Chapter 321 Please don't push me away.

Serena blinked and her long eyelashes flickered.

"Why didn't you say earlier that you knew I would see Leonardo that day? I wasn't going to hide it from you!"

He bit his lip, feeling great regret.

She wondered why he was so angry, and when she asked herself, her expression and her look became strange-she cared about him, that's why she wanted to rush to the party.

She did not expect... That all those things would happen later.

"You didn't want to hide it from me?" Cristian's mocking look fell on her face, "You are such a liar. What did you tell me before you went out? That you had a date with Anna? Don't take back what you said.

And you also told Luca that you would get to the party on time. What happened instead? You didn't show up all night!"

"That's what I did!" Serena defended herself, "I really did go to the party that night, but I had an accident and arrived late. And I saw Anna that night. Leonardo was there too, but Anna was there! I didn't lie to you!"

"Then why didn't you tell me?"

Serena tried to defend herself the best she could as Cristian's voice grew louder and louder.

Serena was stunned by that high-pitched voice. She stared at him for a long time and then lowered her gaze weakly, "I was wrong. I shouldn't have hidden it from you.... I didn't want to hide it from you, but...

was afraid you would misunderstand."

Leonardo's relationship with his brother was very sensitive, so he did not dare mention that name in front of Cristian.

"What a good motivation." Cristian laughed at her.

Serena raised her head and looked at him, "I did not handle the situation well, I apologize to you, Cristian.... I..."

But he could not say the last sentence.

Serena felt distressed, took a deep breath and looked at him quietly.

His eyes were cold, without a trace of warmth, almost as cold as his heart.

Facing Cristian, Serena felt all her courage fade away. She was a little frightened. If-if he didn't speak now, could it be that-he would have even less courage to speak to him in the future?

Thinking of this, Serena gritted her teeth and said, "Cristian, we..."

"We will divorce."

Cristian suddenly interrupted her.

All that remained was astonishment.

"You were given the contract. Wasn't that what you wanted? Now do whatever you want, take the contract and leave. You can be with whoever you want. It has nothing to do with me."

Serena stared at him, stunned.

"Are you serious? Not only are you angry with me, but...? Do you really want to divorce me?"

"Do you think I'm joking?"

Serena was speechless, with a knot in her throat, as if something had blocked her heart.

"Go away, I'm not for you. Serena, you were married instead of your sister, right? Now you are free."

You are free.

Go away, I am not for you.

These words cut Serena's heart like a knife.

He said very calmly, but it was hard for her to accept it.

After Cristian finished speaking, he turned to leave.

Serena did not know where his courage came from, but suddenly she stood up and jumped off the couch to block him, "You want to kick me out. Don't you like me at all? Cristian, who was it who had told me that I could trust him, and now you kick me out, how can I believe what you say?"

Cristian's gaze was icy: "It's up to you, it has nothing to do with me."

"It has nothing to do with you?" Serena sneered, pointing to her own lips, "Can you tell me why you kissed me just now? Since you want to divorce me and you hate me so much, why did you kiss me?"

Cristian stared at her expressionless.

Serena looked at him, and the two looked at each other stubbornly.

A moment later, Cristian suddenly came up to her and grabbed her in his arms, and swept her away again with a kiss.

Serena was stunned for a while, and then let go, closing her eyes.

She wanted to put her arms around Cristian's neck, but Cristian let her go abruptly, and Serena fell to the carpet.

"See?"

He reached out to wipe the corners of her lips. His expressionless gaze held no emotion.

Serena's lips were slightly open. After a while she lowered her eyes and smiled bitterly, "What do you mean? Are you making fun of me? Are you telling me that you can kiss me and hug me even if you hate me? You just want to treat me like a doll, right?"

"Now that you've figured that out, go away."

Although he liked kissing her, Cristian hated it when others betrayed him.

He had seen his mother suffer, and he didn't want the same thing to happen to him.

Because she was so insecure, he decided to finish this himself.

He let her go wherever she wanted.

Serena sat on the ground without responding, looked down and lowered her head.

After a while, she slowly got up again.

"You know, Cristian, today I came to make peace with you. I know I did something wrong that night, so I should pay a price to repay you. Even if you're angry with me, it's only fair. Because I have not kept my promise. I am willing to accept any punishment but.... Not divorce."

Suddenly Cristian's pupils narrowed-what had this woman just said?

"I really like you..." Serena said this sentence trembling, tears in her eyes, "That night I really had a valid reason for what I did, but then I decided to be with you."

She raised her head and looked firmly at Cristian: "So don't leave me, okay?"

Cristian: "..."

Serena suddenly jumped forward and hugged Cristian's neck with both hands. She hung onto his neck with all her strength.

Cristian's body remained sitting composed. When he was hit by her, he stepped back in his wheelchair.

He felt her delicate, weak hands wrapped around his neck, and heard the sobs in his ears.

His cold heart was almost moved.

"Give me another chance, I won't see him again, okay?"

Serena hugged him, and never meeting his gaze again, she finally had the courage to say what she wanted.

As long as she made an effort, she would have no regrets.

Cristian, please... Give me another chance!

Just one!

If you push me away again, I will no longer have the courage to rely on you.

So... Don't push me away.

Please.

Chapter 322 I will disappear forever.

Don't push me away, please.

Serena closed her eyes and kept repeating this sentence silently in her heart.

She hoped that Cristian also had feelings at that moment.

Instead, she didn't.

Cristian suddenly grabbed her slender arm to drag her away. Serena understood what he was about to do. She became agitated and reached out to grab him by the neck and did not let go.

When had she learned these damn moves? He had never seen her like this before.

Cristian scowled and said in a deep voice, "Let me go!"

Serena bit her lower lip and closed her eyes with a relieved expression, "I won't let go."

Cristian: "Are you going to let me go or not?"

"I won't let you go, even if I die. Cristian, I just want to annoy you. You and I are married. You can't do this to me."

"Ah..." Cristian suddenly sneered quietly, "You're really good at acting. If I didn't know better, I would be really afraid that you would cheat on me."

Serena was stunned, and loosened her grip.

Taking advantage of the loosening, Cristian pushed her hand away.

Serena took two steps back to steady herself, and looked at Cristian, expecting to be pushed away.

He really wanted to... Did he really want to divorce her?

"Looks like you won't give up until you know the truth. Follow me."

Cristian walked out of the room. Serena stood still in place before deciding to follow him slowly.

She followed Cristian to the outer office, saw him go to the desk, open the drawer and then take out a paper envelope and throw it on the desk.

"Look, read and then go away."

The tone was so unfriendly...

Serena was suddenly discouraged.

She stopped and looked at Cristian.

Cristian frowned in discomfort, "What's going on?"

"I don't care what's in it, it's just something to try to persuade me, isn't it?"

