their invincibility.

They all gazed at the figure above the Divine Kingdom with awe. They knew that he was the most invincible existence in the present era, responsible for the deaths of countless background figures, orchestrating the entire upper realm from behind the scenes.

Among these guests, some displayed complex expressions, none more so than the members of the Gu Family and Peerless Immortal Dynasty.

Over the years, Gu Changge's whereabouts had been elusive. The outside world and even the Gu Family members had rarely seen him. So, based on various rumors, they couldn't help but speculate.

There were many intelligent people in the world. Although Gu Changge never showed himself publicly, and no one openly claimed he was the Lord of the Dark Heaven, the rumors and speculation were abundant.

This was already an acknowledged fact in the hearts of many immortal forces and supreme forces.

The grand hall, vast as a universe, was filled with numerous guests, reminiscent of a great gathering from ancient times when representatives from various realms came to pay their respects.

Everyone's expressions were trance-like. They had encountered too many terrible figures here; powerhouses from extremely remote universes also arrived, bringing gifts with utmost reverence.

You need not be overly courteous.

As the varied emotions of the guests filled the atmosphere, Gu Changge, seated above the Divine Kingdom, stood up. He spoke slowly, his voice gentle and soothing, lacking the terrifying pressure one might expect. Instead, it resembled a mild spring breeze that calmed the restless hearts.

Simultaneously, the chaotic mist around him dissipated, revealing his true appearance. His face, as elegant as an immortal, bore no traces of age, radiating an otherworldly charm. It was difficult to associate him with the ruthless individual who manipulated the heavens and orchestrated the deaths of many upper-realm beings.

Upon seeing the true face of Gu Changge, the large hall fell into a solemn and quiet state. Some cultivators unfamiliar with the truth widened their eyes in shock but quickly covered their mouths to stifle any inadvertent sounds.

Significantly, the younger men and women, surprised at how young the Divine Lord looked, were equally astonished. They had recognized Gu Changge because, even though several decades had passed since the era of the previous young geniuses, the terrifying rumors left by the last generation of geniuses were still fresh in their minds.

Among them, Gu Changge was the most remarkable. In just over twenty years, he had reached background figures.

Even regular background figures were far from his match. Although he was known to be the reincarnation of a supreme being from a forbidden era, leveraging the previous lives Dao fruit, it was still shocking and unbelievable.

Many speculated that Gu Changge might have been quietly closed off somewhere during this period, attempting to break through to upper realms. However, no one expected the Lord of the Dark Heaven to be him.

Of course, these were the thoughts of the cultivators and beings who had not previously speculated in this direction. Those forces that had previously guessed but lacked evidence to prove everything the various forces and powers were now shocked, complex, and unable to calm their emotions.

Compared to baseless and absurd speculations, they found reality even more surreal after witnessing it.

Because they had no idea how Gu Changge achieved all of this, how he carried the aura of being the top among his peers, and how he orchestrated everything behind the scenes. They would never be able to comprehend this, but it didn't diminish the shock they felt.

If it weren't for Gu Changge's recent actions aligning with those of the Dark Heaven, they might not have guessed this fact.

Astonishment, amazement, horror, fear These were almost the same emotions and thoughts in the hearts of everyone in the grand hall. Even the Gu Family members and the Peerless Immortal Dynasty couldn't remain calm, unsure of what to say or express.

It is indeed Changge

An elder from the Gu Family, his expression extremely complicated, sighed deeply in his heart. Yet, he couldn't hide the fear he felt towards Gu Changge. Regardless of anything else, he was the individual who, with his strength, turned the heavens upside down in the upper realm.

Many were pale, their legs trembling, finding it difficult to stand. Gu Changge looked at the scene below, taking a few steps forward, silently observing, appearing to be lost in thought, without speaking.

A strong aura of Dao filled his body, extraordinarily lofty and immortal as if integrated into the heavens and the earth.

It was beyond the realms of the various heavenly domains. Occasional bursts of immortal light radiated from him, dazzling in a spectrum of colors, accompanied by heavenly rosy clouds, seemingly ready to ascend at any moment.

All eyes were fixed on him, and instinctively, people took several steps back.

Gu Changge still remained silent, his gaze sweeping over everyone. There were familiar faces, as well as strangers. Among them were peers he had once sparred with, such as the Six-Crowned King Jun Yao and the Heavenly Phoenix Maiden. There were also former followers and elders from the True Immortal Academy and the Dao Heaven Immortal Palace. There were just too many.

Regardless of who it was, it carried a sense of fear when they met his gaze.

Although he had anticipated this long ago, Gu Changges emotions were still somewhat complex. Apart from a few companions by his side, he truly felt isolated from the world.

Chapter 804: I want to create a list of immortals; you can enter the list if you are supreme or above
Gazing around, everything is vast and boundless, spanning countless heavenly realms. I am truly isolated from the world In this vast expanse, theres no one who can stand shoulder to shoulder with me.

Gu Changge sighed lightly in his heart as he stood on top of the Divine Kingdom, his gaze sweeping slowly across.

His face, as clear and handsome as an immortal, remained unchanged. His expression was as calm and undisturbed as the ancient abyss, revealing no ripples. No one could discern his genuine emotions, nor could anyone guess the thoughts crossing his mind.

As his gaze touched those he had known before, those who had once been his peers in battles, all involuntarily lowered their heads, shrouded in fear and anxiety.

Their perceptions of Gu Changge had changed long ago. He was no longer seen as the young leader among his peers or the unparalleled genius of the past.

Now, he was the true Lord behind the Dark Heaven, the individual who schemed against the heavens and killed those from the upper realm. Countless Dao forces and Supreme Powers had crumbled because of him.

Many who once saw him as a target to chase, the contemporary geniuses who wanted to surpass him, now started with wide-open mouths, finding it inconceivable. Their eyes eventually revealed fear, trembling involuntarily.

However, the Immortal Dao forces, the Supreme Powers, and some of the older generation harbored the most complex and fearful emotions.

If one were to carefully calculate, how many universes had the Dark Heaven swept through in these short decades? How many civilizations had it annihilated? These were numbers that couldnt be fathomed.

Thinking back, before Gu Changges marriage, he was hailed as the most dazzling genius in the upper realm. His brilliance and terrifying talent suppressed his peers to the point where they couldnt breathe.

Who would have thought, who would dare to think, that he would be the mastermind behind all this darkness?

In this short period, Gu Changge arranged a grand chess game. Everyone was a pawn in his hands, even the members of the Gu Family, who were oblivious to these matters. They hadnt even thought about these possibilities.

Yet, Gu Changge managed to deceive everyone. Like a shadow in the darkness, he silently laid out his plans and schemes, leaving no traces or ripples.

In this period, many young geniuses who once considered him a role model, thinking him righteous, refined, and modest, never imagined that he would be the mastermind behind such dark schemes.

Upon closer inspection, the notion of the Inheritor of Demonic Art reveals itself as a grand spectacle meticulously organized by Gu Changge.

He wove an elaborate tale, deceiving the entire Upper Realm and manipulating it like a puppeteer. How many young followers met tragic ends due to this elaborate tactic?

Pondering this momentarily sends shivers down the spine, inducing an involuntary shudder. What terrifying methods and cunning calculations lie beneath the surface?

The secret was indeed profound. Before the fall of Heavenly Emperor Mountain and the Endless Fire Nation, there were attempts to frame Gu Changge as the Inheritor of the demonic art.

Who could have imagined that, by sheer coincidence, they stumbled upon the truth? At that time, everyone believed that Heavenly Emperor Mountain and the Endless Fire Nation were intentionally tarnishing Gu Changges reputation without evidence only accusations and scapegoating.

Countless beings criticized and spoke out for Gu Changge. Well, isn't it ironic now? It's a colossal jest on the world stage.

In the Great Hall of Immortal Divine Kingdom hall, many elders wore grim smiles, finding the scenes from the past utterly ludicrous. Especially Gu Changge, who previously held the banner of justice high to eradicate the Inheritor of demonic art, garnering widespread support.

Fear not, for within the sudden outbreak of calamity, there might have been the shadow of Gu Changge. Upon reflection, its truly terrifying The Epoch Tree was, in fact, always in the Eight Wilderness and Ten Regions, only seized by Gu Changge first. He concealed it from the world, later using it as bait Contemplating these revelations, many things start to make sense. People in the hall share a bitter laugh, trembling with fear and awe. If it weren't for the actual occurrence, it would be unimaginable.

