

Virginity 421

Chapter 421: Do you hate me?

Someone was in front of her. However, after walking a short distance, she stopped. Then the voice came out. Miss Shelly, Mr. Cristian said to bring you here.

Serena looked at the road ahead, then nodded.

-Good.

Serena's eyes turned dark as the man walked away.

Was he doing this on purpose? Someone brought her here and left. Wasn't he asking her to remember this trip? But not that much. But this was where she lived. It was also her area of daily activity.

Thinking about it, Serena clenched her hands at her sides into fists, gritting her teeth.

Cristian - he clearly did it on purpose!!!

Serena took a deep breath, trying to mentally convince herself to calm down. Then she took a step forward.

At that moment, Cristian watched Serena step forward, then shook the glass of red wine in her hand.

Her thin lips curved slowly.

This woman seemed to remember every blade of grass and every tree very well.

Soon Serena reached the door. Then she raised her hand and knocked on the door.

The man's deep voice came from inside.

-Enter.

Serena opened the door and went inside. As soon as she entered, she saw the man sitting on the sofa quietly drinking red wine. It was probably because of the vacation. So Cristian was wearing only a thin shirt. The buttons were fastened haphazardly, a few at a time. Underneath, he wore simple black pants.

Sunlight from the sea came in through the floor-to-ceiling windows, illuminating the whole house.

The early morning sunlight was just right. It gave a lazy color to the whole house.

Serena's eyes sparkled with surprise.

She had to say that Cristian's face features and temperament were really good.

Soon. She regained her original mood and opened her bag.

-Mr. Cristian.

-Have you had breakfast?

Cristian interrupted her. Her eyes fell on the table in front of him. -Did you eat a little earlier?

She did not come for breakfast.

Serena smiled faintly and opened her bag, taking out the dressmaker's tape measure she carries with her. - Mr. Cristian, I have other things to do later.

So let's try to hurry.

He said this in the hope that Cristian would get up. But Cristian did not move at all.

-Mr. Cristian," Serena said with a frown.

Cristian curved his lips, "Miss Serena, are you in such a hurry to get out?"

-Not."

-Then sit down and have breakfast with me."

Serena said, "Mr. Cristian.

-What?" -Cristian's mean eyes fell on her face. -Don't you have time for breakfast, or should I go with you to do what you want?

She was crazy to say yes.

In the end, Serena had to compromise. She put the tape measure in her bag and then sat down across from Cristian.

Breakfast was quite well prepared, as if he knew she was coming.

Only Serena had already had breakfast at home. But she knew that Cristian was a person who would do whatever he wanted. So she didn't bother to argue. She grabbed a sandwich and took a small bite.

She just hoped that after eating this breakfast, he could hurry up and leave her alone.

She already had little time for Manuel. As distracted as Cristian had been, there seemed to be nothing left.

Serena was thinking about things as she took small bites of her sandwich. And Cristian's gaze, from across the room, was fixed on her face. She couldn't take her eyes off him.

She had really changed too much.

Now she was calmer and more beautiful than before.

As if she had completely transformed herself.

Such Serena was undoubtedly great for him.

But she was also a headache for him.

Serena was thinking. Suddenly, he felt a burning gaze fall on her. He stopped for a moment and raised his head. She looked straight into Cristian's ink-black eyes.

Cristian was not at all embarrassed. Instead, he looked at her more directly.

The look in his eyes was particularly explicit and terribly warm.

Serena's heart leapt. Suddenly, she lost her appetite for food.

Then she laid the sandwich in her hand. She said in a low voice. -I'm full, Mr. Cristian, can we start now?

"Good."-Cristian looked ready.

However, he still sat there lazily motionless.

Should she have gone herself?

Serena stood up with a frown, clutching the tape measure tighter. She was only going by herself. After taking the data from her body anyway, she quickly walked away.

He took a step forward and asked her. -Mr. Cristian, then stand up?"

-Stand up?" Cristian raised an eyebrow.

Serena smiled slightly. -Just a minute.

She waited patiently while he finished speaking.

A second later, Cristian put down his glass. His straight, firm legs were finally lifted. Originally, Serena was a little distant. But when Cristian stood up, it was as if he did it on purpose. He moved very close to her. He moved to her side and then was extremely close to her.

Cristian, with his arms and long legs, stood in front of Serena. All his masculine feeling that belonged to her pressed unreservedly, enveloping her in it.

That scent-despite all the years that had passed, Serena felt slightly alarmed.

Her eyes narrowed for a moment. She was about to take a few steps back to get away from him.

Instead, a hand gripped her slender waist.

Serena looked up shocked. -What are you doing?

Cristian's eyes were as deep as the ocean. They fell on his face as if they had a power of attraction.

His voice was low. Like the sound of a cello playing slowly.

-How do you measure up when we are so close?

Cristian moved closer to her ear when she said it.

She didn't know if it was just her, but Serena felt that Cristian was purposely blowing into her ear.

Such a gesture was certainly tinged with irritation for Serena. Then she felt her heartbeat begin to accelerate indefinitely. Immediately after that, she had a strong feeling of humiliation.

A married man always treating her with such a slightly provocative gesture.

Serena closed her eyes and said coldly -Let me go.

Before Cristian realized what was happening, Serena had pulled out the dressmaker's tape measure and placed it over his arm. A moment later, her body was moving in the opposite direction.

At this point, she was far away from him. There was already a small distance.

Serena had a cold face as she took her measurements.

Things could have been done without her. But Serena knew Cristian was coming for her. He would call those designers; he feared they would suffer no less humiliation than she.

The order was his. So she would just have to put up with it.

-You hate me, don't you?"

Chapter 422: There is nothing to explain between us.

Serena wrapped the ruler around his waist. Hearing this question from him, the movement of her hand was followed by a pause.

She made a grimace in her mind, tightening the ruler more.

Hate?

What made her think she would hate him?

Did he deserve it?

-Mr. Cristian was joking. You are my client, how could I hate you?" Serena pretended not to understand, trying to get out of it with a casual remark.

However, Cristian's forehead wrinkled deeply.

-Is that so?

His voice was light, emotionless. -Then can you be a little nicer?"