Cristian tightened his lips and looked at her.

"So..." Serena smiled, "I won't look."

"However, there are thousands of reasons why you want me to leave. I begged you humbly, but you still want to push me away, so.... Whatever."

Serena did not take those papers, did not want to know what they were.

She had already done enough today.

And yet, Cristian did not want to retrace his steps.

Absolutely not.

What else could she stay for?

To be humiliated by him?

"I'm sorry, I'll disappear and I won't be seen again."

Having said that, Serena tried to hold back her tears, and showed Cristian a big smile.

Her smile was sad. Although superficially she had bent her lips into a smile, her expression and eyes made clear her despair.

After all, she had chosen it herself, so why was she showing herself like this now?

Cristian moved his lips, but made no sound.

Serena turned and slowly left the office.

When she came out of the office, she came face to face with Luca.

Seeing Serena in tears, Luca was shocked, "Serena, you..."

Serena did not look at him and moved on.

Luca wondered why Serena was here, and quickly rushed into the office to ask Cristian, but Cristian prevented him from speaking.

"Get rid of these documents and never allow her to enter the company again."

Luca was shocked for a while before reacting, "Cristian, are you...? Breaking up with Serena for good?"

Are you really unrepentant?"

Hearing those words, Cristian frowned and said sharply, "Since when have you been questioning my decisions?"

Luke: "... But Cristian, this thing..."

"Get out."

"Cristian!"

"Get out!!!" Cristian suddenly lost control and threw the things that were on the desk on the floor.

Everything on the desk fell to the floor making a huge noise. However, Serena was already standing far away and did not hear any noise.

Luca stared at that scene for a while, and finally remained silent and walked away.

Anna waited anxiously in the financial department. She waited a long time for Serena to return, then wondered if she had been away for so long, was reconciliation with Cristian possible, and then were they back together?

Anna felt very happy when she thought that the two could be together.

In that case, she would not have to worry anymore. After such a thing, the two would surely achieve positive results!

So Anna thought that when they were reconciled, she would ask Serena for something in return. After all, it had been hard for her to run back and forth for Serena these days.

"Anna, didn't you come together with Serena?"

A colleague suddenly asked her.

Anna recovered and nodded, "Yes, I came with her, but how do you know?"

"I saw you, I was downstairs when you arrived. Didn't you ask for permission for today? Why did you come to the company?"

"I'm having fun, I asked for a leave to come to the company not to work."

"... So you didn't leave with Serena?"

"Can't you see I'm waiting for her?"

"But we saw Serena downstairs, apparently she left."

"What?" Anna jumped to her feet instantly, "She left? When?"

"Just now..."

Shit!

Anna rushed to turn back.

"Wait, when you saw her downstairs, was she leaving alone or was someone there with her?"

She had to know things as they were, otherwise if she was not clear about the situation, she would have rushed downstairs and disturbed the others, what else could she do?

"She left alone and seemed to be in a bad mood, I'm wondering-what's the problem?"

"Does it need to be said? She hasn't been coming to the company lately. Wasn't there a rumor that she was having an affair with President Ferrari? Now it seems she has been dumped by President Ferrari."

Other colleagues heard and could not help but cheer.

Immediately someone said, "So she was crying like that because she was really dumped. I've always wondered, how did President Ferrari appreciate that woman, she was probably good in bed and had fun with her in those brief moments? Now that the novelty has worn off, he doesn't need her anymore."

A group of people laughed.

Anna's expression suddenly changed and she shouted, "What are you talking about? Serena not that kind of person! She is simply in love with President Ferrari! You think everyone is as dirty as you are!

You are obscene!"

Chapter 323 Despair

After she had reprimanded them, Anna turned and ran away quickly.

According to what she had been told, Serena had probably broken up with Cristian, so is that how it is?

So was she so sad that she forgot that he was waiting for her at the financial department?

She had to find Serena quickly, going out like this is very dangerous!

"What is the problem with Anna? There are so many girls in our department, why did she go to befriend that woman? And she keeps defending her so much?"

"In short, it's probably because he saw her being together with President Ferrari all the time, so he hopes to gain benefits from her. After all, she wants to climb the ladder of society. It's not hard to understand that she just wants to improve her position in the company."

Anna ran to the elevator without caring what they said, pressed the ground floor button and waited anxiously.

When the elevator stopped on the ground floor, Anna rushed to find Serena.

Anna looked everywhere for Serena, but she had no idea where she was on the ground floor; she could only run around and ask the guard.

The guard knew Serena well. After all, many people were talking about her in the company.

"You're saying she just ran in that direction.... I don't know what happened, it's all very strange."

The guard pointed to the opposite alley, "When she crossed the street there were no cars, fortunately she had no accident. Then she went into that alley. You can go and have a look, but be careful."

"Thank you." Anna left immediately, crossed the street to the alley, there were not many forks in the alley, and increased her pace, she was able to find Serena very soon.

Serena was tired because she had walked a lot, and she sat down on the ground, not caring whether the surrounding ground was dirty or not. When Anna found her, she was sitting on the ground.

She was out of breath and walked slowly toward Serena.

"I found you, Serena... You startled me, why are you sitting here? Get up, let's go home."

Serena did not move, her eyes were downcast and she looked calm.

Anna sighed and pulled up in front of her.

"Don't be sad. Do you want to go home together? Do you want to talk about what to do in the future?"

Serena raised her head and stared at her with red eyes.

Even though Anna was a woman, she felt terribly distressed looking at her in that state. She really didn't know what had happened with Cristian. He had really broken up with Serena.

Anna didn't ask for more, she just took her by the hand, "Get up, I'll take you home."

Serena did not move, just stared at her in silence.

Her eyes were as red as a rabbit's, but she continued to hold back her tears.

A moment later, Anna heard her say, "Anna, I'm afraid I will live up to your expectations."

Anna felt an ache in her heart, "Serena, you..."

"We broke up."

Serena showed a faint smile, and finally tears fell from the corners of her eyes, "This time she really doesn't want me."

Anna was too uncomfortable to speak. She knew it was useless to comfort her at that moment. No matter what she would say, Serena would only feel more uncomfortable. "Let's not talk about it, let's go home first."

He wanted to pull Serena to her feet, but Serena wouldn't. Anna had a terrible headache, "Do you want to come back with me? We'll discuss it later. There must be a way."

"No, there's no way, she won't go back on her feet and ... I don't have the courage to do anything anymore."

Serena lowered her eyes, and rested her head on her knee, "I don't want to look for him anymore. I don't want to..."

"Alright, then we won't look for him anymore, do we want to look for a man who is a hundred times more powerful than him? Look at Leonardo, he is so kind to you..."

Leonardo!

Speaking of Leonardo, Anna had a sudden idea.

Of course, she could have asked him for help now.

