

Virginity 311

Chapter 311: Divorce Convention

Serena extended her hand, Luke initially did not want to give it but when he saw Serena who had a calm expression on her face, he finally gave it to her.

"Miss Serena, Mr. Cristian...he was really angry." "

Serena took the document and silently opened it.

She already guessed what that document was but she was still not sure, she did not know if Cristian really wanted to leave her or not.

Serena pulled out the paper and saw that it was exactly what she thought, her face turned pale and her eyes widened. Her lips trembled, the paper slipped from her hand and fell to the floor.

Luca became concerned, "Miss Serena..."

"Are you really going to be so cruel to me? Just because I didn't get to the party on time and leave me the divorce agreement?"

Serena cried, her tears wet the paper, she reached down and picked it up.

"All right, if that's what he wants then so be it, but at least I want to see him for the last time, can you?"

"Miss Serena, listen to me it is better for you to go home today, wait a few days for Mr. Cristian to calm down a bit and then you can come and see him, then he will probably change his mind, believe me, Mr.

Cristian is in love with you, making a decision like that in the end he will be the one to suffer."

Serena did not know whether Cristian would suffer or not, but she knew that she was suffering at that moment, he was asking her for divorce so easily, that divorce convention was like a sharp blade that stabbed her heart.

"I don't want to go home." Serena wiped her tears, took the paper and stood up, "I definitely want to see him today, if he won't come out, I will stay here until he wants to see me."

Luca: "But Mr. Cristian has already given the order, we won't be able to come in and disturb him, Miss Serena..."

"I don't care, even if he doesn't want to see me, I want to see him, as long as I'm still standing I won't leave."

Luca: "Miss Serena, don't be like this, being stubborn will not help you, you'd better come back a few days later."

Serena did not answer him anymore, she just stood there with an impassive expression.

Luca stared at her for a long time, saw her so convinced and understood that Serena really will not leave until she can see Cristian.

What could be done then? If she stood there all night dressed like that she would surely get sick, plus she still had those wounds on her!

"Miss Serena, shall I get you a doctor first to treat your wounds?"

"No need." Serena directly refused. Luca frowned, until he saw Cristian he did not even want to treat his wounds anymore, this was not good.

Luca felt that this time it might end badly, if Serena insisted on staying there and didn't even want to be treated, she might faint.

Then...

Thinking about it, Luca got nervous, turned around and went inside, he had to go to Cristian and make sure that Cristian could give Serena a chance, at least let her in and talk to her.

When Luca was on his way to Cristian's he saw Noa outside the door.

"Where is Mr. Cristian?"

"Luca, Mr. Cristian said that...no one can come in and disturb him."

Luca said, "Noa, Miss Serena is still outside waiting, if Mr. Cristian doesn't come out to see her, she will probably wait all night, didn't you guys get along before? Don't you want to help her?"

Noa bit her lip and hesitated, "I... it's not that I don't want to help Miss Serena, but you heard Mr.

Cristian's order, he doesn't allow anyone to come in and disturb him, otherwise... we will all be fired."

"So what? Just because you are afraid of being fired? Don't you care about Miss Serena at all?"

Noa felt blamed and explained, "Luca, it's not that I'm selfish, but you know more about Mr. Cristian's character than anyone else, if you go in now what can you achieve? Even if you could convince Mr.

Cristian to let Miss Serena in, but do you think they are in the mood to meet tonight? Now both of them are altered, if they see each other now it will surely end badly, sometimes emotions are uncontrollable do you understand?"

Luca remained silent.

"If you hadn't gone inside to talk to Mr. Cristian first, he wouldn't have given you that document to give to Miss Serena!"

Hearing this, Luca repented.

Yeah, Mr. Cristian was just angry before, if he hadn't come in to talk to him, Cristian wouldn't have pulled out that paper.

"So in the end this is all my fault?"

"If it's not your fault whose fault will it be? If you really want to do the right thing now you should convince Miss Serena to come back or take her to another place to rest, then when Mr. Cristian has calmed down you can bring them together."

Luca thought Noa was right, he nodded, "Okay! Then I'll go to Miss Serena, thank you and sorry for what I said before."

"There is nothing to apologize, do you think I don't like Miss Serena? She is so kind and so generous and treats us very well, we all wish she was always Mr. Cristian's wife. Come on enough, go to her and try to convince her, now it is already autumn and at night the wind is strong, Miss Serena--"

"I'll go right away." Luca after realizing how things were went away immediately.

After Luca left, Noa sighed.

This time, Mr. Cristian was really very angry, who knows if...they will get over that quarrel.

Luca went back to Serena again.

"Miss Serena."

Serena looked at him and saw that Luca always had a frowning face, he probably didn't have good news, so Serena directly avoided speaking, she always stood there.

"I know what you are going to say, you don't need to say it, I won't leave."

Luca said helplessly, "Miss Serena, it's not that I want to convince you to leave, it's just that today's situation is really peculiar. Take my advice, today I'll take you to a place to rest first, let's wait two days when Mr. Cristian has calmed down and we can come to see him okay? I promise you will be reconciled and return as before."

"No!" Serena insisted to stay there.

"You are thinking too simply."

Cristian was not that kind of person.

Chapter 312: Two stubborn people

He had never brought up the divorce agreement before, since he did prepare it meant that he had made his decision and would not change it!

But Serena could not understand it!

It was just a party, why did he care so much? Even if that party was really important, if she didn't go it would be normal for her to get angry, but why get so angry that she would bring up the divorce convention?

Was there some reason she was not aware of?

The more she thought about it Serena became more convinced that she wanted to see Cristian and clear everything up!

"Miss Serena, please listen to my advice, none of us would like to see you separate!"

Serena remained silent and did not respond to Luca.

She did not believe the story that Cristian would calm down a few days later, that problem of theirs needed to be addressed, if she and Cristian continued to ignore the issue and took a break it would be the end of their story.

Even if a day goes by, or two days, or even a week, Cristian will not get over that anger of his.

On the contrary, his anger will become deeper and deeper as time goes by.

"Miss Serena..." The guards also went to convince her to go.

Serena said, "Enough I know what I'm doing."

She was really stubborn, although her body couldn't take it anymore but she kept standing there, Luke tried to convince her to leave but couldn't, finally she gave up and went to look for Noa.

When Noa arrived, he already saw from a distance Serena standing with her physique looking so thin,

Noa was distressed to see her like that, he stepped forward and called her, "Miss Serena."

"Noa..." Serena was surprised when she saw her.

