

Villain 811

Chapter 811: The few steps of cultivation, the great terror in the dark

In fact, when Gu Changge revealed the Fateful Immortal Boat, Xiao Ruoyin had already guessed his intention.

The Fateful Immortal Boat was a pre-existing object, not forged later. Initially, she had resonated with the elusive River of Destiny, using her Fateless Physique to make it recognize her as its master.

After the collapse of the Immortal Palace, her reincarnation caused the Fateful Immortal Boat to follow her into the new life. Its spirit also acquired a physical form, leading to the birth of Jiang Chen later on.

However, over the years, the Fateful Immortal Boat remained in Gu Changges hands, and Xiao Ruoyin never considered asking him to return it.

Is Your Majesty here to inquire about the Fateful Immortal Boat this time?

Xiao Ruoyin speculated, her gaze focused on the ship. Though it appeared to be made of bronze, it was a rare immortal gold called Good Fortune Gold. This material had the extraordinary ability to carry ones fate, enabling it to traverse the river of time without accumulating karma or facing heavenly punishment.

However, this substance was exceedingly rare, and many cultivators might spend their entire lives without ever hearing about Fortune Gold, let alone finding it.

Xiao Ruoyin had found information on this material during her time as the High Priestess of the Immortal Palace. Even for her, locating a piece of Fortune Gold again would be as challenging as reaching the heavens.

Gu Changge glanced at Xiao Ruoyin and said, Indeed, its related to the Fateful Immortal Boat, but now Im more interested in understanding the extent of your control over the path of destiny.

His gaze fell on the ancient-looking compass behind Xiao Ruoyin as he spoke. Though simple in appearance, upon closer inspection, one could discern thousands of strands of material converging like starlight, creating an unusual sight.

Ordinary people wouldn't notice, but having comprehended the path of Destiny, Gu Changge understood that these were the so-called threads of fate.

Everything was bound by the lines of cause and effect in this world. Even he, because of cause and effect, had been exposed by Xiao Ruoyin regarding his past life.

It was not easy to transcend cause and effect and break free from the constraints of the five elements.

Regarding control over the path of Destiny? Xiao Ruoyin felt surprised. Why would Gu Changge suddenly show interest in this?

With her Fateless Physique, she naturally possessed a strong sensing ability for destiny and causality. Therefore, when she delved into studying these aspects, it was like a fish in waterstraightforward.

Over the years, after recovering the memories of her past life as the High Priestess of Destiny, Xiao Ruoyin had been attempting to restore her past-life achievements. One of the most notable aspects was her comprehension and control over the path of Destiny.

Earlier, she had been making calculations, specifically regarding the future changes in the Divine Kingdom. In the vast expanse of the universe, the mighty adept in divine arts could discern a person's past and present with just a glance.

They could even perceive the countless changes and evolutions over endless ages. In this world, there were no secrets beyond their reach. However, peering into the mysterious and unfathomable realm beyond times end, glimpsing the other shore instantly, was unimaginable.

Nevertheless, given Xiao Ruoyin's current strength, she was far from reaching this level; it was an unrealistic fantasy.

Gu Changge nodded, Recently, I've developed a keen interest in the path of Destiny. I thought you should have profound knowledge in this area.

He wasn't lying. Coming here to seek Xiao Ruoyin was indeed prompted by the expectation that she possessed significant insights into the path of Destiny.

I see. Xiao Ruoyin realized, then continued, Although I have delved deep into this path, my cultivation is still far from Yours, Your Majesty. Even if I can glimpse a bit of Destiny, its impact on Your Majesty might be limited.

Now that Gu Changge's cultivation was inscrutable and had transcended the realm of immortality, Xiao Ruoyin considered it a rare phenomenon throughout the ages. Even those supremely skilled in the path of Destiny couldn't foresee his future and the course of his destiny.

Xiao Ruoyin naturally wouldn't casually probe Gu Changge's fate; it wasn't just a matter of failing to see there was a significant risk of backlash.

Gu Changge knew Xiao Ruoyin would respond this way, so he brought out the Fateful Immortal Boat. He intended for her to use the ship to explore the path of Destiny.

With the Fateful Immortal Boat in hand, given your current cultivation, you should be able to glimpse the fate of the Divine Kingdom. Will you give it a try? he asked slowly.

After a moment of silence, Xiao Ruoyin spoke frankly. She dared not conceal anything in front of Gu Changge, The chances are not great.

It doesn't matter. If there's any danger, you can retreat at any time. I'll bear any backlash for you, Gu Changge reassured.

His cultivation had reached a level where even whimsical ideas had reasons behind them. Just like what he was about to do now.

In Gu Changge's view, this step was crucial for deducing and comparing the paths he had taken so far. At this stage, summarizing the paths he had traversed, roughly speaking, they could be divided into four steps.

When the first three steps reached their end, it would signify reaching the other shore of immortality, the realm of immortals.

And this fourth step, as he delved into the study and comprehension of the path of Destiny, resonated with him. Beyond the Immortal realm, one must dispel the clouds of uncertainty, reflect upon oneself, and achieve the Dao fruit. This was the state where causality doesn't touch, transcending time and space.

Then, mastering the three thousand great Dao-building experts, immortal with a single thought, annihilating countless universes with a single intention.

Beyond self-Dao, past, present, future all are one, free and immortal. With a single hand, obliterate the heavens, a timeless cosmos, effortlessly severing all, comprehending all, immortal in emptiness, enduring in concept.

All these are subsequent paths; as the mist disperses, everything becomes clear. However, Gu Changge still needs to deduce and verify based on Destiny.

I understand.

Xiao Ruoyin knew she had no choice. She immediately took over the Fateful Immortal Boat, and after countless ages, this item returned to her hands, emitting a faint, trembling sound.

Following that, layers of mysterious ripples spread in this place, and it seemed as if divine and enchanting melodies resonated throughout the heavens and earth. Even the threads of causality were converging towards this place.

Draped in a sacrificial robe, Xiao Ruoyin looked saintly and immortal, enveloped in a boundless radiance of immortality.

A vague and blurry mist appeared before her, with glimpses of divine radiance from the Divine Kingdom and the evolving realms of various heavens. There was worship, and grand world sounds everywhere. However, behind all this, an icy silence loomed, with a fog sweeping in, obscuring everything.

In Gu Changge's gaze, numerous terrifying scenes unfolded. At this moment, he seemed to be at the end of an endless void, observing the evolution of the heavens and the earth.

Chaos separated, and even shadows of light appeared, overseeing everything at the end of the river of time, watching the changes in mountains and rivers, alternating epochs.

The path of Destiny is truly mysterious

Seeing that Xiao Ruoyin was about to collapse, her face turning bloodless and showing signs of fatigue, Gu Changge's expression had returned to calmness.

He waved his robe, and thunderous roars echoed at the end of the sky. However, it quickly dissipated without a ripple. The overwhelming and suffocating terror vanished into thin air.

You've worked hard.

He caught the faltering Xiao Ruoyin, looking at her pale face, and said, You nearly suffered backlash. When you were deducing the destiny of the Divine Kingdom, you seemed to be suddenly enveloped in a terrifying aura. Your whole body was cold. Perhaps I expelled that terrifying aura in the end.

She suspected that in the end, Gu Changge made a move to drive away that great terror.

But what exactly was it?

Chapter 812: There is no other purpose, the ceremony of conferring immortals

Xiao Ruoyin's face was pale, not because of insufficient cultivation but because she had touched upon an unknown terror while deducing, thus injuring her spiritual consciousness. To Xiao Ruoyin, this was an unimaginable occurrence.

Her study and comprehension of the path of Destiny were unparalleled and deemed incomprehensible by others. Yet, just now, when deducing the future of the Divine Kingdom, she had a premonition of an indescribable terror.

What exactly is it?

Xiao Ruoyin's mind was somewhat trance-like for a moment. Later, she returned to reality, realizing she was in Gu Changge's embrace. She couldn't help but straighten up.

Im afraid I have disappointed Your Majesty. The insights I gained into the Destiny of the Divine Kingdom are minimal.

This was a frank admission. Even with the Fateful Immortal Boat in hand, she couldnt get a clear view of the source of that terrifying aura. Moreover, she had almost suffered a backlash.

It was worth noting that she was a fateless being from birth, transcending causality. Except for the time before she awakened her memories from her past life, attempting to deduce Gu Changges origin and suffering a backlash, today marked the second time in her life that she had faced a backlash.

This shocked Xiao Ruoyin profoundly.

Gu Changge, on the other hand, didnt seem surprised. He knew that his premonition would not be wrong. When Xiao Ruoyin was deducing the Destiny of the Divine Kingdom, he had seen those vague scenes. Although the future was unclear, a fragment of the location emerged.

The world turned dim, and the end of an era approached. Even the stars collapsed, and the entire cosmos shattered. A vast fog swept in, obscuring everything. The only visible thing was the yellowing era, where an extended, undulating wave extinguished an entire epoch in the distance.

Indeed, there would be a tremendous upheaval in the future Upper Realm. Even the myriad realms, including the Immortal Domain, would be affected and couldnt escape unscathed.

After confirming this, Gu Changge was somewhat relieved, without the countless uncertainties from before.

Its nothing. Thank you for your hard work.

Keep the Fateful Immortal Boat with you for now.

He said casually, not intending to claim ownership of the Fateful Immortal Boat. At most, in his hands, it would serve as a tool to traverse the river of time, unable to unleash its true potential.

With Gu Changge's strength reaching an unfathomable level, he no longer needed external tools to traverse the river of time. On the contrary, the Fateful Immortal Boat would serve a greater purpose in Xiao Ruoyin's hands.

Thank you, Your Majesty.

Upon hearing these words, Xiao Ruoyin couldn't help but be stunned. She hadn't expected Gu Changge to return the Fateful Immortal Boat to her. However, regaining what was lost brought joy even to her composed demeanor. Her delicate and fair hand gently traced the weathered surface of the Fateful Immortal Boat.

After recovering her memories from her past life, Xiao Ruoyin's temperament changed considerably. Experiencing life as an ordinary person and gaining insights into the diverse aspects of the mortal world contributed to this transformation. She was now the honored Empress Ruoyin of this immortal Divine Kingdom, a concubine to Gu Changge.

Gu Changge, the culprit of the destruction of the Nine Heavens and Ten Earths in his previous life, was the one who caused the collapse of the Immortal Palace.

All these events were challenging for Xiao Ruoyin to reconcile, even using the path of Destiny to explain.

Your Majesty, will you be resting at the Temple of Destiny tonight? I am heading there for a bath and to prepare for the night.

At this moment, as if thinking of something, Xiao Ruoyin raised her cold eyes and couldn't help asking.

At this moment, she recalled something. Although she had been appointed as a concubine, this was the first time in a long while that Gu Changge had visited the Temple of Destiny.

Despite her disinterest in competing for favor and engaging in the intrigues of the harem, she understood that as long as Gu Changge remained there for a day, the demise of the divine kingdom would be postponed.

