

Virginitv 1501

Chapter 1501 Don't bite your fingers

"Ahhh?" Angelica thought she heard wrong, how could she ask how much she wanted?

"Wl brother buy it for me?"

"You don't want to?"

"But" Angelica bit her finger in a tangle and said pitifully, "Brother only promised to buy me chocolate ah, I like marshmallows, but I also like chocolate. "

The most important thing was that he did not know which one he wanted to choose.

If she bought marshmallows, her brother would not buy her chocolates.

Her torn look was seen by Manuel, the little girl thought about all that was written in her eyes, took a few packets of marshmallows and put them in the small basket, "Then let's buy both marshmallows and chocolate, and more....."

He pulled down Angelica's hand as he lectured her, "Don't bite your fingers, it's not hygienic."

"Oh." Angelica immediately withdrew her hand and stood up meekly, "I made a mistake brother, I won't do it next time."

Because Manuel had bought her marshmallows and chocolates, the little girl looked at him as if he were a god.

Manuel, looked at the chubby little girl, who was much shorter than him, suddenly suggested, "Do you want to play a game?"

Angelica immediately looked curious and interested, and the corners of Manuel's lips could only lift,

"Brother wl take you to play."

Angelica was so moved, how could this brother be so kind, buying her marshmallows and chocolates, and taking her to play.

As soon as the little girl was touched, she reached out and hugged Manuel's arm, all her being very dependent on him.

"Thank you, brother."

Angelica's voice was soft and sticky.

Manuel took her to play for a long time afterward. The driver waited a long time outside without seeing the two of them come out, and wondered with some anxiety if something had happened, and was about to go inside to look for them when Serena's phone call came.

"Ma'am, yes, the young master is outside, he said he wanted to buy some chocolates. Well, he went into the mall, but he hasn't come out yet and it's been a long time."

Serena had wanted the two to spend some time together, but who knew that the two had disappeared when she turned her head and left there, only to find that Manuel had gone out with Angelica.

She was a little anxious, since he usually went out alone, but how could he take the girl out as well.

When she heard the driver say that Manuel had taken the girl to the mall, she was still a little anxious:

"The mall is crowded and chaotic, and even though Manuel is smart, and still a child, the more Angelica"

If her little legs were to run into something, how could she escape?

So Serena was still worried, and the driver heard the anxiety in her tone, so he said, "Don't worry Madam, the young master is so smart, nothing will happen, I will go to the mall right now to look for them."

"Good."

After hanging up the phone, the driver was about to go inside to look for them.

After a few steps, he stopped because he saw Manuel coming out, only this time they were not side by side.

Angelica had somehow fallen asleep, lying on Manuel's back, her little meaty arms around Manuel's neck, sleeping deeply on his back.

Even though she carried a chubby baby on her back, the little boy's steps were steady and he did not falter at all.

The driver quickly approached and tried to say something, but Manuel gestured for him to be quiet, so he shushed and opened the door for him.

Angelica, who had fallen asleep, was settled in before the car left for Via Atlantic.

In the evening, the president of the Rossi Group came to pick up Angelica with his wife, and the couple walked in a little nervous, not knowing where to put their hands and feet.

Although the Rossi Group was a conglomerate and very profitable, it was no match for a company as large as the Ferrari Group.

At first the couple was shocked to hear that Cristian had come to Angelica with a proposal to match the two children; Savio Rossi's wife even thought it was a conspiracy.

But after learning about Cristian's character, the couple was relieved.

Only this evening Angelica was late, so the couple called and then came to pick her up in person.

Once inside Vla Atlantic, the couple could only marvel at how poverty can limit the imagination, because a place like Vla Atlantic, by the sea, is the only place in town where the Ferrari Group can do that.

The Rossi Group never thought they would one day be able to befriend the Ferrari Group, they just wanted to do some business and that's why they were so excited when Cristian visited today.

"This rich family is completely different." Savio pulled his wife behind him and whispered.

"Yes, the decor and furniture are all very expensive, will Angelica offend them? If we offend them, then, " said Savio's wife, a little frightened.

"No, no."

Savio waved his hand, "Our Angelica loves to eat, and gourmet, but usually very polite, you taught her well."

Savio's wife was relieved to hear this.

The couple then went in to fetch Angelica, who was greeted by Serena herself, dressed casually in a soft knit house dress of a light off-white color, with her waist-length hair pulled back in a particularly delicate way.

With a glance, Savio's wife could not take her eyes off her, not realizing that Cristian's wife was so beautiful.

Seeing him staring at her, Serena stroked her face strangely, "Excuse me, I was in a hurry to get out, do I have something on my face?"

Only then did Savio's wife realize it was awkward, and she quickly waved her hands, "No, it's just that Mrs. Ferrari is so beautiful that I got carried away."

Serena didn't think it was because of that, she hadn't received compliments in a long time, so she was in a good mood and curled her lips in pleasure.

"Fiona, you are too kind and you are beautiful."

Compared to Serena's generosity, Savio's wife always seemed formal, probably because this was the Ferrari family.

"How can I? I'm no match for Mrs. Ferrari. Angelica gave you a lot of trouble today, didn't she?"

Here Savio's wife smiled shyly again.

At this moment, a sweet voice suddenly came.

"Dad, Mom."

Angelica rubbed her sleepy eyes and approached with her short legs.

As soon as she saw his eyes and movements, Fiona immediately realized that Angelica had fallen asleep in someone else's house, and was even more embarrassed, "Angelica, child, how can you sleep in someone else's house?"

Chapter 1502 Saying sorry

"It's okay, children are so naive, they sleep when they are sleepy."

Angelica girl so adorable that made Serena think of Lea who would grow up in the future, and she couldn't let Fiona chastise her, so she spoke up.

Manuel followed Angelica, who had earlier stood at the back of the room.

Both Savio and Fiona looked shocked when they saw Manuel. It was no wonder that a duo like Cristian and Serena with their good genes produced beautiful children.

But Manuel was so similar to his father that he seemed to have been made from the same mold.

Fiona stared at Manuel for a long time until Angelica tugged at her sleeve and she looked away.

"Mrs. Ferrari, the boy looks so much like Cristian, so cute, tall and thin, unlike our Angelica, who is round, chubby and can't stop eating."

"It's okay." Serena laughed softly, "It's normal for children to be greedy, when a girl grows up and loves her beauty she will know what not to eat too much of."

"That's true."

"Well, it's been a long day, so we should be getting back. Mrs. Ferrari, thank you very much for today, Angelica has really caused you a lot of trouble, it's too late today, so we will take her home."

Serena winked and smiled slightly, "It's okay, she's just a baby, it's not a problem, plus she plays very well with my Manuel and I can prepare a room for her if she wants to stay."

The Red Group spouses were shocked and thought they were hallucinating because they did not expect Serena to be so gracious as to prepare a room for their daughter, wouldn't a family like this normally look down on them?