"Luca and I are thinking the same thing, Mr. Cristian is angry now, even if She stays all night here it won't do any good, isn't it better for Her to come back earlier and rest? In any case she won't be able to see Mr. Cristian today, it's better for her to come back earlier."

Serena looked at her, "Did you also come here to convince me to go?"

"Miss Serena I don't want to make you go, but right now the situation is like this, I heard Luke say that you want to stay here all night, if anything happens to you in the end you will be the one who will suffer and Mr. Cristian will not know anything about everything you are going through."

Serena said nothing, silently looked ahead, after a while she said, "I want to wait here, regardless of whether he wants to see me or not, whether he cares about me or not, this is my decision. Tonight I'm the one who broke my promise first, even if I wait here all night until I can't stand anymore, that's what I deserve because I'm the one who didn't keep my word."

With that said, Serena lowered her eyes.

"So I'm not just waiting for him, I'm also punishing myself for my mistake today, do you understand?"

Noa was a bit stunned, looked at Serena and could not say a word.

If Serena really thought like that, then Noa will not have to meddle anymore.

Thinking about it, Noa looked at her intently, "Are you sure you want to do this? You won't regret it?"

"No regrets."

"Alright!" Noa nodded, "I got it, I won't try to convince her to go anymore and I will also tell Luca not to do it, Miss Serena rest assured."

Serena turned a look of gratitude to Noa, "Thank you."

Noa turned and left, Luca anxiously pursued her, "What's your problem? I asked you to convince her to go, not-"

"You heard everything, even if I try to convince her it won't do any good, she has already made up her mind, everything we say will be useless. We can't do anything with Miss Serena or even Mr. Cristian, now please stay with Miss Serena, if she feels sick take care of her."

"I..."

Noa walked away, leaving Luca alone, who turned to glance at Serena.

It was better to let it go, they would not listen to them.

It will be done as Noa said, if something happens then we will see how to solve it.

Time passed and Serena did not move from there, Luca and the others kept an eye on her.

Serena did not know how long she had been there, late at night the temperature dropped more and more, they felt cold even the men outside well covered.

Then they looked at Serena who was wearing only a sleeveless dress, she was standing there in the freezing wind, they did not dare to imagine how cold she will feel all that time.

Luke went inside the room and poured a bottle of hot water, then went to Serena.

"Miss Serena, drink some hot water."

Serena looked at him, her lips moving.

"I know you are punishing yourself now, but if you faint you will not be able to wait for Mr. Cristian anymore...drink it for the well-being of your body."

What Luca said made sense, Serena gave him a smile and took the bottle of water, "Thank you."

When he reached for the bottle, Serena lost her balance and almost fell.

Fortunately, Luca caught her immediately, "Miss Serena are you okay?"

Serena straightened up again and nodded, "I'm fine."

After she got back on her feet Luca left her, Serena took the water and took a few sips, immediately felt the warmth fill her body and she no longer felt hungry and cold as before.

"I'm much better, thank you." Serena smiled at Luca and returned the bottle to him.

Actually almost half of his body was numb, he had underestimated the freezing night air, although it was not yet winter but it was really cold, he was freezing both physically and inside.

He was so cold.

Cristian...

She had been standing all that time and he still refused to see her?

Or maybe he didn't even know she was waiting for him there? Or did he know but still didn't want to go out?

She had been waiting for him all night and he hadn't come, he ... was taking revenge.

Suddenly there was a clap of thunder and soon after a flash of lightning lit up the sky surprising everyone.

Luke raised his head, "Damn, it's going to rain, Miss Serena let's go take cover."

Take cover from the rain?

Serena raised her head and looked at the sky.

There was no star, the sky was as black as her mood at that moment.

"Is it going to rain?"

Luke looked at her for a while, thought he couldn't convince her anymore so suddenly he turned and ran inside the house.

He was going so fast that Serena did not have time to call him, shortly after Luca left, the rain began to fall.

"Miss Serena, come here for shelter."

Chapter 313: You've already done enough

Serena nodded, she could not get wet at that moment because she might faint, if she fainted then what she was doing would all be wasted.

So she walked toward them, but as soon as Serena took two steps, she could no longer control herself and fell directly onto the frozen ground.

The rain fell on her face and all over her body, she got completely wet.

It hurt...

But Serena had to get up, she wanted to get out of the rain and keep waiting for Cristian to come out.

She had so many things to say to Cristian, she wanted to tell him that she wanted to give him her trust, that she wanted to love him unconditionally.

But why didn't he want to come out and see her?

At that moment Serena felt tears overflowing from her eyes that mingled with the rain, she could no longer tell whether her face was wet with tears or rain.

"Miss Serena!" Exclaimed the men who saw her fall to the ground.

Luke had not yet returned, Serena blinked, when she was trying to get up, a gentle voice with a somewhat angry tone suddenly sounded, "Don't go there, you don't need to."

That voice sounded so familiar, Serena wanted to see who it was, but before she could move, she was helped up, a pair of warm hands supported her strongly.

Serena fell into a warm embrace.

"You've done enough already."

The male voice rang out, Serena who found herself in the warm embrace felt a scent that was familiar mixed with the smell of blood.

"Come away with me, you don't need to stay here anymore. He does not want to see you, just lose your pride and dignity."

He finished speaking, the man brought Serena into his arms, Serena hugged his neck, raised her head and saw Leonardo's anguished gaze.

"Leonardo?" Serena was surprised to see him. How could he be there? Shouldn't he be in the hospital?

It was already deep night but he was there with her!

Then it meant that...

In an instant, tears filled Serena's eyes, she stared at him and asked, "You, why are you here?"

"How silly." Leonardo smiled, "Didn't I say that I will bring you before him? You haven't seen him yet, how could I leave alone?"

"I...he doesn't want to see me." Serena bit her lip, tears kept falling.

"It's okay." Leonardo restrained himself from the urge to wipe away her tears and smiled, "It doesn't matter now whether he wants to see you or not, if Cristian doesn't want to see you, then I will take you away from here."

She said this and walked off to leave.

Serena's expression instantly changed, she immediately grabbed Leonardo's sleeve, "No, I can't! I can't leave, I want to wait for him here, I have many things to tell him!"

Leonardo paused for a moment, lowered his eyes and had a reproachful look on his face.

"Don't you still want to understand him? He doesn't want to see you, if he cared about you at all, he wouldn't have left you here waiting until now, I tried to restrain myself from not getting out of the car just to make you understand this, face facts."

Serena remained silent.

His words hurt Serena who could not utter a word.

She stared at him and then began to cry.