Otherwise, she feared that Serena could not really make it.

His look was full of despair, which scared her a lot.

After making a decision, Anna told her, "All right, wait here for me, I'll be right back."

She took her cell phone and went to a distant place to call Leonardo, and then explained Serena's situation to Leonardo.

"I understand, I'll be right there."

"Alright, hurry up, now she looks a little scared, I'm worried.... I can't handle her by myself."

Having said that, Anna hung up the phone, and then returned to the place where she was just before.

Her expression suddenly changed, "Serena?"

Serena, who had previously been sitting on the floor, had disappeared.

Serena!

Gallo family

"Mom, tell my sister that I want to enroll in an art school, but it's private and very expensive, please help me convince my sister to help me."

"Aurora!" Julia looked at Aurora helplessly and sighed, "It's not that your mother doesn't want to help you. You saw your sister last time. She doesn't even want to talk to me anymore. She is really ungrateful. I raised her only to be kicked out as soon as she got married to Cristian."

Hearing this, Aurora was outraged, "I was the one who granted her this. I should be Cristian's wife. If I had not allowed her to marry him, where would she be today? Mom, you have to tell my sister to pay my tuition, or else.... We would tell who she really is."

Giulia had an idea, "Are you saying that..."

"Yes, if the Ferrari family knew that she is Serena and not Aurora, they would be furious! And isn't my sister divorced? As long as we use this to threaten her, my sister will give us the money obediently."

Julia was not happy with this suggestion, "However, she is my daughter. This would only be a personal gain for me."

"But..." Aurora snuggled into Giulia's arms, "Mother, are you sure it's so unkind after all..."

"What's wrong with that? If I hadn't allowed her to get married, where would she be today? She should be grateful! We allowed her to get where she is today. Don't worry Aurora, I will go to her and clear things up, don't worry about taxes."

"Thanks, Mom!"

Ding dong.

"Mom, someone rang the doorbell, I'm going to see who it is."

Aurora got up to go open the door. After opening the door and seeing who was outside, she was amazed, "You.... Who are you?"

Outside the door were many men in suits with serious expressions. In the middle, a man with a deep gaze and exceptional temperament stood in front of her, "Hello, is this the Gallo family home?"

Aurora did not have time to answer that she immediately heard Julia ask as he walked toward her,

"Aurora, who is it?"

Chapter 324 Visits

When she came to the door, Julia saw that group of men standing outside the door, all strange in face.

Her expression immediately changed and she said, "Aurora, close the door!"

Aurora did not react, and Giulia reached out her hand to close the door.

But they were too slow; one of the men stepped forward to prevent them from closing the door.

Giulia did not close the door. She fell backward frightened. Seeing Aurora in front of the door, she hurriedly pulled Aurora behind her, and then said, "What do you want? I warn you that I have no money!!! If you want money, go to my daughter. My daughter is Cristian's wife. She can give you a lot of money."

After hearing that the daughter was Cristian's wife, the man with a noble and cold temperament frowned slightly, "What did you say?"

Julia was stunned and narrowed her eyes, "What? Don't you believe what I said? Are you here to collect debts? I said I have no money. If you want that money, go to my eldest daughter. She is Cristian's wife. She will give you the money no matter how much it is."

"Mother." Aurora looked at the man in front and said, "I don't think he's one of them. Don't talk nonsense."

After that Aurora gently pushed Julia away and smiled at the visitor, "Sorry, my mother is a bit confused because of mental problems. May I know who you are?"

At that moment, a girl in high heels emerged from the crowd. After learning of the situation, she smiled,

"Miss Gallo, I'm sorry to disturb you, but we have no bad intentions and have not come to collect any debt. Don't worry."

Chiara handed over her business card, "My name is Chiara."

Aurora took the dubious business card and glanced at it. When she saw that she was the secretary of Matteo, the president of the Giordano Group, her eyes lit up.

In North City the most famous company was definitely the Ferrari group, but in second place was the Giordano group. It was still a great way to rise in social status. However, Cristian held control of the Ferrari group, while the Giordano group was a bit smaller.

However, the Giordano group in North City remained a very important company.

In addition, Serena was friends with Alice. Aurora was envious as hell because she felt excluded by a member of the Giordano group. She even thought that they had come to tell her that she was the abandoned daughter of the Giordano family, and that they now wanted her back with them so that she could inherit the Giordano group.

That would be great.

"Good morning." Seeing that she was the secretary of the Giordano group, Aurora's attitude immediately changed. She immediately put the business card away and looked at the man behind her.

"What can I do for you?"

Chiara smiled and her eyes fell on Giulia behind her, "Ms. Gallo, we have something to ask Ms. Gallo."

Giulia realized that they were not there to collect debts. Lately she had been afraid that creditors would be looking for her, so she was startled when she saw a group of people at the door. But now she quickly realized that they were not there for that.

She did not imagine.

"Aurora, do you know them?"

Saying this, Julia's suspicious gaze fell on the man's face.

The dark suit outlined the slender and beautiful form of his body. The noble temperament made it clear that he was not an ordinary person. How can ordinary people have this aura? This kind of aura is typical only of those with high status.

And as soon as she heard that they had not come to collect debts, Julia immediately changed her expression.

"Visitors are guests, come on sit down. Aurora, prepare some tea for the guests."

Aurora smiled and nodded, "Sure, mom, I'll go right away."

Aurora went to prepare the tea while Giulia made Matteo sit down.

Matteo was expressionless, from the time he had entered until now, his gaze betrayed no emotion.

Aurora purposely sat beside him when she came to bring tea.

Matteo frowned slightly and avoided all contact.

What kind of family members are they?

Matteo looked up slightly, and his fierce, cold eyes swept over Aurora and Julia.

They were completely different from what he imagined them to be.

Serena was completely different from them.

Chiara was Matteo's secretary and a very intelligent person, how was it possible that she could not see the so different attitude of Aurora and Giulia?

"Hello, Mrs. Gallo. President Giordano would like to ask you some questions, but..." He looked at Aurora and said with a slight smile, "These questions are very important. Could you ask Ms. Gallo to come out and wait a while?"

After hearing those words, the two changed their expressions, and then looked at each other. Aurora quickly sat down next to Julia and curled her lips, "I am her daughter. What is it that I could not know?

Or, is there something wrong with my mother? Then I ask you on behalf of my mother not to embarrass her."

Julia hugged her daughter moved by those words and said, "That's right, Aurora is my daughter. There is nothing she cannot know. If there are any problems, tell me."

Matteo remained silent, but his breathing changed constancy. His eyes fell calmly on Aurora's face,

"Ms. Gallo, you misunderstand. I just want to ask Mrs. Gallo some questions. We are not offended by Mrs. Gallo. If it were possible, could you leave us alone, Ms. Gallo?"