How could they still

"No no, it would be too embarrassing to stay, Angelica, come and thank your aunt and brother."

Angelica very politely said to Serena and Manuel, "Thank you beautiful aunt and thank you brother."

What a sweet mouth, Serena thought she was really delicious.

"Alright, come and play more often then."

The two parties exchanged pleasantries and then Mr. and Mrs. Gruppo Rossi led Angelica away .

Once in the car, Angelica lay on her mom's lap and recounted the day's experiences, and Mr. and Mrs.

Red Group listened as she recounted that her aunt had offered her ravioli, that Manuel had taken her to buy chocolates and marshmallows, that he had taken her to play, and that she had fallen asleep later and when Manuel had carried her on his shoulders.

The couple was shocked to the core.

"Honey, I heard earlier that this Cristian from the Ferrari Group is hard to handle? Everyone is afraid of him, how come this is a little different from the rumors?"

"Hm, Cristian is Cristian, didn't you see him today? What kind of man is he? The wife he married must be beautiful and generous, and that chd is really well behaved."

"Is it true what happened today? Why do I always think it's a bit fanciful?"

"Not to mention me, when Cristian came to see me today, I didn't even think it was real."

"Our Angelica, isn't she blessed? But look at her, she can only eat, what will she do when she grows up?"

"If she can't get married when she grows up, we can raise her for the rest of her life."

The couple had only one daughter and spoiled her to the core.

On the other hand, after Angelica and the others left, she asked Manuel.

"So, are you happy with the playmate your father found for you?"

At the words, Manuel froze, "Did Dad find him?"

"Yes, he heard that the Rossi Group has a very pretty daughter, so he thought he would introduce her to you, and did you have fun with her today?"

In fact, Serena had seen that Manuel had become quite fond of Angelica, so she wanted to talk about the situation, since the two father and son were always at loggerheads, and she hoped to loosen relations between them.

But to his surprise, Manuel's face immediately darkened after he said this.

Noticing that his face was not right, Serena stopped and approached Manuel and rubbed his head,

"You and your father don't fight all the time, he really wants the best for you."

Manuel half-closed his lips in displeasure for a moment before saying, "Mom, is Dad more important than me?"

At this point, Serena froze for a moment, not really thinking about how to explain this to Manuel.

Instead, Manuel pulled his hand from his mother's hand and turned to leave.

Serena tried to run after him, but could not catch up, and it was then that Serena realized that her son had indeed grown up.

Manuel was now tall, long-legged, and walked fast, and in a few years he would probably be as tall as her.

He had inherited Cristian's genes, so Serena's height was no match for his.

When she thought about how angry he seemed just now, Serena sighed helplessly and said she should find an opportunity to talk to Manuel tonight.

Before going to bed, Manuel sat on the windowsill, staring at the view but thinking about what had happened during the day.

He liked Angelica, after all, she was such a cute, chubby little girl, anyone would have been happy to see her, but it was Dad who had found her. What did Dad mean by that? That he was too close with Mom?

And Mommy actually approved and said nice things about Daddy in front of him.

Mom thought he was too intrusive, too annoying, but back in the day, when it was just mother and son,

Mom didn't even look like she did now.

Knock-knock...

"Manuel, are you asleep?"

It was Mother's voice, and Manuel paused for a moment, not speaking.

"Mom has something she wants to talk to you about, can I come in?"

Serena asked softly, standing outside the door, not opening it until she got Manuel's answer.

Manuel did not answer, and she stood there waiting in silence.

There was no telling how long it took before a muffled voice was heard.

"Come in."

Serena curled her lips and pushed open the door to enter.

"Still awake?" Serena gently closed the door behind her, had already showered and changed into her pajamas, and once inside sat on the bed, then beckoned to Manuel, "Come in."

Manuel was sitting on the window sill and when he saw her move, he asked unhappy, "Why?"

"Come on, Mom hasn't talked to you in a long time, so talk to Mom today, okay?"

Manuel squirmed, but when he saw that Serena softened her tone and urged him on, he quickly gave up and finally approached the bed, but did not get on.

Serena took him by the hand and pulled him up.

Manuel squirmed and sat on one side.

"Mother wants to apologize for what happened today."

At those words, Manuel looked up abruptly; was Mama really here to apologize?

Chapter 1503 must be spent together

"I'm sorry, it's always been us mother and son living alone before, so you've always had a deeper attachment to mom than dad, this incident today mom promises it won't happen again, in the future, if anything is associated with you, mom and dad will definitely consult you first, okay?"

Manuel did not expect Serena to tell him this, in fact he was just embarrassed he was not really angry, just a little jealous.

After all, he had been with Mom since he was a baby, and then Dad came along and took her away completely, so he didn't have much time for himself, and now he had to find someone to share his time with.

It gives Manuel the impression that Dad is trying to take him away from Mom.

And just at this moment, Serena was speaking up for her daddy, the big bad!

Thus Manuel's jealousy was instantly reversed.

Seeing that he said nothing, Serena took him in her arms.

"Didn't you like sleeping on Mommy's lap? Tonight Mommy will let you sleep with your legs under the plow, read you a story and watch you sleep."

Manuel liked to sleep on Serena's legs when he was two or three years old, and sometimes on her belly, but now that he was older, her legs were longer and he was taller, and he had gained a lot of weight, so if he still slept on Serena's legs, Serena would soon have sore legs, followed by numbness in her legs.

Thinking about this, Manuel shook his head, "No need mom."

"What's wrong? Are you thinking about mom and afraid to make her legs numb from sleep?" Serena pinched his nose, "You're so little that you really think you're an adult, don't you?"

"Mom, now I'm heavier than before."

Serena was helpless, "How much heavier can you be? You are stl a baby, mom can take it, lie down."

So Manuel ended up lying on Serena's lap as Serena stroked his head, and the room was quiet.

"Mom, I guess that's not all you wanted to talk to me about tonight, is it?"

I don't know how much time had passed, but Manuel suddenly asked.

At those words, Serena was stunned, then sighed deeply; she had known her son was smart, but she had not expected him to also be so sensitive in his mind.

"Well, Mom had something to tell you, about what you told Mom earlier."

The light in Manuel's eyes darkened and then he heard Serena say, "Even if they are a little cruel to you right now, mom thinks you are very into yourself, so even if you say something nice, it wl stl be hard for you inside, instead of that, mom should have a serious talk with you, don't you think?"

"Mom if you want to talk, then talk."

Manuel turned and had his back to Serena, " In any case, I have no objection."

This boy

Looking at Manuel in this way, Serena always felt like an old mother whose son is already quite grown up.

She reached out her hand and touched the back of his head, "Turn around and listen well to mom."

Manuel did not turn around; his voice was still muffled.

"So you can hear anyway."

Since he didn't seem willing to turn around, Serena didn't force him anymore, so she had to settle the matter this way.

"About the question you asked this afternoon, do you think Dad is more important than you."