"But tonight it was really my fault, I told him I was coming, but I didn't show up and made him wait all night, he's punishing me now, he wants me to know what it feels like to wait for someone, I should understand..."

"You are thinking too much, this is not your fault. If the car accident was your fault Cristian it would be really unfair, Serena I'm taking you away from here, now you are too weak and you are also hurt, if you stay here any longer you will be worse off."

Leonardo finished speaking and started walking again.

Serena tried to free herself from him.

"No, I don't want to leave! I said I will wait here until I see him! I can't go!"

"Ah" Leonardo let out a groan of pain, Serena stopped freeing herself because she knew Leonardo was badly hurt, she must have touched his wound as she freed herself.

Leonardo stopped, gave a bitter smile, "How come you don't keep releasing anymore? You can push me hard and go to that gate again, but I want to tell you that I was on the sidelines watching you before, however since I am here and I am going to take you away, I am not going to let you go easily, unless I faint otherwise I will not let you go back and see you throw away your pride."

Serena: "Leonardo, why are you doing this?"

"What about you? Why do you do that?"

Serena didn't know what to say, she bit her lip, "I know I owe you and I should listen to you, but I ask you please, let me go, this is a matter between me and Cristian and I want to deal with it alone, no matter what I do but I do it following my heart, you always told me to do things following my heart too didn't you? Then let me do it."

"No matter what you say, I will not leave you today." Leonardo held her in his arms and walked toward the car. The guards outside who observed that scene were stunned, what was going on? Why did Mr.

Leonardo suddenly appear there and take Miss Serena directly away?

"Please Leonardo, leave me down, I want to keep waiting for him, I gave my word and I don't want to break it again."

Serena was now too weak, her voice grew weaker and weaker and she was about to faint.

Leonardo was startled, he squinted his eyes, "Serena?"

"Let me...come back."

Serena despite losing consciousness continued to utter that sentence.

Damn!

Surely it must be because she had been standing still for a long time and the icy wind had made her lose her mind.

Otherwise, how come she felt her head spinning more and more and her vision blurred, it seemed as if the whole world was spinning as if there was an earthquake.

No, she could not faint-she had to wait for Cristian.

She still had many questions to ask him, she wanted to ask him what was going on? Why was he so angry? Why had he given her the divorce agreement?

Speaking of the divorce agreement.

"You're tired, now go to sleep and I'll take you away."

"No, I don't want to..."

Serena could no longer even hear his voice, eventually passing out completely.

Chapter 314: High Fever

"I am pregnant with his child and you are pregnant with a bastard, do you think Mr. Cristian will still want you?"

"Mr. Cristian does not want to see you, and you will never be able to come through this door again.

From now on, you will never be his wife again, please go."

"This is the divorce agreement, sign your name and you will never have to deal with me again in the future."

"By now you have married into a rich family like the Ferrari family, if it were not for Aurora giving you this opportunity, do you think you could become Mr. Cristian's wife? I'm just asking you to give me money to pay my debts, I raised you, this is your duty."

"Look how ugly you are, what man will want to marry you? The husband who slept in the same bed with you hasn't touched you for two years, you never thought about it what will be the reason?"

"Get out, get out of the Ferrari family and never come back."

No, I don't want to...

Those people and stories from the past appeared before Serena one by one and attacked her forcefully.

"No... don't kick me out, no..."

Leonardo who was next to Serena's bed had heard her mumbling all night long. All the time she was just repeating no, don't kick me out.

Leonardo sighed and his eyes were filled with anguish.

Since he had taken Serena to the hospital, she kept running a high fever, because of her pregnant state, she could not take certain medications, they could only cool her down to bring her temperature down.

Leonardo watched her for more than an hour, her fever not only did not go down, but was getting higher and higher.

The nurse was there taking care of her, she looked at Leonardo and said, "Sir, you for more than an hour have been by her side, you need to rest and get treatment, I am here."

"No." Leonardo shook his head, "If her fever doesn't go down I won't be able to rest."

"I will take care of her, her fever will surely come down, there is no use for her to stay here, she must rest."

Leonardo said no more, his gaze did not move in the slightest from Serena and continued to change the wet cloth to put on her forehead.

The nurse did not know what to do anymore, he was too stubborn, she could not convince him. The two of them first were both wounded but ran away, then when they came back they were soaking wet, the woman had fainted with high fever and the man had the infected wound but refused to treat himself and just wanted to be near the woman, the nurse really got a headache from the situation.

"Sir, I don't want to offend him, but you are wounded all over and you are also wet from the rain, if your wound gets infected you too will have a high fever, once you have a fever even though this young lady's fever will pass, but you might infect her again."

It seemed to Leonardo that the nurse was right.

The nurse continued, "Here leave it to me, I will definitely take care of the young lady, but You go first to get the wound treated."

Leonardo nodded and handed the wet cloth in his hands to the nurse.

The nurse finally breathed a sigh of relief, he was her patient, if anything happened to him he would not have a clear conscience.

Leonardo did not go far, he and Serena were in the same room with beds next to each other, the nurse looked for the doctor to treat Leonardo's wounds and she went to take care of Serena.

Although someone had treated Leonardo's wounds, but his gaze was always in Serena's direction.

"Lie down, you also have a fever." The doctor patted him on the shoulder and motioned for him to lie down.

Leonardo could not calm down; he continued to look at Serena.

"If you don't get treatment, later you may faint and who will assist you? Now lie down, you have a very strong physique, if you get treatment you will not faint."

So Leonardo lay down.

Soon after the doctor finished treating Leonardo, Serena's fever also began to drop, however Serena continued to have nightmares, talked in her sleep and had cold sweat on her forehead.

The two nurses who left the room started talking as they left.

"Oh my God, that man how affectionate he was, he was also very strong, you saw how he was hurt and yet he managed to hold on so far, he really had strong willpower, if I got hurt like that I would have already fainted."

"You can't understand, there are some men who would die for a woman, the look he had when he looked at that girl, it was so full of love that even I would be lost in his eyes. But why can't I meet such a man? So loving and so nice."

"Come on enough about that, if the head nurse heard us, she would scold us."

"But I didn't say anything bad, I was just talking."

"Stop talking, she will scold you, come on let's go."

The two nurses walked away.

Silence again returned to the hallway, it was already late at night, beyond the noise of machinery only the breathing of sleeping patients could be heard.

Leonardo lay on the hospital bed and looked at Serena who was on the bed next to him.

After all that had happened, he felt really tired, especially after the doctor treated him he felt particularly sleepy, he could hardly keep his eyes open.