Gu Changge observed everyone's reactions, his expression remaining unchanged. The revelation of his true identity today served a dual purpose: announcing the presence of the Dark Heaven and informing the Upper Realm that he is now its true Lord.

The creation of the Divine Kingdom signifies the unification of the Upper Realm, where submission ensures life, and defiance leads to death.

The grandeur of the Divine Kingdoms palace and the vast array of beings gathered from the citizens of the Divine Kingdom to external cultivators created a stillness, everyone patiently awaiting Gu Changge's following words, anticipating that his revelation was not without purpose.

I intend to establish the Immortal Sealing List. Those who enter my Divine Kingdom will be eligible for the list, achieving the status of immortality, receiving the worship and offerings of the Divine Kingdom. They shall be indestructible.

Gu Changge spoke slowly, his gaze profound, as if entire universes were evolving. Terrifying scenes from various realms flashed by, carrying an unparalleled majesty.

He didn't explain the Immortal Sealing List, but everyone present could discern its significance, and their hearts trembled with shock. The Immortal Sealing List, as the name suggests, is a roster for officially appointing individuals to the realm of immortality.

If one entered this list, did it mean they could become immortal? Attain immortality and transcend those who have achieved the Dao-building expert level? They listened intently, especially those who had never witnessed the existence of the Epoch Tree directly controlled by Gu Changge. Did his words imply he had the means to allow others to become immortals?

The seasoned cultivators, who had already entered the rank of background figure, were intrigued and hopeful despite being aware that joining the Immortal Sealing List might entail constraints and submission to Gu Changge and the Dark Heaven. It might even involve sacrificing control of their lives to the Immortal Sealing List.

The temptation was immense, but so were the risks. This was a matter that required careful consideration.

The background figures present concealed their excitement, knowing that pledging to the Immortal Sealing List could alter their freedom and subject them to new rules. It might mean complete submission to Gu Changge and the Dark Heaven. Moreover, their lives could be at the mercy of the Immortal Sealing List.

This offer is tempting, but the risks are equally substantial. Gu Changge is not a benevolent figure, and there must be hidden pitfalls, given his past actions.

Considering his conduct so far, there's undoubtedly a catch to this. We need to think carefully.

The various background figures exchanged glances, each reflecting caution and vigilance in their expressions.

The allure of the Immortal Sealing List is considerable, but so are the dangers. Gu Changge is not a benevolent character, and he is unlikely to do something without a hidden agenda.

Judging from his actions, there must be significant pitfalls to this offer. We need to tread carefully.

Hearing this many background figures restrained their excitement, hiding it behind a veil of vigilance.

The vast territories of the heavens were boundless, with even Dao-building experts unable to perceive everything. Gu Changge was no exception. His desire to establish the Immortal Sealing List stemmed from his aspiration to govern heaven and earth rather than merely inspire fear among the immortal Dao forces.

There was still much for him to accomplish in establishing the Divine Kingdom, and he was well aware that the unveiling of the Immortal Sealing List was only the beginning.

He still needed to refine the list to truly appoint cultivators as immortals. Mentioning it now was a strategic move to stir ripples across heaven and earth.

Gu Changge had additional plans beyond the establishment of the Immortal Sealing List.

His gaze swept down again, his voice calm and unchanged as he said, Heaven and Earth, all living beings, regardless of race, are eligible for the Immortal Sealing List. I intend to reenact the rules of Heaven and Earth. Those above the Supreme realm can be listed, comprehending the rules of the Immortal Dao-building expert

What?

Above the Supreme realm can be listed? Does that mean we all have a chance?

His words instantly caused a stir in the grand hall. Except for the younger generation, almost everyone's expression changed, showing shock, amazement, and even disbelief.

From what he said, the Immortal Sealing List mentioned by Gu Changge was not created exclusively for background figures.

Previously, they thought the list had nothing to do with them. After all, background figures were scarce, especially after the Kun Ji Catastrophe; their numbers drastically decreased. On the contrary, more individuals were at the Supreme, quasi-Emperor, and Dao-building expert realm levels.

However, reaching the level of background figure required years of cultivation, and many were still determining if they would ever achieve it. So, they had yet to be particularly interested in the Immortal Sealing List, thinking it had little to do with them.

Gu Changge stated that those above the Supreme realm could be listed. Did this mean they could take a shortcut to immortality, bypassing many years of arduous cultivation? Such an enticing prospect was astonishing. Who could remain calm in the face of such temptation?

After Gu Changge spoke, the hall erupted with excitement. Everyone became animated, and the background figures displayed varying unease, sensing intense competition.

Initially cautious, they realized that Gu Changge's words implied that others could also enter the Immortal Sealing List, making it less relevant to the background figures.

It meant they could achieve immortality through a shortcut without the arduous years of cultivation.

This revelation stirred everyone up. The background figures, who had been circumspect, now felt the urgency to make a decision. If they didn't enter the list, others at the Supreme, quasi-Emperor, or Dao-building expert realm levels might.

To achieve immortality most simply and directly, breaking the rules of Heaven and Earth, how could they sit idly by? How could they witness such a spectacle without taking action?

What a ruthless heart. In essence, the introduction of this list is forcing heaven and earth. If background figures are unwilling to join, there are others, such as quasi-Emperors or those who have achieved the Dao-building expert level, who will.

Understanding the situation, the background figures in the hall shivered, feeling an icy chill in their hearts.

First day does not exist, the second day reverses, the Great Dao is invisible, all rules are evolved, what can be manifested innately, can be re-evolved the day after tomorrow

Following his words, Gu Changge sat at the peak of the Divine Kingdom like an unparalleled innate god, beginning to expound on the principles of cultivation, elucidating the essentials of the Great Dao-building expert.

This is an extraordinarily mystical script of the Dao-building expert, belonging to the understanding of the Immortal Dao. In the heavens and earth, numerous anomalies emerged.

Beyond the sky, each life star trembled under the influence as if about to fall, radiating brilliant light illuminating the eight directions. The starlight showered down, casting its glow far and wide.

Within the Divine Kingdom, a towering immortal Tree was growing, vast and boundless. The surrounding dense radiance nurtured a new world, as if on the verge of materializing within the heavens and earth. Within it, it felt as if there was an endless sky, expanding with the growth of this immortal Tree.

Threads of chaotic energy floated, and the Dao runes disappeared. Then, draped in strands of black substance resembling desolate and silent worlds, the glow erupted in heavens transformations.

Radiant light sprayed forth, manifesting heavens changes: worlds, epochs, creation, space, and transcendence

Various Dao principles emerged at this moment, and the river of time seemed faintly turbulent, astonishing everyone.

The citizens of all the Divine Kingdoms felt honored and excited, coming to listen to the Dao-building expert as if enchanted. The scriptures filled the sky, turning into a vast rain of light that enveloped the star fields for millions of miles. At the first moment, many cultivators gained insights and entered the state of Dao-building expert.

Invincible figures from the restricted area and the leaders of other Dao forces among the crowd had complex expressions, feeling the immense righteousness.

They sensed the profound and mysterious principles between heaven and earth from these brief words so profoundly that they felt incomprehensible. It was as if it involved the path to a new life, akin to becoming a shortcut.

For a half-month, Gu Changge remained seated, expounding the Dao-building expert for the Divine Kingdom while collecting the terrifying power of faith. The entire Divine Kingdom, as he called it, was permeated with an immortal aura.

Gu Changge blessed the world, and resonant Dao sounds emanated in the void. The chanting echoed through the heavens and the earth, even spreading beyond the Divine Kingdom, reverberating throughout the various cosmic spaces.

Countless cultivators fell into the Dao-building expert level, praising the name of the Divine Lord.

Lotus flowers of Dao emerged one after another, crystal clear and radiant, growing within, emitting a spray of rosy light, resembling majestic Buddhas and sacred gods.

On the immortal dome, large sparkling petals descended, and divine springs gushed on the earth, continuously flowing, while a vast Dao aura surged.

Every cultivator who came here gained something, benefiting greatly and advancing rapidly. Some even broke through on the spot, with divine fire burning and their primordial spirits bursting with auspicious signs.

Others had mastered secret methods and Dao techniques and achieved miraculous abilities. Some with terrible talents advanced further, their bloodlines shining, illuminating the eight directions, revealing terrifying potential.

Every space in the grand hall was packed with people, and there was no room for anyone else. Those who came later were extremely regretful, feeling remorseful.