Serena realized she had tightened her grip on the ruler much more. She strangled it around Cristian's waist. It almost deformed his waist.

-I'm sorry!

She withdrew her hand. A thin layer of cold sweat added to his pale forehead.

Serena lowered her eyes. She bit her lip in disgust: how could she lose her rhythm like that?

The air fell into an awkward silence as Serena wrote down the measurements. Then she picked up the tape measure and stepped back. She took the paper and wrote down all the measurements she had just taken. So she would not forget them later.

Cristian stood behind her, looking at her small squatting figure.

-If you don't hate me, why do you treat me like a stranger?

Serena's pen tilted slightly as she wrote. She did not respond. Instead, she took notes one stroke at a time. When she finished recording, she put the paper away.

Then she stood up to face Cristian.

-My work is done, Mr. Cristian. Thank you for your cooperation today. I have some things to do. So I'm leaving now.

Serena turned around. Ready to leave the place.

Serena's pulse was suddenly held by him.

What is he doing?

-Do you hate me that much? Don't you want to be with me even for a moment?

For some reason, Serena could feel a hint of self-deprecating pain in his words. Had she heard wrong?

How could it be!" Today is the end of the week-he really doesn't have anything else to do."

She tried to push her hand away a little.

But Cristian squeezed her wrist tighter. The force was too much. Serena frowned in pain. She turned away.

-If it wasn't a holiday. If you didn't have other things to do, would you be willing to stay with me a little longer?

Serena was speechless.

What on earth does he want to do? Of course he said he was married, but why was he acting so pathetic now?

Did he want to lure her into a trap? Did he want to hurt her once again by abandoning her as he had done before?

Serena's gaze became very, very cold when she thought about that possibility.

She wanted to pull her hand away, but Cristian continued to hold on to it. -Mr. Cristian I really have other things to do. Please let me go."

-No. For the first time, Cristian was like a petulant child. He looked at her with hurt eyes. -Do you want me to explain?

What? Serena stood in doubt for a moment: listen to his explanation?

Explain what? About what happened five years ago?

Her face turned white. After a moment Serena laughed awkwardly. -Mr. Cristian, I don't think ... you have anything to explain to me.

Don't you? Cristian let out a laugh. The smile was full of self-mockery. -You don't want to listen to my explanations, but what if I don't want to let you go?

Serena was without.

Cristian's eyes were deep. As if they were trying to absorb his soul. She could not look into his eyes.

He could only pull back hard.

When they were pulling at each other, Cristian looked angry. He pulled her down hard, pressing her against the soft sofa behind her.

-Ah.

Serena was pinned beneath him. Immediately Cristian's face came toward her.

A slap.

Serena did not hesitate to raise her hand and slap his face.

A slap hit him directly in the face.

Almost without hesitation, the first thing that flashed through Serena's head, seeing that he was about to kiss her, was his "I'm married" line. Then the hand naturally shot out.

The air was silent for a few seconds and Cristian's whole body froze. He stared at Serena. Her thin, tight lips looked a little white.

Probably from anger, or excitement, his chest was constantly rising and falling.

-Cristian, I didn't want to tell you this. But you remember what you said yourself yesterday, right? Now you are doing this to me, doesn't your conscience convict you a little? How can you explain it to her and to me?

Cristian asked, "What?"

-What did I say yesterday?" Cristian's eyes were a little confused. He looked at her puzzled.

Serena scoffed. -Married! Since Mr. Cristian is married. Then please keep your boundaries. Don't make a move with me.

Cristian froze at these words. After a few moments he could not help but burst out laughing.

-So that's what you're talking about.

-So... because I'm married, I can't touch you anymore?

Serena said angrily, -You!

When did you become so shameless?

Or are you jealous?" -Without waiting for Serena's next words, Cristian teased her with a raised eyebrow.

Serena replied, "Jealous? You take yourself too seriously.

She pushed him away forcefully, then got up from the couch, slapped him on the back of the head, and then said in a cold voice. -I hope this is the last time. Don't treat me with such disrespect anymore.

Then I prefer to destroy the contract. I will never work with you again.

This time Serena did not give him another chance to respond. Instead, she grabbed her bag and got up to leave.

Looking behind him, Cristian had a puzzled expression on his face.

He thought carefully about what she had just said. And then, little by little, he understood those words.

This stupid woman.

She thought about what he had said about being married. Was he already married to another woman?

Was that why he had reacted so violently?

Thinking about it, Cristian reached out his hand and touched his face where he had slapped her.

It really hurt.

She had suffered a lot.

She could have been really ruthless. But she was angry.

For the moment, Cristian took it as if she was jealous. That's why she hit so hard.

Suddenly, Cristian thought of something else. Then he narrowed his eyes.

That woman, did she really not know that they were not yet divorced? Right now, at the top of the registry of the Office of Civil Affairs. They were still married.

From the time they had met until now, Cristian had always thought he knew. But he had not expected it... He shouldn't have known it given the way he was acting today.

Who had kept it from him?

Serena went in and came out about half an hour later. The men outside were very kind to her.

-Miss Shelly, take care of yourself. You are welcome to come back next time.

-Miss Shelly, be careful on your walk.

Serena stepped on her high heels, feeling so dumb.

Chapter 423: Terrible thoughts.

After that, Serena arrived at the school and visited the entire kindergarten with Manuel. Soon after, they went out to lunch together. After lunch, it was already past two in the afternoon.

Manuel had the habit of taking a nap, so he slept in Serena's arms, holding his neck with one hand and unconsciously saying, "Mommy, do we want to go home and sleep?"

When she said this, Serena also felt a little sleepy, and could not help but yawn.

-All right, we'll go home and take a nap.

Then, they got into the car to go home.

-How do you like school?" asked Serena in a low voice on the way home.

Manuel nodded obediently, -I like it.

-So how would you like to go to school here?

Manuel felt that he didn't really need to go to school, but Mom wanted him to live a collective life, so he was looking for a place closer to Mom's company, so Manuel nodded.

- Yes."

Hearing this, Serena couldn't help but show a relieved smile, "Good!" it sounds like the school I found for you is not bad.

Anna on the other hand could not help but sigh when she looked at Manuel's well-behaved appearance.