If she wanted to remain aloof and focus solely on the Temple of Destiny, free from worldly distractions and external influences, it was crucial to make the court officials and various immortal races understand that she held some status despite being a concubine in Gu Changge's eyes.

Inevitably, the impact of the previous Xiao Ruoyin influenced her current considerations.

Your Majesty, shall I send you off?

To Xiao Ruoyin's surprise, Gu Changge's expression remained unchanged upon hearing this. He simply waved his hand casually, showing no intention of staying overnight.

Even though she was prepared for the night's intimate affairs, he had dispelled those thoughts. Xiao Ruoyin felt a mixture of emotions but maintained her composure.

There's no need. It's getting late. Rest early, Gu Changge replied nonchalantly.

However, Xiao Ruoyin couldn't help but feel puzzled. After speaking, Gu Changge's figure dissipated, merging into the void without a trace, leaving Xiao Ruoyin standing there.

Yes

Xiao Ruoyin remained in a daze for a moment before lowering her gaze. She softly murmured, Your Majesty, please rest well.

Not to mention staying overnight.

Appointing her as a concubine was merely for the sake of the existence of the Temple of Destiny. This made Xiao Ruoyin feel a sense of melancholy and disappointment.

After all, she was Gu Changge's woman, an undeniable fact. In her past life as the High Priestess of Destiny, she had never left the Temple since birth.

In this life, she had devoted herself to Gu Changge even before awakening her memories. Seeing the now increasingly desolate Temple of Destiny, Xiao Ruoyin sighed imperceptibly. The joy of regaining the Fateful Immortal Boat was now completely gone.

Gu Changge's visit tonight was merely to inquire about the path of destiny and return the Fateful Immortal Boat.

Besides that, there was no other purpose. Did this mean her chances of meeting Gu Changge in the future were limited? Or even almost nonexistent?

After leaving the Temple of Destiny, Gu Changge continued manifesting a divine body to oversee the evolution of Dao laws within the divine kingdom. Meanwhile, his central self went beyond the void to continue refining the drop of true blood and various sources.

Through the events with Xiao Ruoyin, he confirmed the path ahead and gained an understanding of what fate truly meant. Once many things were comprehended, breakthroughs became a matter of course.

The Ceremony of Conferring Immortals began several days later outside the imperial palace. Following Gu Changge's instructions, many ministers brought essential items from their clans, such as clan scriptures and profound weapons, to wait at the designated location.

Behind these ministers were immortal legacies, ancient families of immortal life, and ancient tribes from distant universes. In the previous upper realms, some existences could cause earthquakes with a stomp.

Majestic and endless, it was enough to astonish any ordinary cultivator and defy belief.

However, today, these people all respectfully waited outside the imperial palace. Several massive heavenly monuments were placed on the square outside, radiating a faint glow.

Upon closer inspection, the heavenly monuments were crafted from exceptional materials, and even Dao-building experts couldn't damage them.

On these heavenly monuments, space fluctuations shimmered, and then Dao runes connected, evolving a terrifying black hole in the void, emitting mysterious changes.

Many cultivators, just with a glance, felt palpitations and sensed that this sacrificial altar was not as simple as the entrance to the Ascension Hall.

Behind it was an unspeakable supreme power, having refined an entire world as the national treasury.

This is the Immortal Conferring Altar, refined by His Majesty using supreme divine techniques. In the early days of the Immortal Sealing Lists creation, those who first entered the list could gain immense benefits.

According to the requirements of the Immortal Conferring Altar, as long as you contribute treasures to the altar, you can obtain corresponding Immortality Points. Sufficient Immortality Points can be exchanged for the ImmortalityToken.

The Immortality Points needed to exchange for the Immortality Token wont be very high at the beginning, but later on, they will gradually increase. Additionally, the Immortal Altar wont always be open; it requires specific timing.

However, holding the Immortality Token allows you to accept the Immortal Lists canonization and instantly become an immortal

On the vast and boundless square, mist drifted like a vast universe. Many ministers spoke in hushed tones, gazing at the immortal Altar in the front, their eyes filled with anticipation, shock, and complex emotions.

Chapter 813: Controlling the opportunity to become an Immortal

Beyond the imperial palace was a vast square shrouded in mist, seemingly endless. Countless figures surrounded the area, maintaining silence.

Many ministers stood respectfully, awaiting the appearance of the divine Lord to conduct the Conferring Immortals Ceremony.

As the name suggested, this ceremony was held explicitly for ascension to immortality. Practitioners from various corners of heavens and earth flocked here, eager to witness this grand event.

Many were curious to know if the so-called Immortal Sealing List was as miraculous as described by Gu Changge. Could it instantly elevate cultivators to immortality, even those beyond the Supreme realm?

Ministers occupied the closest positions at the forefront of the imperial palace. Behind them were the most ancient and powerhouses, with several background figures overseeing immortal legacies and powerful artifacts behind them. Even in the present upper realms, they remained true overlords.

Among the leading forces were the Supreme God Clan, the Hidden An Clan, and the Divine Sect sect of Absolute Beginning.

The current head of the Supreme God Clan, titled Tai Xu Marquis, was highly esteemed, and their influence was vast and formidable. Besides, the Golden Sun Goddess, a well-known figure of the Supreme God Clan, had a very close relationship with a divine concubine.

This elevated the Supreme God Clans status in the divine realm, and even other Dao Supreme legacies and immortal forces treated them with respect.

The Divine Sect of Absolute Beginning, known as the Demon Sect of Absolute Beginning among the common people, is the force most trusted by the divine Lord. It was considered the national religion because the sects leader was the divine lord Gu Changges grandfather.

The Gu Clan, representing the eternal family, was dignified in the divine kingdom.

The Lord of the Hall of immortals appeared at the front of the imperial palace. He was a tall figure wearing a bronze mask and a long blue robe.

His face was hidden, and his deep, cold eyes showed no worldly emotions. His terrifying cultivation made ordinary figures tremble with fear.

This person was Yan Luo, the former Lord of the Fourth Hall in Hell, also named Ah San by Gu Changge. His cultivation had reached the level of an Immortal long ago, and aside from Gu Changge, few in the upper realms could easily defeat him.

Behind the immortals Halls Lord were numerous faceless eunuchs representing various races. They had unfathomable cultivation levels and stood respectfully outside the imperial palace.

Apart from the Hall of Immortals, the Hall of Shura, Heavenly Secrets Hall, and the Sword, Spear, and Blade Hall all affiliated with the imperial family also made appearances, with their leaders or managers standing respectfully outside the imperial palace.

This Ceremony of conferring immortals was immensely grand and significant for heavens and earth. Even several concubines, Emperor and Empress would be present.

On the vast square, all the ministers were struck with awe as they witnessed the tip of the iceberg of the divine kingdoms profound heritage.

Long live the lord!!!

With the grand tolling of the bell resonating across the universe, countless cultivators and beings heard the majestic world sound.

In corners of heavens and earth, sounds of worship reverberated.

A figure enveloped in radiant, immortal light emerged outside the imperial palace. Every strand of his hair radiated a five-coloured immortal glow. His youthful appearance, serene and profound eyes, seemed capable of penetrating all the secrets throughout the endless ages, revealing insights into past, present, and future.

His Dao divine presence materialized at the pinnacle of the divine kingdom, towering as if it reached the sky, rendering even the stars around him minuscule-like specks of dust.

Even beyond the divine kingdom, the beings in the vast cosmos felt an indescribable connection, reverently kneeling towards the direction of the divine kingdom.

Behind Gu Changge, Empress Yue Mingkong, Concubine Yin Mei, and Empress Jiang Chuchu appeared outside the imperial palace.

We pay our respects to the Divine Ruler.

May the divine kingdom be immortal and everlasting.

Resounding with immense reverence, these voices echoed through the square. All the ministers and beings prostrated before him, their expressions respectful and in awe.

This scene was enough to shake the heavens, and across the vast cosmos, beings sensed this awe-inspiring presence, falling to their knees in respect.

Behind Gu Changge, the Emperor, Concubines, and Empress also bowed in reverence.

All rise.

We shall bow to the Divine Lord.

The magnificent and respectful voices echoed through the square.

This was a sight that could shake the heavens and the earth as countless beings boundless faith and belief converged in the divine Kingdom, like a radiant sun. Streams of silver faith power gathered over the divine kingdom, entering the resplendent sun.

A rain of crystalline light descended, and golden lotuses blossomed. The air resonated with the melody of the Dao-building expert, causing the spirits of all cultivators to feel transparent, their divine senses purged, and their expressions devout.

At this moment, the destiny of the divine Kingdom surged, and even at the end of the firmament, the sun and moon radiated together, overshadowing the stars. The reflection extended into the river of time, with torrents of water rolling into great waves.

From one end of the river of time, reflecting to the other end, powerhouses from the past and future were resonating, filled with astonishment.

Please rise, everyone.

Gu Changge nodded gently, his gaze calm and tranquil. He gestured for everyone on the square to stand and then turned his eye towards the Ascension Ceremony altar.

In his view, this Ascension Ceremony was an excellent opportunity to showcase the path to immortality to the entire upper realm. Hence, it had to be magnificent.

Gu Changge gently waved his hand as the ministers stood up, and an immense light burst forth in the heavens and earth. A golden list appeared, radiating a brilliant and ancient inscription of Sealing Immortality List. Its splendor illuminated the heavens, incredibly dazzling.

Saturated with an intense force of belief, the list exuded an aura of transcending into immortality, even its corners filled with the essence of soaring to the heavens.

At this moment, even background figures felt a yearning, sensing that this Sealing Immortality List undoubtedly held the opportunity to attain immortality.

With the control of the Epoch Tree and the Dao Fruit in Gu Changges hands, he could effortlessly manipulate the path to immortality by refining these two entities.

Even when the world reached the perfection of the Immortal Ancient Era, ordinary individuals might not qualify to tread the path to immortality. After all, achieving immortality was a monumental event, and could Gu Changge be oblivious to the imminent threat of witnessing a true immortal rise?

The birth of the Sealing Immortality List had predetermined everything. After Gu Changge unified the heavens, this would be the sole opportunity for ascension to immortality.

Granted the divine mandate by the divine kingdom, one could enjoy the divine kingdoms worship and faith but also be restrained by both the divine government and Gu Changge, with their lives firmly in his grasp.

At this moment, all the ministers and citizens of the divine kingdom gazed at the topmost golden list, vast and towering above the clouds, seemingly spanning half the universe.

The grand ceremony begins.

As an eunuch proclaimed with the strength of a Dao-building expert, the ministers positioned at the forefront of the imperial palace shook involuntarily. Without hesitation, they stepped forward.

Respectfully looking at Gu Changge, they earnestly declared, We were willing to follow the divine lord of generations, submit to the divine kingdom. This pledge was witnessed by heaven and earth, audible to all living beings

With the utterance of their words, an indescribable connection seemed to resonate in the unseen realms. A golden light began to shower on the heavenly tablets in the imperial palace square, reflecting radiantly upon them.