Some ancient beings who had already entered the Dao-building expert level were surrounded by the Great Dao but also immersed in sudden Dao-building expertise, gaining substantial benefits.

Around Gu Changge, various immortal flowers and sacred buds bloomed, mythical beasts gathered, vast Dao seas surged, and immortal mist lingered, creating a sacred land.

Of course, his actions were not without purpose. Within the essential scriptures, hidden divine texts could silently influence the spiritual consciousness of cultivators, directly converting them into the most devout believers.

The path to immortality is here in the Divine Kingdom. All citizens of my Divine Kingdom may come here to listen to the Dao-building expert at any time

Gu Changge did not say much, merely casually revealing what the Immortal path entailed, making the sentient beings of heaven and earth understand the benefits of becoming citizens of the Divine Kingdom.

However, at that time, it would not be him speaking but another existence.

Chapter 805: Big and small matters, the development and evolution of the Divine Kingdom

The heavenly sounds echoed, and astonishing phenomena occurred everywhere. Even the universe beyond the Divine Kingdom was filled with a radiant glow, golden lotuses scattered about, and the Great Dao-building experts surrounded, creating a world of unparalleled splendor.

Many cultivators and beings who had listened to the preaching for over half a month felt a deep understanding. Simultaneously, they developed a more profound reverence and devotion toward the Dark Heaven.

Even some high-cultivated elders, let alone the younger generation, couldn't avoid being influenced.

Preaching was a rare occurrence in the current era, apart from the flourishing period of ancient times. Today's epochs rarely witness powerhouses willing to share their insights and teachings.

The imparting of Dao wisdom by a figure of the Immortal Dao-building expert contained ideas contradicting common beliefs. Nevertheless, these concepts had an illuminating effect, dispelling confusion and providing clarity.

Those who enter the Divine Kingdom can listen to the preaching at any time.

Not only that, there is also an opportunity to enter the Immortal Sealing List. As long as you reach the Supreme realm, there is a chance. You don't need to work hard to cultivate to the level of background figures.

For us, this is like an opportunity to ascend to the heavens in a single step. It's truly exciting.

Gu Changge's words undeniably stirred the hearts of all those who came to pay homage. Surrendering to the Divine Kingdom no longer seemed an impractical consideration.

Even the background figures started contemplating their complex emotions. It was impossible to remain as calm as before. The actual method and path to Immortality were in the hands of Gu Changge. He could arbitrarily decide when beings could achieve Immortality.

Who could guarantee when the path to Immortality would appear if they continued to wait passively? Moreover, who could ensure that Gu Changge wouldn't interfere if the way to Immortality did appear? His ruthlessness and coldness were vividly displayed during this time, sending shivers down everyone's spines.

Moreover, the power of the Divine Kingdom was there for all to see. Gu Changge was currently the only figure of the Immortal Dao-building expert in the Upper Realm. He was the true Lord of the Divine Kingdom.

Additionally, the Divine Kingdom's desire to establish the Immortal Sealing List was like a beacon in the dark for those cultivators whose talents stagnated. For beings who saw no hope or end to their cultivation, suddenly being told that entering the ranking could lead to instant Immortality was an irresistible temptation.

For those who had reached this level of cultivation, the pursuit of becoming an Immortal was practically impossible. Suddenly, they were informed that as long as they could enter the ranking, they could reach the end, becoming Immortal without further arduous cultivation.

In a world where peers aimed only to achieve Dao-building expert level, the aspiration to become an Immortal seemed like a distant and crazy hope.

Throughout history, those who reached the level of background figures were always individuals with extraordinary talents, unparalleled among their peers.

Gu Changge's plans undeniably held a tight grip on the current situation in the Upper Realm. Even the long-sealed Dao forces felt a strong urge and were contemplating the potential gains and losses, finding it difficult to remain indifferent.

However, Gu Changge did not clearly reveal the restrictions or requirements once someone entered the Immortal Sealing List. This ambiguity left many uncertain and concerned about potential pitfalls.

As Gu Changge's gaze swept over everyone in the hall, he was not surprised by their reactions. While he had other plans and calculations, the Immortal Sealing List and the preaching sessions were sufficient for now.

The Immortal Sealing List targeted cultivators of the Supreme realm and above. At the same time, the preaching sessions were open to cultivators of all domains, especially the numerous ordinary practitioners with lower cultivation levels.

As for how one could enter the Immortal Sealing List, Gu Changge had already devised a plan. He couldn't simply state that performing good deeds would provide everyone with a shortcut to Immortality.

After entering the list, individuals had to genuinely submit to the Divine Kingdom, rely on it for their lives, coexist and perish with it under his control. Additionally, significant contributions were required.

The second point was the most crucial. Gu Changge couldn't propose a simple solution where practitioners could join the Divine Kingdom and be immediately added to the ranking.

The vast and unexplored territories of the heavens and earths awaited exploration, and in Gu Changge's eyes, these aspiring individuals were the most straightforward and efficient tools for this purpose.

While the Immortal Sealing List sounded simple, it involved the re-enactment of the rules of heaven and earth, using the vast power of belief to shape true immortals.

This process could trigger the rejection of heaven and earth and even lead to catastrophic immortal tribulations. However, Gu Changge wasn't currently concerned about these matters. He understood that promising such grand achievements required presenting the actual results to generate a genuine sensation.

Afterwards, many guests in the hall took their leave, intending to return to their respective sects to discuss this matter in detail before making any decisions.

However, Dao forces like the Gu Clan and the Peerless Immortal Dynasty weren't as concerned because, in essence, the creation of the Divine Kingdom and Gu Changge becoming its leader also meant the rise of the young master of the Gu Clan, who would eventually become the helm of the Gu Clan.

The Empress of the Peerless Immortal Dynasty was currently the wife of Gu Changge, solidifying the connection between the two. In this regard, Dao forces existed as part of the Divine Kingdom's foundation without a relationship of dependence or servitude.

There were no conflicting interests or contradictions between the Divine Kingdom and the various Dao forces.

Gu Changge remained silent, calmly observing the crowd with a serene expression. The devoted believers of the Divine Kingdom were prostrated outside, channeling the immense power of belief towards the radiant sun in the sky.

Among them was the aura fortune golden cauldron that Gu Changge had sacrificed, using it to collect belief power. He re-smelted it differently, accumulating belief power and converting it into other source forces.

The so-called Immortal Sealing List was forged using these fundamental belief powers. It allowed cultivators whose realms hadn't reached the level of Dao-building expert to unleash the Dao forces.

In the following days, news about establishing the Divine Kingdom spread throughout the universe, creating a radiant presence in various realms.

After careful consideration, many Dao forces decided to submit as citizens and serve the Divine Kingdom. Since that day, Gu Changge has yet to actively show himself. He left the management of the Divine Kingdom's affairs to Yin Mei, who had already handled the major and minor matters of Dao forces like the Yuhua Immortal Dynasty and the Wan Dao Business Alliances.

Moreover, Gu Changge called upon Ji Qingxuan from the Chaotic Starfield to assist Yin Mei.

Black-faced Hei Yanyu from the Ancient Immortal Continent, an ambitious character, was also entrusted with specific responsibilities.

After establishing the Divine Kingdom, many matters were to be addressed. However, Gu Changge wasn't particularly interested in these trivial affairs and preferred to save time and energy on them. He delegated these responsibilities to those he trusted.

In the previous decades, while refining the blood of the Demon Lord, Gu Changge had also re-crafted six puppets.

Starting from Alpha and progressing to Ah Jiu, they were comparable to remnants of immortals and even surpassed the thirty-six Star Lords. Ah Er was the former lord of the underworld when Gu Changge annihilated it, and Ah San was named by Gu Changge as the Reincarnated Heaven Lord.

Their strengths were on par with the remnants of immortals or even above but below that of Dao-building experts. These Star Lords, some of whom had their spiritual wisdom erased, were forcefully integrated by Gu Changge. Although their cultivation was slightly lower, they could easily crush Dao-building experts.

Others willingly submitted and served Gu Changge. Regarding background figures, the Divine Kingdom rivaled any Dao forces in the universes history. It possessed numerous immortal artifacts, most of which Gu Changge had obtained by erasing the remnants of immortals during the Kun Ji universe calamity.

These artifacts were then deposited into the national treasury. In the past, other immortal Dao forces had at most one or two immortal artifacts as foundational items; they couldn't compare to the extravagance of the Divine Kingdom.