Hearing this, the muscles in Manuel's entire body visibly stiffened, expecting an answer but fearing to hear the one he did not want to hear.

However, Serena spoke quickly and gave him no time to react.

"Mom can tell you exactly that now, yes."

Hearing this, the light in Manuel's eyes disappeared completely and sense settled over him without speaking.

"Mommy knows that you are not happy, but there are some truths that Mommy needs to clarify to you.

The reason your dad is more important than you is because he is the one who will live with mom for the rest of her life. The next ten years, twenty years, thirty years, even fifty or sixty years, until we are old until we die, we will live together. And you

At this point, Manuel suddenly rolled over and sat down from her lap, anxiously and incomparably explaining, "Mama, Manuel can be with Mama all the time, too, if Mama wants him."

"What are you talking about?" Serena hugged Manuel's cheek and stared at him seriously, "You're still young, but when you grow up, you'll be like Mom and Dad, you'll meet someone you like, you'll marry them and have children, and then you'll have to start a new family of your own, so do you think it's important for Dad or for you?"

Hearing this, Manuel seemed to understand something, but he was still a little depressed.

Since he was still young now, he didn't even think about what he was going to do in the future, he just wanted to be by his mom's side forever, but when he grew up?

"But for dad and mom, you and Lea are the most important because you were both born from mom, do you understand that?"

Manuel did not answer, but the upset on his face had clearly disappeared, so Serena's words had reached him.

"Mom knows that you have always been smart, so she is willing to talk to you about it."

Manuel suddenly reached out his hand and hugged Serena tightly, closing his eyes, his voice dull: "No matter what happens, I will always put Mom first."

"Yes?" Serena asked him amused, "More important than your wife in the future?"

Serena really wanted to see Manuel get slapped in the future, there was no telling how long he would be like this, maybe ten years or so? When he found someone he liked, would he still put her first if she, the parent, ever showed his disapproval?

In any case, Serena doesn't care much because she knows she won't interfere too much with her son's feelings, she just has to guide him to get the right perspective on certain things and let him grow up healthy.

As for what he does when he becomes an adult, whatever he does is fine as long as it is not against morals.

The path is always his own.

Eventually, Manuel sent Serena back to his room on the grounds that he was old enough to sleep alone and would no longer sleep on his mom's lap.

Serena was reluctant to leave at first, fearing that he was still angry.

Only when Manuel seriously called Serena and said in a serious way, "Mom I listened to everything you told me tonight, I think you are right, Dad is the one who will be with you for the rest of your life, so Dad is more important than me, but on the other hand Manuel and Lea are very important in Dad and Mom's heart. Manuel understands all that."

Suddenly, Serena felt that Manuel had grown up a lot.

Chapter 1504 - The plot

When she told Manuel, she said it in a very serious way.

But when she went back, Serena regretted it, wondering if she had said too much, since Manuel was still a child, even though he knew how to behave.

So when she came back, Serena was worried that Manuel was thinking too much about her.

The more she thought about it, the more her head got confused, when Cristian took a bath and lay on his side, snuggled up behind her and buried himself in the crook of her neck.

"Why aren't you sleeping?"

His voice was low and the warm breath he exhaled as he spoke fell on Serena's neck, warming and tickling her, and his hands were undisciplined as he spoke, lifting the hem of her dress.

Before she could move it a few times, Serena pushed it away.

"I'm not in the mood, don't touch."

Pushed away, Cristian was a little confused and tried to wrap his arms around her again, but he evidently sensed that Serena was not in the mood, so he quickly turned off the fire and lay down by her side in a disciplined manner, no longer joking but nervously asking her.

"What's wrong?"

Serena heard his voice and turned her head to look at him.

At the sight of his face, a fire inexplicably rose within Serena and she snapped toward him questioningly, "Manuel, is that your son?"

Cristian froze for a moment, then nodded, "Of course."

"Then why do you always go against him? He's just a chd, and he was alone with me when he was little, you were somewhere when we were alone, and now you've come along and you're trying to monopolize me, what is he supposed to think?"

Cristian did not expect her to lose her temper over this, and for a moment he thought of nothing good to say, so he could only look at her in sence.

"One sentence, I'm your woman, and that changes everything?"

"So what happened?" Cristian did not dare to answer her question and could only ask her to see what the problem is.

"Do you dare to ask?" Serena thought of Manuel's previous appearance and felt attacked for her, how cruel he must have been to say such things to a small chd then.

Even if those words were true, stl they were cruel for a small chd.

She really regretted it now, she was really not a good mother.

"You gave Manuel little love at first, you were not even involved when he was little. Then you appeared, and not only did you not give him fatherly love, you tried to take away even the motherly love he had."

Cristian had never thought about it before, and now that Serena mentioned it, it came back to him. It was true, he had missed so many years of this mother-son time before, so many things he had not experienced together, and in front of his own chd, he had momentary forgotten what it meant to make up for it.

"We are destined to spend our lives together, but what about Manuel? He missed his father's love for so many years, and you're going to make him miss his mother's love for the rest of his life? Don't do that to him, okay?"

It is a very real problem, but he is stl a chd, so let's watch over him unt he is an adult. And Lea, when they are adults, then they won't worry about anything."

At the end of his sentence, tears appeared in his eyes . When Cristian saw it immediately he felt painful in his soul, and gathered her into his arms.

"Well, well, I wl do whatever you say, I wl give you all my time from now on."

The discussion was closed, now his wife is the chdren were the most important thing for him, he must have responsibity for them as a parent.

The chdren have no other choice, the parents could have them if they wanted, so they had to do their part as parents.

Cristian decided that with Manuel and Lea there would be no more third children, and the couple would raise them to adulthood and then leave them alone.

Then, he would rely only on his wife every day and see who would dare to control him.

So the next day, Serena woke up and went to call Manuel, but when she opened the door, she found that Manuel was not home, and the maid said that Manuel had left early for school.

Serena looked at the time and saw that it was an hour earlier than she usually went to school.

Was it because of what she had said last night that had upset Manuel?

At this thought, Serena turned anxiously toward Cristian.

Cristian knew what was on his mind and half-open his lips, before saying, "I'll take care of it, don't worry about it."

"Then you take care of it and don't be mean to Manuel."

"Don't worry."

When Cristian came out, Serena was still worried but could not follow him, Lea was still sleeping, so she had to go back to her room and keep an eye on her.

On the other hand, Manuel went to school very early.

Serena thought he was angry, but he wasn't, Manuel just thought that what Mom had said last night made sense.

Mom and Dad were the ones who would live their whole lives together, and he's Lea was important to them, but in terms of first place it was definitely their private life.

He had argued with Dad earlier about Mom's favors and really didn't need that either, and for what had happened last night he had been inspired in a big way.

He had been wrong in his thinking before, why should he compete with Father for Mother's favor?

He is obviously Dad and Mom's son, he can get favor from both of them, he just mistakenly thought that Dad would steal Mom from him, but now that he realized it, Manuel feels that he can enjoy the favor of both of them in the future.