He looked like he was going to fall asleep right away, but Leonardo tried to open his eyes.

He could not sleep, if he slept who would look at Serena, if he woke up and ran away again?

It was still raining outside, she had such a high fever earlier, her body surely couldn't handle another escape.

He had to try to stay awake.

Leonardo wanted to make a call to his secretary Cloe, but his cell phone was dead, in the end he could only ask the nurse to lend him her cell phone and so he called her.

Although it was deep night, Cloe after receiving the call immediately went to him.

"Mr. Leonardo, how ... did you get like this?" When Cloe arrived and saw them, she was shocked, first the two of them were fine and they were still at the restaurant eating, only one night had passed and they were reduced to that state, what must have happened?

"It's a complicated story, now I need your help."

Cloe immediately nodded, "Mr. Leonardo if you need just tell me, I am your secretary, it is my job to help you."

"Sorry even if it's not working hours but I made you come, but it's urgent."

Chapter 315 Defeat

"It's okay, Vice President Ferrari, how is Miss Gallo? She seems to be very sick." It was no wonder that Cloe was Leonardo's secretary; she immediately understood what Leonardo wanted.

"She has a high fever, she just came down."

Cloe turned to look at Leonardo, "Vice President Ferrari, rest assured. I will call someone to take care of today's matters. As for Ms. Gallo, I will take care of her. Vice President Ferrari, it seems that you did not rest last night. Go ahead and rest, otherwise you will have no more strength."

"All right, thank you." Leonardo looked at Cloe gratefully. She had been his secretary for many years and was able to understand the situation immediately and act accordingly.

Cloe had always been reliable in handling business; when she was around, Leonardo always felt calm.

Finally he could close his eyes. As soon as he closed them, Leonardo saw only darkness.

But this time Leonardo knew he could rest easy.

After a while, Cloe heard Leonardo's irregular breathing. She looked reluctantly at Leonardo and said,

"Ask yourself what love is, and you will find the people close to you."

Immediately after saying this, Cloe slinged, "No, I can't say this nonsense. Vice President Ferrari just fell asleep, but ... He was really nice to Miss Gallo."

Cloe settled down, then found a place to sit beside her. Her boss had called her in the middle of the night. She realized it must be something important, so she brought all the materials, including her diary.

She should now be able to handle her work well.

With this in mind, Cloe took her diary, rested it on her lap, and began jotting down the things that happened today.

She would probably stay at the company all day, after all, Leonardo will do exactly that. The company would probably be closed that day. So she had to get things ready for that day, or there would be a lot of things left to do. Wouldn't she have to clean everything herself?

Cloe was very efficient in her work. In a short time, she managed to finish the preparations for the day, and then sent them to the employees of the department. When she finished, she glanced at the time-it was not yet seven o'clock.

He could wait a little longer.

Cloe looked up and saw the two people lying on the hospital bed, there was no telling when they would wake up.

Finally, she sent a message to an employee asking him to call her back when he saw the message.

She felt a little sleepy, so she went to make herself a cup of coffee and drank it.

At ten o'clock in the morning, they were still not awake.

Serena was having a nightmare. The people in the dream kept attacking and insulting her. She did not know how to defend herself. Moreover, even if she countered, they would immediately attack and defeat her and then flee.

"No, no!!!" Serena screamed and suddenly opened her eyes.

The ceiling was white, looking like an expanse of snow.

After drinking two cups of coffee, Cloe was still sleepy and bored. Just as she was about to lean over the table and fall asleep, a scream suddenly woke her up.

Suddenly she opened her eyes, then looked in the direction from which the sound came, and saw Serena awake.

Quickly she rubbed her face, then stood up and walked toward her.

"Miss Gallo, you are awake."

Hearing a soft female voice, Serena was stunned for a moment before reacting.

It sounded familiar, but her head ached.... She seemed to know and not know this person at the same time.

"You are..."

Cloe changed her expression, "I am Cloe, the secretary of Vice President Ferrari. We met several times in the company. Don't you remember?"

After she reminded him, Serena suddenly remembered that they had met before in the company.

She was so sleepy that now she did not remember who it was.

Serena nodded and whispered, "I remember."

Cloe said with a sad smile, "I seem to go unnoticed. We've met several times, but she doesn't remember me."

Hearing this, Serena was embarrassed, and made to sit down.

Cloe hurried to help her sit down, then took a pillow and placed it behind her. Then, without her asking, he turned and poured her a glass of hot water.

When he returned with the hot water, Serena looked worriedly at Leonardo.

"Don't worry, Miss Gallo, Vice President Ferrari is fine, you don't have to worry about him."

"Really?" Serena lowered her eyes and remembered what happened last night. She was repulsed by Cristian. Then suddenly it started to rain, as it rained she slipped and was escorted away by Leonardo. She thought back to how badly he was injured, and despite that he stayed with her the whole time, Serena felt guilty.

"Yes, Miss Gallo, drink some hot water."

Cloe handed her a glass of water, Serena took it and drank, but did not finish it.

"What did the doctor say? He was with me last night in the rain."

After hearing this, Cloe was stunned. When she had arrived, everything was already in place, she only saw the results, so she did not know what had happened before, and she did not ask anyone. Hearing that question from Serena, she frowned, "When I arrived, the vice president was still awake, he had called me and asked me to take care of her. He couldn't fall asleep."

"..." Serena opened her lips but could not say a word.

Cloe thought about it for a moment and added, "It was early in the morning when I arrived. Do you remember when you arrived at the hospital?"

Serena did not answer. Although she did not know when she had arrived at the hospital, she could still guess. As she had just arrived at the hospital, Leonardo stayed awake to check on her before Cloe arrived.

This man... He was really good!

Serena did not know what to say about him. If she had been a person with ulterior motives, she would have simply rejected him. But he had no ulterior motives; she should have rejected him without mercy.

But why was he treating her so well without taking any advantage of it.

He felt guilty for everything he did for her.

She had no way to repay him!

But Leonardo-why hadn't she figured it out yet!!!?

"Miss Gallo, I have been the secretary of Vice President Ferrari for many years. Even if she seems like a nice person, once she has made up her mind about a person or situation, she will not easily change it. She does not need to feel guilty. After all, Vice President Ferrari did it of his own free will."

Chapter 316 His son was really lucky

Of course she knew he had done it of his own free will.

He had not asked her if she was willing to repay him, though.

"Ms. Gallo, there is no need to repay. I think that since Vice President Ferrari did all that, he had no plans to ask you for a return. After all... Vice President Ferrari is a very nice person. Don't worry, Miss Gallo. He won't ask you for anything."