Manuel was really obedient in front of Serena. He had never asked for too much since he was a child, and he had always respected Serena's requests. Although he was a five-year-old boy, he was not like a normal five-year-old boy.

He had a more mature mind than a five-year-old, behaved more maturely and was very intelligent.

Sometimes Anna always wondered to herself if it was because she had not had her father's love since childhood that Manuel had become such a character.

Many times Serena thought so too, but most of the time she still supported everything on her own.

Anna felt sorry for them, but at the same time she felt very lucky.

Fortunately, Serena had an older brother, so although Manuel did not have his father's love, he had gained his mother's love, his uncle's love, and Anna's love.

For a while, the people in the car had different thoughts.

When they arrived at their destination, Manuel was already sleeping in her arms, holding his neck with her soft hands. He was also snoring. Seeing Manuel like that, Serena's heart warmed. She opened the car door and then wanted to hug Manuel.

Matteo stopped at the door and whispered, "Give it to me."

After all, Manuel is a boy, heavier than a girl, so it would be easier for Manuel to hug him.

Serena could only whisper softly, "He's sleeping, be careful, don't wake him up."

- Don't worry, Matteo took Manuel by the hand, then hugged him and left.

After Matteo left, Anna approached her, "How are you today?"

Listening, Serena was surprised, "What do you mean?"

-You didn't take my phone to look for Cristian? You didn't do anything, did you? After saying this, Anna walked in front of her and looked left and right, especially when she looked at her lips, as if she wanted to see some secret here.

-What are you doing?" asked Serena with a strange feeling, frowning.

-I see him taking advantage of you,|| after Anna spoke, she moved her face closer to Serena. The serious look on her face, Serena almost thought she was going to kiss her, she was so frightened that she quickly took a step back and pushed Anna away, "Stop it!" Stop. "

Anna was still a little confused after being pushed by her, "What's wrong? I just want to understand the situation. After all, she called you early in the morning, and today is still a holiday. Serena, I think she did it on purpose. There are so many designers in our company, but he didn't choose them, he had to choose you, and... When we went before, he really rudely rejected us.

I think.

-What do you think?"-Serena raised her head and looked at her.

Anna half-closed her lips and said seriously, "How about ... break the contract? I'm afraid he will take advantage of you in the end.

Hearing this, Serena got almost mad as hell, this damn girl.... Did she say that on purpose?

Serena glared at her, "Are you still saying that?"

Anna smiled embarrassedly, -I'm telling the truth, am I wrong?

-Yes, but the non-payment of the contract, have you read the contract?

Thinking about the huge amount of money for the breach of contract, Anna's face paled: -Can you let your brother pay the money for the breach of contract?

-What are you thinking? The company had cost him a lot of money, and we started a company. We have to break the contract when we are not satisfied. Then how can we pay other employees? Now was not the time to make bad choices; we could be very capricious. But now our actions represent the image of the company. Since I accepted his order, I will not do things that will destroy the image.

Anna felt that what he had said was reasonable and nodded her head.

-However, I still... I don't want you to get hurt.

-Don't worry, how can I get hurt?

Even if Cristian took advantage of her, she didn't benefit from it.

Forget it, it was no real loss.

However, after ending cooperation with him this time, she would probably be quiet in the future.

*

Manuel had officially gone to school, because the school was very close to Serena's company, so Serena could bring him back when he left work. Manuel was very happy because he spent more time with his mother every day.

When Manuel said he was going to the company, Serena turned him down.

- Now you get used to the school atmosphere, and after you get used to the environment, I'll take you to the company to play, okay?

Recently, Cristian came to the company from time to time. To be honest, Serena did not want Cristian to see Manuel in his subconscious.

Although at first she thought this child was Leonardo's.

But the more this child grew and the more he resembled Cristian, Serena was surprised. She kept this secret in her heart and no one knew about it.

Since Cristian was her ex-husband, others simply thought that Manuel was her and her ex-husband's child.

But only Serena knew that the baby had been conceived on a strange rainy night.

Later, after Alice investigated, and told her that the person was Leonardo.

If it was Leonardo, why did Manuel look so much like Cristian?

A terrible thought arose in the depths of her mind, but Serena suppressed it as soon as it appeared.

She was crazy to think that!

Impossible, absolutely impossible!

After Serena repressed this thought, her mood gradually calmed down.

Chapter 424: I realized it was you.

So it went well until Monday, Serena drove Manuel to school and then rushed to the company in Matteo's car.

In fact, it did not coincide with Manuel's time. Manuel went to school at 7:30 a.m., while his company did not start work until 8 a.m. Every day he arrived at the company about half an hour earlier.

But for Serena, half an hour was not too much; she was still the boss and it was normal to work an extra half hour.

After getting out of the car, Matthew stretched his head, "Your car...."

-Brother, I forgot to tell you that I had a car accident with the car two days ago, so... I will ask later, if the car is repaired, I will tell you.

Hearing about the car accident, Matteo frowned, then looked at her and asked with disgust, "Two days ago? Why didn't you tell me?"

-I was fine at the time, and I was the one who hit someone else, so you don't have to worry.

-Did you handle the incident?

-Serena nodded.

Matthew said, -Okay, I'm going now.

-Brother, you don't have to pick us up this afternoon, the car has to be repaired today.

Matteo nodded, said nothing and left.

After he left, Serena and Anna joined the company together. Since it was still early, the company was very quiet.

Only the cleaners and supervisors came, and no one else was seen.

-I am very sleepy. I could have slept for half an hour more," Anna could not help but half-open her lips and groan, and then yawn several times.

The appearance of Anna yawning made Serena feel a little more sleepy for a moment, and she felt a little guilty for letting Anna get up early with her, and could only say, "Let's go buy an apartment near the school.

As he listened, Anna's eyes suddenly widened and she reached out to hold her arm, "Really? But the apartment near the school is supposed to be very expensive."

Serena smiled, "My savings should be enough.

-Will we become poor after we buy it?

Serena looked at her, "What do you think?

Anna curled her lips, "Buy it. However, it's yours, not mine. I will live with you after I buy it. In the future we can eat cheaper things.

-Yes, you are a little stupid. Do we just spend money? Don't we earn it? Going back to the country for development, many places need money. That's why I said we have to work hard to run the business well, otherwise--these expenses will probably cause us to run out of money for food.