Why not?

And this early start today was on purpose.

Mommy must be worried about what happened last night, but Lea has to sleep until a certain time every day, and Daddy doesn't want Mommy to leave so early, so it's just Daddy himself coming to him.

What comes from her father today is definitely different from what came from her father yesterday.

So it might make a lot of noise today.

Thinking about it made Manuel happy.

Surely Father could not have imagined that one day he would fall into his own hands?

Before Cristian arrived, Manuel was already thinking of ways to torment Cristian.

Instead of entering the school, he squatted near the school gate, looking at a small notebook, head down, actually counting time.

He did not squat for long, he counted the time and then squatted three minutes earlier.

Sure enough, three minutes later, there was a pair of leather shoes in front of him.

Sure enough, he had come.

Manuel had a wry look in his eyes, but he did not look up.

Until the man's voice came from overhead.

"What are you doing squatting here so early instead of going to school?"

Manuel slowly looked up, the emotions that were usually present on that small face were absent today, replaced by a pitiful look that belonged to a chd.

With one look, Cristian's heart clenched at the sight.

Although he had had fun with him before, he was his own blood chd, and seeing him like this now made Cristian's heart ache.

Chapter 1505 - Thoughtful

No matter how smart he is, he is just a chd.

And it was only natural that a chd who had previously been deprived of his father's love would be hostile to him.

With this in mind, Cristian's face softened a little and he said, "Get up."

Manuel did not move, so Cristian sighed and squatted down in front of him, "Come, Daddy wl hold you."

The words were sweet and spoke into Manuel's heart.

She really just wanted to shake Cristian and make him feel sorry for him, but she did not expect him to say that to himself.

So all of a sudden, Manuel could not stand it and his nose became inflamed.

His nose hurt, and Manuel was a little annoyed that he had to say such a thing to his father. He was a man, how embarrassing would it be if he cried?

Thinking about this, Manuel immediately lowered his head again.

But Cristian had already seen it.

Cristian had not expected him to cry at his own words, and his heart felt like it was being tugged by a big hand.

He reached out his hand, squeezed Manuel's small arm, and lifted him up.

Although Manuel had become very tall, so tall that Serena could not even pick him up now, it was still easy for Cristian .

So when Manuel was picked up by Cristian, Manuel's face immediately changed.

"Let go, Dad, let go, Manuel doesn't want to be carried.

This is the entrance to the school, people come and go, dad is holding him like this, what if people see him?

Manuel did not want to be seen by his classmates as a chd who stl needed to be held by his daddy.

So he continued to struggle, but Cristian was too strong and he struggled so hard that Cristian only slapped him on the buttocks.

"What's all the fuss? I'm your old man, what's wrong with being hugged by your old man?"

Manuel was slapped on the buttocks and immediately stopped struggling, his body in a rigid position, but his face quickly turned red.

"Shame!"

"Shame? What is there to be ashamed of?"

Cristian said indifferently, "How old are you? Are you this tall and embarrassed to be hugged by your old man?"

Manuel did not struggle anymore, but his face remained red.

Seeing his face swell, Cristian half-opened his lips, sighed and released him, squatting down in front of him, "Then we'll talk like this, okay?"

Manuel remained silent.

"It was my fault for what happened before. It was also Dad's fault for not being involved in your past with Mom and for forcibly stealing Mom from you anyway, can you forgive Dad now that he knows he was wrong?"

When he said these words, Cristian initially thought he would have difficulty saying them, even though he would not be able to say them.

But when he saw Manuel's red eyes, he realized that he was now a father.

Manuel and Lea, his and Serena's treasures, were a gift from heaven.

"You, Lea and your mom are Daddy's most important treasures, and no matter what happens, Daddy will always be there. Your mom and I also discussed last night that you and Lea will be the main ones from now on when you are adults."

Manuel blinked, "Really? Dad won't stop me from getting close to Mom again?"

"Yes." Cristian relented, "I won't, you're still young, you can stay close to her if you want, and of course you can cling to Dad, you can even go to the office with him every day from now on."

"Really?" Manuel blinked and asked with an innocent look on his face, "Then Dad can give me a place in the company?"

At that point, Cristian's face changed a little.

"A position? You are so young, what can you do?"

Cristian did not accept his request, "Besides, you have to study, you don't have time to go to the office."

"Stupid of a dad, so what you just said was just a chd's joke, I don't want to cling to you and I'll cling to mom again, leave Manuel alone to fend for himself."

In fact, knowing full well that the boy in front of him was full of schemes, Cristian was stl very tender at this moment, and could only insist, "Okay, okay, I'll give you a place in the company, but you can't joke."

"Dad is really mean as hell, if he was grandfather, he would have given me all the company without a second thought."

"Your grandfather has no one to support, and your father has to make money to give to your mother, you and Lea, can it be the same?"

"Hm."

Then father and son negotiated a deal, Cristian gave him a position in the company, but only a name, no real power, and he had to give Manuel pocket money every month before the deal was finally done.

After this, Manuel did not see Angelica for a week, although he thought she was pretty, but he did not have the heart to look for her if she did not want to come.

It was only a week later that Fiona could not resist her daughter's request and came to the door, saying that Angelica had been clamoring to come and play with her brother since she had returned that day, and that she had been asking every day.

After hearing this, Serena was in tears.

"Fiona, let Angelica come and play from now on, you can bring her here when you're free, it's okay, I'm bored enough with Lea at home alone all day."

Actually she was trying to work, Lea was now a year old and didn't need constant attention like she did when she was a baby, and Lea had always been well behaved.

When she's asleep she's a good sleeper, when she wakes up she's there playing with her fingers, looking at the ceiling, and she still doesn't fuss. Except when she pees or poops and feels uncomfortable, then Serena changes her diaper and she is calm again.

All in all, according to Serena, she is a bit human, but she is quite clean and nice.

It's just that Cristian doesn't want her to go to the office, he wants her to be a full-time wife at home.

But Serena, being a full-time wife, doesn't have to do much: Vía Atlantic has an inexhaustible supply of maids who clean the house every day and prepare all the meals at mealtime, so she doesn't have to do anything.

So sometimes she gets bored and it would be nice if Angelica could come and keep her company.

Fiona, on the other hand, was embarrassed that the two families were so different and feared giving the impression that she was taking advantage by bringing her daughter to their home so often.

"I am very sorry Mrs. Ferrari, certainly it would be very intrusive for you if Angelica came too often, and I take the children myself, so"

Serena's mind is clear, even if Fiona doesn't say it, she understands what Fiona is thinking, so she smiles slightly, "Actually you don't have to worry, we in the Ferrari family don't have these kinds of ideas, and also the children are very simple, they simply love Manuel."

Chapter 1506 Changing bad habits

How could Fiona not understand what Serena was saying?