The Ancient Immortal Ji family presents a pair of immortal artifacts, the Nine Heavens Sea Armor and the Cloud Realm Quadrant Flag, seeking a Sealing Immortality Decree

A robust middle-aged man, the patriarch of the Immortal Ji family, stepped forward. He presented the artifacts with reverence, and a dense radiance of immortal dao-building experts enveloped the items. The brilliance transformed into two light streams, directly entering the Sealing Immortality altar.

Boom!

The immortal tablets trembled, emitting a resounding force that shook the heavens and earth. Profound radiance and rules flowed on them, seemingly evaluating the worth of these two items, determining whether they were worthy of a Sealing Immortality List.

All the ministers watched in awe as the scene unfolded. The Nine Heavens Sea Armor was one of the foundations of the immortal Ji family. Once worn, even immortal figures would find it challenging to break through.

The Cloud Realm Quadrant Flag, renowned in the upper realms, was said to have been nurtured by the qi of the four directions in ancient times. With four flags combined, it could weave a grand array capable of defeating even immortals.

For the sake of obtaining a Sealing Immortality List, the immortal Ji family had indeed spared no effort. Many patriarchs of other immortal families subtly changed their expressions.

Chapter 814: The Heavens are boiling, and the power of Destiny

The Nine Heavens Armor and the Cloud Realm Quadrant Flag, both unimaginable treasures capable of suppressing a lineage for countless years, now transformed into two divine lights and merged into the Conferring Immortals altar.

Instantly, waves of radiance shimmered, and the resonance of the Grand Dao echoed across the heavens and world. A golden lotus spun and blossomed into a dazzling light, leaving all ministers and citizens in awe.

The Conferring Immortals altar resembled an invisible abyss, dark and unfathomable, seemingly connected to a vast world. The faint aura emanating from it caused everyone's bodies to tremble, making them hesitant to approach, fearing being engulfed.

Even Gu Changge and those behind him, including Yu Mingkong, watched silently, anticipating the appearance of a halo on the immortal monuments.

Exchanging two immortal artifacts for one Sealing Immortality Decree is deemed appropriate in the present circumstances.

Yin Mei, dressed elegantly and standing behind Gu Changge with Jiang Chuchu, slightly trailing behind Yu Mingkong.

As she observed the radiance emerging, she mused in a soft voice. Yin Mei was entirely responsible for constructing the immortal monuments, so she was well aware of the current exchange standards.

Will it be difficult to exchange for a Sealing Immortality Decree in the future? Jiang Chuchu blinked her eyes, unable to help but ask Gu Changge.

Gu Changge nodded, saying, Acquiring a Sealing Immortality Decree is not an easy task. Now is the time for these forces to demonstrate their determination.

They will hesitate and be concerned about me controlling their fate, making it impossible for them to turn the tables forever. But this was also the only benefit and opportunity I offered them. The forces observing from the sidelines may be cautious, waiting to see how the situation unfolds before making a decision.

However, precisely because of this caution, they may miss this prime opportunity.

In the future, if they wanted to enter the Immortal Sealing List, the price they had to pay would be more than simple, Gu Changge explained, smiling meaningfully.

Understanding his explanation, Jiang Chuchu realized it was like staking a claim. Initially, it was a slight gamble for a more significant gain. The cost would be even greater for those who wanted to share the benefits later.

This was, in essence, the simplicity of human nature.

As Gu Changge's words fell, a radiant fairy light suddenly surged from the square, and even the shadows of ancient palaces and towers condensed and appeared. It was a vast and awe-inspiring scene.

Everyone witnessed an ancient immortal fairy palace emerging, grandiose temples forming expansively, lofty fairy mountains, and thick fairy mist enveloping the surroundings.

Each immortal monument trembled, emitting a radiant light that was so dazzling it illuminated the entire universe.

Could this be a real immortal realm, or just a mirage

Even background figures couldn't help but feel a yearning as they gazed at the glowing world, where the rich essence of immortal life permeated the air.

The patriarch of the Ancient Ji family, who knelt at the forefront, experienced unprecedented excitement and exhilaration. He felt the dense aura of immortality enveloping him, penetrating every inch of his body, absorbing through every pore, creating an intense longing.

These factors of immortality permeated from his skin to his internal organs, blood vessels, and bones, finally converging in his spiritual sea.

Everyone saw the patriarch of the Ancient Ji family emitting a radiant glow, with immortal light spouting from his abdominal spiritual sea. A vague and hazy image of an immortal figure appeared, seated and overlooking the heavens and earth.

Still, in its formative stages, this terrifying presence sent shockwaves through the ministers and citizens on the square.

This is the power of immortality; I have gained recognition from the Immortal Sealing List

The patriarch of the Ancient Ji family couldn't conceal the joy and excitement on his face; he seemed on the verge of ascending into light.

Many elders of the Ancient Ji family behind him had varied expressions: excitement, envy, regret. The decision to exchange these two terrible immortal artifacts had been carefully considered by the Ancient Ji family. After all, parting with such treasures was a painful sacrifice.

Moreover, who knew what constraints and restrictions awaited them after entering the Immortal Sealing List? Would the recognition and deification by the divine kingdom result in genuine immortality?

After much deliberation, they decided to test the waters by electing the current family head, whose strength had just reached the Supreme Realm, still far from the quasi-emperor level.

Even as a younger member of the Ji family, the decision-making elders could sometimes replace him.

Indeed, this is the power of immortality

The background figure within the Ji family sighed with admiration and regret, profoundly sensing the palpitations of that intimidating aura.

Compared to the reactions of the Ji family, those from other sects and families were even more dramatic, staring fixedly at the unfolding scene.

Crack!

The sky split open, and the Immortal Sealing List radiated an immeasurable brilliance. Then, a vague radiant glow descended, and one of the tokens was enveloped in a colorful halo before finally landing on the patriarch of the Ji family.

Look

Thats the name of the patriarch of the Ji family.

Many ministers exclaimed as they witnessed the emergence of ancient and grand inscriptions on the Sealing Immortality List. The silver hooks and iron strokes carried a solemn and divine radiance.

It was the name of the patriarch of the Ji family, now being recorded and engraved on the Sealing Immortality List after sacrificing two immortal artifacts, receiving the acknowledgment of immortality.

This scene reflected across the heavens, captivating the cultivators and beings from many universes who, from afar, observed this awe-inspiring spectacle. The brilliance of the Sealing Immortality overwhelmed the square, making it difficult for many to keep their eyes open.

Is this a success?

Have we witnessed the birth of an immortal?

On the square, the mist of immortality drifted, and shadows of people stretched as far as the eye could see.

All the ministers were shocked and astounded. They watched the patriarch of the Ji family kneeling in front of the imperial palace, his face filled with ecstatic joy, continually bowing to Gu Changge.

I have become an immortal. This is the power of immortality

Thanks to Your Majestys grace, the Ji family is willing to serve the divine kingdom forever

The patriarch of the Ji family was so excited that his words were incoherent. Initially chosen as a pawn to test the waters after the familys deliberations, he had unexpectedly gained unimaginable power from the Sealing Immortality List.

In the blink of an eye, he had the qualifications to overlook the Ji family, causing even the elders to bow their heads.

His spiritual sea was clear at this moment, with a faint glow of immortality. Chains of order lingered and coiled around his limbs, displaying unparalleled strength.

Even the Dao-building experts he had once revered, with profound backgrounds, felt a palpitation of fear under his gaze, like facing a terrifying beast and dared not make eye contact.

Yet, under Gu Changge's gaze, he still harbored a deep-seated fear, as if a mere thought from Gu Changge could obliterate him countless times over.

If I possess the power of the immortal path, His Majesty's current strength

I'm afraid he would have surpassed the immortal path long ago. This is truly unbelievable.

The patriarch of the Ji family was filled with excitement and exhilaration.

This is the power of immortality; I now stand at the pinnacle of this world.

Undoubtedly, this power was beautiful and tempting. Even though one might know that ahead lies a fire, they still rush towards it like moths, disregarding life and death.

At this moment, the numerous elders of the Ji family had complex emotions, both excited and bitter. The younger generation, who once casually wielded fate, had now become a figure to be revered, making even their bow in awe.

This was indeed the true position of an immortal. Even though being enshrined by the divine country differs from being a genuine immortal in the immortal path, everyone appears insignificant, like ants before them.

Watching the patriarch of the Ji family continuously bowing and worshiping Gu Changge, the ministers and citizens behind him found it challenging to restrain their emotions; they were on the verge of madness.

Even the leaders of many immortal sects lacked immortal-level heritage and were thrilled. Today, it seemed like everything could change.

A hundred and eight sea tribes from the Immeasurable Mountain offer an Immortal Alchemy Clothes and a piece of Sacred Bright Nine Heavens Mystic Jade, hoping to seek the Immortal Order

The Temple of Refuge offers thirty-six Dao swords, one nine-leaf immortal flower, and one bottle of Immortal Moon Spirit, in order to ask for the seal of immortality

The Golden Divine Clan offers the remnants of the Hongmeng Dominating Heaven Tower, a Purple Crimson Immortal Scripture, and the Haotian Immeasurable Golden Body

The square erupted excitedly, and the heavens and various realms were shocked. Leaders of all tribes stood up, and no minister could remain seated. Even the unparalleled immortals from the peerless, immortal dynasty were eager, let alone the others.

The Sealing Immortality List radiated across the heavens and earth, bestowing beams of immortal light. In the divine markings, one after another were imprinted and recorded.

Gu Changge stood calmly at the entrance of the imperial palace, observing these scenes with ancient and tranquil eyes, unaffected.

The Immortal Sealing List emerged. In his view, it was just the prelude to the divine kingdoms dominion over the heavens and the commencement of the next phase of their plan.

In the boundless emptiness, his actual body sat in meditation. A blurry river of time appeared, with various thoughts rising within it.

What is the meaning of sealing immortality? Nothing more than a group of pseudo-immortals, unrecognized by heaven and earth, confined by a kingdoms enshrinement, like floating without roots, relying on others for their existence.

Throughout eternity, such actions have never occurred. Its equivalent to placing the future of this world in someone else's hands.

Sooner or later, I will overthrow this dark kingdom

Gu Changge's profound and indifferent eyes flickered. He caught the origin of this thought, which unexpectedly came from a future segment of the timeline.

His expression changed slightly. As the Immortal Sealing List appeared, radiating across countless realms, even the river of time was illuminated.

However, he hadn't anticipated that it would change the future, leading to the birth of anomalies in the celestial order.

Is this the power of destiny?

Gu Changge whispered, and across the boundless emptiness, he directed a palm toward that segment of the future timeline.

The heavens collapsed, the earth sank, and the universe fell silent. With a resounding boom, the River of Destiny blurred, and following that bold declaration, the youth, full of enthusiasm, stared in horror as a palm descended from the sky.

The rules of heaven and earth retreated, and all things resonated in unison.