The two of them went upstairs together, because it was not the time to work, so Anna went to the computer to open the website for selling houses.

-Is it necessary to look for a house near the school or near the company?

-Both are fine,|| Serena thought for a while, then smiled slightly, -However, either near the company or near the school is close enough.

Probably because she had lived abroad for many years, Anna's work efficiency was extremely high.

Moreover, neither of them was particularly fussy, so they soon saw the house they liked, and then they both decided to go directly to see the building when they finished work at noon.

It was time for work, and everyone had arrived at the company one by one. Serena also started drawing in earnest. They already had inspiration for the design drawings she had painted for Elsa , so she wanted to draw a draft as soon as possible and then send it to Elsa to see if she was satisfied.

She did not like other people disturbing her while she was drawing, so she specifically told Anna not to disturb her if there was nothing particularly important, and that she would leave when she was finished.

The office door had been closed tightly, and suddenly there was a knock on the door.

Serena's thoughts were interrupted, and she could not help but frown, "Who is it?

Me!"-Anna's voice came from outside.

Anna?" Why would she be looking for me at this hour? However, Serena knew Anna's personality, and if there was nothing important, she would not be looking for her at this time.

Thinking of this, she whispered softly, "Come in.

Anna opened the door with a guilty conscience and walked in front of Serena.

-Someone, someone is looking for you.

Serena, - ... Who is looking for me?

-An acquaintance!

-Serena looked at her, -Even if it's an acquaintance, you don't-||.

Speaking of this, Serena seemed to think of someone. Suddenly she fell silent, and after a moment she wincing, "Cristian?

Seeing that she said the person's name so calmly, Anna suddenly opened her eyes wide, -Aren't you surprised? Is your attitude toward him like this now? But ... it's not Cristian, it's it's his assistant!

Cristian's assistant?

Serena put down her pen and then said in a low voice, "Let him in."

-He didn't come up . He said he's waiting for you downstairs.

In this case, Serena had to get up and walk outside, but Anna stood still and would not move. Serena looked at her, -You are so familiar with him, don't you want to go downstairs?

When Serena said they were so familiar, the expression on Anna's face was strange. She shook her head, "I'm not going, go alone.

-Serena turned and left immediately.

After Serena left, Anna could not help but touch her cheek.

She still felt embarrassed to see Luca now, even though it had been so long, but the stupid things she had done when she was drunk five years ago, she felt especially embarrassed in retrospect.

Although Luca did not mention what she had said or done when she was drunk, but ... Anna remembered it clearly.

She could only say that she was too ashamed!!!!

Therefore, she did not want to see Luca anymore!

Luca was waiting downstairs. When Serena went toward him, Luca had the opportunity to look at this woman he had not seen for five years.

Without meeting for five years, he did not expect her to become more decent and charming. The girl with the shy and stubborn expression had long since become a capable and intellectually strong woman.

Unexpectedly, time can change a person a lot.

-Mrs..."

As Serena approached , Luca almost called her Mrs. Ferrari, but stopped himself in time. However, even if it was only a word, Serena still knew what he was going to say.

The expressionless face changed slightly because of this form of treatment, but she reacted quickly.

- Long time no see, Luca.

Seeing Luca, Serena was unexpectedly calm and smiled slightly at him.

Luca was stunned for a moment, and then he laughed too, but his smile was a bit unnatural. I should have guessed it was you."

Chapter 425: Are you crazy?

In this world, besides Serena, who else could make Cristian so crazy and behave so abnormally?

He had been Cristian's assistant for so many years, knowing that Cristian's character was very indifferent, but he felt compression, loveliness, anguish, involvement and other emotions for that woman.

So apart from her, Luca could not guess anyone else.

It was a pity that she had disappeared for a long time, and Luca never thought she would appear again.

After her appearance, she caught Cristian's attention so easily.

Serena did not answer, but looked at him.

-Do you want to go upstairs and sit for a while?

Serena asked.

Luca shook his head and then handed her the key and phone: -The matter has been settled by Mr.

Cristian's order and the phone has also been repaired. This is the key to your car.

Serena lowered her head and saw the phone and car key in his hand.

She was surprised, reached out her hand and took the phone and key.

So you came here today just to deliver these?

Serena felt it should not be that simple.

-Mrs. Serena."

Luca suddenly called her, Serena lifted her head and saw that Luca had a strange emotion, and his voice sounded cold.

- I know you are now a famous designer and have established your own company. At one time, Miss Serena was someone I admired very much. I can rest easy if you stay with Mr. Cristian. But ... too many things have happened in five years, if you can ... I hope Miss Serena will not hurt Mr. Cristian again.

Serena.

Did he hurt Cristian?

When did she hurt Cristian? Wasn't she the one who was hurt at that time?

Who kept her out of Villa Atlantic and who ordered her not to enter the gate of the Ferrari family?

Who was it...who threw the divorce settlement at her so that she would never appear again?

When these memories flashed through her mind, Serena was obviously more upset, but quickly suppressed her emotions, and when she regained her composure, she slowly raised her head and looked at Luca.

- Don't joke, Mr. Cristian is just my client.

Luca was caught off guard.

-You.

Serena smiled slightly, -Thank you very much this time. I owe you a favor. Next time I have time, I'll buy you lunch. Or if you need help, you can call me. This is my business card.

After speaking, Serena handed over her business card and Luke stood still for a few seconds before receiving the card.

-What you're worried about won't happen, and it absolutely cannot happen.

-I know, I'm abrupt today. I'm still in a hurry, I'm leaving right now.

-Serena nodded slightly as well, and then watched Luca leave.

After Luca left, Anna came out of the corner.

-What's the situation like? I saw that your conversation was quite unpleasant, what happened?

Hearing Anna's voice, Serena suddenly woke up and shook her head, -Nothing, let's go back.

Anna looked at Serena's back, always feeling a little strange.

What did these two people say? A little strange.

After Serena returned to the office, she sat down again to do the drawing. There was no obvious expression on her face, but there were several problems in her mind.

Luca clearly knew what had happened then, so why did she tell him today?

Was it because Cristian was already married?