His eyes seemed to have the power to suck in her soul. When Aurora met his gaze, she immediately felt enraptured and fascinated. Initially she wanted to stand there and listen, but now, stunned by his voice, she nodded shyly.

"All right then, Mr. Giordano, Mom, you go ahead and talk, I'll go buy some water, I'll be back soon."

Could it be that Giulia could not understand her daughter's thoughts? Aurora has a boyfriend, how could she have this attitude with other men? But... Even though her boyfriend is a rich man, compared to the one who was now standing in front of her.... He was completely different.

If... Julia began to think to herself.

Then she nodded smilingly, "Go, Aurora, come back soon."

After Aurora left, Giulia looked at Matteo with a bright smile, "Mr. Giordano, you can ask any question now."

Matteo remained silent, and looked at Chiara for a long time.

Chiara immediately understood and put the picture she had prepared on the table.

Chapter 325: She is not your biological daughter.

Originally, Julia had a flattering smile, but after touching the photo, her gaze suddenly changed, she then raised her head to look at Clare.

"What is that supposed to mean?"

Chiara smiled slightly, "I look at your reaction, you looked at the photo."

Hearing this, Julia reacted abruptly and quickly waved her hand, "Never seen, I have never seen this picture. I don't understand, what do you want me to do with this? I didn't do anything...it's not that you want me to make you a lucky charm? Hahaha..."

Chiara did not flinch and calmly pushed the photo in front of Julia's face.

"It does not matter if you do not recognize this lucky charm, please look at it again..."

In this photo is a small child with skin as clear as snow, large round eyes, and a small nose and mouth.

Although this person was still small, the facial features were still solid.

And the little girl in the picture is wearing the lucky charm.

When she saw this picture, Julia could not stand still and her arm under the table kept shaking.

"If she does not know the pendant, surely she will know this little girl?"

When Chiara asked, Julia looked up in panic and shook her head, "I don't know what you are talking about. What does this child have to do with me? About this child, what do you want to ask me? I think I don't have anything to answer you, go away. "

After speaking, Julia got up and wanted to greet the guests.

Chiara's tone became a little heavier: "You can't even recognize the picture of your daughter? Is it because so many years have passed that you have forgotten what your daughter was like when she was born?"

Hearing this, Julia looked at her tremblingly.

Chiara still showed a smile, with a simple and harmless look, "Mrs. Gallo, think about it, do you really know this child?"

Then, after thinking about something, the blood on her lips vanished. In other words, she was someone who had lived most of her life. It was not as if he had never seen anything before, and he soon calmed down.

He sat down again and took a deep breath before saying, "I don't know what you are going to do today.

At first I thought you were Aurora's friends, so if you have any questions I can answer them, however...Why did you give me these two pictures?"

"Don't worry, Mrs. Gallo, we just wanted to ask you if you really don't know the little girl in this picture and these two lucky charms?"

"No. "Giulia answered firmly.

Chiara did not flinch and opened her folder, she had come prepared that day and obviously they were not going to back down just because of a denial from Mrs. Gallo.

She had put another picture on the desktop, "This picture was taken when your eldest daughter was one year old. At that time, you, your husband and your eldest daughter had posted this photo on social media, although it was deleted soon after, some traces still remained."

"What traces? What are you talking about? Julia looked at the photo and felt uncomfortable again.

"Now, comparing your eldest daughter and the child in this photo, you can see how the facial features fit perfectly."

"Oh, how come you say such a funny thing? The child in this picture of you is just a child, how can you see her facial features? Is it a bit of an exaggeration to say that they are the same?"

"It doesn't matter if you don't admit it, then can you explain to me the presence of the lucky charm on your daughter's neck?"

Chiara showed another photo, this time it was Aurora Gallo, not long after her birth, around her neck she had a lucky charm, which was exactly the same as the one worn by the little girl before.

"This..."

"You still mean, you don't know this pendant?"

Chiara looked at her calmly, but there was no longer a smile on her face.

Matthew also stared at Julia, his gaze was very sharp and seemed not to calm down.

"This...This pendant is very common, how can you say that this pendant is what you are looking for?"

Also, why don't I admit that this could be the pendant you are talking about? There's nothing I have to tell you, is there?"

Julia trembled when she spoke, and although she tried to hide it, she had no way to hide in front of Matthew, whose presence was very strong.

"Because she is not your biological daughter at all."

"What are you saying? "These words irritated Julia, she stood up abruptly and stared at her with wide eyes, "Don't talk nonsense!!!"

Clare opened the folder, looked at the documents inside and said, "You have not been able to have children since your third year of marriage. So you met a fortune teller introduced by relatives and friends. The fortune teller asked you to adopt a child and be kind to him. When you went to the orphanage, you happened to meet Serena who had been kidnapped by traffickers, so you took her home."

Hearing this, Julia quickly interrupted her, "What do you mean by that? What is human trafficking? We didn't kidnap Serena! "

"Does this mean that you admit that Serena is not your biological daughter? "Chiara said, taking stock of the situation and pushing her finger on Giulia's chest at the exact spot where her heart was.

Giulia finally fell weakly in her chair,...she would not have expected this to come out.

Clare reached out and pulled the green silk across her forehead to the nape of her neck, her red lips twitching slightly, and continued, "After you had brought her home, you loved your daughter. Since you did not have one of your own, you loved her as if she was, but only a few years later, you received the news that you were pregnant and the following year you gave birth. Because after you had your daughter, you began to reject this child who was not yours, so even when she was kidnapped by human traffickers, You even wanted to let this child fend for herself without even raising the alarm. However, Lei did not expect the abduction to be on a large scale. The human trafficker's lair had been unearthed by the police who directly contacted You to give Your daughter back."

Bang!

Chiara closed the folder and made a crisp sound.

Julia was caught off guard, her body trembled violently, and then raised her head to look at Chiara.

"How could she put up with this? You personally brought back that child, the one you treated as if she were the most precious thing. You wanted to abandon her after you had your biological daughter.

Unfortunately, the Lord did not do what you wanted. The little girl came back. But after she came back, she started to suffer all kinds of injustice."

Chapter 326: The Past

"During the vacations, your natural daughter had new clothes, while the other one did not. You treated her like a savage, even...You made her work and forced her to take care of her younger sister. These are injustices, I guess you always told her that because she was the older sister she had to take care of her younger sister, right?"

When Chiara said this, thinking about the information she had investigated, she could not help but look at it with disgust, "Even after her divorce, you pushed her further, forced her into marriage, making her suffer another injustice. Mrs. Gallo, to go this far is horrible."

When Chiara finished speaking, Julia felt the weight of her guilt, but after a while, she realized Chiara was right.