He hadn't even had the chance to fulfill his ambitious words before exploding silently, disappearing without a trace. It was as if he had encountered divine retribution. Subsequently, the world returned to its silent state.

This didn't involve the power of the river of time but rather the influence of destiny and causality in the boundless emptiness. Gu Changge sensed that a change would occur in that future timeline.

His current strength made traversing the river of time not tricky, but enduring the enormous backlash took work.

The path of destiny was more profound compared to the flow of time. Additionally, transcending the established trajectory wouldn't impact the world's operation due to the anomaly, and there would be no backlash.

Chapter 815: Trying to ban the authority of heaven, the only real world

The grand ceremony of attaining immortality concluded with officially recognizing eight celestial beings in the immortal realm.

Despite the later Dao families offering numerous treasures, they couldn't stir the Immortal Sealing List.

The entities enshrined on the list were elated, blessed by the sacred incense of the Divine Kingdom, granting them the power to tread the immortal path an extraordinary opportunity for a seamless transition from mortals to immortals.

Their immortal figures, akin to blurred deities, reflected on the Immortal Sealing List, surrounded by an immortal glow, exuding a sacred and towering presence that easily surpassed all races.

Yet, they all humbly kneel before Gu Changge, Yue Mingkong, and others, fully aware of who bestowed their newfound status.

Entrusting a thread of their original true soul to the Immortal Sealing List elevated Gu Changge to a level comparable to the ancient lord of heaven and earth, governing over the immortals.

Despite possessing the power of immortality, Gu Changge regarded them no differently than ants. As the event concluded, many forces that missed this opportunity felt deep heartache and regret, realizing that reclaiming a spot on the Immortal List after the grand ceremony would come at a steep price.

Even for the immortal sects, disaster loomed, and acquiring an immortality seal was far from guaranteed. During the later stages of the ceremony, several immortal artifacts were offered to the altar, but they garnered no response.

The monument remained silent, and the Immortal List did not radiate with immortal brilliance.

This prompted the forces that demonstrated loyalty early on to secretly rejoice, grateful they were the first to make sacrifices.

Gu Changge, however, provided them with another chance, announcing that the Immortal List would manifest again every hundred years for subsequent imperial conferrings.

Over the next century, all races and sects could prepare for the next Immortal Conferment Ceremony. Reaching this point was a monumental achievement compared to the arduous path of cultivating immortality and enduring countless tribulations.

Being listed, officially conferred, and wielding the power of immortality with the promise of endless life proved an unimaginable temptation for all races, sects, and beings across the heavens. No one could resist its allure.

In the aftermath, numerous background figures appeared, seeking an audience with Gu Changge outside the imperial palace, eager to obtain an immortality seal at any cost.

Despite resorting to various arcane arts to extend their lifespans, their desire for immortality was insatiable.

In this era, with Gu Changge reigning over the Divine Kingdom, even those ancient malevolent immortals emerging from the river of time met their end with a wave of her hand.

Who dares to incite darkness and turmoil when faced with these ancient entities whose life forces had depleted?

However, in the face of the numerous background figures desires, Gu Changge paid no heed, stating that the next Immortal Conferment Ceremony would occur a hundred years later.

To receive the imperial conferment, they must, within this century, find suitable items capable of activating the Heavenly Monument, earning recognition from the Immortal List.

The heavens and earth were vast, with many unexplored areas harboring ancient treasures or immortal wonders buried within the chaos.

For these background figures to obtain the Immortality Seal, they had to find a way to venture into these places, risking their lives to seek rare artifacts. Ordinary cultivation techniques and divine abilities were no longer sufficient for the approval of the Heavenly Monument.

After the ceremony's conclusion, this event undoubtedly reverberated throughout the heavens and earth. Although the square had gathered influential leaders and figures from various races and forces, the vastness of the heavens meant that many groups needed to witness the grand ceremony firsthand.

However, news about the event spread far and wide, and some scenes were recorded on image stones and manuscripts for future generations to witness.

During this period, temples dedicated to Gu Changge spontaneously appeared across the heavens, with constant incense offerings and numerous cultivators paying homage daily.

The sounds of prayers and rituals echoed throughout the heavens, and the aftermath of the Kun Ji Catastrophe was fading as prosperity and tranquility returned. All races thrived and expanded, regaining their former glory.

After the Immortal Conferment Ceremony, ancient heavenly monuments emerged in every ancient holy city. These monuments, simple yet ancient, were crafted from unimaginable materials.

Starting from the Realm of physical body, the monuments listed the strongest prodigies of each realm throughout history. If a cultivator of the same realm could have their name inscribed on the monument, they would gain recognition from the Heavenly Monument and receive unparalleled rewards.

Even ordinary cultivators approaching the monuments felt an overwhelming and terrifying pressure capable of bending their legs and bursting their bodies.

Faced with the celestial monument, it was like confronting an ancient primordial god. Even cultivators in the Supreme Realm felt trepidation, observing from a distance without daring to approach.

The appearance of the heavenly monument immediately caused a terrifying sensation throughout the heavens and earth. This feat rivaled the Immortal Sealing List in shock and awe.

After all, these were the strongest prodigies listed throughout history, spanning an unknown duration. Even those who had achieved immortality in the past dared not speak of the true extent of this timeline, concealing the secrets of these ancient beings.

However, after assuming control of the Divine Kingdom, Gu Changge established the Immortal Sealing List, breaking the cultivation norms, and listed the strongest prodigies throughout history, intending to erect the heavenly Monument.

Many immortal forces and sects realized the enormity of Gu Changge's actions; he seemed genuinely inclined to abolish the authority of the divine order. If successful, the heavens would become his exclusive domain.

For the younger generation, this was an unimaginable opportunity. It clearly understood the vast gap between them and the countless prodigies listed throughout history.

Moreover, inscribed on the Heavenly Monument promised unparalleled opportunities, propelling their cultivation to new heights.

However, considering the current situation, the heavenly Monument had only just taken shape, far from fully revealing its profound nature, let alone listing all the prodigies throughout history.

Gu Changge's actions were akin to presenting a forewarning to the world, indicating that the heavenly Monument would soon emerge in the heavens and earth, bringing about significant changes similar to the Immortal List.

Apart from this, Gu Changge had plans regarding the void realm. He personally manifested a thread of his Dao Body, commanding a vast army to sweep away the remnants of shattered worlds scattered throughout the universe since the forbidden era.

Subsequently, he took the essence of these shattered worlds, intending to forge the void domain and guide the cycles of reincarnation and souls.

The void domain corresponded to the mythological realms of the underworld and the Nine Hells. If the void domain came into existence, it would undoubtedly impact the operation of the rules of the heavens and earth. Throughout the ages, the functioning of the universe had been self-contained, and the existence of the cycle of life and death was still a matter of debate.

However, Gu Changge's actions amounted to seizing the authority of the heavenly order, incorporating his thoughts into the trajectory of the universe operation.

Once the void domain completely eradicated the legendary Nine Hells, the cycle of life and death would essentially be under Gu Changge's control.

Even for those whose life forces had dried up and vitality exhausted, Gu Changge had a solution to return them to the cycle of reincarnation, granting them another chance at life or even immortal life.

However, such an undertaking might come at an unimaginable cost. Therefore, the birth of the void domain was exceedingly challenging, perhaps even more than recreating an immortal realm and reshaping chaos, as perceived by Gu Changge.

Merely combining and sacrificing the essence of the world encountered unprecedented challenges.

If the void domain is established, the cycle of reincarnation, the nine depths of the underworld, must also be incorporated

This is a colossal project, impossible to complete in a short period.

Gu Changge's true self sat cross-legged at the edge of the boundless void, with radiant divine light shining before him. Fist-sized and colorful fragments of ancient world origins floated around him.

As he refined these origins, attempting to forge the void domain, the process yielded neither the anticipated merits nor signs of birth. Instead, several chaotic thunderbolts descended toward him from the depths of the unknown.

The cycle of reincarnation was originally within the operation of divine authority, and Gu Changge's current actions aimed to abolish this divine will altogether. The backlash he experienced was unsurprising, but an unsettling premonition arose.

This undertaking is too challenging. With my current strength, if I forcefully continue, my body might rupture

Gu Changge noticed a crack on his forehead, appearing at some point. Accompanying this was a corresponding crack in the Dao Body that reflected in the heavens and earth.

Incense wafted through the sky as many cultivators worshiped the God statue inside the divine temple. Suddenly, a faint crack appeared on the figure, startling everyone.

However, the damage vanished instantly, making many believe it was a momentary illusion.

In the depths of the void, Gu Changge retrieved the world origins being sacrificed. The crack on his forehead slowly healed, disappearing in an instant. Yet, he fell into contemplation.

The inexplicable backlash had occurred unnoticed, without any warning. If this continued, even his Dao Body might shatter.

Is it that the time is not yet ripe, or is this act defying the heavens, something my current cultivation cannot withstand?

Gu Changge pondered. Although his spiritual realm was formidable, far exceeding his current strength, his physical body had not undergone a true Immortal Tribulation, inviting unforeseen changes.

With these considerations, Gu Changge decided to set aside this matter temporarily. Having accumulated enough during this period, it was time to usher in the arrival of a true Immortal Domain and step into an immaculate immortal realm.

Just as Gu Changge prepared to usher in the Immortal Domain, bordering on the upper realms

Boom!

In the vast and boundless world-sea, an earth-shattering tidal wave suddenly emerged. With a thunderous crash, the ancient layers of the world before him collapsed and shattered into heavenly particles.

Vague ships sailed through the endless world sea, but the terrible storms in this region were terrifying, with even the chaotic true thunderbolts carrying destructive power.

The world appeared boundless, shrouded in mist, with glimpses of fragmented ancient worlds and vast universes drifting about.

Where the sky met the earth, a hazy mirror surface appeared. Beyond the mirror, the reflected worlds floated, overlapping as if coexisting.

The worlds within and outside the mirror gradually made contact, undergoing some inexplicable and eerie changes. In the places where they touched, there were collapses and integrations moments of disintegration and moments of new creation, mysterious and magical.

Although this seemed slow, it proceeded methodically, colliding and then dissolving.

The birth of the One True Realm is imminent, very imminent

On those vague ships, ancient god-like murmurs resounded, and the cold, indifferent gaze of primordial gods was observed.

Chapter 816: Xian'er's third life, Gu Change's true identity

As time passed, several months went by, and the situation in the upper realms became increasingly stable and peaceful.

Peach Village was now situated at the extreme north of the Divine Kingdom. Even the forsaken immortal land was finally moved to the Xianer palace known as Fairy Palace by Gu Changge using his supreme divine abilities.

The Fairy Palace was an expansive, pure land stretching endlessly into the vast wilderness. Clouds enshrouded the mountain peaks, and there were silver waterfalls and green lakes, creating a lush and verdant scenery.

Palaces and pavilions dotted the landscape, magnificent and grand. Adjacent to Peach Village were cascading green mountains. One side featured an immense lake from the vast universe rivers, surrounded by rustling bamboo forests and pavilions.