So was Luca afraid that Serena would destroy his marriage and avenge him?

If he really thought that way, he would think too badly of Serena. Even if she were dead, he would not do anything to destroy other people's families.

Because she had already suffered these kinds of wounds.

Otherwise, when Alice told her that she was pregnant, how could she feel so sad and want to leave?

After this, Serena wanted to draw again, but found that she was completely uninspired.

In desperation, she had to put down her pen, then got up and went to the pantry to make herself a cup of coffee.

For five years, sometimes even though she was not so calm, she did not have to be so nervous.

But now she realized that her inspiration was interrupted and disappeared completely with one word from Luke.

Thinking about this, Serena called Anna, "Today I will focus on drawing. I will not see anyone. You take care of everything.

Seeing her serious expression, Anna nodded without saying much.

-Don't worry, you can concentrate on the drawing and I will take care of the other things.

-Thank you."

And then Serena closed the office door and then went directly to the office room, moved a chair in front of the window from the floor to the ceiling, and then sat on the floor and started drawing.

She closed her eyes and began to think about her previous inspirations, putting everything aside, thinking only about these drawings.

Anna waited outside. The two had agreed to go see the neighboring house at noon, but Serena said she would concentrate on drawing, so she did not dare to disturb her again, even during lunch.

Arianna came looking for Serena once, but Anna stopped her outside.

-Does she refuse to see us? Why is she hiding?

-Serena has inspiration and concentrates on drawing pictures inside. She said no one should disturb her, so if you have a problem, wait for her to finish drawing.

Arianna did not hate Serena as much as before, because in fact Serena was a capable woman.

Arianna admired this kind of woman, but she was actually still a little uncomfortable.

- She became the head of the company, and still does. If one has a need, will she still hide inside and draw?

Anna frowned a little uncomfortably as she listened, "You can tell me what you want to say, no need to complain here.

-Who wants to tell you? I'll come back for it later.

Arianna left after talking.

Then Arianna arrived after three o'clock in the afternoon, but the office door was still firmly closed.

Arianna said, "She has been inside from the morning until now, hasn't she?"

Anna leaned against the door, a little worried.

-Yes.

Arianna was a little surprised, -Is she crazy?

Even if she concentrates on drawing, she has to pay attention to her body, right?

Is this way of drawing day and night her head attitude?

Anna seemed to be without energy, leaning there, not even wanting to talk to her.

Arianna thought for a moment, looked at Anna and asked, "Wouldn't she even have lunch?"

Anna nodded.

-She ate a little in the morning and hasn't gone out yet.

Arianna was speechless and twitched the corners of her mouth. Seeing Anna had no remedy but did not dare to enter, she could not help but ask, -Has she done this often?

Chapter 426: She happens to be the champion.

-More or less, as long as she is inspired, she doesn't want others to disturb her, so she locks herself up and draws.

Arianna always felt that something was missing. After receiving money and meeting Serena Giordano, she was not interested because she felt like a woman who depended on men.

"But now it seems that's not the case."

Thinking about this, Arianna asked, -What was her name when she was abroad?

-What? You've been working in the company for a long time and you don't even know her name.

-So I ask you, please, to tell me.

-Serena Giordano "

Anna answered a little impatiently.

"Serena Giordano? The name sounds a little familiar." Arianna thought.

So she did not speak to Anna again, but took the elevator back to the office and then sat down in front of the computer.

Mirko saw her and turned around, "What? Isn't she still going out?"

-Get out. Don't bother me. "Arianna looked at Mirko, then opened the browser and entered Serena's English name.

-Serena Giordano ? Why are you looking for her? Although she told Mirko to leave, he did not get angry and even bent down to look at her computer.

Finding it, Arianna was surprised and looked in amazement at Serena's brilliant past achievements.

How could this be? Arianna's fingers descended quickly, and the results came out one after another, and even Mirko beside her could not help but widen his eyes.

-God, who is he? Why is it so great?"

-What?" Hearing what Mirko said, the others also moved quickly to take a look.

-Loto Prize, this is the biggest prize abroad. And this Serena Giordano won the championship.

-Wow, this work is very well designed, who is Serena ? Arianna, why did you look for her?

Arianna's hand holding the mouse suddenly trembled, her lips moved but she could not say a word.

From the beginning, they underestimated that woman.

Because everyone unconsciously thought she was a nobody, so they never investigated her background, just treated her as an ordinary person and even believed that she couldn't even draw.

But later, her precise and sharp words made everyone irrefutable. However, you could see that she was deeply involved in this industry. Arianna thought only that she could have achieved something on the outside, but it did not occur to her to have such a great achievement.

Arianna unconsciously swallowed her saliva.

-Do you think this person is excellent?

-Naturally, the Lotus Prize is my life's dream. Not to mention the championship, I think I will wake up from my dreams when I can be nominated," Maria said.

Eva beside her also smiled and said, "Nominated? I'm afraid none of us are qualified.

-It's true, if we could be nominated, we wouldn't come here to form a team," this was Lisa's voice, and she looked a little depressed.

But soon, she went back to look at the design work on the computer, "The champion of the Lotus Prize, surely she is a brilliant person?"

Arianna thought for a moment, started looking for Serena Giordano's photo and showed it to everyone.

At first they didn't care, but when they saw Serena come on stage to win the award, the group was surprised.

-Ah, this person looks a little familiar!

-This, this is...

Everyone's expressions became uncomfortable, and their breaths became a little short. Diego

Lombardi, who had been silent on one side, looked over as well and then saw the sample on the screen.

It was a girl wearing a skirt the color of the deep sea. The color was reflected in the surrounding blue lights. Normally, actresses were illuminated by the lights, but she was more like cast in light as she stood on the stage holding the awards.

Inexplicably, the smile on her face harmonized perfectly with the coldness of her eyes.

There was a feeling of being so noble and independent.

For the first time, Diego's eyes lit up.

This woman was their new boss.

That day, she left him in the conference room and said, "The difficulty is only temporary, and behind the darkness is the sun.

You could see the sarcasm in Diego's eyes.

Wasn't it ridiculous for a person who was in the height of glory to say that to the one who was in darkness?

Ridiculous!

Extremely ridiculous!

Diego suddenly got up and went out alone.