As the Divine Kingdom is newly established, the territories under its jurisdiction extend beyond those traditionally held. Some distant realms are also included, Gu Changge said as he flipped through numerous jade slips in the grand hall, reviewing the various matters that had been addressed recently.

Standing nearby in a pristine white gown, Yin Mei spoke earnestly with her slender and graceful figure, Concerning these matters, there's no need for excessive consideration. For instance, in the case of the Eight Wilderness and Ten Regions, everyone was aware of the relationship between you and the Heavenly Maiden. She oversees that region logically, Eight Wilderness and Ten Regions should also belong to the Divine Kingdom. Similarly, regarding the Demon Realm and Empress Xi Yao

Gu Changge nodded, indicating his indifference to these minor issues. These matters don't require excessive concern. As for the Heavenly Maiden, when the time comes, she will establish the Heavenly Deer Hall within the Divine Kingdom, and a subtle hint will guide her on what needs to be done. The same goes for Empress Xi Yao.

Yin Mei responded respectfully, Understood, my lord. I will handle these matters accordingly.

While Gu Changge focused on the current situation, he observed the overall submission of various Dao forces. Despite his expectations, the process was slower than anticipated.

However, considering the ongoing changes in the Upper Realm, where the boundaries between the Immortal Domain and the Upper Realm were set to collide, Gu Changge hesitated to use force and disrupt the current state of peace.

The Divine Kingdom had been established to bring tranquility to the Upper Realm, and creating further upheaval would impact its reputation.

For now, he would wait until the right moment to assert control over the Upper Realm and maintain the initiative in the face of impending changes.

After all, the Upper Realm is its foundation for the Immortal Domain. Over the years, it's more accurate to say that the Immortal Domain is like a rootless floating duckweed, constantly drifting and uncertain. Even now, I'm still determining the Immortal Domain's current situation. That's why I've prepared in advance to ensure that the state of the Immortal Domain, whether good or bad, won't affect me.

Young master, now that these issues are temporarily set aside, should we establish various positions in the Divine Kingdom, similar to the Mortal Realm, to accommodate the desires of various sects and families? In these recent days, I've collected opinions from various sects and families, hoping to gain some influence within the Divine Kingdom. They don't want to feel like they are being swallowed entirely after submitting to the Divine Kingdom. This has been a persistent concern for those contemplating allegiance.

Following this, Yin Mei spoke up, her eyebrows lightly furrowed. These matters were addressed casually during the establishment of the Divine Kingdom, and many aspects hadn't been meticulously defined.

While the world privately hailed Gu Changge as the God Lord, she was accustomed to addressing him as the young master.

Have you considered these matters?

Gu Changge nodded after hearing Yinqing's words, aware that she must have thought about handling these issues and was now informing him.

I discussed it with Ji Qingxuan and the others. We decided to categorize positions into nine ranks based on the strength of various sects and forces. Additionally, we can further refine the classification into mortal, spirit, divine, sacred, imperial, and immortal levels, according to different circumstances. Depending on the strength, they can ascend or descend within these ranks.

Yin Mei spoke cautiously, simultaneously handing a thick book to Gu Changge. The book contained detailed procedures and rules on dividing authority and responsibilities.

After carefully reading through it, Gu Changge found nothing inappropriate. Although it mimicked some aspects of mortal governance, it considered the strengths of various sects and forces in the Upper Realm, which he appreciated.

We can also use this to create various Immortal Sealing List. Reputation was unavoidable for anyone in this world, whether they are factions or individuals of power.

Yin Mei continued, mentioning another plan. Over the years, while managing the heavens and earth Union, she had established organizations similar to divine calculations and immortal machinery in some places, specializing in collecting information to compile rankings. This had proven to be quite effective.

Therefore, she proposed that if the Divine Kingdom ruled over heavens and earth, it could establish various rankings.

These could encompass everything from background figures to ordinary geniuses, from sects and families strengths to magical treasures and divine methods. The advantage of this approach was to gather vital energy and absorb faith, fostering greater allegiance to the Divine Kingdom.

Your idea is quite excellent; I hadn't thought about it in detail before.

Gu Changge praised her. He understood that in this world, no matter who, fame and fortune were inevitable pursuits.

Chapter 806: The whole world is the king's land, the matter of accepting concubines

Besides the Immortal Sealing List, Yin Mei put forth many suggestions that Gu Changge found extremely valuable.

For instance, in the newly established Divine Kingdom, with heavens and earth and various sects holding official positions, many ethnic groups would take up semi-official roles, enjoying rights and duties.

She also noticed Gu Changge's intention to support ordinary cultivators, attempting to balance the interests of different sects and immortal forces. This included encouraging ancient forces to contribute their town-keeping techniques, rewarding them with numerous benefits from the Divine Kingdom to maintain equilibrium and serve as a means of suppression.

Yin Mei delved deeply into the art of imperial rule, a skill she needed to gain expertise in. Additionally, Ji Qingxuan harbored ambitious aspirations, suggesting various methods to suppress immortal forces from different traditions.

Through mutual discussions and borrowing from each other's ideas, they devised quite a few ingenious solutions.

Indeed, with the establishment of the Divine Kingdom, talent was needed in various aspects. Gu Changge had anticipated this, having planned to gather talented individuals when he had previously distributed golden finger seeds of opportunity to the heavens and ten thousand domains.

However, the talent he sought was among the sons of destiny, each possessing unique fates and fortunes, blessed by heaven.

These sons of destiny exhibited various abilities and were profoundly devoted to Gu Changge, having received his guidance in their younger days, referring to themselves as divine envoys and disciples.

Now that you are both the Divine Lord and the Son of Heaven, you should naturally rule the Divine Kingdom with heavens and earth as your territory. Under the heavens, there should be no land that is not under your rule

Yin Mei's delicate hand gently massaged Gu Changge's brow as she spoke soothingly.

She, being ambitious herself, though Gu Changge hadn't yet chosen a queen, let alone a consort, many ministers in the divine land believed in her capabilities. They saw her as someone who could manage everything efficiently.

While Yue Mingkong was officially Gu Changge's wife, her influence and authority in the Divine Kingdom were less imposing than Yin Mei's.

In fact, some even thought that if Gu Changge chose a queen in the future, Yin Mei might be more suitable than Yue Mingkong. Gu Changge was well aware of these discussions, understanding that such speculations were unavoidable after establishing the Divine Kingdom.

Yin Mei and Yue Mingkong had brought up these concerns multiple times, urging him to address these matters promptly to prevent widespread discussions among the ministers of Divine Kingdom. Many things had to be considered in the broader context, and decisions couldn't be made as casually as before.

Furthermore, Yin Mei was worried that Yue Mingkong might get anxious and speculated. Hence, she questioned Gu Changge several times to gauge his intentions. While she had ambitions for power, she wouldn't act recklessly or overstep boundaries.

I've already made arrangements for these matters. What remains before me now is the matter of the Immortal Sealing List that I mentioned earlier.

In the face of absolute strength, these rules can be changed or established at will. Just like now, founding a Divine Kingdom and ruling over heavens and earth, isn't it just a casual game for me?

Gu Changge murmured with a faint smile as he took the tea she handed over, gently blowing on it.

He didn't view the foundation of the Divine Kingdom as something grand but rather as a means to absorb the power of belief. Regardless of how glorious the Divine Kingdom was now, it relied solely on him. If he were to suddenly disappear, the Divine Kingdom would collapse overnight, and Gu Changge wasn't surprised by that.

Young master, do you know how infuriating these words can be?

Yin Mei blinked her beautiful eyes, feeling that Gu Changge was too casual and continued.

This is the Immortal Divine Kingdom, the only immortal-level force born in the upper realms over countless years. It can be recorded in ancient history as eternal and immortal.

I feel that even if drastic changes occur in the future, the Divine Kingdom will stand immortal, enduring in the river of epochs

Her greatest ambition was to help Gu Changge establish an immortal kingdom.

Infuriating, you say?

Gu Changge chuckled, pulling her into his embrace. His gaze seemed to penetrate the vast and boundless myriad realms from the pinnacle of the Divine Kingdom, overlooking everything.

Yin Mei gazed at him with admiration and affection. However, she remembered something and felt a bit troubled.

Young master, regarding the matter of choosing a queen and taking consorts, many ministers have been advising lately to bring in saintly daughters or heavenly maidens from various families.