"Why would I be horrible? You also know that she is not my biological daughter. If she was my biological daughter, I would have treated her well, but she is not, so why should I treat her as such? I don't owe her anything! Besides, at home we supported her in everything, I let her go to the school she wanted to go to. Why should I have felt sorry for her?"

"Does she perhaps not know that she has violated her personal freedom? If there had been a choice, do you think she would have wanted to choose you as her mother? At first you wanted to adopt her because you could not have a child with your husband, but after you had her, she began to be treated unfairly. When you treated her like that, did you ever think about how much joy she had given you?"

Julia: "..."

She suddenly remembered that before she got pregnant, she and her husband were very happy when she and her husband were able to adopt Serena, because she had beautiful eyebrows and would be beautiful when she grew up.

The two of them discussed that they should find a good family for her when she grew up.

But later, after she had her daughter, those thoughts gradually faded away, and she was even disgusted by Serena's presence, thought Serena was like a broken oil bottle and would take a lot of money from her, so she had begun to stop giving Serena anything. She bought new clothes for Aurora and when she bullied Serena, Julia pretended not to see and was even relieved.

When Serena had been taken away by the traffickers, Giulia also thought that...it was a very good thing.

In any case, she was a child adopted from an orphanage, and as the abandoned child she was, she was not at fault for being caught by the trafficker. She thought that the trafficker might send her to other parents and that her parents would never see her again.

These thoughts grew fast, but then the police had called her family to say that she had been found and asked them to pick her up at the station.

Ella had hesitated for a long time before picking Serena up, and from then on she looked at Serena even more disgusted wondering why she had not died in the hands of those traffickers.

In any case...what she had said up to this point was not entirely clear.

"Then why did you come today?"

"Now you will admit that your daughter was adopted, not your biological daughter, right?"

Julia nodded, at that moment there was nothing more to admit.

"Yes, however, you have investigated the matter so clearly, so I have nothing to deny, who are you anyway? What is the motive of this investigation? "

Chiara looked at Matthew, he nodded, and Chiara asked, "Where is the lucky charm?"

Giulia looked at them, and then said angrily, "What do you want to do?"

"Mrs. Gallo, things are already clear, are you sure you don't know what we want to do?"

"you....." Giulia thought about it for a while, and when she reacted, she suddenly opened her eyes wide and pointed at them incredulously, "Could it be that Serena is..."

"If you can, please return the pendant, the pendant...There is an inscription on it, which was made by the Giordano family with a lot of money.

Hearing this, Julia thought she was living inside an illusion, had she really adopted a child from a wealthy family? She was in her own home.

It was not possible.

She could not take Serena back.

Thinking about this, Giulia coughed slightly, "You want to get her back, but how do I know if you are telling the truth? At first glance this pendant may seem very valuable, taking Serena from the orphanage I didn't commit any crime, did I? As for what happened next, it was after I adopted her: as her parents, I have the right to decide what to do with her. she is an adult and now you want to tell me, is she the daughter of the Giordano family? Mm, if there's not enough evidence, I won't believe it and I can't tell you for sure.

Chiara smiled knowingly, "that would be great what you said."

After she finished speaking, she took out a credit card and laid it on the table, "Mrs. Gallo, this is your reward for taking care of Ms. Giordano over the years. If you are willing to return the pendant, this is five hundred thousand euros for you."

As soon as Julia heard about the five hundred thousand, her eyes instantly lit up, just as if a thousand lights had suddenly lit up in her eyes.

But soon she looked again at Matthew in front of her.

After this person had entered, the atmosphere that had enveloped the whole house made it difficult for anyone to feel good. Would five hundred thousand be enough?

Thinking about this, Julia pretended to stand and coughed slightly, and then said, "What do you mean?"

Do you want to buy me for five hundred thousand? Am I the kind of person who only sees money?"

"According to my investigation, you have more than one hundred thousand euros in gambling debts.

Recently, your husband has been heavily in debt because of your foreign debt problem, and your daughter, Serena, has already given you three hundred thousand euros, right?"

Julia: "...It seems that you have really investigated everything. "

"You are an intelligent person. You should know that if this money will be used to pay off gambling debts, the remaining money will be enough for two elderly people."

"What is that supposed to mean? "Julia stood up angrily, but she was terrified by the aura emanating from Matthew, her voice was calm: "I raised her for more than 20 years. And you would like to exchange her for money?"

"If I may, I don't want to talk about money." Here's the thing, Chiara. "Matteo said suddenly.

Chiara reacted and stepped forward putting the credit card away.

"We had not prepared the money before coming. After all, you are a benefactor who has raised her for more than 20 years. Using money to solve the problem is a painful thing, and now it looks like you are like us."

Julia saw her take the money back, her eyes straightening in surprise.

What was going on? She wanted more money, but she didn't expect...

Chapter 327: Why can she get everything?

Julia looked at the credit card that had just been withdrawn, her teeth ached from how much she hated it.

That five hundred thousand euros had vanished, she would have to think about how to get it back.

Suddenly Giulia said directly with coldness, "Simply put, you are the daughter of the Gallo family. You disappeared for many years and took no responsibility, and now you want me to be part of the Giordano family. Let me go. I'm leaving!"

She was so embarrassed that she would have been angry, a smile appeared on Clare's face, "Mrs. Gallo, do you know that according to the law, not reporting a crime is a crime?" For example, when you knew that this child was missing, you also knew that she had fallen into the hands of a trafficker. You knew, but you didn't report her missing, so...You and this trafficker committed the same crime."

Where could Julia have learned such laws? She was just a woman, and she had never paid much attention to such things. When Chiara said these things, she was stunned.

"What do you mean by that?"

"I mean, if you want to settle the score, we can sue you. Of course, we can find good lawyers and then-

"Are you threatening me?"

Chiara smiled slightly, "We wouldn't dare, after all, you are the benefactor of the Giordano family."

"So what do you mean?"

"I hope that Mrs. Gallo can return what belongs to us. Serena is a member of our family. Of course, the lucky charm must also be returned. After all, that originally belonged to Serena and not Aurora, understand?"

Chiara thought that she had no more patience understanding immediately what he meant.

"Okay, I understand, you are here to ask for an explanation for Serena! it was really very difficult for me to raise her, it was a lot of work! Even though I was selfish, don't I get any credit for raising her? You didn't thank me and threatened me like this, my life is a bad life! " Julia, began to make a scene by crying loudly.

This noise made Matteo frown, his breathing became colder, and his fierce gaze fell on Giulia.

Giulia clearly felt it, stopped, unconsciously looked at Matthew, and stopped crying.

At exactly that moment, Aurora had returned from her shopping. When she opened the door, she saw her mother sitting on the floor crying. She suddenly panicked and ran to her, "Mom, what is it? What have you done to my mother? "

Matthew stood up, his tall figure revealing his state to Aurora's eyes, who was petrified when she saw him.