She was relieved and a little embarrassed at the same time: "I'm sorry, I didn't mean that, it's just that it's always been that way in these circles, and we in the Rossi Group know that we're not as good as the Ferrari Group, so that's why we feel that way. "

"How so?" Serena took Angelica's hand and pulled her into her arms and encircled her, "Fiona relax, I also really like Angelica as a chd, so I won't think otherwise, Angelica, don't you think?"

Angelica reached out and wrapped her fleshy little arms around Serena and whispered, "When is her brother coming?"

"Huh? You've only played one day with your brother and you only have eyes for him? What, does your aunt treat you badly?"

Serena teased her, but Angelica looked at her with innocent eyes and said seriously, "Aunt is very kind to me, she cooks dumplings for Angelica."

"Then why do you only go to your older brother and not to your aunt?"

Angelica stared at her with round eyes, unable to answer for a moment, and her eyes turned red with anxiety. Brother went to school, you can play with your sister and aunt first, when brother comes back, you can look for him again, okay?"

Angelica looked at her mom, then swallowed her tears and nodded, "Yes, thank you Aunt Serena."

After saying this, she stood up on tiptoe and offered to give Serena a kiss on the side of her cheek.

"This chd, when she is nervous she tends to cry, let's say you asked her that sentence just now, for a when she couldn't think of a good answer in her mind, so she wanted to cry."

"That's okay, girls like that are the ones who get people's attention."

After a few words, Fiona left, leaving Angelica, who played with Lea when she waited for Manuel to return from school.

When Lea woke up, she stood there staring at Angelica, also staring at her, the two of them looking at each other in peace and quiet.

After a while, Angelica asked, "Aunt Serena, what is this sister's name?"

"She, her name is Lea."

Lea?

Angelica smiled at Lea, two deep pearly circles on her cheeks as she greeted, "Hello sister Lea, it's Angelica."

Lea lay there with her little face staring innocently at Angelica, unaware that the name Angelica would later become intertwined with her brother and have a deep connection with herself.

When it came time to go home and Manuel had not returned, Angelica was a little anxious to wait and Serena could only comfort her.

"Just wait a little longer, your brother will be back soon. When he comes back, Auntie will ask him where he has been all day and why he is late.

Angelica was shocked and immediately spoke up for Manuel.

"Aunt, don't scold her brother, he probably had something to do, Angelica will be fine if she waits a little longer."

Fearing to get Manuel into trouble, Angelica immediately adjusted herself and sat chubby, looking cute and loving.

It was almost dark when Manuel returned and he was ready to say goodbye to his mother and then go back to his room to rest, not even wanting to eat dinner.

He saw a chubby little boy sitting on a chair with a heart-shaped plow leaning against the door sleeping with his head tilted, his mouth slightly open as he slept.

Manuel observed and found that the little girl was actually breathing through her mouth.

Shouldn't this little girl breathe through her nose when she sleeps? How could she use her mouth? This would, over time, lead to shortening of the upper lip, loosening of the lip muscles and other damage to the facial tissue.

After not seeing her for so many days, Manuel thought she would not come, but he did not expect to see her again today.

He approached the chubby little girl and waved his hand in front of her, but she was so asleep that she did not even notice.

Manuel did not want to disturb her, but sleeping in this crooked neck position would be uncomfortable for her when she woke up, so finally Manuel woke her up.

Angelica dreamed that she was eating chocolate, which tasted sweet and a little bit bitter, but after the bitter taste, her mouth became sweet again.

So in her dreams she thinks about eating it.

After being awakened by Manuel, Angelica opened her eyes to see Manuel's face and unconsciously said, "Brother, chocolate is delicious."

Manuel was stunned, and it took him a long time to realize it.

Could it be that this little girl came to him because she wanted him to take her to buy more chocolates?

After saying this, Angelica closed her eyes again.

"Angelica, don't sleep Angelica," Manuel said, stroking her cheek to wake her up, "you can't sleep here, go inside if you want to sleep, and you can't breathe through your mouth from now on, or you'll get ugly later. "

As he said this, Manuel pulled Angelica up, and she followed him inside in a daze, saying, "Brother, you're back, Angelica has been waiting for you for a long time."

Waiting? Had she come here so early to wait?

Manuel turned his head to look at her, "Have you been waiting long?"

Angelica rubbed her eyes, "Not long, did you have a good time at school? By the way, what did her brother say to Angelica when she was sleeping?"

Manuel squatted in front of her and looked at her helplessly as he repeated it again.

"Because you open your mouth to breathe when you sleep, we breathe through our nose."

Angelica tilted her head and said, "But I like breathing through my mouth."

"It's not good for you to breathe through your mouth, so try not to sleep with your mouth open, you won't be used to it at first, but after you correct it slowly, it will become your habit."

Angelica's usual mother would have taught her the same thing, but she felt comfortable breathing with her mouth open and was so used to it that it was difficult to change it.

At this point, Manuel suddenly intervened, "Does Angelica want to be ugly when she grows up?"

At that point, Angelica shook her head in panic, "No."

"It's true, if you breathe through your mouth for a long time, you won't be as beautiful as before."

"Ah, then Angelica will correct it in the future, don't worry if Angelica is ugly, but I want to play with you."

"It's not too much, but you have to change all your bad habits."

"Yes, I will."

"What do you want to eat today?"

Well, I can eat, Angelica didn't come here to eat, she just thought her brother was nice to her and wanted to come and play with him, that's all.

Chapter 1507 Uneasy.

So she tightened her lips and said nothing.

"What's wrong?"

When she said nothing for a long time, Manuel thought she was upset, so he asked her, "Is it because your brother just said something about you that you're upset?"

"No." Angelica shook her little head like a rattle, pricked her fingers and said in a small voice, "Actually,

I came to see my brother today, not to eat."

Hearing this, Manuel understood what she meant.

"I know, it's the brother who wants to offer you food, it's not you asking for it, okay?"

Angelica still loved food and was drooling a little at this point, looked up, her cheeks flushed, "So it's okay if I want to eat ice cream today?"

"Of course."

"Thank you, brother."

Manuel then took Angelica for ice cream, after a while Fiona came to pick her up at home.

The next day Angelica came again to play. The little girl literally became part of the Ferrari family. She arrived every day and exceptionally got to know every member of the family.

Cristian also liked the little girl.

Of course, the reason for this is that she always harasses Manuel, who then has to take care of her, saving him a lot of trouble.

Although the couple had discussed it last time, Cristian was still worried that Serena was thinking too much about it and found a free moment to prove his innocence to Serena.

"I brought the child in the beginning, but the fact that the two of them got along afterwards, it doesn't center me."

Serena knew what he meant, "I didn't say there was a problem, why are you rushing to explain?"

"I was afraid that if I didn't make it clear, you would be angry."

Cristian was terrified at the thought of how angry Serena had been that night. They had been through a lot before, and it was not easy to have that kind of peace now.

He hoped that in this life the couple would never have an argument.

Even if there was, he would give up and always let her win.