Moreover, even some female cultivators from the past, with unparalleled cultivation and extraordinary beauty, had expressed their desire to enter the palace. Among them is the Golden Sun Goddess of the Supreme God Clan

The Golden Sun Goddess was a genuinely profound existence, having a long history and a distant connection with Gu Changge. She had been renowned in ancient times, attracting countless admirers, later suppressing the era, breaking through realms, and possessing unfathomable cultivation.

Such matters were not uncommon in ordinary countries, let alone in a Divine Kingdom meant to rule over heavens and earth.

Many sects and forces hoped to gain a foothold in the vast Divine Kingdom through such means because it was the current trend.

The matter of the Immortal Sealing List had long spread throughout the heavens and earth. Discussions and shock reverberated in every universe, even causing significant changes in the ancient forbidden ears that had remained dormant for ages.

The vast and boundless territories of myriad realms were impossible to fully explore for even those with extraordinary cultivation.

Establishing the Divine Kingdom offered hope to all living beings and presented a terrifying momentum of ruling over the heavens and earth to various forces and sects.

As the Lord of the Divine Kingdom, Gu Changge's actions intimidated every corner of the world who wouldn't fear or respect him?

For the upper realms, this would be a groundbreaking and ears-dividing change. Gu Changge heard these words without a change in expression; he had anticipated this.

Yue Mingkong had mentioned it before; how could a Lord of the Divine Kingdom have only one queen?

Yue Mingkong, the Empress of the Peerless Immortal Dynasty for many years, naturally knew what Gu Changge would face. She didn't mind and felt that Gu Changge needed to consider the matter carefully and settle the numerous women around him.

While she used to be a bit domineering and jealous in the past, their perspectives and thoughts had changed since their marriage. In Gu Changge's eyes, she now exuded an aura befitting the title of a virtuous mother of the kingdom, capable of calming everything.

As for that Golden Sun Goddess, how many eras had she lived through? Even though she had such thoughts, I find it quite surprising, Gu Changge said, shaking his head. If it were someone like Jiang Luoshen, a Supreme God Clan deity who wanted to become his consort, he would find it normal. However, the unexpected interest from the Golden Sun Goddess surprised him.

After the Kun Ji Catastrophe, the number of background figures had sharply declined, especially female ones.

Yin Mei sighed, This senior Golden Sun Goddess from the Supreme God Clan has actively advised three times, expressing her desire to enter the Divine Kingdom and accompany the young master

Gu Changge chuckled, Shes lived for so long; she doesnt have eyelashes anymore. Its not solely because of admiration. I suspect shes concerned about hidden pitfalls with the Immortal Sealing List but doesnt want to miss the opportunity to become an immortal. So, she came up with this plan.

He didnt believe that his charm had reached a level where a profound figure willingly entered the palace to serve him. It was merely a decision made for the sake of achieving immortality.

Of course, Gu Changge showed little emotional change. At his level, harboring casual emotions such as joy, anger, sorrow, or happiness was challenging.

Young master, didnt say that. For the beings in the upper realms, your achievements in overcoming challenges, clearing troubles, and establishing the only immortal Divine Kingdom as heavens and earth are truly magnificent. These were accomplishments that countless cultivators wouldnt dare to dream of.

Moreover, young master, you are the true immortal of this era. In terms of appearance, few men in the world can compare, and in terms of talent and natural gifts, theres no one to rival you. Such a rare figure in myths and legendshow can any woman in the world not be captivated by you?

The Golden Sun Goddess, in the first 400 generations, was once a goddess who outshone the world in her era, with countless admirers. Its normal for her to have admiration for you, Yin Mei expressed with a hint of understanding.

However, upon hearing Gu Changges words, Yin Meis small face became serious. On her enchantingly beautiful face, which seemed divinely crafted, a solemn expression emerged as she explained. This was the image of Gu Changge in her mind, without a hint of insincerity.

Gu Changge chuckled and couldn't resist teasing her by flicking her nose. Since when did you start flattery, too?

Looking at Yin Mei before him, his thoughts wandered a bit. Initially, he had only planted a demonic seed in her, intending for her to work for him. The plan was to discard her like a disposable pawn when her usefulness was nearly depleted.

However, who would have thought she would become one of the closest people around him.

Yin Mei had been more helpful than many others around him, even exceeding Yue Mingkong's efforts in some matters. It was indeed an unpredictable turn of events.

I'm not making it up. If you don't believe me, go and inquire yourself. Which Heavenly Maiden wouldn't speak highly of you? Yin Mei's small face wore a serious expression.

Gu Changge smiled and didn't say much. Instead, he took out a booklet and placed it before her.

This is from Mingkong. You can take a look.

Curious, Yin Mei took the booklet and focused on its contents. The main topic was about the selection of queens and consorts. It outlined the division of powers in the harem, including the Empress, divine consorts, and heavenly concubines—three tiers of concubines, with one Empress and three to four divine concubines, and the number of heavenly concubines could be more.

As for the other concubines, it was much simpler and more casual, with designations like the main concubines and side concubines.

Was this plan drafted by the Empress?

Yin Mei surprisingly found her position among the divine consort, a delighted expression on her face. Undoubtedly, the title of Empress belonged to Yue Mingkong, and the other parts were planned to be discussed with her later.

Chapter 807: Constructing the harem, holding the ceremony for the establishment of concubines

This list was drafted by Yue Mingkong some time ago. She just wanted me to take a look and share any opinions,

Gu Changge casually remarked. Currently, he had indeed found some leisure, and he was willing to invest time in the matter of choosing concubines. When Yue Mingkong discussed it with him earlier, he considered it.

He had glanced through the names on the booklet. For instance, in the empress position, Yue Mingkong had initially considered abdicating, but Gu Changge felt it was unnecessary. The Divine Kingdom was established casually, and many formalities seemed troublesome to him.

Regarding the four divine Concubines, only Yin Mei and Jiang Chuchu currently occupied those positions, leaving two vacancies.

However, Gu Changge had not officially married these two, nor had he informed the heavens and earth about the selection of concubines. The list was just a draft; a proper ceremony was required for the actual implementation.

Gu Changge didn't want to owe them, especially Jiang Chuchu. Under the divine concubines were the heavenly concubines, and the list included many names of women whom Yue Mingkong felt had an unexplainable connection with Gu Changge during this period. They voluntarily added their names, creating an ambiguous and unclear relationship.

These included Yan Ji (Yan concubine), Empress Xi Yao (Xi Yao Heavenly concubine), Tianlu Heavenly Maiden (Empress Tianlu), Ji Qingxuan (Empress Qingxuan), Su Qingge (Empress Qingge), Hei Yanyu (Empress Yanyu), Lin Qiuhan, and even Xiao Ruoyin the reincarnation of the High Priest of Destiny of the Immortal Palace along with Taoyao and Chan Hongyi.

Gu Changge found these matters somewhat troublesome. He hadn't even known them before, but Yue Mingkong seemed to understand clearly. She had even inquired about the case concerning the fate of Immortal Palace.

Facing these things, even though Gu Changge could casually annihilate the upper realms and intimidate heavens, he felt it was a tricky situation. He preferred to handle it casually if possible.

Subsequently, Yue Mingkong and Yin Mei were given full authority over choosing concubines. Gu Changge wouldn't interfere much.

For the immortal Divine Kingdom, selecting an empress after the establishment of the Divine Kingdom was a crucial matter. Upon learning about it, almost all the ministers immediately requested the construction of an imperial palace for Gu Changge.

Otherwise, as the Divine Kingdom ruling over the heavens, it would seem lacking in heritage and identity.

After some consideration, Gu Changge decided to adopt the suggestions of many ministers. In the Divine Kingdom, he ordered numerous craftsmen to begin constructing palaces. The divine materials and fairy ingredients needed were all taken from the national treasury.

If resources were scarce, Gu Changge sent powerhouses to mine them. In this matter, he was meticulous. As for the various palaces in the imperial harem, including the Empresss Palace, the Divine Concubines Palace, and the Heavenly Concubines Palace, he left the naming decisions to others.

For example, the Empresss Palace, where Yue Mingkong usually resided and gathered faith, would be decided by her. However, Gu Changge speculated that, given Mingkongs personality, she might name it the Yue Mingkong Palace.

In the following days, numerous palaces appeared behind the Divine Kingdoms temples. The sheer amount of materials used was enough to astound cultivators.

Various heavenly materials used for crafting Dao tools were piled like mountains, emitting radiant divine light. Some ancient god clans, towering like mountains with leaders personally forging palaces for Gu Changge, appeared in this space.