Serena: "..."

In the past she had known only bad people, she never thought she would meet someone like that.

"I understand." She nodded and said nothing more to Cloe.

Cloe had said what she needed to say; there was no need to speak further.

Later, when the nurse came to the ward, she was relieved by the outcome of the checkup.

"You're really lucky, you're pregnant, you've been in the rain for so long, you've had a high fever for a long time, and before that you had a car accident, but the baby didn't suffer anything, you're really a very lucky girl."

"In the hospital we were all worried about your situation, but now you seem to be doing well. If you observe good rest these two days, you will be fine."

"Thank you." Said Serena with a pale face. After thinking for a moment, she asked again, "May I ask, how is he?"

The doctor was stunned; after realizing who she meant, he said, "His condition is much worse than yours. He suffered serious injuries after the accident. Although they are superficial injuries, they extended over a large area. In addition, he stood in the rain without having his injuries properly treated.

Carrying his body to take care of her, he strained himself, which led to him having a high fever."

After hearing these words, Serena's face paled even more, "So he..."

"He's fine now. Don't worry. He has a very strong physique. Combined with his willpower, we think he will wake up soon."

Serena felt a little relieved, then thought of Cristian.

A whole night had passed and she did not know what had happened to him. She wondered if he was still blaming her, if he was annoyed and didn't want to see her.

But Serena did not have the courage to leave before Leonardo woke up.

After her fever had broken, she felt weak and could not get out of bed.

At noon, Cloe asked her mother to bring Serena some food. Cloe's mother was a very kind woman.

Seeing Serena, she said to take care of herself.

Cloe could not stop herself from saying, "Mother, I asked you to bring some food. You don't need to talk so much."

Cloe's mom smiled and said, "You know that's how I am. I am very concerned about the situation of this girl who is the same age as my daughter."

Serena felt warmed in her heart and could not help but say, "The food is delicious, and you are really very good to your daughter, thank you."

Then she thought of her mother.

When they were little, it seemed to her that her mother gave all her attention to her sister Aurora. When she was little, she was very worried. She felt that her mother did not love her and preferred Aurora.

But when she grew up, she thought Aurora was her sister after all. Both were daughters of the same mother. There are no mothers in the world who do not love their children. But Aurora is her sister, so it is normal for her to be bitter toward Aurora.

Serena focused on this thought. In the end, she too is kind toward Aurora. This thought remained deeply rooted in her mind.

Until. Her mother did not ask her to marry Cristian instead of Aurora.

Later, her mother changed her attitude, gave all her savings to Aurora, and borrowed more money from Leonardo. When she later returned, her mother did not ask her anything about how she was doing, only sought her out to ask for money.

For a moment, she wondered if she was really the daughter of the Gallo family.

But if she was not the daughter of the Gallo family, whose daughter was she?

It would be nice if her mother had been the one to come to her when she was in the hospital. As Serena thought about this, a sad expression appeared on her face.

"What's going on? Am I wrong?" Cloe's mother asked, who saw her saddened expression, and then scolded herself, "I'm sorry, I shouldn't have spoken, I'll pack my things and leave."

Hearing this, Serena suddenly recovered and explained, "You misunderstood, I thought of my mother when I saw you, so... I miss her a little, I'm sorry I made you misunderstand."

"I understand, I thought I said something wrong."

Cloe said reluctantly, "Mom, stop complaining, it's really annoying. You can go now. The vice president is still resting. Mom, don't shout or else you will disturb him."

When she heard this, Cloe's mother glanced at Leonardo. She realized her voice was a little loud and immediately covered her mouth, "So I'm leaving now!"

Cloe whispered to her, "Come back soon, otherwise Dad will be anxious."

Cloe's mother said goodbye to Serena before she left the ward, and Serena also said goodbye to her.

After she left, Cloe sighed, "I'm sorry if my mom bothered you by talking loud, that's how she is."

"It's okay, she's nice, you must be happy together with her."

Cloe remembered past events and nodded, "In fact, my mother has no malice and is always enthusiastic with everyone. My father sometimes has no choice because she is too enthusiastic, which can make other people feel embarrassed, but she doesn't notice."

Cloe could not help but smile.

Seeing her sincere smile, Serena felt a wave of envy. If she could, she would also want such a happy family.

Actually, she didn't have much hope. Only sometimes, she thought that after getting married, she would like to go back to her mother's house and be hugged, she would be satisfied.

But... These things... They were impossible

None of these things.

"Drink the soup while it's hot, otherwise it won't be good." Cloe saw her motionless thinking, so she urged her to drink.

Serena came to her senses and nodded.

After they ate, Cloe stayed with her for a while, and Leonardo woke up. Serena was sleepy and almost fell asleep. Then she heard a sound, and quickly looked in Leonardo's direction.

"Vice President, he is awake." Cloe asked warmly, stepping forward, then thoughtfully brought him some food.

Leonardo's gaze settled on Serena.

Chapter 317 Will you go back to him again?

Cloe was stunned for a moment, then stood in front of Leonardo and explained softly, "Miss Gallo woke up before you. She already drank the soup, and did not report any serious problems."

Having heard that she was fine, and seeing her sitting there, although her face was still a little pale, he realized that she was better off than last night.

Leonardo contracted his dry lips, "All right."

"Now drink some water."

He did not move; his eyes were fixed on Serena.

Serena also looked at him. She just wanted to see if he was okay, but his gaze made her feel embarrassed. At that moment, Cloe handed him a glass of water, but he did not take it, he continued to look at her.

"Um..." Serena huffed slightly embarrassed, then lifted the blanket and got out of bed.

She walked over to Cloe. Cloe smiled and handed her a glass of water. Serena looked at her, and met Cloe's gaze. Cloe returned with a kind look, then stood up and said, "I'm going to buy something, I'll be right back."

With that, she left on her high heels with vigorous steps.

After Cloe left, a smile flashed in Leonardo's eyes. The secretary could really understand the important moments.

"Leonardo, you just woke up, drink some water." Serena gave him a glass of water and urged him to drink.

Leonardo was silent, he did not take the cup, only looked at it in silence.

"Non, aren't you thirsty?" Serena held the glass a little puzzled.

"I am without strength." Leonardo spoke little.

Hearing those words, Serena did not understand what he meant at first, but then she suddenly understood. Did Leonardo mean that he did not have the strength to take the glass and asked her to help him?

Serena's face immediately blushed. Under Leonardo's gaze, she felt so embarrassed that she nervously put the glass of water on the table.