"He won't really be angry, although sometimes he is, it will just be for a while. Manuel is fine the way he is now, I asked him the other day and he said the little chubby one is very cute and he will take care of her like a sister."

Since Anna had the children, Matthew had been running back and forth between work and home, not getting enough sleep every day, and despite Anna's love for him, Matthew had never known how to take care of himself and had eventually worn himself out.

Today he looked very pale at the meeting, and Chiara, seeing his pale face, took the initiative to ask.

"Mr. Giordano, you don't look good, would you like to stop the meeting and let you rest?"

Matteo shook his head slightly, "No need."

The others also noticed Matteo's pale face and greeted him with concern.

"Mr. Giordano, is there really no need to interrupt the meeting? The meeting can be held at any time, your health is more important."

"Yes sir Giordano, you are very pale, why don't you go to the hospital first, leave it to us and we will report everything when the results are in."

Everyone looked worriedly at Matteo, who coughed slightly and covered his hand in front of his mouth.

"All right, let's continue with the meeting."

Seeing that everyone was still staring at him, Matteo could only say, "I know my limit, go ahead."

When the meeting was over, Matteo went back to his office, closed his eyes on the sofa and rested for a while.

After resting for about an hour, he got up and went back to work.

After working for a while, he felt a double vision in front of his eyes, and Matthew realized the seriousness of the situation and thought that he should leave work early today and go to the hospital.

If he did not, he would not be able to do anything.

Even if he couldn't, it would still make Anna worry about him.

With this in mind, Matteo began to pack his bags when Chiara came in halfway to remind him. "Mr.

Giordano, how are you feeling? Don't you really need to take a break?"

"Well, I'm leaving work early today, so we'll talk tomorrow about what's going on."

Chiara had been worried and was relieved to hear him say that he would leave work early, he would call Anna, after all, if he couldn't talk, maybe Anna would come and talk.

Now it was not necessary.

"Mr. Giordano, I suggest you go to the hospital."

"Okay."

"Why don't I accompany you?"

"This contract is not taken care of, so you take care of it and I will personally take care of it for me."

"Okay then." Chiara could only take the contract from Matteo's hand and repeated, "Then Mr. Giordano must be safe, if you don't feel well, call, don't drive."

"Thank you."

After Matteo left, Chiara also went to take care of the contract.

And at that moment Anna arrived at the supermarket.

Amelia had the two children at home, so she had taken the opportunity to go to the supermarket to buy some baby items, diapers, formula, bottles and so on.

She was choosing something from the shelves when a stack of sugar cans not far from her was suddenly knocked over by a trolley and fell with a loud crackle, which made Anna wince.

Anna's heart pounded and her eyelids fluttered wildly as she unconsciously reached out and touched her eyelids.

Her heart beat violently in response.

What was wrong with her? Why was she so nervous now?

Anna took a deep breath, then raised her head to pick up the items she had seen on the shelves and put them on the shopping cart, when a stabbing pain came from her heart.

The pain was so intense that she could not hold it back for a moment and knelt down.

Suddenly, Anna thought of Matthew and panicked.

At the same time, her cell phone rang at that moment, and Anna's heart was throbbing so much that it took her a long time to regain her senses.

She answered the phone, and it was an unfamiliar female voice coming from the other end.

"Hello, are you the wife of the owner of this cell phone number?"

A sense of foreboding rose in Anna's heart, and it took her a long time to find her voice.

"Yes, that's me, may I ask who you are?"

"Your husband's car hit a guardra and he fainted, he was just taken away by the doctor and then the phone fell on the ground, so I picked it up and called you."

He crashed into a guardra?

Anna's face immediately lost blood, "Excuse me, is it true what you just said about?"

"This lady, I'm not joking with you, your husband's car is still parked here now."

"What hospital?"

Anna's tone rose abruptly, startling the other woman, and after suppressing panic, she added, "Excuse me, I'm a little out of control, may I ask which hospital you were taken to?"

"I think it's the closest to the sign, it's on this side of the East Campus intersection."

"Thank you, I know, I'll be right there."

After picking up her phone, Anna hurriedly ran out the door, only to slam into a person with a thud.

Chapter 1508 Speculation

The force of inertia threw her out of her way, and Anna fell to the cold floor in one fell swoop.

The person who had been hit, however, stood firm and grabbed Anna's arm after she had risen to her feet.

"Is that you?"

The familiar voice made Anna look up at the visitor in dismay.

The person she had just bumped into was Luca.

Seeing that she was pale and had fallen hard, Luca pulled her back when she stood up, not expecting it to be Anna.

When Anna saw Luca, nothing came to her mind but the thought that something had happened to Matthew and that she had to go to him.

In a trance, she just glanced at Luca before withdrawing her gaze, then shook her hand and headed outside.

After two steps, a huge pain came from her ankle, almost making her fall to her knees, but fortunately Luca was there to help her.

"What's wrong? What's the rush?"

Anna's forehead showed thick sweat from the immense pain, it hurt so much that she couldn't walk, she must have twisted it when she fell before, but she still had to go to Matthew, she didn't know how she was now, she had to go to him right away.

Thinking about this, Anna thought of something and went to grab Luke's hand as hard as she could.

"Please take me to the hospital near East Campus!"

The hospital near East Campus?

Luca frowned slightly, "What's going on?"

Why was he in such a hurry?

When Anna saw that he would not take her and had to ask him, she wanted to leave on her own, so

Luca had to say, "I'll take you, but you'll have to wait for me for a while."

He and Samantha had gone out shopping together, and Samantha was inside trying on clothes and he was waiting outside, so he had to go talk to Samantha.

Luca had just turned around when Anna ran after him with a limp, the bruise on her ankle was clearly painful, but she ran as if she did not feel the pain.

Luca had no choice but to try to stop Anna, but she was too busy to listen to him and just wanted to go to the hospital near East Campus.

He thought he would call Samantha when he took her to the hospital.

Although Samantha would be upset if she did not find him when she left, the situation was urgent and she would understand.

Thinking about this, Luca was very relieved.

So he accompanied Anna to the East Campus Hospital. All the way there, Anna did not say a word, just sitting there staring, like a puppet.

Luca saw her like that and thought something serious was happening, so he didn't dare to ask.

Samantha had come to buy maternity clothes. She had been eating a lot lately, so her body had grown, and her belly had also grown, so she couldn't wear the maternity clothes she had prepared earlier.

Samantha went in and tried it on. She spent half an hour in the dressing room before she was finally changed, then she looked at herself in the mirror and thought that she was now really fat.

She thought to herself that later she would tell Luca that she had put on so much weight and lost her shape for the sake of having a baby, and that he should be good to her and not let her suffer at all.

As she thought about it, Samantha suddenly felt a slight pain in her stomach, as if the baby was kicking again, so she sat down for a while before going out.

When she came out, there was no sign of Luca.

"Where could he have gone?"

Samantha looked around carrying the hem of her dress when the sales clerk approached and smiled at her, "Miss, this dress looks great on you."