These god clans were an ancient group from a distant universe, feeding on stars. Each person would grow a star mark on their forehead after evolving once.

The Nine Stars Ancient Gods possessed the strength of a Dao-building expert, and the clan leader, a Nine Stars Golden Ancient God, was invincible.

Ordinary background figures were no match for him. Gu Changge sincerely respected and revered him. The ancient god clan intentionally brought many strong individuals to serve the Divine Kingdom, willing to contribute to the immortal foundation of the Divine Kingdom.

The process of forging palaces was simple and straightforward. In just a few months, vast groups of palaces emerged in the Divine Kingdom.

Some areas were constructed from the supreme wondrous soil, moved from sacred grounds at significant cost. Immortal rain showered, exuding immense holiness, and many divine trees with marvelous roots were planted.

There were regions refined by numerous stars, expansive and vast, shrouded in dense mist, portraying profound tranquility.

Some palaces were simple but surrounded by medicinal fields growing rare and precious herbs, some only found in the Divine Kingdom. Some areas featured simple earthly scenery, occupying moderate space, resembling secluded mansions.

Due to the immortal rain in the heavens, these places were touched by various divine colors. Mountain-water corridors, pavilions, terraces, bridges, and towers were arranged picturesquely. These areas were actually independent small worlds, each with its own rules and entirely different environments from the outside world.

Numerous mysterious prohibitions were established between these worlds, and ordinary individuals didn't even have the qualifications to approach them. These independent small worlds existed within the Divine Kingdom itself.

After all, the Divine kingdom is vast and boundless, refined by Gu Changge from numerous universes. Its territory is endless; even cultivators spend their entire lives traversing it, likely never reaching its limits.

The names of these regions each carry distinct characteristics. The grand and majestic palaces, exuding a steady and imposing aura, are named the Imperial Palace and the Palace of Mingkong.

They are located close to the residence where Gu Changge usually rests. In addition, there were Tianhu Pure Land, Holy Maiden Palace, and so on.

As time passed, even Gu Xianner couldn't resist the excitement. She persuaded him to send people to build her a primitive Dao Fields.

It featured vast palaces, endless wilderness, and misty enchantment resembling a heavenly realm. Blossoming fairy flowers, flowing spiritual springs, and cascading silver waterfalls adorned the area, which she named it the Palace of the Fairy.

Once the various palaces and buildings were completed, Gu Changge selected a suitable date and informed the heavens that he would hold a ceremony to choose his concubines. The news spread, shaking the realms.

Different immortal forces and ethnic groups across the universes keenly felt this vibration. They sent representatives to present congratulatory gifts, expressing their respect and best wishes, whether they were ministers of the Divine Kingdom or from other realms.

On that day, the world celebrated in unison, with red decorations spanning billions of miles. A grand and astonishing atmosphere filled the Divine Kingdom as a festive banquet unfolded.

The upper realms buzzed with excitement, as beings from myriad realms came to pay their respects.

Figures from ancient times, ascended immortals, and influential individuals from various sects and forces all attended, bringing with them precious gifts.

Gu Changges figure appeared at the pinnacle of the Divine Kingdom, radiating a dazzling glow as if an endless stream of divine light flowed around him. Seated in the vast cosmos, divine radiance enveloped him, and above his head, a supreme godly crown manifested, gathering the faith of all living beings.

Hail, the Divine Lord!!!

At this moment, Gu Changges brilliance illuminated the heavens, earth and all the heavenly realms, with all cultivators and background figures bowing in his direction.

Clatter Wo

Splashing sounds echoed as an ancient and towering Epoch tree stood behind him, emitting an ancient and desolate aura, seemingly propping open the eons.

Chapter 808: Everything is unspoken; List of Immortals is out

The Divine radiance shines brilliantly, and countless stars in the sky burst forth with boundless brilliance.

All the realms come to pay homage outside the Divine Kingdom, offering congratulations and precious gifts to Gu Changge.

The grandeur and impact of this wedding ceremony surpass countless historical events, comparable even to Gu Changge's previous marriage to Yue Mingkong.

Every cultivator fortunate enough to witness this grand wedding will forever remember it, turning it into an ancient legend passed down through generations.

The Divine Lords wedding, marrying various divine concubines, resonates through the heavens. The divine sounds echo across the Nine Realms and Ten territories, and the heavenly melody shakes the universe. The final wedding ceremony takes place in the temple on the Epoch tree.

Gu Changge's extraordinary wedding with his concubines lasts for half a month. Future cultivators directly refer to it as the Heavenly Wedding.

The Divine Kingdom was adorned with lights and decorations, and auspicious signs of dragons and phoenixes appeared across various universes, reflecting in the heavens and earth.

Throughout this half-month, ancient beings arrive continuously, bringing precious gifts and blessings. Many background figures from distant universes come with a submissive heart, offering congratulations and their profound backgrounds.

These immortal forces and ethnic groups don't merely offer gifts and blessings; they come with their heritage, hoping to be incorporated into the Divine Kingdom, becoming citizens under its protection.

Unifying all realms under the Divine Kingdom was inevitable, and the shelter provided by the Divine Kingdom makes a significant difference.

Some remnants of abandoned forces exert pressure in those distant universes farther from the central region of the upper realms. Without the backing of powerhouses, these universes are likely to be enslaved sooner or later by those traditional forces.

Therefore, these immortal forces would rather submit to the Divine Kingdom than be enslaved by those immortal forces. Such occurrences were common during this period, but they were trivial matters for the vast Divine Kingdom.

I have fulfilled the promise I made to you.

In the stars radiance and the Milky Ways glow, the Palace of the Holy Maiden was adorned with red lanterns, creating an exceptionally festive atmosphere.

A woman with a phoenix crown and a graceful figure sits beside the marriage bed, anxiously clenching her delicate hands, appearing uneasy and nervous.

However, when she hears Gu Changges slightly amused voice outside the hall, she suddenly relaxes. She lifts the red veil above her head, extending her fair and delicate hand, revealing a breathtakingly beautiful face like carved jade.

With a touch of makeup enhancing her beauty, her porcelain-like cheeks, seemingly blushing due to shyness, revealed an unforgettable charming color.

On the day of the grand wedding, who would personally unveil their own red veil?

Why are you in such a hurry?

Gu Changge looked at Jiang Chuchu, whose eyes were shimmering, suddenly laughed lightly and couldnt help teasing.

Ah

Upon hearing Gu Changges words, Jiang Chuchu was stunned at first. Her beautiful eyes blinked, and then she suddenly reacted. Did she really unveil her own veil?

Her face blushed even more, and she dared not lift her head to look at Gu Changge with his teasing expression, full of embarrassment.

Seeing Jiang Chuchu about to cover her red veil again, Gu Changge chuckled again, grabbed her delicate white wrist, and said, Who does that?

Its already uncovered. If you cover it again, do you not intend to marry me?

No.

At these words, Jiang Chuchu couldnt help but glare at him, but seeing that Gu Changge came directly to her palace tonight, she couldnt help feeling a bit happy and pleased.

This heavenly wedding was as grand and sensational as Gu Changges previous marriage to Yue Mingkong, and its openly marrying legitimately. Even though there were rules in the Human Ancestral Hall stating that every Saintess should not marry outside, so what?

All the realms and immortal forces of all realms personally witness it. Who dares to speak ill of it?

Its really good.

Suddenly, Jiang Chuchu hugged Gu Changges waist and buried her head in his chest, her face filled with happiness and contentment. She loves Gu Changge deeply because he often goes against his heart, making decisions that contradict her beliefs.

Even at the beginning, she never thought she would give up everything for Gu Changge one day.

Even for her, who has the grace of rebirth from her sect, the Ancestral Hall that raised her. Not to mention the great responsibility she bears for all living beings.

For Jiang Chuchu, her feelings for Gu Changge were the kind that, even if he was a world-enemy demon lord destined to be her eternal enemy, she was willing to stand by his side and forsake everything.

Initially, she never thought that one day, she would give up everything for Gu Changge. Even if she knows that he may not be able to give her any formal status, she had no regrets.

Im sorry for making you wait for so long.

As Gu Changge looked at Jiang Chuchu in front of him, a tender expression appeared on his face. The red candles were bright, and with a wave of his hand, they were extinguished, plunging the palace into darkness, and the night unfolded in silence.

For many, this night was destined to be sleepless some rejoiced, some remained silent, and others mourned.