In the boundless lake, various rare dragon fish swam with shimmering tails, exuding astonishing divinity in their crystalline bodies. Some carried the bloodline of Kunpeng.

These creatures were scarce in the outer worlds but abundant here. Additionally, there were various primordial and ancient species and immortal bloodlines from the heavens and earth, either offered by different races or discovered in ancient ruins.

However, in the end, they all ended up in the possession of Gu Xianer, who had maintained her long standing habit of loving wealth.

The environment here was remarkably tranquil. On one side was a vast field of divine herbs obtained by Gu Xianer from Gu Changge over the years through her extortionate methods.

The sand alone was of astonishing value, containing nourishing divine soil, blood-immortal sand, and five-colored divine soil. Threads of chaotic energy permeated the air, filled with various hues of divine mist.

Various herbs, whether crystal-clear and emerald, radiant with sunlight, or fiery red, were planted in this field, releasing a rich fragrance. A whiff made one feel like they could ascend to become immortal.

In chess, theres no room for regrets.

Besides the herb field, by the clear lake, pavilions leaned against the palace. Gu Changge was engaged in a chess game with Gu Xianer.

He still wore his signature green attire, and his hair was left unbound, giving him a sluggish appearance.

In front of him, Gu Xianer supported her chin, her little face filled with a shy and embarrassed expression.

When did you learn to play chess? Why didnt I know about it?

Gu Xianer pouted, feeling a bit disgruntled. Recently, she unexpectedly obtained an ancient chess manual from Big Red, recording the changes of stars and constellations, using them as the pieces on the chessboard.

She became interested and had been evolving her cultivation based on this chess manual. Coincidentally, Gu Changge appeared to see her these days, and she boasted about crushing Gu Changge in chess, making him acknowledge her skills.

However, as expected, even though she comprehended the chess manual, she still couldnt match Gu Changge. She had regretted several moves already.

Among the myriad paths in the world, they may take different routes, but in the end, they all lead to the same destination. The path of chess is just one of these smaller paths. Your comprehension of the great Dao-building experts is far inferior to mine, even in the way of chess. You cant gain the slightest advantage.

Gu Changge smiled faintly as he rose from the mat. He naturally perceived the profoundness of the chess manual. However, with his current vision and strength, it no longer interested him, and he did not need to study it.

Hearing this, Gu Xianer understood. Over this period, Gu Changges strength had become increasingly unfathomable. He ruled the Divine Kingdom, his divine nation commanded the heavens, and the incense fire continued to burn with unending faith. He could easily erase the background figures countless times with just a thought.

Hmph, I know youre very powerful. Is that enough?

Gu Xianer huffed, then asked with a hint of curiosity, realizing that Gu Changge seemed to have something on his mind.

Gu Changge had no intention of hiding anything from her regarding this matter. After all, it was related to her.

I came here to find that big red bird by your side

Gu Changge began to explain. He had been attempting to guide the descent of the immortal domain and connect with the upper realm. However, he encountered trouble on the path leading to the Immortal Ancient Continent.

Hundreds of years ago, when he was still cultivating in the Dao Heaven Immortal Palace, he learned from Yue Mingkong about the birthplace of immortals, as it was the place where the path of immortality was initiated.

The ancient sages who had fallen on that path had their bodies disintegrate after countless years, turning into incredibly precious immortal spirits.

At that time, the immortal gate only appeared reflectively and did not indeed descend, so the commotion caused was not very terrifying.

Relying on the Grand Dao Vessel, Gu Changge resisted the pressure, infiltrated the immortal gate, and took away several jars of immortal spirits from the hands of various ancient beings. However, he had also suffered thunderbolt attacks, leaving his body charred and tattered. It took a long time to recover.

Therefore, Gu Changge speculated that the true path of immortality was in the Immortal Ancient Continent.

By deducing the paths of destiny, he discovered that the place was shrouded in mystery, with chaotic energies and a hint of primordial light, as if the beginning of the world was present.

What intrigued him even more was that he felt a familiar aura there. After further deduction and confirmation, Gu Changge found the typical atmosphere of the mysterious big red bird by Gu Xianer.

The aura wasn't ancient but rather from this era, indicating recent events. If Gu Changge's cultivation hadn't reached the stage of comprehending the boundless understanding of the world, he might not have sensed it.

Initially, Gu Changge thought that the mysterious big red bird by Gu Xianer's side had a vague but not overly astonishing origin.

I didn't expect that you'd come looking for Big Bird, Gu Xianer said with some surprise.

Gu Changge nodded.

You probably also know that the origin of the big red bird by your side is not simple.

Gu Xianer agreed with this. Many of her opportunities were found with the help of Big Bird. Moreover, the visions of the future she had seen at the Lake of Reincarnation also depended on Da Hong to find that place.

In fact, even without Gu Changge's words, Big Bird had sensed his intentions. It flew over from the distant endless lake, but it didn't carry its usual disdainful expression this time. Instead, it seemed to be tinged with a hint of vicissitude.

It seems that you've finally noticed after all it said, and although its voice was still childish, it carried a sense of sentimentality.

A long time ago, during its first encounter with Gu Changge, it felt that he was extremely dangerous, exuding an unsettling aura from head to toe.

Therefore, it had repeatedly advised Gu Xianer to stay away from Gu Changge.

However, the silly girl, Gu Xianer, kept sticking to him, paying no attention to its warnings. It secretly remained vigilant, wanting to protect Gu Xianer.

Fortunately, Gu Changge treated Gu Xianer reasonably well, only bullying her verbally.

So, over time, Big Bird also let its guard down.

Big Bird

Gu Xianer was also surprised to see Big Red in such a state.

Gu Changge raised an eyebrow slightly, feeling something unusual. He wondered if Big Red's origin might be related not only to the Immortal Path.

It had been staying by Gu Xianer's side all along, and there might be other reasons beyond her being the Daughter of Luck.

Could it be that there's something about this girl, Xianer, that I don't know?

Gu Changge thought, a hint of perplexity in his expression.

As if sensing what he was thinking, Big Red flapped its wings and flew towards the sky, saying, There were some things that should be related to you as well.

It intended to speak something other than Gu Xianer but wanted to convey its message to Gu Changge.

Seeing this, Gu Changge remained calm and followed along. The two traversed the heavenly expanse quickly, crossed the vast starry sky, and finally arrived on an expansive and flourishing continent.

The Ancient Immortal Continent

Seeing this place, Gu Changge's gaze held a hint of realization. He was curious about what Big Red wanted to say to him.

The two had arrived at the continent outside the forbidden era of Dao Immortal Palace, the Ancient Immortal Continent that Gu Changge had visited before.

Here, he killed Ye Ling, who had obtained the inheritance of the Reincarnated Heaven Lord and killed Long Teng, the son of Long Ao's heavenly flow of luck.

He had also left behind his influence, dominating the various clans of the Ancient Immortal Continent. It was also here that Yin Mei entirely devoted herself to him.

Does the demon lord know about the Third Incarnation?

Once they arrived here, Big Red's expression became even more desolate. It flapped its wings, landing in a ruin.

It had speculated about Gu Changge's origin a long time ago, but only now did it confirm it.

As for why it called him the Demon Lord and where that term came from, it didn't know. No one seemed to know, as if the title Demon Lord appeared out of thin air.

Gu Changge, knowing that this ruin was the area where the Immortal Path had appeared, didn't show much change in his expression when Big Red referred to him as the Demon Lord.

The Third Incarnation? Past life, present life, future?

Are you trying to tell me that Xianer possesses a Third Incarnation?

He asked calmly.

Before the Forbidden era, Gu Xianer had once transformed into a Dao-building expert, practicing wholeheartedly in the sect where Zi Yang Heavenly Kings lived, and pursued the way of immortality, but she never wanted to fall into the catastrophe before the collapse of the Immortal Era.

Gu Changge was aware of this.

Not the meaning of these three incarnations

Shaking its head, Big Red's expression became complicated. It then explained, In this life, Xianer has her Third Incarnation. If this life ends, she should continue to reincarnate until she retrieves the immortal spirit that never perished in the past

A Third Incarnation? Before this, did Xianer have another life?

Gu Changge was momentarily stunned at these words, then raised his eyebrows.

He had no knowledge of this; he might never have known if Big Red hadn't spoken.

Before the Forbidden Epoch, there were many glorious and prosperous eras. Immortals and gods flourished, Primordial Gods emerged endlessly, heavenly paths contended. However, it was also during that era that buried all the Immortals and gods. All traces were buried

Big Red explained the history of the Ancient Immortal Continent before the Forbidden Epoch.

In those eras, compared to the Forbidden Epoch, it was much more terrifying. In addition to Immortals, there were also Gods born from the creation of the heavens and earth, clans, and countless parallel True Realms beyond the vastness of existence. Each of these parallel True Realms is comparable to this vast multitude of heavens, imagine how immense and magnificent they are.

The so-called Ancient Immortal Era was actually a scene of partial recovery after the Immortal Burial Era, far from its former glory.

Big Red Bird said with a bitter smile, as if reminiscing, but more with regret and nostalgia.

The Immortal Burial Era was just one of them

Gu Changge whispered, and the clouds in his mind also dispersed at this moment, causing a headache. The memories were flooding back. The once empty and misty spiritual sea was now like a mirror, with many mists wiped away.

Big Red Bird looked at him with a complex expression and continued, Although that era was extremely brilliant and magnificent, beyond countless parallel True Realms, there were three Supreme True Ancestors overseeing everything, driving the turnover of epochs, and dominating everything.

They were the incarnations of the will of the Heavenly Dao-building experts, holding the heavenly authority, maintaining the operation of all the rules in the vast expanse of the heavens. They were the Heavenly Dao-building experts, and the Heavenly Dao-building experts were them.

But I don't know when they developed their own emotions, their own desires

Gu Changge remained silent, but his mind was in pain. In his previously empty spiritual sea, clouds dissipated, and too many memories emerged.

After a long time, as if some indescribable memories were surging out, everything in this world changed.

Xianer is the child of this true world

Then, Gu Changge murmured softly.

As for his previous alias as the Demon Lord, it was indeed an alias. After all, he was one of the three Supreme True Ancestors.

A self-mocking smile appeared at the corner of Gu Changges mouth.

Chapter 817: The Ancient Heavens, the Floating Sea is a Drama, the truth of the battle of the Heavens

Gigantic and ancient memories, at this moment, surged into Gu Changges mind as if a dam had burst, madly flooding his consciousness.

A tempest stirred within his previously calm and tranquil spiritual sea, and various mottled and terrifying auras erupted there.

Upon closer inspection, horrifying, colorful shackles appear and break off in Gu Changges spiritual sea. Each bind exuded a frightening and eerie aura.

With a faint glow of immortality, the Dao resonating, and various hues of radiant light gushing out uncontrollably, the situation seemed to spiral out of control.

What is happening?