Samantha did not have the heart to look at the dress at that moment, so she asked, "Excuse me, have you seen my husband?"

The saleswoman froze and hesitantly said, "Your husband was hit by a lady at the door and I think he then left with her.

Left?" Samantha frowned when she heard that a lady had knocked Luke down, "For good reason, why did she knock him down? Why did they leave together?"

She listened confused.

"I'm stl not sure, I was busy entertaining other customers as well, so I didn't go to them, only vaguely aware of the incident. But this young lady, I suppose your husband knows you."

"How do you know that?"

"I saw him helping the lady."

A woman Luca knew?

"Oh, but that lady's leg was injured."

Hearing this, Samantha finally understood and surmised, "The lady hit my husband and then fell and injured her leg? My husband then helped her and probably took her to the hospital."

The saleswoman was confused for a whe, then nodded, "This lady is so smart, when she speculates like that, I think that's what happened."

Samantha was a little angry, "This bastard, even if he had sent someone to the hospital he could have at least told, why did he disappear?"

He's just a big straight man! He pissed her off.

Samantha pulled out her cell phone and tried to call Luke, but when she touched it, she found out that Luke's cell phone was with her, because Samantha always used her cell phone to check out and shop lately, so she carried it with her in her purse.

Now that she could not reach him, Samantha did not even know where to look for him.

Thinking about it, Samantha felt a twinge of depression in her heart.

The sales clerk stared at her, "Miss, how about this dress on you, do you want it?"

Luca was not there and Samantha had no more desire to try it on, so she said, "Yes, but I'm too lazy to change, so I'll just pay for it."

After settling the bill, Samantha went out with her clothes and waited at the door for almost half an hour, but Luca was not back yet, so she could not wait any longer with her baby bump, so she went home.

When Samantha arrived home, Luca was still not back, so she lay down on the couch, watched TV and ate.

In the middle of the day Flora came to check on her, discovered that Luca was not there and scolded her severely. Samantha had to laugh and tell him what had happened during the day.

Flora scolded her even more after hearing this, "You have been pregnant for a long time, you could be in labor at any time, and he leaves you there for a stranger, I will have to scold him for this when he comes back."

Samantha couldn't think of anything wrong, if someone had really twisted their foot, they should have been taken to the doctor in time, and she had been in the locker room for too long, a lost man like Luca would have thought of taking her to the hospital first and then calling.

"Mom, you don't say anything to him, I know Luca's temper, he must have thought to call me from the hospital and simply forgot that he didn't have his phone with him."

"I am so angry with him, how did I have such an ignorant child?" "Samantha, don't speak for him, I will scold him to death when he comes back."

Chapter 1509 - This is good

Okay, Samantha will not speak for him.

Let the straight man be scolded by his mother so that he can wake up and remember.

To be honest Samantha was quite angry about being left behind this time, but a pregnant woman shouldn't be angry, she knew that very well, so she didn't let the anger get to her.

She also thought that if the woman had really sprained her ankle, there was no harm in taking her to the hospital.

As long as Luca admitted his mistake when he returned, everything would be fine.

There was no need to make a big deal out of it, otherwise it would hurt them both.

Flora also saw that Samantha was very Buddhist in this regard, so she advised her.

"Don't spoil her Samantha, you have to scold your own husband when he makes mistakes, mom is definitely on your side."

"Mom, I know, don't worry about me, I will definitely ask for clarification when she comes back."

"But you can't get too angry, you are about to give birth now, don't hurt your body, forget about it, you better not ask, I will wait here, I will ask for clarification when he comes back."

So the two waited for the evening when Luca returned.

Luca opened the living room door and was surprised to see two women sitting on the sofa, one of whom was staring at him aggressively with ringed hands.

"Mom, what are you doing here?"

Flora sneered, "Do you have the nerve to ask me that? Where did you die?"

Homicidally, Luca cast a glance at Samantha, who was not angry but looked quite normal.

He thought for a moment then said, "I went back to look for you and the clerk said you were gone."

Without waiting for Samantha's response, Flora scolded again, "So what else?"

Wait there until you return? Don't you know that Samantha is pregnant? Luca, do you have any self-awareness as her husband?

Do you know that your wife is pregnant? She is about to give birth and you run away like this, you can afford to take responsibility in case something unexpected happens!"

Luke was so weak that he did not say a word, listening to the reprimands without a word of reply.

"Why didn't you say anything? You left Samantha alone, shouldn't you have apologized to her?"

"Mother" Samantha went to take Flora's hand, "Well, I didn't have to wait long, besides I had understood if you had sent someone to the hospital at that time. "

Luca was a little surprised, "How did you know I was going to the hospital?"

"I know, I asked the store clerk about the process and then assumed myself that you were supposed to take someone to the hospital."

Samantha did not seem to know who she had sent to the hospital.

"Here's the thing, whe at the supermarket, the little"

He was about to say that Anna had collided with him and then something would have to happen for him to take her to the hospital.

Then Flora interrupted and said, "Whatever the situation, do you understand that wives come first? You left Samantha there alone, can you be responsible if something happens? Can you?"

Flora was stl angry, as soon as she saw Samantha's baby bump, she thought of her being left alone in the supermarket and walking back alone.

It was almost as if the more he thought about it, the angrier he became.

Samantha could only comfort him, "Mom, don't get upset, it's normal to take someone to the hospital, and straight men like Luke certainly can't be as gentle as us women, if I were in his place I would be just like him."

Samantha took a long time to convince Flora to submit.

Only after Flora had left, Samantha said to Luca, "I won't bother you for today, but if you run off by yourself like that next time, I'll really get angry."

Luca, who had wanted to explain, had not had a chance to do so, but now, after hearing Samantha's words, he suddenly felt as if his explanation was unnecessary.

He had only taken Anna to the hospital anyway, and had had nothing to do with her after that.

With this in mind, Luca kept his mouth shut.

At night, before Samantha went to sleep she was lying on the bed and Luca was massaging her calves.

"Today you took someone to the hospital during the day, is that person's leg okay?"

At those words, Luca's hands stopped for a moment and he looked at Samantha, a little lustfully.

"What?"

Samantha narrowed her eyes, "You've been acting strange since you came back, didn't you get into trouble with some woman at the supermarket today? Was it a woman who hit you? Did you fall in love with her?"

Luke: "..... What nonsense are you talking about?"

Being questioned by Samantha like that, Luca immediately thought, pregnant women have such strange brains when it comes to thinking about things, and he was even more reluctant to tell

Samantha the truth about what had happened.

"The nonsense I'm talking about? Where is it? You're obviously the one with the strange eyes and stammering as if you had a ghost in your heart!"

"No!" Luca sighed and gently massaged her calves, "It's not what you think, it was an emergency and I wanted to call you at the hospital but I couldn't find the phone on me and when I went back to look for you, you were gone, so

"Okay, okay, I know the situation was urgent, so it's not like I'm blaming you. I'm a little sleepy, I'm going to bed."