Noticing her movements, the light in Leonardo's eyes darkened. A moment later, his thin lips moved, but he did not say a word.

The atmosphere in the ward was very awkward. Serena failed to take the initiative to give him water.

She brought him the cup and let him drink.

"Or... I'll call a nurse!"

At this point, Serena turned to press the button to call a nurse. Leonardo's gaze was stunned. He thought about calling a nurse just for a glass of water.

"Stop." Leonardo sighed weakly.

She had to stop, and she looked at him biting her lip.

It seemed as if Leonardo had made a particularly awkward request, but she also knew that he was really really embarrassing her.

Thinking about this, Leonardo smiled slightly, "I'm kidding, calling a nurse?"

"I..."

"I was just excited, so I made a joke... I'm sorry."

Hearing this, Serena raised her eyes and looked at him. After seeing his apologetic look, she was so embarrassed that she lowered her eyes, "I should be the one to say I'm sorry. You saved me and did so much for me, but I..."

She couldn't even give him a glass of water.

But... It was true that she couldn't!

Leonardo no longer embarrassed her, he stood up and reached for the glass of water on the table.

Seeing this, Serena hurried and made to take the glass and hand it to him.

At that moment, Leonardo accidentally touched her hand when he took the glass. Serena was so startled that she quickly retracted her hand. Fortunately, Leonardo had firmly taken the glass. He noticed with his dark eyes Serena's action.

He put the glass to his lips and drank a little. After moistening his throat, he said again, "I won't do anything to you. Don't be so afraid of me."

While he did not speak everything was fine, but as soon as he opened his mouth he immediately felt embarrassed, so he did not respond to Leonardo's words and stepped aside.

When Leonardo finished drinking the water, she reached out her hand to take it. Leonardo said, "Go back and rest."

Serena's hand stopped in midair and she withdrew it after a while.

"I'm sorry..." She apologized to Leonardo, then turned and went back to her bed.

Leonardo looked over her shoulder and suddenly said, "Serena."

Serena stopped but did not turn around.

"Do you want to go back to him?"

Serena was silent for a moment before turning around, "Did I ever leave? I still have a lot to tell him. I have to ask him what's going on."

"And after you ask him? You'll want to prepare the divorce papers, I suppose."

Serena, unconsciously, clenched her hands and teeth.

"He already wants to divorce you. If you go to him again, you don't want to throw your dignity under his feet and let him trample on it?"

"He won't do it without reason, there must be a reason. You saved me, rest today, I won't go anywhere, I will go to him after I leave the hospital."

Then Serena returned to her seat and did not speak to Leonardo.

Leonardo looked at her. He did not know what she was feeling. He just had a bitter feeling in his mouth.

He did not know how long this feeling would last.

He looked at the woman he loved there in front of him, but still he wanted to accompany her to the man she likes. That was all. A man who did not appreciate her.

Leonardo felt very angry. If he could, he really wanted to take Serena away by force, leave here and go to any corner of the world, as long as she did not see that man again.

However, he could not ignore Serena's feelings after all.

If she had cried, she would have shown an expression of sorrow or hated him, and he... He would have felt guilty.

In this case, he could only help her.

Helping her to take whatever she wanted and see her happy, then he would have to... Be satisfied.

Thinking about this, Leonardo made a decision.

After being in the hospital for two days, Leonardo said he was going to leave the hospital. Serena was still a little shocked when she heard the news, as was Cloe, because her injuries were still very serious.

The doctor had said he would be hospitalized for at least five days, but now it was only two days and he was about to leave the hospital.

"Why do you want to leave the hospital so soon? I have already taken care of the work in the company.

He can rest for a few more days."

Serena stood looking at him weakly, "It's not that you think you are imprisoned in the hospital with me, so you want to leave the hospital as soon as possible?"

Leonardo smiled slightly, "Stupid, what do you think? I am a man. These are only superficial wounds.

It's not right to stay hospitalized for so long."

Chapter 318 Difficulty is congeniality

"But..." Serena wanted to say something, but Leonardo approached her, shaking his head, "Well, let's talk about it later, Cloe, go fill out the paperwork for my release, then I'll settle down and leave."

Serena knew he was doing this for her, if he was not released, she would not leave, and if he asked her to leave, she would not, so she devised this way.

Leonardo. Why do you worry so much?

Somehow Serena began to feel sorry for him. She thought she had always been a bad person. She did not need Leonardo to treat her this way. Besides, they had not known each other for a long time, although he liked her.... Their relationship was fine as it was.

Cloe finished the procedures for the release of the two. During the process, the doctor advised,

"Although they seem to be fine now, I suggest you stay for two more days and observe the situation.

However, it's only a few days, can't you wait a little longer?"

But in the end, the doctor could only give them some advice before signing off and letting them go.

Serena left the hospital with them. When Leonardo had the car, Leonardo suddenly said, "She has to go to another place, Cloe."

Hearing this, Cloe was stunned, "But.... Aren't we taking Miss Gallo with us?"

Leonardo had a calm expression. Serena blinked, bit her lower lip and said, "All right. I really have to go somewhere, you guys go ahead, I'll leave later."

"Vice President Ferrari..." Cloe did not understand, it was clear that Leonardo liked Serena, right? But now why had he not taken the opportunity to accompany her to the car? Wouldn't leaving her at the hospital exit have damaged their relationship?

"Get in." Leonardo made her get into the car. The firmness in his eyes reflected his attitude at this moment. There was no alternative; Cloe had to get into the car.

Serena looked at the door and waved at them after it was closed.

She was not sad, because she knew what Leonardo's intentions were, and she was very grateful to him.

After the car drove away, Serena looked at the scene in the distance. Just as she took a step, she heard a familiar voice.

"Serena."

Serena was stunned by that sweet familiar voice. Then she turned and saw Anna standing across the street. She stood there with a bag on her back. When she looked at her, she smiled and greeted her.

"Here!"

Serena was stunned and stared at Anna across the street.

It was no wonder...

No wonder Leonardo left so quietly, apparently.... He had already prepared everything for her. He had not had a cell phone for two days. He did not contact anyone for the past two days. Anna had no idea what had happened to her. Now she was here right now, which meant that Leonardo had called her.

She did not expect... That she had already thought of everything.

Serena's eyes were red, she wanted to get closer, but Anna yelled at her, "Stay there and don't move.

I'm coming to you!"

Then Anna crossed the street. She ran to Serena quickly and slipped a bag into her hand.

"This is yours."