-Diego? Lisa did not know what had happened, so she hurried to join him.

There was silence in the office.

So, our new boss is not, in fact, an ignorant or male-dominated woman, but... Serena Giordano?

Maria's eyes widened in amazement.

How could this be? She was trying to find a way to put the woman down and wanted to make him look bad one day.

At the same time, Eve's mood was completely tangled and complicated.

Because in the previous meeting he had told her on the spur of the moment that his work did not have the specialty, which had made Mary laugh for a long time, and Eva had always hated it in her heart.

Even if she thought Serena was right, why was she, a woman who knew nothing, telling her so directly?

Now, knowing that she was the winner of the Lotus Prize, Eva felt a little strange.

Could she be angry with the champion's leadership? At this point, Eva did not know whether to be grateful or stay angry.

Vito was surprised for a while, then smiled, "Indeed, this is not a simple woman, as I imagined. Think about it, how can ordinary women meet Matteo Giordano? Besides, the Ferrari group came and found her very active. In my opinion--this woman is complicated, everyone should be careful. Maybe we thought that bad luck was the beginning of our good luck.

*

Serena drew until six in the evening before finishing the work.

However, after holding the position for a long time, Serena's shoulders were very sore, she was so tired that she simply put the pen down and then her whole body relaxed and leaned back.

When she closed her eyes, which were very tired, there seemed to be a lot of water churning in her mind.

She wished she could rest like that.

Anna waited outside for a long time, seeing that it was about to get dark, first left work and went to the nearby school to pick up Manuel, and then took him to the company.

When Manuel arrived, he met Arianna, who was about to go downstairs.

Seeing Manuel, she felt a little strange. The Lotus Award had always been her dream, but her current boss was the winner of that award.

"This should be something to be grateful for, but if I greet this child now, will it be considered flattering?"

After all, he used to be so fierce." Arianna thought in her heart.

Just as Arianna was tangled up, Manuel called her first, "Hello, sweetheart, you gave me a candy last time, thank you."

Chapter 427: Meeting him again

Listening, Arianna felt very happy: -Do you remember me?

Manuel nodded.

Arianna was so happy that she hurriedly reached into her bag, this time orese a lollipop and then handed it directly to Manuel.

Manuel hesitated for a moment, then reached out his hand to take the lollipop and nodded and thanked Arianna.

-Thank you, my dear.

-What good manners, huh? You are so polite," Arianna murmured.

He really was the boss's son, so well-behaved, it seemed--he had really misunderstood Serena before.

But, just this child... Whose child was it?

-Why do you come to the company at this hour? Isn't everything about to leave work?

Anna had a sad expression on her face, "I don't want to complain. Serena is still in the office. I went to the school to pick up Manuel and now we're going up to wait for her.

Listening, Arianna could not help but go wide-eyed, had she been drawing from the morning until now?

It must be said that the road to the championship was not an easy one. It was impossible for her to stay in a room and draw without eating or drinking all day, like Serena.

-OK, great! I'm going to go now. See you next time, my friend.

-Hey, pretty lady. "

After Arianna left, Anna could not help but complain, -She was so proud before, why does she suddenly look like a different person?

However, Anna quickly turned around, and then went upstairs, taking Manuel's hand, to wait for Serena.

When they arrived upstairs, they just met Serena coming out of the office.

-Manuel,|| Serena saw the baby and leaned down to hug him, -It scared me so much. I just remembered that you went to school today.

-Mom, when you think of me, Aunt Anna came to pick me up,|| Manuel's tone was a little bitter.

Serena felt guilty and pinched her soft cheeks, -It's my fault, mom apologizes, next time I will come to pick you up in person for sure.

Manuel reached out his hand and hugged Serena's neck. The two seemed very close: "Then Mom will have to do what you say.

-It's a promise.

Serena also extended her hand to make a pinky swear with Manuel, Anna couldn't help but roll her eyes.

-Manuel, I think it's better to pinky swear with me. After all, your mother is a workaholic, she doesn't even need to eat or sleep. She can't take care of you, can she?

Hearing this, Manuel's expression suddenly changed.

-Mom, you haven't eaten yet today?

At such a question, Serena realized that she was a little hungry and felt a little embarrassed when she touched her stomach: -It seems ... I haven't eaten?

Anna heard this and almost tapped Serena, -I've been waiting for you for a whole day, and to make it up to you you should take us out to dinner.

Out to dinner? Serena thought for a while, then pulled a hat out of her bag and put it on Manuel's head,

-Let's go then, mother will give you a big dinner today.

Hearing the food, Manuel's eyes lit up and he immediately hugged Serena, -Now I forgive you mom.

-You, you only know meals-I don't know who you look like.

Manuel blinked, -Mom doesn't like food, so I must be like Dad.

When this sentence came out, Serena's smile froze for a moment, and after a while she smiled, "Well, it doesn't matter who you look like, you're the best baby for mom, let's go."

Since Luca returned her car, Serena drove alone, let Anna and Manuel sit in the back seat, and went to eat at a restaurant that had good reviews on the Internet.

This restaurant was very luxurious. The second floor was an open-plan dining room, and on the second floor were the private rooms. If there were many people, they could go up the stairs. But there were only three people, plus there were a lot of people in the restaurant, so finally the three chose a quieter location and sat down.

-Let's order first.

Right now, in the private room on the second floor.

-A fat middle-aged man raised his glass and toasted in Cristian's direction.

However, Cristian, who was sitting opposite, had a cold expression and did not even look at him.

Luke, standing behind Cristian, smiled and said, "Mr. Ephraim, isn't it a bit disrespectful to toast like this?"

At this point, Mr. Ephraim shuddered, then put down his cup and said awkwardly, "It's my fault. I am punished for three cups.

Then he quickly poured himself three cups of wine and drank them all at once.

Seeing this, several people around him quickly applauded.

-What a good drinker!

-Mr. Ephraim is very lucky to be able to invite Mr. Ferrari to come today. He was very busy and we cannot invite him on such an occasion. Today is really a great pleasure.

Several people, very annoyed, had flattered Cristian.

Cristian frowned, and he looked very unpleasant all over his body. Luca immediately straightened his back and said, "Everybody, now let's get down to business.

