Virginity 18
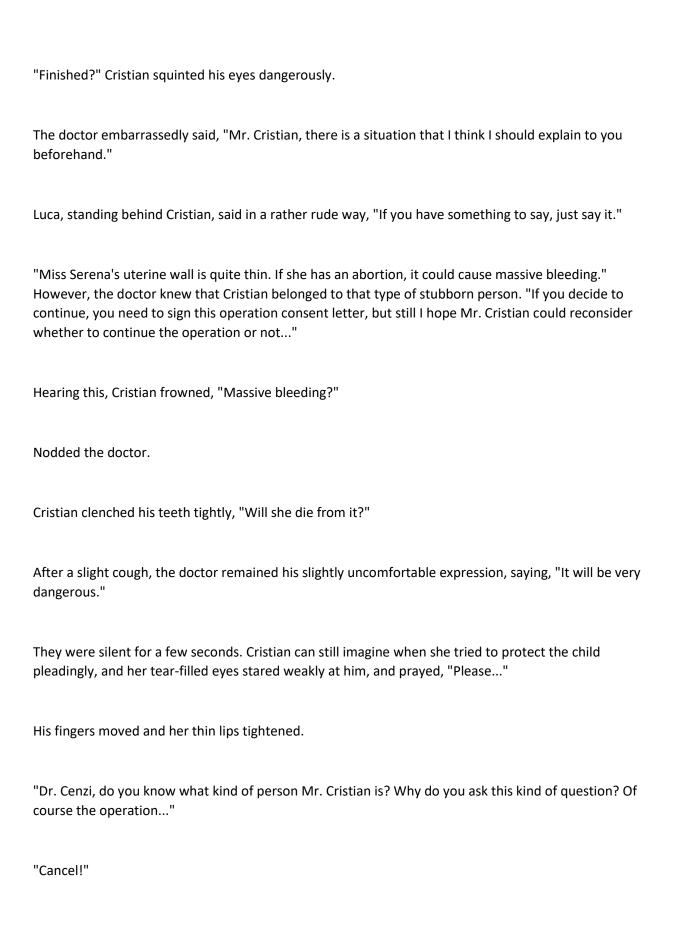

Chapter 18

Luca had been worked for Cristian for many years, and Cristian's previous movements were clear....

He dared not guess anything, but he thought he could try.

Cristian stared at Serena for a long time and suddenly reacted.

Even if she pretended to be pitiful, the child was not his anyway! A mutt, not worthy of pity!

Cristian's glance settled on her face with majesty, "What did you say?"

"No, nothing, then as decided?"

"Yes."

Okay, Luca understood. Not to let other men see her body and to get rid of the baby were two different things.

"You should do things carefully. Take her to the operation room."

"Yes!"

After they took Serena away, only Luca and Cristian were in the ward. Looking at his back, Luca hesitated for a long time but asked in a low voice, "Sir, shall I take you there?"

"Yes."

After fifteen minutes, the doctor came out of the operating room and wiped the sweat on his forehead.

"Finished?" Cristian squinted his eyes dangerously.

The doctor embarrassedly said, "Mr. Cristian, there is a situation that I think I should explain to you beforehand."

Luca, standing behind Cristian, said in a rather rude way, "If you have something to say, just say it."

"Miss Serena's uterine wall is quite thin. If she has an abortion, it could cause massive bleeding." However, the doctor knew that Cristian belonged to that type of stubborn person. "If you decide to continue, you need to sign this operation consent letter, but still I hope Mr. Cristian could reconsider whether to continue the operation or not..."

Hearing this, Cristian frowned, "Massive bleeding?"

Nodded the doctor.

Cristian clenched his teeth tightly, "Will she die from it?"

After a slight cough, the doctor remained his slightly uncomfortable expression, saying, "It will be very dangerous."

They were silent for a few seconds. Cristian can still imagine when she tried to protect the child pleadingly, and her tear-filled eyes stared weakly at him, and prayed, "Please..."

His fingers moved and her thin lips tightened.

"Dr. Cenzi, do you know what kind of person Mr. Cristian is? Why do you ask this kind of question? Of course the operation..."

"Cancel!"

Before Luca finished speaking, Cristian interrupted him.

Luca stopped suddenly and looked at him incredibly.

"Mr. Cristian?"

What happened? Luca...he didn't understand!

...

Serena felt that she had been asleep for a long time. She had a terrible dream. The abortion certificate she asked from Alice was discovered by Cristian. Then she was taken to the hospital and the baby was taken out of her bleeding body.

"Ah!" Serena exclaimed and suddenly got up. As she perspired severely, she stretched out her hand to cover her belly. Looking around, it was already the next day and the surrounding scene was familiar for she was in Cristian's room.

Memories of last night recalled themselves and Serena suddenly got out of bed. Had she lost the baby?

"What are you screaming about?" A cold voice stopped Serena's footsteps, and she returned to look at the source of the voice barefoot as Luca pushed Cristian inside.

Seeing the man, Serena became intensely angry, grabbed the pillow beside her and threw it at him.

"You bastard!"

Luca directly lifted the pillow and threw it aside, "Miss, you're crazy!"

"Cristian, you are a beast. How can you be so cruel? Give me back the baby!"

Serena stepped forward uncontrollably and grabbed Cristian's collar with tear-filled eyes.

"Who are you calling a beast?" Cristian's voice was calm, with no way to understand his feelings.

Serena stared at him with red eyes.

"Stop it."

Serena did not stop, stubbornly bit her lower lip and and continued to stare at him.

"Miss Serena, you have to stop being stupid! Let go!" Luca shouted angrily.

"Even an animal is more sentient than you. Not only do you have cold blood, you also have a black heart."

"Oh yeah?" Cristian sneered. "So you think of me that way?"

Serena's eyes were red, staring at him intently without speaking.

Tears filled the entire eye socket, but she restrained herself not to cry in front of him.

"Very good." Cristian grabbed her wrist and held her chin, "Beast? Animals are more sentient than me? Very well, Luca, get out."

Huh? Luca's eyes widened. Why should he get out?

He wanted to ask, but Cristian's body exuded a cold feeling, which made everyone near him shiver.

Trembling, Luca turned and walked out in silence.

"What are you doing, let me go..." Only after Luca got out did Serena react by wanting to free herself from Cristian.

Although Cristian had leg problem, he still had tremendous strength. He grabbed her by the wrist and she could not move at all. In the next second, Cristian took her in his arms, wrapped her waist, took her chin and lowered her head.

Thin, cold, dry lips settled on Serena's without warning.

Serena's brain became completely out of whack, and her eyes widened in disbelief.

What...was he doing?

As she pondered, she felt a pain on her lips and came back to herself.

Cristian's breathing was heavy and the feeling around her body was more than cold, which surrounded and occupied her strongly.

This feeling...fierce and overpowering.

Serena was slightly unconscious.