Serena took it and noticed that the bag was hers.

"This... How do you have it?"

"How do you think?" Anna glanced at her, "Not only are you not surprised that I'm here, but you can't even imagine how I have this bag?"

That was what she had said.

She did not expect Serena to take the bag without saying anything.

"Come on, after two days in the hospital you have lost a lot of weight, and you have wounds on the corners of your mouth.... Come to me, I'll buy you some meat to make soup."

Serena followed her moved.

After they arrived, Anna cooked her soup. Although she had been in the hospital for the past two days, she had actually been eating Cloe's mother's food, the treatment had not been that bad. On the contrary, it felt like home to her, but drinking Anna's soup gave her a whole different feeling.

"What happened to you ... Vice President Ferrari told me everything."

Anna suddenly said as Serena drank the soup.

"What do you think now? Vice President Ferrari is so kind to you. Are you really not going to give him a chance? Or do you want to continue being with Cristian?"

Serena did not speak, but suddenly put down her cup, "What about you? Would you give up the person you like?"

"Of course not." Anna quickly replied. After saying this she was stunned, then smiled, "Well, I understand. It is not difficult to love a person. The difficult thing is to get along. It is rare for you and Cristian to get along. But you don't want to separate just because of misunderstandings. I'll take you to Cristian later and explain it to him."

"Right." Serena nodded, "I don't know if he will want to see me now? It's already been two days."

"That's right, it's already been two days. Even if he was angry, he should be over it now, so there's no need to worry so much. It will go smoothly today when we see him."

"I hope so."

After eating dinner, they cleaned up. Anna then took Serena to the Atlantic villa.

After arriving at the Atlantic villa, the people at the door looked at her strangely. Luca wasn't there, but they still wouldn't let her in.

"Cristian still doesn't want to see me? What did he tell you to do?"

One of them said weakly, "He left us an order."

"What order did he leave you with?"

"Cristian -- you are no longer the mistress here, he told us that if you came again -- we would have to make you leave."

Hearing this, Serena's face suddenly paled, and her lips trembled, "You, what you said is true?"

"Of course we won't kick you out, but don't make things complicated, Cristian.... If he doesn't want to see you, you'd better leave."

"What are you talking about? Don't you understand that Cristian only said that because he was angry?"

If he really doesn't care about Serena, how can he give you orders like that? In any case, if he ordered you, that means he is angry.... Very angry. Maybe it will be difficult for them to meet now..." Anna lifted her chin and thought, and suddenly asked, "Is he in the house or has he gone out?"

Those people thought what Anna said was reasonable, so they did not dare to offend Serena. They merely nodded, "Cristian went out early in the morning."

"Very well. He only ordered not to enter the Atlantic mansion, but not to let you enter the company. We will go directly to the company to find him!"

Chapter 319 It's just a woman.

It was a plan.

Serena did not think about it in those two days, she only thought about knocking at the Atlantic mansion until Cristian wanted to see her.

Unexpectedly, Anna thought about it for her, Serena nodded happily, "Sure."

The people there hastily said, "Cristian should be at the company today. You two go to the company to find him."

"Thank you."

Serena thanked them before leaving and then left with Anna.

Turning around, she saw the small group of people getting into an argument with each other.

"This girl is really good, at least she is kind to us."

"Yes, and it was the first time Cristian brought a woman here, I thought..."

"Stop talking, only they know how things clearly are, we think about doing our job well."

When Serena and Anna arrived at the company, they found that Cristian had not given the order not to let them in the company, so Serena and Anna entered together and got into the elevator. Serena's heart pounded.

"I thought. He wouldn't let me into the company either." Said Serena with a lost expression and covering her chest.

Anna smiled cheerfully when she heard those words, "You're lucky you got in, I'll accompany you upstairs to find Cristian, that way you can talk, don't back out."

"Yes." Serena took a deep breath and gave herself courage.

"Come on!"

Serena finally took courage through Anna's encouragement. When they reached the upper floor, she took a deep breath and went outside. Anna suddenly said, "I will wait for you in the finance department downstairs. Come back to me when you are done talking."

Serena thought about it and nodded, "All right, go ahead to the finance department. I'll see you later."

After leaving Anna, the elevator door closed again. Serena took a deep breath and walked toward the office.

This was the place where she had worked in the past, so it was very familiar. She walked through the door and found Cristian in there.

She just had to find him and talk to him clearly.

Serena arrived at the office with a smile and knocked on the door.

Serena hesitated for a while and then knocked again. No noise came from inside.

Just when Serena wanted to go inside anyway, the elevator door opened with a sharp noise. Anna ran out of the elevator panting, "I just found out that Cristian went to a meeting. Now he and Luca are in the conference room."

"Conference room?"

"Well, the meeting will be over in about an hour, so you might want to wait..."

"I'll wait for him in the office."

"You wait here, I'll text you."

Serena knew there was a waiting room in the office. She had been there before. She just needed to stay there for a while, then she would clear up with Cristian.

After Anna left, Serena pushed open the office door, walked in, and then went directly to the waiting room.

The waiting room was very large. Waiting for an hour would be long, so Serena lay down on the large sofa.

She thought that it would take an hour anyway....

Otherwise she could sleep for a while, when Cristian returned later, she would wake up.

Very soon Serena fell asleep....

Initially, she just wanted to take a nap; instead, she really took to sleep. When Cristian returned from the meeting, Luca followed him through the door and listened to him sneer, "Leonardo is still not back in the company today? It's really just you and me."

Luca immediately understood to whom that sentence referred. After a moment of silence, he explained,

"Cristian, maybe Serena is not with him. Maybe ... something happened that caused a delay."

"Since when do you apologize for others?" Said Cristian coldly, who did not believe Luca's words.

Luca approached him and said, "Cristian, it's not that I want to excuse her, but that night, Serena really waited outside the door all night, and...."

"She waited all night?" Cristian sneered, "And I was the one who made her wait? Why don't you say that I waited for her too? Besides, who would have said that she waited for me all night? How come when I went out in the morning I didn't see anyone?"

Luca rolled his eyes, it's not that if you don't see a person then it means they are not in that place.

When Luca came out later, he heard what the guards said. However, Cristian was still angry, but he would not have expected that after he returned, Cristian suddenly asked him where Serena was. Luca could not answer him right away.

Cristian was silent for a moment, then said unnerved, "Does he want to sign the contract and leave?"

Are you so looking forward to the divorce?"

"Cristian, things are not as you think, your wife, she..."

However, before he could say anything else, he was kicked out by Cristian, and then in the blink of an eye came that day.