The big bird stared in astonishment, unaware of the changes within Gu Changge.

It noticed that his demeanor appeared even more indifferent than before. In the depths of his gaze, there was an undisguised contempt for all living beings.

Not only mortals but even the vast expanse of the universe seemed like ants in his eyes.

The sky outside the Immortal Ancient Continent darkened entirely at this moment; stars disappeared, and dense dark clouds billowed. An oppressive and chilling terror pervaded the heavens and the earth.

It was as if the entire universe could hardly bear such an aura and was about to collapse completely.

The Dao thundered, the will of the heavens and earth trembled, and all cultivators and living beings, from the depths of their hearts, felt an emotion akin to insignificance as if they were ants.

The immortal dome outside the Immortal Ancient Continent became utterly dark at this moment; stars disappeared, and dense dark clouds billowed. An oppressive and chilling terror pervaded the heavens and the earth.

The universe seemed unable to bear such an aura, and it appeared on the verge of collapsing altogether.

It was as if an unknowable and unspeakable existence had revived in this world.

However, this kind of disturbance disappeared in an instant. Soon, the sky cleared up, and the dark clouds dissipated, with sunlight shining down and bringing life to the Immortal Ancient Continent.

The big bird almost doubted its eyes, but it couldn't have been mistaken.

At that moment, there had indeed been some unimaginable changes in Gu Changge. Although he now appeared natural and without abnormalities, the big bird was sure something had occurred.

If Xianer is in her third life now, were you there by her side during her first life?

Gu Changge's expression returned to its calm and undisturbed state. He looked at the big bird and asked.

He had been perplexed before. The memories of the Demon Lord were too diverse and vague, with some parts being extremely ancient and filled with vastness and chaos.

However, Gu Changge didn't delve into it at that time. With many memories resurfacing, he understood that all those memories were his own handiwork.

In fact, even the identity of the Demon Lord was more of a fabrication on his part. Gu Changge couldn't help but reveal a wry smile at the mention of his past alias.

In contrast, the identity of the Demon Lord was merely a role he played during that era and nothing more.

I am the weapon spirit of Xianer's Heaven-Slaying Sword

However, after the Forbidden Era, it became the portal spirit on the road between the Immortal Domain and the Upper Realm.

Later, after awakening the memory of the previous life, I left the body, came to the upper realm, and found Xianer in Peach Village.

With a touch of sorrow in its eyes, the large red bird shook its head and explained. It had no idea what had just transpired within Gu Changge.

For it, whether it was the Demon Lord or Gu Changge, both were shrouded in a layer of mist, making them elusive and unfathomable.

The origin of the Demon Lord was an immortal puzzle. Before the Forbidden Epoch, the world was resplendent with divine beings, and later, after the era of burying the immortals, there was a considerable blank period. The Forbidden Epoch emerged in later generations.

The Demon Lord appeared during the Forbidden era, a peerless powerhouse who even made the Immortal Palace, which ruled the heavens then, wary and dared not approach the Demonic Mountain where the Demon Lord resided.

As for his origin, the big bird speculated that it might be related to the era of burying the immortals, perhaps an ancient powerhouse who fell during that time and chose reincarnation or seclusion.

Heaven-Slaying Sword?

Gu Changge, upon hearing this name, couldn't help but be slightly stunned. It was challenging to connect the familiar image of Xianer he knew now with the figure wielding the Heaven-Slaying Sword, shouting and soaring to the Ninth Heaven.

The Battle of Slaying Heaven was indeed too distant.

However, reincarnation

This world had not yet been eroded in this world, and the cycle had not been reshaped. The six paths were firmly established, and the laws circulated, ensuring the immortal process of life.

However, it seemed futile.

This world in the Upper Realm was just one of many realms in the vast actual world. Beyond the true world was the real Realm.

After countless ages, the true world's current state remained unknown. Only the real world stood supreme, immortal and undying.

The three primordial ancestors mentioned by the big bird were the supreme rulers of the real world, wielding control over all the rules, sources, and substances in this world. Time, space, years, causality all were products of their thoughts.

To be precise, the three primordial ancestors were the true embodiment of the Primordial Source, the true manifestation of the birth and concept of the highest Heavenly Dao-building expert, the real indestructible concept.

While the Heavenly Dao-building expert had no form, it ruled over everything in the universe. However, this intangible existence could not evoke awe from living beings.

So, at some point, the Heavenly Dao-building experts developed desires and emotions, giving rise to the three supreme primordial ancestors.

For living beings, these three primordial ancestors were akin to the manifestation of the Dao-building experts itself, as they were born from its reasons.

However, as long as it possessed consciousness and emotions, everything harbored desires. Even the Dao-building expert itself was not exempt from this.

The three primordial ancestors worked together to create the true world, residing high above the supreme void, seemingly devoid of emotions or desires.

However, during each impending calamity, they would harvest the sources of all the true world, erasing everything in a grand purification to prevent the birth of threatening entities that could defy them.

Simultaneously, this purification aimed to transcend their power further and achieve complete separation from the Dao-building experts.

Thus, during each calamity or the end of the true world, everything would be obliterated, including cultivators, background figures, and the rules of the six paths would be ground into nothingness.

After the calamity, those true worlds that were eradicated would no longer experience reincarnation. The heavens and earth would crumble, and the powerful beings who had died in misery would not enter the cycle of reincarnation again, sharing a genuine annihilation.

Following the calamity, the world would wither away, and all the harvested true worlds would return to chaos, waiting for the evolution of a new creation, repeating this cycle countless times.

However, in this process, there would inevitably be unpredictable events and paradoxes. Even the three primordial ancestors were unable to foresee these anomalies through deduction.

Therefore, the survivors of the grand purification, the powerhouses who had managed to escape annihilation, began to plan the Battle against Heaven.

Since the beginning of countless quantitative catastrophes, the Battle against Heaven has occurred numerous times. However, in the eyes of the three primordial ancestors, this process simply made it easier for them to eliminate anomalies and posed no threat.

The Battle against Heaven also served as a way to alleviate the arrival of the calamity because the losses of powerhouses during that battle were too significant. It became a method for the true world to avoid the impending calamity.

All these countless realms and the vicissitudes of life are but a play

Gu Changge's lips curved with a self-deprecating smile. Before awakening his memories, he had always pursued strength as his goal.

The reason for becoming powerful was merely to survive and, incidentally, comprehend his origins and identity.

Now that the mist had cleared, memories resurfaced, and everything appeared like scenes in a play immortal and unreal, like reflections in water or images in a mirror.

However, upon closer inspection, there wasn't much impact after all. Even now, he remains an unpredictable paradox.

As for the purpose of the long-planned schemes and calculations and the reason for walking the world with the identity of the Demon Lord, it was, in fact, simpler

Because Gu Changge intended to completely devour and erase the other two primordial ancestors

The identity of the Demon Lord was just a facade, a mask worn during his participation in the Battle against Heaven. Similarly, his role as a transmigrator was a part of the carefully crafted plan to align with this unpredictable anomaly.

Gu Qingyi, she is actually the true spirit of this world, saved by the initial Demon Lord facade during the first Battle of slaying Heaven in this world. We coincidentally met at that time

The second Battle of Slaying Heaven, which took place before the Forbidden Era

Gu Changge's gaze gradually deepened.

Chapter 818: The truth of all things, nothing but the way of cultivating

Gu Changge's gaze was profound, with numerous memories emerging. Details about Gu Qingyi, the first War against Heaven, and even the forbidden era before the second War against Heaven, when he obliterated the heavens with a single palm.

All of this was part of his plan. Before the calamity descends upon this world, he incarnates as the Demon Lord, hiding among the other true domains as a predecessor of the War against Heaven, unknown to anyone.

He naturally participated in that War against Heaven, accompanying other powerhouses, attempting to breach the original world.

After all, to deceive the world and, eventually, the other two original progenitors, he must first deceive himself. Otherwise, the plan to absorb and eliminate the other two progenitors will fail sooner or later.

The three are the most significant terror in this world, capable of comprehending everything with a single thought.

They had long stood at the unreachable ceiling of the world, invincible with the concept of cause and effect, reaching a level of cultivation beyond ordinary cultivators comprehension.

Balancing each other, they also restrain each other. There's even an agreement among them: every billion years, during the calamity, one of the originating progenitors will initiate a grand cleansing.

As one of the origin progenitors, Gu Changge had planned and laid out countless strategies for this, including the anomaly of traversing memories. He deliberately created it, transcending destiny and shaping this mysterious origin.

For the true worlds, anomalies were not uncommon, and the identity of a traverser had appeared many times. Since the creation of the heavens and the earth, there had been too many anomalies, and traversers were just one type.

What was an anomaly? Born outside the deduction of the heavenly path of the Dao Building expert, the true origin remains a secret, making it difficult to deduce and comprehend through analysis.

Monsters often possessed an enormous and unpredictable fortune, capable of changing the course of the heavenly Dao path, reaching a world that ordinary cultivators cannot achieve.

How can this be described?

The three origin progenitors, the cultivators and beings born in the true worlds, only need to take one look to know their past, present, and future.

They know when they were born, when they will fall, and when they will be reincarnated or reach a particular stage.

There were no secrets they couldn't uncover.

They control the future, understand destiny, comprehend the heavenly Dao path, know everything and are aware of all. They can replay the true realms with a single thought or plunge everything into chaos.

But in all of this, anomalies were the exception.

Anomalies exist beyond the boundaries of cause and effect, their origin shrouded in mystery. Even for the origin progenitors, monsters are surprising, and the achievements and world anomalies can far surpass those of ordinary cultivators.

In the countless epochs that had passed, numerous anomalies had been born, some even reaching a power surpassing that of true spirits and surpassing the lords of the worlds, daring to challenge the origin progenitors.

Of course, the destiny of these anomalies always ends in tragedy, continually dissected for knowledge, deepening the origin progenitors understanding of anomalies.

So, Gu Changge chose to assume the identity of an anomaly as a traverser, incarnating as the Demon Lord and participating in the War against Heaven in this true world.

The other two origin progenitors had long been aware of these anomalies, showing no surprise or concern. They were even waiting for the moment when these anomalies grew to stand before them.

Even if one attains the power of the lord of the world and claims to be an emperor, before the origin progenitors, they remain like ants.

Even the origin progenitors have never revealed their true forms from beginning to end. Their presence in the origin realm is just the tip of the iceberg. The true selves exist in countless unimaginable spaces beyond

The so-called War against Heaven, in the eyes of the origin progenitors, is like children playing house.

Gu Changge deeply understands this, knowing the strength of the original progenitors was like something that shouldn't exist in this world.

Due to the difference in levels and dimensions, no matter how strong an ant becomes, it remains an ant. Humans can easily crush it into powder with a gentle press.

The gap between the origin progenitors and cultivators was much more terrifying than between ants and humans. Only anomalies had the true qualification to grow and stand before the origin progenitors, but that's about it.