"Mrs. Gallo, we will give you three days to think about it. As soon as you have made a decision, call us.

We will go."

After Chiara finished speaking, she cleared the way for Matteo and they left.

Aurora was surprised, it took a long time for her to react, "Ah, I bought you dim sum, aren't you going to eat it?

"Shame on you!" Giulia was so angry that she had misrepresented Aurora's words, "Don't you walk when you see that man? Don't you even care about your mother? "

"Ah, mom...you're sick! Relax!"

Aurora was pinched by her mother, it hurt.

"Do you know it hurts? What did she want? I'm telling you, don't provoke that man! "

"Why mom? "Aurora curled her lips in dissatisfaction, "I've grown up so much. I have the power to decide for myself. I want to follow who I want. Why do you care about me?"

Aurora got up from the ground, touched her vestites, her face was serious, and said, "She is not a good person, and...Things are different this time. "

Aurora did not know what had happened, so she could only huff, then asked, "What happened? Mom, how did you meet such a good man? Why have I never heard of him before? What did he come to you to do? "

Julia looked at Aurora, after thinking about it, told her everything.

Aurora had not been able to calm down for a long time after listening, and it took time to react.

"Mom, what do you mean...my sister...Serena is a Giordano?"

Giulia nodded solemnly, "Yes, I'm not her mother, we adopted her from an orphanage, who knows...She's actually the daughter of the Giordano family. "Talking about this, Giulia became angry,

"That nasty woman gave me five hundred thousand euros, and she even took it back. she's really hypocritical. If she is really a Giordano? If she calls me a benefactor, why doesn't she give me a million euros? It pissed me off."

Aurora didn't listen to everything, she just knew...Was Serena actually the daughter of the Giordano family they were looking for? What about Alice? Wasn't she Alice?

Since she had already followed the Giordano family, she would have known everything.

But for a long time, Alice was the wrong person? And was Serena the right one?

Thinking about this, Aurora clenched her fists.

Why? First, she thought she didn't want to marry the second son of the Ferrari family because of his disability, so her parents forced Serena to marry him instead. She had been very lucky, so lucky that she had a sister to replace her so that she could continue her life as a teenager.

But she didn't expect that--how was she going to run the Ferrari house? live like a Ferrari? she wasn't as unhappy as she thought, and--was she really the daughter of the Giordano family?

The two sisters grew up together and she had become the branch from which Serena would later take off. How could Aurora bear all this? After all, she had always hoped that the person who could spread her wings would be her!

But how could all this have happened? Aurora bit her lower lip angrily and the smell of blood filled her entire mouth.

"Aurora, Aurora!"

Aurora came back to herself and looking at her mother who was calling her name, "Mother?"

"This still needs to be discussed at length. Your mother owes a lot of money to a lot of people, we can take more money this time and get more money from the Jordans, we can live like kings, do you understand?"

"Living like kings? Is it only five hundred thousand they would give us? " Aurora bowed her head, her eyes were somber, "I think...it might not be enough? Besides, Serena...Why is she the daughter of the Giordano family? "

"Aurora?"

"No. She is not worthy! First she was the youngest woman in the Ferrari family, and now she is the oldest woman in the Giordano family? And instead? What are they? Mother! Tell me! I'm just the daughter of the Giordano family, I'm not Serena, they admitted their mistake or you remembered, didn't you?" I am the little girl you adopted at the orphanage!"

Giulia looked at Aurora in front of her incredulously, thinking she had misunderstood.

"Aurora, you...are my biological daughter, because you are..."

"No! I'm not!!! I don't want to!!!"Aurora shrieked and pushed Giulia away "Why? We grew up together, she has so much and I have nothing!!!"

Chapter 328: Where did she go?

"Aurora, why do you think that way? It's not like that! It is a good thing for us that she has become the eldest in the Giordano family. As long as she is the one who takes off, we will be their benefactors. We, too, can benefit from it and we can make a life of kings!"

"No." Aurora took a step back, covered her ears, "Don't you understand anything? You have never given me any money! Even though you gave me my sister's money last time, it wasn't enough! Mother, I really don't want to live this life. Do you know how rich my classmates are? How powerful their parents are? I...I also want to be like them, but...But why Serena? Why can she be different from me?"

Of course...I am better than her. "

Said Aurora shouting as if she could not bear this irritation, then turned and ran outside.

"Aurora?"

Julia wanted to stop her but Aurora, being a girl after all, ran outside and no one saw her again.

She let it go, she was her daughter and at that moment she was not feeling well. She was going to wait until she calmed down to talk about this.

Thinking that her gambling debts could be repaid and her own family could achieve success, deep in her heart Julia was very happy.

On the other hand, Serena was in dire straits.

After Anna called Leonardo, he reached the place she had predetermined.

"Is anyone here?" asked Leonardo solemnly.

Anna was so anxious that she was about to cry. "I looked everywhere and did not see his figure. She was still under my nose when I called her, but she disappeared in the blink of an eye although I looked for her. She didn't...I don't know where she went...I'm sorry, I blamed myself for not taking care of her. If something happens to her, surely...I won't forgive myself."

Leonardo cast a glance at Anna and saw that her eyes were red with anxiety and tears were about to fall. She must also have been extremely nervous and he felt he did not blame her. He only whispered,

"Calm down, don't rush now. The most important thing is that we have to find her first. You are as good as she is, so calm down and think, where could she have gone?"

"Where could she have gone?"

This question really worried Anna: although she had a good relationship with Serena, the two of them had not known each other for a long time and she could not say that she knew Serena personally.

If she had talked about where she would be, Anna really wouldn't have known what to answer.

The one who really knew her was Alice.

Although Alice was not a good person after all, she had pretended to be one in front of Serena for many years, and she should have known some things about her.

Asking her at that time was the best way.

However, after the two of them had quarreled and became rivals in love, it was not appropriate to go to

Alice again: he feared Alice might take advantage of him, but what would happen to Serena in a dangerous situation?

Seeing her frowning, Leonardo guessed that she might not have thought of something, thought about it for a moment, and then said softly, "If you didn't expect it, don't worry, I sent someone, they will look around here, and report back to me as soon as there is news."

Anna looked at Leonardo with emotion, "Vice President Ferrari, thank you. Luckily he is here, otherwise

I wouldn't know what to do."

"Let's look around first and leave no corner uncovered."

"Good."

After the two talked about it, they parted. Anna felt that Leonardo's words were reasonable. She did not pay much attention to the corner where she was looking for him earlier. If she had paid attention this time, would she have found Serena?

This thought rekindled her hope and she followed his path to find Serena.

After Leonardo took a few steps, the phone suddenly rang and he picked it up, "Well?"

Cloe: "Vice President, I followed your instructions and looked around here, but I think you should come here to check and monitor if possible."