"Didn't I tell you that she is no longer my wife? Who are you referring to when you talk about my wife?"

Luca: "I know, I won't say it again."

If he wanted to be proud, let him continue to be proud. However, in the end, he is not the one who is sad and angry.

He is also tired of being a middleman. He had a lot to say, but he could not say it. And when he wanted to speak, Cristian would not give him a chance to speak.

"I will arrange the documents for today's meeting and send them later." Luca turned and walked out of the office, after closing the door, sighing helplessly.

Only Cristian remained in the office.

He sat in front of the office with thin lips and a cold face. The papers on the table had already been put in order by Luca.

When Serena was his assistant, Serena was responsible for all these things.

But now...

At the thought of that woman, Cristian's eyes darkened.

A moment later, he raised the corners of his lips in self mockery.

It's too late Cristian, why are you still thinking about that woman?

Forget about her!

She has nothing to do with you now. Anyway, she was a woman who had married instead of her sister and was even pregnant. There was nothing special about her.

What kind of woman would this be? Did she really have to feel bad for this woman?

Ridiculous!

But Cristian, the more he thought about it, the more annoyed he was, because when he wanted to work, he always remembered her. The more he wanted to put her out of his mind, the clearer her image became.

Cristian was always able to control his thoughts, but not when it came to Serena.

This made him-very angry.

Was she just a woman, Cristian was acting this way?

Chapter 320 The last word in this game.

Thinking about this, Cristian threw his pen aside, and then pushed his chair toward the room with a cold look.

In fact, he had not been able to sleep well for the past few days. Because of the problems with that woman, he had begun to sleep much less. When he closed his eyes each night, in front of him he kept seeing her face. After he finally managed not to think about her, he would see her again in his dreams.

So Cristian could not sleep well in the last few days, and he was restless all day long. Now... There was an air of ferocity in his gaze; he seemed to have been up late.

After pushing open the door to the hall, Cristian froze, and frowned.

There was a faint scent in the air that seemed not to belong here.

Because the hall was where Cristian came to rest, and it was cleaned by a special staff, and he had high requirements, so he was particularly sensitive to smells.

The faint scent hovering in the air was immediately detected by Cristian.

Shortly after frowning, Cristian felt there was a familiar breath. His sharp gaze scanned the entire room, but he saw no one.

Finally, Cristian turned toward the large sofa behind him.

The sound of wheels was very light, but the room was so quiet that it seemed almost abrupt. Serena was in a deep sleep on the sofa and heard nothing.

One second, two seconds...

Cristian finally reached the couch and saw the woman lying there.

Wasn't she the woman he had been thinking about all those days even though he was angry with her?

The moment he saw Serena, Cristian felt the anger he had accumulated over those two days fade away. Then, involuntarily, he approached Serena.

Serena was sleeping peacefully. Her eyelashes cast a fan-shaped shadow on her white face around her eyes. The curtains of the room were ajar, and the penetrating light made her look even more beautiful.

Serena had a long breath, and her skin was so white that it looked as if it could break with a touch. She looked like. There was a feeling of tranquility about her.

It was this woman who had stolen his heart.

From the moment she entered his house, his heart was filled with feelings, he could not forget her after only a quarrel.

If... She could always be like this, quiet beside him, he would have nothing to worry about, there would be no need for contact with other people, especially Leonardo.

But...

Thinking about what happened two days ago, Cristian's gaze, previously calm, became restless again.

It was like a calm sea in which suddenly waves begin to rise, and it was not known whether in the next second the waves would rise even more turbulent.

Serena slept well; in the previous days she did not sleep very well. When she came there to Cristian, she suddenly felt comfortable.

But there seems to be something wrong with the atmosphere in the room. Why does it suddenly seem to get cold?

Serena unconsciously cried out, frowned, and curled up.

However, she still felt very cold. Finally... Serena felt that something was wrong and slowly opened her eyes.

She had a confused look on her face as soon as she woke up.

Cristian was shocked when he saw that look.

It was as if he was in a world made of ice and snow, and suddenly a thick fog descended. Everywhere was foggy, and he could not see in any direction.

Gradually, after Serena saw Cristian in front of her, the fog in her eyes gradually dissipated, and then the clouds disappeared for her to see the moon.

"Cristian..."

She only managed to say his name. Serena's wrist had been gripped tightly. Before she realized what was happening, she was lifted off the couch and pulled into a hug.

After that, she was kissed.

Serena stared at Cristian's face.

Instead of closing his eyes, he looked at her with a deep gaze, his fierce gaze like that of a hawk made her panic.

Their lips were close to each other, but Serena felt no warmth. The atmosphere between them was cold.

She felt as if she had fallen into a frozen cave and had no way to react.

The burning pain from her lips brought Serena back to herself. She opened her eyes wide and tried to pull away from Cristian.

But Cristian stood as fixed as a mountain.

She did not have enough strength compared to him.

She had no idea how much time had passed before Cristian withdrew his lips and pulled away from her.

Serena fell onto the couch she had been lying on earlier, feeling embarrassed.

"What are you doing in my room?"

After Cristian pushed her away, he raised his hand and extended his index finger to wipe the blood from her lips. The corners of his lips bent into a wicked, arrogant smile. Unexpectedly, that sight was enchanting.

No... Serena shook her head, this was not the time to get lost watching him.

She had come to find Cristian to clear things up.

Thinking about this, Serena forgot about the pain in her lips, and said anxiously, "Cristian. I have something to tell you."

"You have something to tell me?" Cristian looked at her with a cold gaze, "Why do you think I have time to listen to you? Or do you think you are still my wife?"

Serena: "..."

She bit her lower lip and looked at him stubbornly, "Even though I got the divorce contract, it doesn't mean I accepted it."

"Oh, that contract is only informative, not to know your opinion. Woman, you'd better figure out where you stand. I have the final say in this game."

"Why?" Serena asked him, "Wasn't everything going well before? Do you want to get divorced just because I didn't come to the party and you waited for me? Cristian, when did you become so superficial?"

"Superficial?" Cristian's eyes were suddenly crossed by two huge waves. He sneered and raised his hand to hold her chin, "I asked you to choose, and what choice did you make? I gave you a night's time. You didn't show up. Is he really so much better than me? So much better that you couldn't let him go. You wanted to be with him all night and not even come to me for a moment at the party?"

After hearing those words, Serena's breathing stopped and she looked at him astonished.

"You-you know I was with Leonardo that night?"

"Leonardo? I can see that you are very close, or am I wrong?"