So, to scheme against the other two origin progenitors, I took on the role of the Demon Lord in the form of an anomaly, traversing the true realms and orchestrating everything.

The real world of Mountain and Sea, where I currently reside, is just one of the true worlds among heavens.

Gu Qingyi, born as a true spirit in this realm, initiated the first War against Heaven as the calamity approached. Later, she incarnated as the will of the world, leading other War against Heaven participants in attacking the original world.

In that battle, facing the counterattack of the original world's clans, she suffered severe injuries. As the Demon Lord, I appeared in time, assuming the identity of a predecessor of the War against Heaven in other true worlds, and rescued her, leading the rest of the Mountain and Sea True World participants to retreat.

As for Xianer, she is one of the War against Heaven participants who fell in that battle. As a disciple of the Mountain and Sea True World, Gu Qingyi sent her to reincarnation. The epochs of the Mountain and Sea True World were thus delayed.

Many War against Heaven participants perished in the first War against Heaven, including Gu Qingyi, who suffered severe injuries. The vitality of this world withered, and spiritual energy became scarce, plunging into the end of the era, what the large Bird calls the Age of Immortal Burial.

After the Age of Immortal Burial, vast blank epochs appeared in this world. Traces of cultivators disappeared, and background figures struggled to gain wisdom. After countless years, there is a turnaround, and the spiritual energy of heaven and earth was restored.

Cultivator traces reappeared, immortal sects were established, and various orthodox sects thrived. The Mountain and Sea True World regained vitality, and some War against Heaven participants sent into reincarnation began to transmigrate and enter cultivation.

To avoid arousing suspicion from the other two origin progenitors, I personally took action, causing the premature arrival of the calamity in this world, attempting to erase the identity of the Demon Lord, this anomaly. At that time, the Mountain and Sea True World had not yet fully recovered, not even to one-tenth of its former glory.

Gu Qingyi is worried and discusses with my Demon Lord persona, attempting to find a solution. This led to the later Forbidden Era, where the Demon Lord obliterated this world with a single palm, breaking apart the heavens, and becoming a taboo.

Many thoughts surged in Gu Changge's mind. Many things became apparent as if the clouds and mist were dispelled, revealing everything.

Before the Forbidden Era, before the Second War against Heaven, the calamity arrived. If preparations were not made, this world would have been completely ruined, reincarnation shattered, and the once-fallen powerhouses would have completely disintegrated, disappearing from this world.

So, Gu Qingyi discussed setting up a staged drama with him to cause chaos, sinking this realm and all its heavens, and plunging everything into reincarnation. This delayed the arrival of the calamity in the Mountain and Sea True World once again.

As the Demon Lord, he naturally took the blame for this, becoming the background figure feared by later generations.

Of course, everything sounds simple now, but at the time, Gu Qingyi paid a great price to achieve all this.

She knew such actions might provoke the wrath of the rulers of the origin world, and the fury could extend to Gu Changge, resulting in a fate of annihilation without entering reincarnation.

To play his part fully, Gu Changge even contemplated summoning a furious heavenly calamity outside the infinite void, personally shattering the Demon Lord, this anomaly.

Of course, this was all part of the plan.

Gu Qingyi had anticipated early on that it would attract punishment from the origin world and planned with Gu Changge. He used forbidden techniques to send a strand of his true soul into reincarnation, avoiding complete annihilation and allowing for transmigration in future generations.

However, Gu Qingyi did not know that Gu Changge's true identity was always treated as the Demon Lord, waiting for the day he would awaken and recover his memories.

Many taboos in the middle of all this were due to the term anomaly. There was a fear that the rulers of the origin realm would wake up prematurely and sense that the anomaly, the Demon Lord, was not dead.

So, all this time, I have been cooperating with her in this play, also playing the role of the anomaly

The purpose is for this anomaly to grow to a level comparable to myself, so that together, we can eliminate the other two origin progenitors.

After all, I know myself best and understand the kind of power needed.

Gu Changge's expression returned to calm. At this moment, he woke up to many memories, which wasn't bad for him. At least, he was currently following the plan without any flaws or loopholes.

In simple terms, in the form of an anomaly, he was now on the path of leveling up a low-level character to grow to a high-level character.

After merging the two identities through various plans, he aims to eliminate the other two origin progenitors, taking what he believes to be the final step.

Afterwards, Gu Changge and the large Bird set out, stepping onto the Immortal Path outside the Ancient Immortal Continent. Radiant light blossomed, and astonishing immortal intent flowed.

The immortal light was brilliant and extremely rich, forming a vague and faint path, appearing in the high sky of this relic like a grand fissure.

At this moment, even the clans of the entire Ancient Immortal Continent felt the fluctuations, shocked, thinking that the Immortal Path was reappearing, witnessing a scene reminiscent of ancient times.

The Immortal Realm and the Upper Realms were once connected by an unobstructed Immortal Path. However, with the drastic changes in the earthly environment, unpredictable alterations occurred along the border, resulting in an interruption of the Immortal Path, making it difficult to truly connect.

The large Bird also bluntly stated that changes occurred in the Immortal Realm. After the Forbidden Era, numerous alterations led to the fragmentation of the Mountain and Sea True World in later generations.

A complete true world, besides parts like the Upper Realms and the Immortal Realm, also had the accompanying true world, which was the foreign land in the mouth of the aborigines of the mountain and sea real world.

However, the Immortal Realm was fragmented, and the rules of the Upper Realms were incomplete, unable to form a complete True world. There was a considerable distance from the true Mountain and Sea True world.

Boom!!!

Gu Changge and the Large Bird walked along the vague passage.

An ancient and terrifying aura instantly pressed down. However, it dissipated into nothingness when it landed on the two.

This Immortal Path has been ruined.

Gu Changge looked at the desolate scene before him, shaking his head gently.

Compared to when he first entered, it was hard to estimate how many times worse it had become. A dense blood-red glow pervaded at the end of this path, staining the sky crimson.

Chapter 819: The Heavenly Passage, just a group of losers

A vast expanse of crimson glow was visible at the end of this road, where an endless blood light pervaded as if the heavens and earth were weeping blood, incredibly astonishing.

The entire sky, along with it, fell into a strange and eerie blood color.

It was an unimaginable Dao path, akin to walking on the edge of a cliff. A blood-red mist lingered, accompanied by a chilly wind with a faint scent of blood.

Ancient traces surrounded them, the broken walls of the heavenly pavilions and some stardust debris that fell from unknown places, creating craters thousands of feet deep.

Some lakes had already dried up, contrasting with the scenery Gu Changge had witnessed on his previous visit.

In those dried-up lakes, some corpses could be seen, including gigantic ones resembling golden giants, collapsed like towering mountains.

There were also some crystal-clear jade-like skeletons, radiating brilliance, delicate and beautiful, presumably once peerless beauties.

Furthermore, there were skeletons of various races, such as the vast corpse group resembling true dragons and various phoenixes. In the deep craters on both sides, numerous structures were densely packed.

The last time Gu Changge came here, he saw a scene of lush grandeur, where the heavens and earth were radiant, filled with the aura of the Dao-building experts.

But now, only desolation and ruins remain. In the meantime, a terrible battle occurred here, as the blood glows were still fresh, not remnants from ancient times.

Even at the end of this road, it had collapsed. A horrifying giant rift appeared, completely severing the heavens and the earth. Some stars fell here, and chaotic energy filled the air, along with blood-colored mists blowing from an unknown direction.

Even for the creatures stepping into this place, it was challenging to find a way forward, to discover the true Immortal Domain.

Before the Immortal Burial Era, this road was actually opened by all living beings to attack the Original World. The mighty army advanced, buried countless bones here, countless epochs passed, some had already decayed, while others were still buried in the deepest parts, waiting for the day of decay.

The Large Bird flapped its wings, following behind Gu Changge, looking at these scenes with an incredibly complex expression.

In a trance, it saw that magnificent era when all the predecessors attacked the Original World, advancing without hesitation, burying the already cold blood here. Initially, cold blood gradually warmed up.

How did the battle to attack the Original World end? You should still remember.

They were all losers, nothing to reminisce about.

Gu Changges plain words were like a basin of cold water suddenly poured on the Large Birds head, cooling down its hot blood, filled with astonishment and bitter laughter.

Indeed, all of them were losers in the battle to attack the Original World. Even if they gave their all, in the end, they fell on this road without even qualifying to enter the Original World.

A group of unwilling losers who refused to accept death. Gu Changge wasnt had as much sentimentality as the Large Bird, nor could he feel as deeply about it.

Although in the eyes of the Large Bird, he was considered one of the leaders in the Battle of the Slaying Heaven, in Gu Changges eyes, these fallen warriors were no different from ordinary ants.

The so-called hot blood they talked about was something he couldnt comprehend. In his perspective, how many times had the Battle of the Slaying Heaven occurred in the countless and unimaginable epochs that stretched far into the past? Truly countless.

Before the arrival of the immortal tribulation, the vast actual realms in the world always had some survivors from previous immortal tribulations. Some powerhouses who foresaw the truth gathered spontaneously, attempting to change this age-old and unchanging destiny.

Again and again, like reincarnation, but not quite. In the eyes of the Origin True Ancestors, these were just some fish trying to jump out of the river. Yet, they withered and died on the shore once out of the river.

The Immortal Domain now cannot connect with the Upper Realm; it seems there has been a drastic change.

Is it because of the other true realms, or is it related to the foreign domains?

Gu Changge and the Crimson Bird continued forward. At the end of the road, they saw a magnificent stone door, but there was a severed abyss in the middle, deep and bottomless as if it had been directly cut off by some terrifying force, making it impassable.

The grand stone door stood at the end of this road, stained with blood, and bloodstains permeated from the door gap. There were traces of a great battle around it, exuding a terrifying and horrifying aura. It felt as if approaching it would cause the flesh to explode.

The owner of those bloodstains must have a terrifying strength.

This is the Road of heavens and earth

Without the cultivation of an Immortal King, one cannot cross over. It is also the largest barrier separating the Upper Realm and the Immortal Domain. Countless powerful beings who attempted to cross over but fell to their deaths are buried in this abyss.

The Crimson Bird spoke with a somewhat complex expression. It once served as the spirit of the stone door ahead and, after awakening in later generations, used an exceptional method to differentiate a portion of its soul, crossing the restrictions ahead to reach the Upper Realm.

Its actual body actually remained within the stone door ahead.

Gu Changge nodded, well aware of what the Large Bird mentioned.

The Road of heaven and earth was established by Gu Qingyi. A million miles of forbidden space godly domain was set up here, capable of preventing Immortal Kings from crossing horizontally. However, after countless epochs, it might have lost its effectiveness in many aspects.

The appearance of the Road was not primarily due to the Upper Realms rules being shattered, unable to accommodate powers surpassing the Immortal Realm.

Instead, the Upper Realm needed a relatively peaceful and stable environment for the prosperity and growth of future generations.

Within the vast worlds of the heavens, apart from facing the immortal tribulation of epochs, there was also a need to guard against invasions from other actual worlds.

