Chapter 28

Serena would never forget what Cristian told her. She was only his assistant in the company and she was also not his wife in the Ferrari house.

It turned out very clearly, they both needed this marriage.

"Assistant?" Emma looked at her for a while and sighed, "All right, you are his assistant. Sit here when you're done changing."

Serena sat down and Emma began to fix her hair.

"Should I change my hairstyle too?"

"Sure, you can't go like that."

Emma was very quick, styling her hair with bangs.

Serena's hair was very soft. The bangs enhanced her face shape, and Emma also did curls in her ponytail.

Then she put makeup on her.

"All right."

Serena was about to fall asleep, but was surprised by Emma's voice and opened her eyes.

In the mirror she reflected a woman with pink skin, long hair and an attractive red lip. Serena was surprised and frightened by the woman in the mirror.

"How do you feel ? Scared by your beauty?" Emma leaned against the table and spoke to her, smiling.

Serena walked over to the mirror and looked at herself unbelievably.

Was it really her? Could she be so beautiful?

"Don't doubt about it. It is you. You are beautiful and you have a good foundation. You don't take much care of yourself, so your skin is a little dry. Take this spray. Use it when you feel skin dry and buy more masks to take care of your skin."

Serena nodded as she listened to Emma's lectures, "O.. okay."

"You look beautiful. Cristian will like it."

It was the first time someone appreciated her appearance, and Serena felt uncomfortable.

Just now Luca asked outside if they would finish and Emma took her outside.

When he saw Serena, Luca was stunned and pointed to her lips trembling. Finally, Luca said, "Mr. Cristian is awake. Miss Serena, let's go."

"Okay." After learning that Cristian woke up, Serena became unconsciously nervous.

Emma accompanied her outside, where the car door was opened, with Cristian sitting inside who appeared to be busy at work.

"Mr. Cristian, we are ready." Luca said in a low voice.

Cristian ignored him, said something with the person of the video meeting, and closed the computer only when he finished.

He looked in Serena's direction.

At first, he looked up casually, but seeing Serena for a moment he seemed surprised by her beauty. He quickly hid it, but Emma noticed it and put her hand on Serena's shoulder and asked, "How is she? Isn't she beautiful?"

Hearing this, Serena bit her lower lip nervously.

The color of her lips was light, so Emma chose for her a peach-color lipstick loved by many men. When she bit her pink lips, Cristian's gaze could not move from them.

After putting on her makeup, Serena looked more beautiful than before. The outfit depicted the lines of her body and she also wore a pair of high heels.

She was pretty, but...something was missing.

Cristian watched her, paused on her lips for a second and then looked into her eyes.

Cristian thought he probably already knew what she was missing.

Aura!

Every time she looked at him, she looked like a forlorn kitten, shy and weak. And clearly it was not appropriate for her to attend such a dinner party.

Thinking about this, Cristian smiled satirically, "So-so."

Serena was surprised to see this change, and did not expect Cristian to think of it...that way.

"How did you think about it? Do you think it's appropriate with that makeup?" Cristian began to criticize Emma.

Emma was slow to respond, "Not appropriate? How is that possible? She..."

"I don't have time to listen to your explanation. Get in the car." After saying this, Cristian looked coldly as if nothing mattered to him.

His attitude angered Serena. How could he deny what the others seriously prepared with one sentence? Was appreciation so difficult for him?

Serena's weakness suddenly disappeared. She clenched her fists silently and bit her lower lip, staring at Cristian angrily.

Emma looked at Serena and found that her beauty shone through this furious gaze.

Emma looked at her and looked at Cristian, and suddenly laughed.

Cristian...was not an easy character.

Thinking about this, Emma tapped Serena on the shoulder, "All right, get in the car."

"Emma, I'm off then. Thanks for everything."

Serena thanked Emma and got into the car even though she did not want to.

The door closed. A light fragrance dilated in the air of the car and Cristian breathed in.

The delicate scent mixed with the fragrance of the body was very relaxing.

Cristian frowned because he did not like women who wore perfumes, especially strong ones. But Serena's smell actually made him feel comfortable and he unconsciously took deeper breaths.