Samantha kicked her hand, gesturing for him to take it away, Luca then tucked her in, Samantha's sleep came quickly and she closed her eyes and soon fell asleep.

Luca did not notice that she was asleep, and after a few agonizing minutes he decided to tell Samantha the truth, so he said, "Samantha, actually it was not another person I met today, but ... it was ..."

After saying it, he had not said that name naturally.

It took a long time before he said, "Actually it was Anna who bumped into me today, she twisted her ankle and had to go to the hospital to see Matthew, who was in a car accident, I didn't want to leave you behind, it's just that the situation was so unique."

That said, there was no response.

Luke assumed that Samantha was upset to hear Anna's name, after all, the name Anna was still a scar between the two.

Even though Samantha and Anna were both on good terms now, it was inevitable that whenever something old was spread, more thought was put into it.

Although he knew that Samantha had always been outspoken and generous, Luca was also worried that she would overthink it since she was now carrying a baby bump.

When she did not respond, Luca thought she was angry and could only turn his head and explain abruptly.

"But it's not what you think, I have absolutely nothing left in my heart for her, my mind is all for you now

....."

Luca's words were interrupted when his eyes fell on Samantha's face.

Not knowing when Samantha had fallen asleep, lying quietly, Luca looked at her for a moment before sighing, adjusting the blanket and bending down to drop a kiss on her bare forehead.

It was better to be asleep or deaf, that was all.

Chapter 1510 You don't have to get into trouble

It's late at night

Amelia is still with the two children in the Giordano household, and after feeding them formula, they go to sleep, and Amelia calls Anna.

Anna's voice on the other end of the line was nasal and sounded like she had just cried.

"It's okay mom, the doctor said she only had a small concussion, a little trauma, she'll be fine after rest."

"Well, since the doctor said it's okay, then Anna don't worry, will you come back tonight and rest? Why don't you ask your father to pick you up and mother to stand guard at the hospital?"

"No need mom." Anna sat down on the hospital bench and shook her head as she answered the phone, "I'll be fine by myself, it's hard for you to help me take care of the children, so get some rest."

After hanging up the phone, Anna closed her eyes and leaned back exhausted, Serena rushed to support her, "Are you okay? Why don't you go back and rest, and let Cristian and I keep watch at night."

After the incident, Anna called Serena, who came with Cristian.

After Serena spoke, Cristian also glanced at Anna, "Well, you and I will stand guard here, there will be no problem."

"Thank you." Anna shook her head after thanking, "But I want to stand guard until she wakes up."

Anna was really scared today.

Until now, she had not treated the wound on her foot and was waiting for the hospital to say she was okay before checking herself.

"You can keep awake if you want, we won't stop you, but first you have to take care of the ankle wound, right?" Serena suggested, "If you don't take care of it now, my brother will be worried when he wakes up and sees you like this. At that point he will worry about you when he is already injured."

Anna thought he was right, "Okay, I'll take care of the foot then."

Serena and Cristian then took Anna to get her ankle treated and brought her back later.

Cristian was so distressed to see his wife Serena busy going in and out that he took her aside and whispered to her, "I called the driver, when he comes you can take the car and go back, I'll stay here with her tonight."

"No." Serena immediately shook her head, "How can I leave you alone with Anna?"

Cristian could not resist raising an eyebrow, "What do you mean? Do you think I would be interested in any other woman besides you? Or do you think I stay because I have an ulterior motive?"

Hearing this, Serena almost choked on her own saliva.

"What are you babbling about?" Serena breathlessly reached out her hand and pinched his arm,

"What's on your mind? I won't let you stay with her because I'm afraid she'll be uncomfortable. Why don't I stay with her when you go home and look after Lea?"

"No." Cristian immediately vetoed his idea, "How can I feel comfortable leaving my wife in the hospital for a night? There are maids at home, the baby will be fine, I will stay with you."

In the end, they stayed together, Anna in the ward and Serena and Cristian outside.

The cold intensified as the night passed, so Cristian took off his jacket and put it on Serena, then took her in his arms.

Serena was so cold that her lips turned white and Cristian was so distressed that he scolded her, "Do you know how hard it is? You didn't go back when I told you to, but you have to stay here in the cold.

Go inside and stay with her, there is a cot and a bed, so there is still room for her."

Serena's face was white with cold, but she still stared at him, "What about you? If I go in there, you'll be all alone, won't you?"

"What? I'm a man and I don't need you to worry? You are a strong man, how can you beat me in this cold?"

Serena hugged his thin waist and buried her face in his arms, murmuring, "I don't want to go in, maybe if we hugged more we wouldn't be cold."

A tighter hug?

It was a good idea, but it was cold and a hospital room was not a hotel, so having a room to sleep in was a waste of resources, and there was a shortage of rooms these days, so there was really no more room.

Cristian wanted to let her stay with him and cuddle a little more, but he was worried that she would catch cold, so he didn't agree.

"What is the point of cuddling? Get up and go inside to sleep, I'll get my coat back when you're inside."

"Cheapskate, so it's about the coat, and you say you are strong and fit, liar!"

Cristian did not argue with her, fearing that if she argued more, she would be out here in the cold for a while longer, so he took his jacket back and pushed Serena into the ward.

"Come in and rest."

After Serena was pushed into the ward, the door was closed and Anna looked up, seeing Serena come in, and stood up and walked over to her.

"Serena, what are you still doing here?"

"Sly Anna, how can we be comfortable leaving you alone in the hospital at night, besides Matteo is my brother and Cristian is his brother-in-law, so it makes sense for the two of us to keep watch, don't think too much about it."

"That said, I still don't want you to suffer here with me, it's a long night, in fact I can keep watch alone."

"Well, stop it, let's take turns keeping watch. I'll sleep for a while, then at midnight you'll sleep again and we'll switch shifts. Cristian won't be able to do anything out there."

Serena quickly decided where things were going.

Anna said nothing more when she saw how insistent he was.

Anna sat worriedly beside the hospital bed, looking at the pale Matthew, her heart hanging in the air.

How could something like this happen? Was it because he had not rested enough recently that he had an accident while driving?

Fortunately, it was only a mild concussion; if it had been more serious, Anna and the two children would have been crying somewhere.

But even if it was only a mild concussion, it still scared half of Anna's soul.

She had been so bewildered and frightened that only now, looking at Matthew's peaceful sleeping face and his regular breathing, did she feel her heart calm down.

"Nothing must happen to you." Anna said it in her heart, so that only she could hear it.

The next day

It was noon when Matthew woke up.

Serena went back to rest and then Amelia prepared some food and took him to the hospital.

In the hospital room, she spoke to Anna in a low voice.

"It was so exhausting, why else would he hit the guardra for a good reason? I told you to let me help you with the chdren, but you young people did not listen to me. You have to work during the day and take care of the chdren at night, even the robots need to rest."