Hearing this, Leonardo frowned slightly, "She disappeared just over an hour ago. It is not practical to check everything. Also, some small corners are blind spots and it is estimated that monitoring will not be able to capture everything. You can send more staff so they can look for more in the corners around here. Of course, don't forget to ask the past and the shopkeepers and report back to me as soon as there is any news."

Cloe: "I understand."

After hanging up the phone, Leonardo looked around, feeling a little moved.

"Serena, you must not be in trouble."

He did not know how long he had been looking, Leonardo did not see Serena, and the phone had not rung. Leonardo was calm at first, but after a while he became agitated.

Where had Serena gone?

Leonardo stopped, pulled out his cell phone, and could not help but call Anna to ask about the situation.

Although he knew that if Anna found someone, she would definitely call him to inform him, but he had the illusion that he might find someone, but there was no time to call.

Anna was very excited when she received Leonardo's call, "Vice President, did you find Serena?"

After hearing this, Leonardo knew that Anna had also found nothing.

"You didn't find her either?" Anna heard him say nothing, and realized that he had not found Serena and almost shouted quickly, "What should I do? After so many people are looking for her, there is still no news? Where could she have gone? Vice President Ferrari...Blame me for not finding her."

It was the first time Anna was out of control. Leonardo was initially upset. When she was so upset, he did not know what to say to console her. He could not find Serena, and he was very anxious.

Leonardo looked around, tightened his thin lips and finally said, "Don't worry, I will find her, I will find her."

After speaking, he hung up the phone.

Afterwards, Leonardo kept going and asked a woman from a nearby house.

"Excuse me, have you seen a girl..." Leonardo briefly described what Anna had told him about the clothes she was wearing that day, and then added somatic features.

After listening, the woman blinked with a silly look. Leonardo sighed in his heart. When he thought he could not ask again, he suddenly said, "Oh, you're looking for that girl in the white dress! I just saw her!"

Hearing this, Leonardo's expression changed, "Have you seen her? Where is she?"

I saw her...She got into the car, that car was so beautiful! "

"In a car?" Leonardo frowned, and still a beautiful car? It seemed that it was not supposed to be a cab, so what car could she have gotten into?

Thinking about this, Leonardo's complexion changed.

Chapter 329: The secret that belonged to her

"Excuse me again, does that car have other features besides its beauty? For example...The license plate number... "Although he had no hope, Leonardo continued to ask.

He still hoped to get more clues.

The woman looked at him closely, and suddenly smiled and said, "Why do you ask so much? I think that girl got into the car voluntarily! What did you want to do?"

Get into the car voluntarily? Leonardo paused; that had to be someone Serena knew.

It was just that...Who else did she know?

"Thank you. I'm his friend. We were all anxious when we couldn't reach her suddenly. We've been looking around here for a long time."

"Here's the thing...I don't remember the license plate number, but I remember the car was black..."

Leonardo sighed softly in his heart. He really should have no hope. There were countless black cars in North City.

"Thank you, I'm leaving now."

He had to call to tell Anna and, among other things, to ask her if she knew any other people so that she could find more clues.

Anna was somewhat relieved after hearing the news, but was immediately puzzled, "The black car?

Vice President Ferrari, are you sure she could have gotten into the car voluntarily? "

"I'm not sure." Said Leonardo with a cold expression, "If what the old lady said is correct, as long as you read it correctly, Serena was not forced into the car."

Hearing this, Anna was silent for a while and nodded, "It can also be said that if you are forced into the car, you will definitely struggle, but since the lady said she got into the car voluntarily, she should not be in danger for the time being. But I still worry if I don't find her. She looked a little scared before, Vice President, please, I want to see her safe and sound with my own eyes. "

"You go back today, I'll send someone to continue looking for her, and I'll let you know right away if there's any news."

"Then...All right.

After Anna put down her cell phone, she was still not comfortable. She had called Serena, found that the cell phone could not be reached. In desperation, she had to text Serena to find out if she was okay or not. As soon as he put the phone away he went straight home.

*

Serena leaned against the soft sofa, and the servant brought a cup of hot tea and handed it to her,

"Miss, first have a cup of hot tea."

Serena reluctantly leaned back and didn't have the strength to reach out to pick it up, but she politely shook her head at the waiter, and then whispered, "Thank you, I don't need it."

The waiter stayed for a while, then took the tea and happened to run into Chiara who was about to enter. Chiara saw the cup full of tea and smiled, "Don't you want to drink it?"

The waiter nodded, "The young lady seems to be in a bad mood, so..."

"I see. Go ahead and work." Chiara smiled and signaled that she could leave first. The waiter sighed with relief and left quickly. He was really afraid that Chiara would let her continue to deal with Serena.

Although she seemed harmless and polite, he had to confront her. She could not stand this kind of person.

Chiara entered and walked in front of Serena. Seeing that her mood was still as low as when she had arrived, she could not help but smile, "What makes Mrs. Gallo so depressed?"

Hearing a familiar voice, Serena raised her head and looked at Clare.

"It's nothing."

After Anna called her name, she stood up stunned and wanted to leave. She did not know how long she had walked before she realized that she had walked on the side of the main road; she really wanted to die.

But she was surprised herself as soon as she had this thought.

She was still pregnant, even if she had not thought, she had to think about the baby.

So she did not move, she crouched on the side of the road and watched the traffic.

Then a car stopped in front of her and the door opened.

Serena raised her head, just in time to bump into a pair of calm, deep-set eyes-it was Matteo.

"Miss Gallo, why are you here?"

When she raised her head, Chiara was shocked by the red eye sockets and tears on her face, her mouth stayed open for a long time and she could not say a word.

Matteo looked at her with a complicated look, the two stared at each other, after a while...Matteo held out his hand to her.

"For whatever reason, don't sit here and cry, get up."

The weight of his words was like that of a stern brother, and the worried eyes made Serena's heart feel warm. She bit her lower lip slightly, did not get up, rather lowered her eyes again.

"Raise your head." When hers had almost lowered, Matteo suddenly scolded her.

Serena was surprised and lifted her head again absently.

"Didn't you hear me? Get up."

Serena: "..."

She bit her lower lip and couldn't help but say, "Mr. Giordano, although Alice and I are good friends, but...that doesn't mean you can take care of my business, okay?"

She was really in a bad mood today, besides...She felt that she and Alice were not like sisters.

She would probably see Alice less frequently in the future, initially she wanted to be polite, because after all it was between her and Alice, so it was not difficult to blame others.

But if Matteo wanted to take care of her own business, she would have to talk about it.

Hearing this, Matteo frowned, "What did you say?"

Serena bit her lower lip and did not open her eyes to look at him again.

In the next second, Matteo suddenly reached out his hand to hold her shoulders and lifted her up. His movements were extremely relaxed and Serena was surprised for a while.