In the Heavenly Fox Palace, Yin Mei, slender and enchanting, adorned herself in front of the mirror.

Her maidservants had been respectfully serving her, but their hearts were filled with trepidation.

After all, in this heavenly wedding, the concubines the divine lord welcomed weren't limited to just the Heavenly Fox Concubine. Yet, as the deep night had arrived, there was no sign of the divine lord.

These maidservants naturally felt anxious and uneasy, fearing that the Heavenly Fox Concubine might not gain the divine lord's favor.

The Heavenly Fox Concubine, bestowed upon Yin Mei, was one of the Four Great Divine concubines. There were only two divine concubine positions, hers and Jiang Chuchus.

You can all withdraw, Yin Mei said as she gazed at herself in the mirror. Her expression didn't change much, but she waved her hand to dismiss the maidservants.

Although she had anticipated it to some extent, at this moment, there was still a sense of disappointment, regret, and a touch of inexplicable grievance.

However, when she was about to sleep in the latter half of the night, Gu Changge quietly approached. Despite some expectations, her heart was still filled with indescribable joy.

Time passed quickly. Several decades had gone by since the establishment of the Divine Kingdom, the royal wedding, and the addition of consorts. Gu Changge sat atop the Divine Kingdom, overseeing the heavens and earth.

He had accompanied his loved ones and witnessed the passage of centuries. The Divine Kingdom had developed and expanded according to the plan, gradually dominating all the realms with an extensive territory.

During these decades, various forces and realms had successively pledged allegiance, recognizing the Divine Kingdoms supremacy. The matter of refining the Immortal Sealing List was successfully completed by Gu Changge several decades ago.

It had consumed numerous precious treasures and even accumulated the fortunes of countless living beings over many years.

And on this day, after perfecting many details, a brilliant golden list appeared above the Divine Kingdom.

Boundless and surrounded by chaotic energy, it hung in the air, radiating an ancient aura. It extended endlessly, covering the heavens and overshadowing all.

The two ancient divine scripts of Immortal Sealing List shone brightly, displaying a godly might that suppressed heaven and earth.

Chapter 809: It is bound to break the balance, the way of balance

Radiant golden light, like a great sun rising among the heavens and earth, and ancient Dao sounds traversed billions of miles, resonating through each universe.

Crafted from countless rare divine materials, this massive Immortal Sealing List emitted a faint golden glow, surrounded by chaotic energy.

The words Immortal Sealing were ancient and majestic, carrying a terrifying pressure that seemed to suppress the heavens. Regardless of their level, any cultivator would feel their minds tremble upon a glance as if compelled to kneel beneath this list.

Lotus flowers of the Great Dao bloomed around the list, divine light surging, causing even the surrounding stars to quiver, seemingly unable to withstand the aura emanating from the list.

As the Dao rhythms circulated and immortal light interwove, the list was soon shrouded in vast mist, making it impossible for any cultivator or being to peer into its secrets.

Yet, the entire heavens were shaken by this list. Almost all existing beings found it hard to remain calm.

Decades ago, Gu Changge had stated that regarding sealing immortality, cultivators at the Supreme Realm and above could enter this list and ascend to immortality in one step, free from the constraints of the rules of heaven and earth.

This revelation shook the universe, causing many background figures of that time to be unable to sit still, fearing that the appearance of this list might affect them. They were unwilling to entrust their lives to the Divine Kingdom and Gu Changge.

Sealing immortality might directly impact the entire situation in the Upper Realm, even unsettling the various races and universes across heavens and earth.

After all, this was an incredible event that could enable someone to transcend the mortal realm with a single step.

Who wouldn't be tempted or influenced by such an idea?

Beyond the Supreme Realm were the quasi-emperors, those who had achieved the level of Dao-building expert, and background figures three different levels.

A cultivator had to spend countless years reaching the foundational level to become immortal. The appearance of the Immortal Sealing List was bound to disrupt the balance that had existed for countless ages.

Gu Changge sat at the pinnacle of the Divine Kingdom, gazing at the list. His calm yet resonant voice spread from this location, echoing throughout heavens and earth.

The Immortal Sealing List is complete. Those who enter it shall receive the blessing of fate and belief, transcending from the mortal to the immortal.

As Gu Changge's words fell, the Immortal Sealing List vanished without a trace, its majestic might disappearing into the far reaches of the sky. However, the astonishing phenomenon continued to influence the heavens and earth.

Due to this proclamation, various universes were stirred into great commotion. The most terrible beings from many forces took action, gathering their people to discuss and devise strategies to respond.

Although the radiance of the Divine Kingdom had illuminated the heavens, indicating a trend towards unification, the heavens were genuinely vast and boundless.

Achieving complete unification of all the domains within such a short span of time was an impossible task.

While many immortal forces had submitted to the Divine Kingdom, numerous immortal forces and ethnic groups were still lurking in the shadows.

Some even had traces extending beyond the realms into what was known as the outer domains. These domains beyond the Upper Realm were ancient, layered universes with profound and unimaginable foundations.

As the rules of heaven and earth in the Upper Realm evolve and become more complete, these outer domains begin to manifest.

Time and space were the most significant forces in this world. Even those who had achieved the Dao-building expertise cannot claim to comprehend these secrets, let alone understand how many worlds exist in the vast expanse.

Hum!

As the divine light fades, Gu Changge's figure appears in the imperial palace of the Divine Kingdom. His attire was simple, clad in a cyan silk garment, his hair unbound, presenting a casual and handsome appearance.

It's difficult to associate him with the lord who governs the heavens, the peerless sovereign, and the one who holds dominion over all realms.

Now, he seems more like a charming young man, a misplaced immortal wandering in the mortal world, transcending the ordinary and the otherworldly.

Divine Sovereign, with the unveiling of the Immortal Sealing List, chaos is bound to erupt beyond the Divine Kingdom. In recent years, while the Divine Kingdom has been clearing various universes, remnants and malcontents persist in some corners, creating disturbances through various means.

A minister reports respectfully, During this period, some remnants of destroyed sects had even resorted to sacrificial rites, attempting to resurrect ancient spirits and cultivate a belief in demonic immortals to destabilize our Divine Kingdom.

We, the humble ministers, were incapable of eliminating them thoroughly, and seek your guidance for a permanent solution.

Hearing these words, Gu Changge nods slightly, his expression unchanged.

He responds, I am already aware of this matter. Even if demonic immortals were to appear, they dare not set foot within the boundaries of the Divine Kingdom.

Blame not yourselves for the matter of demonic immortals. Even with the wisdom I possessed at its peak, I wouldnt dare to face them directly. These matters are not as simple as you might think.

He dislikes using the term we and prefers to address himself as I. Many ministers were initially surprised, but they have grown accustomed to it. They understand that despite Gu Changges young age, he dislikes unnecessary formalities.

In situations like today, where numerous affairs have arisen, Gu Changge often prefers straightforward and simple solutions. As for the demonic immortals

Those sects he once annihilated left behind remnants that hadnt been completely eradicated. Over the years, they have been gathering strength and utilizing forbidden techniques.

Some had even sacrificed themselves, connecting to the river of time in the underworld, attempting to trace their ancestors faintest traces or imprints.

The destroyed sects, once ruled by true immortals in their ancestry, have seen their immortal powers become evident again due to the evolution of the heavens and earth.

The revival of their divine soul imprints, long lost in the river of time, had given rise to the phenomenon known as demonic immortals.

Over the past few decades, the Divine Kingdom has eradicated no fewer than ten demonic immortals, and the situation continues to escalate.

The power of the Demon Suppression Division is still insufficient. Zhen Xie Hou personally visits the significant ministers, sects, and families. Select talented youths to join the Demon Suppression Division.[Ed: Zhen Xie Hou is a lord of Demonic Immortals.]

They will be subordinate to you and can exchange merits for martial arts, divine techniques, and various treasures.

Allowing demonic immortals to cause chaos, destabilize the state, and undermine the foundation is unacceptable. This scourge must be eliminated.

Gu Changge issues these casual orders.

The Demon Suppression Division, created on a whim and instructed by the Zhen Xie Hou, is one of the most formidable forces in the Divine Realm.

He was a fierce and robust man with a hint of chaotic aura, an appearance that can deter demonic cults and even silence crying infants.

Yes, Divine Sovereign.