The influence of the Original world extended across the heavens, giving rise to many terrible forces under the command of the three Origin True Ancestors.

Those ethnic groups were either occupying some real worlds, or launching gray, white, and black three-color sacrifices from the original world. Eliminating some restless factors in advance.

After all, the existence of epochal immortal tribulations was meant to cleanse the worlds of the heavens, restoring order to a level acceptable to the Origin of Primordial True Ancestors.

These so-called sacrifices aimed to destroy the universe and reshape order. However, in reality, they were sacrifices for world annihilation or, in other words, sacrifices of background figures to entreat the three Origin True Ancestors for supreme power or authority.

The Origin True Ancestors were omnipotent, capable of efficiently bestowing immortal life and higher realms upon those factions. Faced with epochal tribulations, not everyone dared to become a Heaven-Slayer.

Boom!

Following that, Gu Changge, accompanied by the Large Bird, stepped forward to cross this abyss, where terrifying momentum emanated from below.

Various restrictions were triggered, an unparalleled killing intent erupted, and it seemed like supreme sword energy directly pierced through the space, falling into the Upper Realm, cutting down countless stars and shocking numerous mortal cultivators.

However, Gu Changge's expression remained unchanged. He walked as if on flat ground, and there seemed to be a vague aura flowing around him. All radiance falling on him dissipated into nothingness, unable to halt his steps.

He quickly arrived at the front of the stone gate, where he paused. He could perceive the situation on the other side of the gate even though it was closed.

I can open this gate, the Crimson Bird said with a nostalgic look. Then, with conviction, it added, Because my true body resides here.

Chapter 820: Only one hand leads to the Immortal Domain, the shattered western immortal domain
The majestic stone gate, with its ancient texture stained in blood, exhibited signs of aging, and some places were in disrepair, giving it an antique appearance.

As Gu Changge, accompanied by the Large Bird, approached, the immortal gate responded to some kind of induction. The damaged parts began to shine and then transformed into a brilliant spectacle.

The Large Bird was excited, never expecting to return to this place one day. Its figure became faint and blurred, turning into a divine light attempting to rush into the immortal stone gate.

However, Gu Changge intervened, stopping it in its tracks.

This stone gate has lost its vitality. Your true body may have dissipated long ago.

He calmly remarked, his tone unruffled.

The Large Bird's figure halted before the stone gate, unable to believe what was happening. Its form shifted from faint and blurred to solid, landing in front of the gate. After a moment of seeming contemplation, it displayed a bitter smile.

It truly has dissipated. I can no longer sense its existence. When this gate was intact, it could withstand a mighty army. Now, its in ruins

Ultimately, the Large Bird was just a strand of soul differentiated from its true body, created to find the reincarnated form of Gu Xianer. The actual true body resided within this stone gate.

What happened? Are these bloodstains recent? The Large Bird took a long time to recover from its sorrow and had to come to terms with this reality.

Gu Changge nodded gently, indicating that the recent changes in the Immortal Realm had led to the appearance of these bloodstains.

Moreover, his recent attempt to bring about the Immortal Realms arrival had failed. The overwhelming killing intent emanating from the collision of the rules of the Upper Realm and the Immortal Realm served as a cleansing force, eradicating any malignancies.

This suggested the intervention of a powerhouses in the Immortal Realm, preventing these events from unfolding. Gu Changge speculated that they might be trying to protect the Upper Realm through such means.

Perhaps they are using this method to safeguard the Upper Realm

Gu Changge pondered, considering the so-called foreign land, when the original world was conceived and born, the aura of yin and yang separated, and the original world of yin and yang appeared.

Before the Forbidden Epoch, the Upper Realm and the Immortal Realm were parts of the Yang True Realm.

The opposing party was the Yin True Realm, which, in the eyes of the Yang True Realm, was considered an foreign land, where there were constant battles and conflicts.

Some forces from the Yin True Realm had long been accepted and incorporated by the ancient lineages of the foreign land. The Yin True Realm was often referred to as the foreign land by the inhabitants of the Yang True Realm.

Protecting the Upper Realm?

The majestic bird trembled at the words Endless Heavens Passage, suddenly realizing something with a mix of disbelief and bitterness.

The Mountain and Sea True World held a prominent position in the vast expanse of the immortal realms. However, through countless epochs, many True Worlds had vanished into the river of time.

Today, if the Mountain and Sea True World desired to regain its former glory, it had to defend against terrible foes from foreign land and contend with adversaries from other True Worlds.

In their quest for strength, some True World Spirit Lords spared no effort in commanding the lineages within their worlds, engaging in warfare across the heavens and swallowing the essence of other True Worlds origins.

Such occurrences had been frequent throughout the immeasurable ages, even more brutal than the arrival of epochal immortal tribulations.

Gently nodding, Gu Changge believed that the recent upheaval in the Immortal Domain was likely a result of a great war, with invading factions attempting to locate the root of the Mountain and Sea True World in their pursuit of the whereabouts of the Upper Realm.

Regardless of the circumstances, the essence of the Mountain and Sea True Worlds roots lay in the Upper Realm.

Moreover, according to Gu Qingyis plan, most of the Heaven-Reaching Eras former Warriors were still in the cycle of reincarnation. Many had been reborn in the Upper Realm, yet they had yet to awaken their past memories.

Following this train of thought, Gu Changges gaze landed on the grand stone door in front of him, seemingly able to support the entire sky with no visible limit overhead.

Endless Heavens Passage!

These four words instilled a shiver in the souls, evoking a palpable sense of awe. They were undeniably sacred yet carried a weight of tremendous majesty that stirred the essence of ones soul.

The Immortal Domain has undergone a transformation, and attempting to open this portal from here is virtually impossible. Gu Changge murmured.

I wonder if the demon lord has any other way?

The Big bird fluttered around, but eventually, its wings drooped in a desolate manner, feeling powerless to open the sealed portal. I was eager to learn about the current situation in the Immortal Domain.

However, opening this door required the strength of an Immortal Monarch, a level of power that seemed unattainable in the current Upper Realm, even with the changing immortal conditions.

Although Gu Changge's abilities were mysterious and inscrutable, breaking this established rule was beyond his capabilities.

Boom!

Just as the Big bird contemplated the task's impossibility, its eyes widened in astonishment. Gu Changge, with an indifferent expression, emitted a faint aura as he placed his palm in front of him and gently pushed.

This astonishing turn of events seemed like an ancient behemoth had opened its eyes.

Accompanied by a radiant shower of light, the stone door, once dormant, emanated a brilliance that transcended the ages. It exuded a sanctity reminiscent of the first light rays after the world's creation, leading towards immortality and eternity.

On the stone door, various imprints emerged, narrating the secrets of creation and the mysteries of chaos. Numerous background figures appeared, but their images were too indistinct to be clearly seen.

An immortal sound resonated, washing over the souls of those present as if guiding them through an evolutionary process.

As the door was pushed open, cracks appeared, and blood rain seeped through, dripping onto the surrounding stone walls with a mesmerizing spectacle. The Large bird was left speechless at this unfolding scene.

Could Gu Changge now possess power comparable to an Immortal King?

At this moment, Gu Changge's figure became hazy and elusive, resembling a radiant entity capable of commanding the entire universe. It was as if he could order all living beings to bow and worship, standing high above as he effortlessly pushed open the stone door.

The Immortal Domain and the Upper Realm became adjacent through his actions. Unfathomable radiance burst forth, illuminating the entire universe, with light emanating from the Immortal Ancient Continent and casting its glow upon the Upper Realm.

Many cultivators and beings across various universes sensed the fluctuations, profoundly shaken. They witnessed endless light and shadows emerging at the limits of the heavens and earth.

A vague Dao path traversed through, and a peculiar aura descended. The rules of the universe were evolving, and spiritual energy continuously surged.

The Dao-building experts resonated with an immortal melody, leaving countless cultivators and immortals from various sects astonished and motionless, unable to comprehend the scene before them.

Could it be that the Immortal Domain is descending?

They murmured, feeling the unprecedented changes in the rules of the Upper Realm.

Are these ancient characters from Immortal Antiquity?

In a foreign land with towering ancient trees and bustling tribes, young men and women explored a suddenly appearing relic.

A maiden, in the prime of her youth, stared in shock at the inscriptions on a stone monument.

The characters were unfamiliar and needed to match the contemporary script. Moreover, these stone monuments appeared incredibly ancient, with an age that defied estimation in millennia, let alone millions of years.

They were deciphering the ancient writings on the stone monuments, seeking to understand the once glorious and radiant era.

Our ancestors fought countless battles, never dying in vain. Their hearts remained unrepentant even in the face of tens of thousands of deaths, all for resisting the invasion of foreign lands!

The tribes elders often spoke of this fragmentary ancient history, and each time, the youth could sense the indomitable spirit and battle fervor coursing through their veins.

Boom!

Spiritual descendants of the Immortal Domain are here!

Suddenly, a sky-piercing murderous intent enveloped the area.

A group of foreign beings appeared, riding ferocious beasts, traversing the sky, intent on sweeping and ravaging this desolate land, searching for the descendants of the ancient Immortal Domain.

Nowadays, beings from the Immortal Domain and foreign lands coexist in various regions. Yet, there were also surviving Immortal Domain beings hidden throughout, with powerful individuals refraining from searching for them.

These Immortal Domain survivors were now the foreign beings hunting expedition targets.

This is bad

Many elders and men on this primitive continent paled at once.

Haha, I found them again. There are Immortal Domain descendants here. Dont bother competing with me for these prey.

The foreign beings laughed arrogantly, perched atop their ferocious beasts, like gods looking down upon ants, surveying the tribe of thousands below.

They were cold and ruthless, exhibiting a mocking playfulness, as if toying with their prey. However, at this moment, all the men of this tribe stepped forward, their faces devoid of fear or dread. Holding weapons, they shielded their elderly, young wives, and children behind them.

Behind these brave men, the elderly, young, and women stood resolute, displaying no panic or utterance of fear. The backbone of the Immortal Domain survivors would never bend!

Truly boring

The foreign beings found this scene uninteresting. The mockery in their eyes vanished, replaced by indifference. The absence of the fear and despair that usually accompanied death disappointed them.

This is no fun. Kill them all.

The leader among them ordered, and all the foreign beings began to bend their bows and string their arrows.

Boom!

However, at that very moment, deep within this fragmented continent, an immense burst of light erupted. Faintly visible, a portal pierced through the heavens, connecting to a vast and expansive world. Various shadows emerged, flooding out.

This spectacle shocked the foreign beings, their gazes filled with amazement. Some realized the significance and murmured excitedly, The Western Immortal Domain had long been destroyed, trampled by the mightiest of our clan. So what is this?

It is said that within the Western Immortal Domain, there hides a mysterious Dao path and an immortal gate. When the lord of the Western Immortal Domain fell, they used unparalleled divine powers to conceal it. However, all the powerhouses among various clans have been searching for it.

Could it be that it has appeared today?