Everyone was very nervous and nodded quickly.

Then, they started talking about business.

Cristian felt a little bored and looked around. Because the private room here had floor-to-ceiling window, Cristian turned his head and could see the whole scene on the ground floor.

Initially, Cristian was just casually looking around, but his gaze suddenly stopped and then he was attracted to a figure in the corner.

Cristian stared at the woman, then narrowed his eyes.

Why was she here?

Serena was sitting in front of Cristian. Manuel and Anna were sitting together today. While they had been waiting for the dishes for a while, Anna and Manuel were playing video games.

And Serena took out her repaired cell phone and turned it on.

After that woman hit the phone, and it fell to the ground, she heard a bad sound every time. It should be that the screen was broken, unexpectedly Luca fixed it for her.

Thinking of that person, Serena opened wechat.

Cristian's account was still in the list of applications.

She just deleted it at that moment.

"Why did you think of that person again?" Serena froze for a moment. "He is already married, what do you want to do thinking about him?"

Thinking about this, Serena put the phone down on the table and gently looked the other way.

In the hall at that moment, after the bosses had talked to Cristian, they found that he had not reacted to them, then, they found that his gaze was looking down through the huge window.

-What-what is down there that deserves Mr. Ferrari's gaze?

Several people followed his gaze and saw a beautiful and refined woman.

They were all surprised, and reacted quickly.

-Apparently, the rumors that Mr. Ferrari doesn't like women must be false.

-Mr. Ferrari, are you interested?

-We understand!" Then a group of people burst out laughing.

But the laughter did not last long before it disappeared, because Cristian suddenly turned back, and stared at them with cold eyes.

Chapter 428: Get him out of here first

The dark and fierce look in Cristian's eyes startled everyone, they didn't know what was going on, everyone looked at Cristian impishly, not knowing what to make of the situation for a while.

Luca found it strange and followed everyone's gaze.

As a result, he saw Serena sitting downstairs, one hand on the table, talking earnestly with the person in front of her, her rosy lips shone brightly under the light, and her cold eyes were so beautiful.

Everything about her was attractive.

Then Luca looked at Cristian.

It was her again!

No wonder Cristian was distracted.

-Mr. Ferrari. If you like this woman, how about inviting her to eat with us?

Since Cristian did not speak, everyone could not make up his mind for a while, so one of them said something boldly and seeing that Cristian had no other expression, he got up and went downstairs.

After some people left, Cristian took a glass of wine, then took a sip and laughed softly.

He really wanted to see, what would he do?

-Mr. Ferrari,|| Luca behind Cristian was a little anxious: -Keep it up, won't they let you disturb Miss Serena?

Cristian raised his eyebrows and looked at him coldly.

Luca immediately felt a chill, and then he didn't dare speak anymore, so he could only stand aside in silence and look at Serena through the window.

-Oh, the speed of serving meals is so slow.

I've been sitting for so long without being served anything," Anna reached out to pat her stomach while playing a video game.

At this point Manuel looked up, "Aunt Anna, you can hide behind me, otherwise you will die soon.

Hearing this, Anna paused for a while and then cursed fiercely.

-Damn, I just patted my belly for a while and this bastard attacked me. But I'm not a wimp, Manuel, help me cut off his head!

Such fierce words made the people around them couldn't help but look that way, seeing that the two were holding their cell phones and playing, not looking at them.

Serena felt a little strange when she noticed the stares of these people around her.

Actually, Anna had a very good personality and got along very well with elders and children.

Just. Serena frowned slightly.

Not long after she came in and sat down, she always seemed to have a pair of eyes looking at her, and those eyes were warm and fierce, which made her feel very familiar.

So Serena looked around, but found no special person.

Very strangely, Serena reached out her hand and rubbed her eyebrows.

"Is it because I am too tired today so I am hallucinating?"

Thinking about this, several tall figures suddenly approached Serena's table and then stopped in front of her.

-Mrs.

The sudden male voice stunned the three. Manuel finished killing the last opponent and raised his head. When Anna saw that they were several fat, middle-aged men, she suddenly became serious.

-Who are you?

She stood up protectively and pinned Manuel directly behind her.

Serena sat there, calmly raising her eyes to look at them.

-What's going on?

Initially they had all come here to please Cristian, but when they saw Serena gently raise her eyebrows and continue to sit very quietly, they all forgot to speak.

-If nothing happens, we still have to eat.

After all, she was also the oldest woman in the Giordano family; she still had the aura.

Several people froze and took a long time to react, then one of them rubbed his hands together and stepped forward, -Eating?

He looked at Serena's table, then smiled and said, "I don't think they have served food yet. There are a lot of people here because it's rush hour. It is estimated that you will have to wait about half an hour.

Serena did not answer, her eyes slightly raised and her expression seemed to say, "So what?"

The man was a little embarrassed, but to please Cristian, he smiled again, -We are in the box upstairs and the dishes are already served. We want to invite this young lady to eat. What... what do you think...?

-Excuse me, I have already ordered the food, I'm afraid I can't join you for lunch, please get out of here.

Serena did not hesitate to shoo the men away.

Many people's faces became a bit evil.

-Hey, let's be very honest. And actually, there is a big man upstairs. You won't be disappointed if you go up there?

Big man?"

What big man? Serena frowned, thinking, "In the North City, there are few people who can attract so many people."

She looked at their clothes, and it was obvious that they belonged to the business circle.

Serena had been in the business circle for some time and could tell at a glance.

Suddenly, Serena knew what was going on with that look.

It was really him.

-What are you doing? What do you want to say? What do we have to do with the big man upstairs? We don't know you at all. If you don't leave, I will call the police," Anna said, very fiercely and loudly. All the eyes of the other people in the restaurant were attracted.

The men were a little embarrassed, after all, they were all heads of various companies, and they had never received this kind of treatment.

At that moment, Serena smiled slightly, raised her head and looked at the three of them. Then her red lips parted.

-Then go back and tell that man, if he wants, it's not impossible, to come and invite me.

The three people were speechless."

To think, "Let Christian come and invite her in person? Was she crazy?"

Serena raised an eyebrow and smiled, "What, he doesn't dare?"

-No, what did you say?