After receiving the command, the Demon Suppression Marquis immediately departs to select talented individuals from various forces. These youths will join the Demon Suppression Division, where they will be under the command of the Marquis. They can earn merits and exchange them for martial arts, divine techniques, and treasures.

The Demon Suppression Division, despite its grand name, was created by Gu Changge based on the advice of Yin Mei.

Its primary purpose was not necessarily to eliminate demonic cults or demonic immortals. Instead, it balances and suppresses the powers of the ministers and forces within the Divine Realm.

In this world, there was no absolute peace. Gu Changge anticipated the matter of demonic immortals and did not mainly concern himself with it.

The creation of the Demon Suppression Division was a strategic move to balance and suppress the powers of various forces. By selecting the most talented individuals under the pretext of combating demonic immortals, he can train and control them. Over time, they will become devout followers.

After handling various affairs, Gu Changge's figure dissipates into thin air. The presence here was just a manifestation of his rules and law body, not his true self. Even with their profound origins, no one can discern the difference.

During this period, his true self has been meditating outside the Divine Kingdom, refining the true blood of the Demon Sovereign, and using his thoughts to connect with the immortal realms approaching from the upper realm.

In addition, Gu Changge was still refining the origins accumulated by the Reincarnated Heaven Lord.

His cultivation was advancing at a terrifying speed. If he undergoes the immortal tribulation of the Dao-building expert, his realm may ascend to an unimaginable level in an instant.

Chapter 810: Comprehending Destiny, the high priestess of destiny

Many of the affairs in the Divine Kingdom were delegated to individuals like Yin Mei by Gu Changge. His true form now resided beyond the void, occasionally appearing to meet individuals like Yue Mingkong and Jiang Chuchu.

On regular days, decisions required his conscious thought to manifest and address various matters. Regarding the value of the Immortal Sealing List, Gu Changge had long planned for it.

After unveiling the list, the Divine Kingdom would inform the heavens, determining eligibility based on devout loyalty and shared contributions to the Divine Kingdom.

In the vast expanse of the heavens, with countless cultivators akin to a sea of smoke, even those above the Supreme level were too numerous to include everyone in the list.

Gu Changge's current task was to present the Immortal Sealing List prominently to make it clear to the heavens and earth that being part of the Immortal Class was no mere boast.

As for the Immortal Sealing List, leave it to Bai Linger to handle. She's currently anxious about researching various rankings.

As for the list, there's no need to rush. We can start by selecting some loyal ministers of the Divine Kingdom, bestowing the titles publicly. This will have a more profound impact.

Gu Changge casually issued a decree with a wave of his hand, generating a terrible ripple that pierced through the void, flying towards a specific palace in the Divine Kingdom.

Bai Linger, the master of the Spring Breeze Pavillion and had the ancient inheritance of the Killer Emperor.

Though the Killer Emperor claimed to be an emperor, his cultivation was already close to immortality, leaving behind a terrible legacy of combat.

In recent years, Gu Changge had appointed Bai Linger to oversee the Hall of Asura.

Secretly, she trained an organization called the Sky Net, similar to the Spring Breeze Pavillion. It aimed to gather information from various realms and conduct clandestine affairs.

Furthermore, based on Yin Mei's suggestion, Gu Changge instructed Bai Linger to establish the Tianji Hall. Institutions like the Tianji Tower and the Tianji Hall were found in various ancient cities across the heavens and earth.

These organizations belonged to the category of intelligence gathering and were tasked with obtaining different information and compiling lists.

These lists included rankings such as the Heavenly Elite List, Weapon List, Influence List, Exquisite Beauty List and Talent List. Gu Changge's intention was simple to intensify competition among the Dao domains.

Throughout their lives, cultivators sought fame and power. Gu Changge even planned to create heavenly monuments for each realm, gathering the energy of heaven and earth.

These monuments would list numerous prodigies throughout history, offering rankings and corresponding rewards.

Additionally, he intended to open a virtual realm dedicated to the beliefs and fates of mortal beings, akin to the mythical Underworld of Nine Shadows.

Although the divine soul had perished, the incense and flame persisted. Ruled by the Divine Kingdom, it ensured the reincarnation of cultivators and allowed them to refine their Divine essence in the virtual realm, achieving the status of an Infernal God.

However, the concept of this so-called virtual realm was still in Gu Changge's contemplation and had yet to be put into practical action.

If he were to pursue this, it would be an exceedingly time-consuming and energy-draining process.

The reason behind such consideration, Gu Changge found, aligned with the workings of the Dao laws, benefiting his comprehension of cultivation through the power of qi, fortune, and faith.

Simultaneously, during his recent insights into the Dao of Destiny, he had a premonition that the immortal realm might be undergoing an unexpected change, different from the rumors heard before a terrifying event.

Before Gu Qingyi departed from the upper realms, she had forewarned him that significant changes were imminent in the upper realms and even throughout the heavens. Now, with a sudden inspiration, Gu Changge felt he couldn't afford to take this matter lightly and needed to be proactive.

Destiny, a mystical and elusive path, differed from other great paths and required extensive exploration. The intricacies were plentiful, demanding prolonged periods to fathom fully.

In recent times, Gu Changge meticulously pondered it, intending to unravel the mysteries of numerology and condense the Dao Fruit of the Immortal King.

As for the primordial sources left behind by the Reincarnated Heaven Lord, they could only assist Gu Changge in elevating his cultivation. Understanding the Dao of Destiny was something he had to achieve independently.

Besides Destiny, Gu Changge delved into the studies of time and space. Earlier, he had acquired the inheritance of the Reincarnated Heaven Lord, allowing him to explore the pathway of revolving epochs.

If he were to condense the Dao Fruit of the Immortal King, considering time, space, and the grand path of creation was also an option. As for the devouring and slaughtering pathways, Gu Changge deemed them unnecessary to study and comprehend.

While refining the blood of the Demon Lord, insights into these paths had already manifested in his mind.

Previously, due to the systems influence, he exchanged fate points for the so-called transcendent bones. Now, Gu Changge viewed this as a form of transactional exchange within the rules.

Through Destiny points, which represented value or fortune, he equivalently exchanged them for transcendent bonesan essence inherent in the systems evolution.

This essence could be understood as a peculiar energy. As Gu Changge delved into the Dao of Destiny, he increasingly felt that this dormant system had a deep connection with him.

Hum!

At this moment, the decree issued by Gu Changge swiftly traversed the void, heading towards the Hall of Asura, where Bai Linger currently resided.

She stood in plain-coloured attire, addressing some cultivators with an icy expression, exuding an air of authority.

Select candidates suitable for the Immortal List?

Understood.

The decree landed before her, surprising her. The contents were straightforward, instructing her to gather information from various races and choose individuals most suitable for inclusion in the list.

Of course, Gu Changge would also provide an opportunity for self-recommendation to all realms.

On the other side, near the vast Star Sea, numerous islands floated amidst mist at the eastern edge of the Divine Kingdom, shrouded in perpetual cool tones with no radiant illumination.

In the central area, a vast and solemn structure called the Temple of Destiny stood, exuding an ancient and majestic atmosphere.

A breathtakingly beautiful woman with a tear-shaped mark on her brow, dressed in the moon-white robe of the chief priestess, was calculating something on a compass.

Her flowing dark hair and serene expression gave off an otherworldly aura, akin to a heavenly maiden from the Nine Heavens, and she was the ruler of this place the High Priestess of the Divine Kingdom, also addressed as Empress Ruoyin.

Greetings, Your Majesty

Xiao Ruoyin noticed the ripples in the void before her, and, with a slight wave on her calm face, she motioned for the attendants to withdraw before offering a graceful salute.

Gu Changge's figure emerged from the void, dressed in a simple azure silk garment. He nodded slightly, unfazed by Xiao Ruoyin's address, which differed from the conventional titles used by other concubines and courtiers.

It seems you've been keeping yourself busy

Gu Changge's gaze fell on the compass behind her, where faint traces of destiny flowed. Xiao Ruoyin regained her composure, and with a nod, she said, Residing here for a long time, with idle moments, I can only engage in cultivation and insights into this path.

I don't know what brings Your Majesty here today. If you desire my company, a word to the attendants would suffice. Your Majesty need not venture so far.

The Temple of Destiny was extremely distant from the Divine Kingdoms Imperial Palace, situated at the far eastern edge of the Divine Kingdom.

Hearing this, Gu Changge waved his hand, and a faint radiance appeared in his sleeves as the Fateful Immortal Boat materialized.

I came to see you today for another matter. He spoke casually.