"Do you think I want to take care of your business? It's because you are here to influence your image too much and get in the way of others'."

Matteo's tone was cold and his eyes narrowed.

He would not have thought that...even that way of looking at her resembled him.

This was...had he been looking for his sister for more than twenty years?

Damn it, why hadn't he found out sooner, how did those people find Alice? Was she the secret he discovered about Serena that he had then hidden?

But...Why didn't Serena know something that everyone else knew?

Ah.

Thinking about this, Matthew inexplicably sighed.

"Get out of here first, you're too embarrassed now."

Serena was taken aback. She obviously knew she was so embarrassed, but now she was not in a good mood, so she didn't mind being so embarrassed.

"You guys go ahead."

"Chiara, take her to the car." Matteo ordered coldly.

Chiara couldn't help but smile, and then approached Serena, affectionately holding her hand, "Miss Gallo, it's really dangerous for people to come here. I don't think you have any friends by your side right now, please follow us and let's leave this place.

After that, Clare pulled her into the car and although she seemed very polite, her manners were definitely harsh.

Chapter 330: Have you never doubted your identity?

At that moment she thought about it.....Why had Serena followed her into the car?

There was still Anna with her, even if she had wanted to leave, she would have had to go through Anna's house, not...to Giordano's house.

"Mr. Giordano's company has something to take care of right now. He will be back in about an hour.

Mrs. Serena can rest well now."

"No, I have to leave." Serena stood up. Since Alice was not at home, she and Alice were no longer like sisters. She would have been very uncomfortable to stay there any longer.

After speaking, Serena leaned toward Chiara: "Thank you for today, secretary Gatti, thank Mr.

Giordano for me, I'm leaving, my friend may still be waiting for me."

Seeing her like this, Chiara smiled faintly.

"Are you sure you want to leave? Miss Gallo, Mr. Giordano might have something to say to you. "

Hearing this, Serena paused, "Something to tell me?"

"Yes,....something very important "Chiara did not know if she wanted to tell him at that moment, would it be too soon? There was no telling if Matthew suddenly had something important to tell her, and initially she wanted to wait until she felt better before talking to her.

"Something important... "Serena lowered her head to think for a moment, and then raised her head as if trying to understand something, "I should know what you're going to say."

"Um... "Chiara was a little surprised, "Does Miss Gallo really know what we are going to tell her?"

Serena's expression was indifferent, "Although Alice and I were best friends before, but...Our relationship is broken now, and in the future..."

"Broken?" Chiara was so surprised, "Well, why did you suddenly break off your friendship? Did you find out something? "

Hearing this, Serena quickly raised her head and looked at her shocked.

Had they discovered something too? So Matthew had wanted to talk to her about it when he had come to her? Without thinking about it, Serena could imagine that Matteo would be on Alice's side.

Even if Alice had done something wrong, they were after all part of the same family, Matteo...Was he trying to convince her to leave?

Thinking about this, Serena bit her lower lip hard, "Thank you very much today, Mr. Giordano, for helping me and taking me home to make me feel better, but I don't think I have much to say. I'm not going to deal with this matter."

Chiara was a little bewildered, she thought Serena had discovered the secret of her of her life, but at that moment she thought...it could be something else.

Could it be that besides the issue of her identity, Serena and Alice had had other conflicts? What had led to the breakup of their friendship?

"I don't know...May I venture to ask, why aren't you and Alice friends anymore?"

Hearing this, Serena was stunned for a moment, looked at him in an unbelievable way, "You don't know?"

"Miss Gallo laughed, how could I know these things..."

"Then you just said that Mr. Giordano had something to tell me, I thought..."

"Miss Gallo might have misunderstood. What Mr. Giordano said to Miss Gallo might not be the same as what Miss Gallo thought. However...But it is also based on you and Alice. "

Hearing this, Serena was confused. It was based on her and Alice, but it was not the only thing she thought. What was it?

Serena couldn't think about it, but she...it seemed like she didn't want to know that much.

In any case, it was going to be impossible for her to be good with Alice from then on.

Thinking about this, Serena said again, "Forget it, whatever it is, I'm not that interested anymore, Secretary Gatti, thank you very much for today, but I have to leave."

After saying that Serena really intended to leave, Chiara realized that she had no intention of staying, and she was also a little worried. It was rare to call her home once, what if it was the next time?

So Chiara could not help but say, "Miss Gallo, you have been at the Gallo house for so long, you never doubted your identity?"

In a word, this made Serena take a step forward.

She looked at Chiara again, "Secretary Gatti, what you said...What does that mean?"

Seeing that she had been successfully attracted by her own words, the next step was to take her into the house. Clare said directly, "The Gallo family has never been lucky for so many years. Your mother will always be supportive of your sister, and you should also know that she plays the role of your sister.

Although your sister does not want to marry, your mother made you marry instead of her. Didn't these injustices make you doubt your identity?"

Serena: "..."

It wasn't that she hadn't thought about whether she was born to her mother.

After her mother had done those things, she had asked her mother again. At that moment, her face changed and she had scolded her.

But she had thought so, but she had never seriously looked into the matter.

After all, she had also been raised by her parents since childhood, although sometimes the treatment had been unfair, she had received a lot of warmth from the family and she was to older sister...So she had to take care of her sister.

Of course, she had also thought countless times, if she was not her sister or a younger sister, her mother would surely let Aurora treat herself as well as she had done up to that point.

After thinking about it, Serena felt much better.

So she never delved into this matter again.

Now that Clare had said it, she suddenly realized...could things be better than she thought...or would it be worse?

"Miss Gallo, have you really thought about this? Is it possible that....she is not the biological daughter of the Gallo family at all? "

Serena's footsteps stopped and she backed up two steps uncontrollably. There was a table beside her and her back was resting right there.

When Chiara saw her, she could not help but approach and pull her over, "Come and sit here, there may be many more things to talk about."

Serena moved forward with her like a puppet controlled by a string. After sitting down, Serena suddenly remembered the strange words Matthew had said to her after Noa and Peter had been in the dining room not long before.

He had said he was looking for someone, but he had never found him.

He had also shown her a picture of the little girl and the lucky charm.

Along with many of her later hesitations, Serena always felt...the aftertaste of what had happened.

"How is she? This matter is very important at first...I wanted to wait for Mr. Giordano to tell her personally, after all...Miss Gallo and he are related, and this matter is more appropriate for him. "

Relatives...

Hearing this word, Serena quickly raised her head.

Were she and Matteo relatives?

"But if you insist on leaving, I have no choice but to inform you in advance and help Mr. Giordano who will not know how to tell you these things later. Miss Gallo, I tell you right now, she is not the daughter of the Gallo family, she is the daughter born to Mrs. Giordano more than 20 years ago. "