-Since she is not coming personally, please come back, we have to eat, we are very busy.

Serena looked very calm and collected, but there is a big ripple in her heart, "If that person is really upstairs, and Manuel is also here, will the two meet?"

Thinking about this, Serena could only suppress the tumultuous emotions, and then looked at the few people, "Aren't you leaving yet?"

Several people were so embarrassed that they returned in a daze.

As soon as they left, Serena looked across the room at Manuel.

-Anna, put your hat on Manuel and get him out of here.

Anna asked with a confused expression, -Why?

-There is no doubt about it. Go home and have dinner, and I'll be back later.

-You're not coming with us? Anna opened her eyes wide: -If you stay here, then upstairs....

-I know the man upstairs, but it's not convenient for me to take you there, so you and Manuel go home first, and one day I'll make up for the meal I owe you.

His face was serious. And solemn when he said to Anna.

-I got it, now I'm taking Manuel out.

Chapter 429: Didn't you ask me to come personally?

Anna and Serena had known each other for many years. I knew Serena very well.

She didn't make things uncertain, so if she let her and Manuel go out first, there was something serious going on.

As for the man upstairs, Anna had been with her for a long time, and after careful thought, she could guess who he was.

-Aunt Anna, don't we have a big meal?" asked Manuel, wide-eyed.

-We'll eat another day, today your mother has to talk business suddenly, so let's go out early.

Manuel's eyes shone, as if some light was passing through, but he finally nodded obediently, then let

Anna put his hat on his head and took his hand. The two left.

Cristian's eyes naturally fell on them.

When Anna and the boy stood up, Cristian noticed that there was a boy in front of Serena, but he didn't think much about it, he just thought-that boy could be his colleague's son.

He did not know what was going on. When the boy was led out by Anna, Cristian's gaze unconsciously followed him.

When they reached the entrance of the restaurant, the boy in the hat suddenly raised his head, showing half of his face in profile.

With a glance, Cristian's face immediately changed.

That boy...

At that moment, several people entered who had just returned from the ground floor.

The sound interrupted Cristian's thoughts, and he recovered and looked at the men with cold, questioning eyes.

The faces of several people changed slightly and then took a few steps forward.

-Mr. Ferrari...."

Some of them lowered their gaze and found that the two people sitting opposite the woman had left, and they were so frightened that they quickly explained, -We were not the ones who forced them to leave. We just asked her to come and sit down for a while. We didn't say anything else.

Hearing this, Cristian arched his eyebrows, " Did she mention me?"

Of course not." -Different people waved their hands, "We just told him there was a big man.

Several people told the truth, including what Serena said downstairs to let him invite her in person.

When these people said these things to Cristian, they watched his expression, thinking that if his face turned mean, he would teach Serena a good lesson.

But there was no expression on Cristian's face, and he remained calm as he was.

They could not understand what he was thinking.

One of them wanted to try to find out, so he said angrily, -This woman is too much, who does she think she is. And bring down the gentleman himself? Mr. Ferrari, don't worry, I'll let my people go and get her out.

After speaking, that person waved his hand to get his people out.

Cristian looked at him with a serious look: -Who asked you to make a decision?

-Mr. Ferrari?

In the next second, Cristian turned his head and looked at Serena who was sitting there through the window. Her thin lips twitched slightly, thinking, -Did she ask him to come down herself?

Apparently...this woman probably already knows who he is.

*

Serena sat there for a while. She watched the passage of time every second, calculating that Anna and Manuel would have to get into the car and leave. Then she got up and prepared to leave.

As Serena stood up, she became dizzy and almost fell forward; fortunately she reached out to hold the chair and did not fall.

Serena shook his head. This hadn't happened to him in a long time, he couldn't bear it for a moment.

He had to get out of here quickly and find a place to eat.

Thinking this, Serena took a quick step toward the door.

Just as she stepped out the door, a figure blocked her way.

-Where are you going?

A cold male voice came from the front, and Serena looked at the person who appeared in front of her.

It was really him!

Cristian Ferrari!

She already knew. Shortly after sitting down she felt a gaze fixed on her body-who else could it be besides Cristian Ferrari with such warm eyes? But Serena had neither time nor inclination to attend to him, for she had not eaten for a whole day, and now her stomach ached slightly.

She half-closed her lips, barely making a forced smile.

-He turned out to be Mr. Ferrari. It is a coincidence that you are here, but I still have things to discuss. I will invite you to dinner when I get the chance.

After speaking, he moved, but Cristian grabbed his wrist.

-I am already here.

Serena's footsteps stopped and she looked at him doubtfully.

Cristian turned his head, looking at her with black eyes, -Didn't you ask me to come here in person?

-Shall we go up and eat?

Serena twisted the corners of her mouth. She said only casually, because she wanted to push them away so that Anna and Manuel could leave, but she had never thought of going up to eat with him.

Thinking about this, Serena moved her lips and said, "Mr. Ferrari, you misunderstand me. I only asked him to come in person, but I did not say that I would definitely agree.

Hearing this, she narrowed her eyes, dangerously.

-So, are you kidding me?

I'm just kidding. " -Serena let go of his hand and took two steps back, but staggered and almost fell backward.

But Serena took a few steps back to stabilize her body, then covered her stomach, her face a little pale.

Cristian immediately knew something was wrong and looked at her carefully.

-What is it ?

Serena took a deep breath and stood still to relieve the pain in her stomach, which she could no longer consume.

She looked at Cristian with a pale face and said, -It's okay. Just a frequent problem.

-What problem?" Cristian stared at her, as if he really cared about her.

Serena smiled, of course, without explaining herself. She simply walked straight in the direction of the parking lot, Cristian stood there for a while and followed her.

By the time they reached the parking lot, Serena's stomach ache was getting stronger and a cold sweat was already breaking out on her forehead.

"I don't know if God wants to play with me or if I'm really rebellious. When my stomach hurt in the past, it was not like today. Am I really hungry today or just because of bad emotions?" She was very confused.

As she thought, Serena almost stumbled with her staggering steps, and tried to grab something.

And she caught a touch of warmth.

She turned her head and saw Cristian's fresh, handsome face. And his hand was right on her arm.

Serena froze for a moment, then pulled her hand away and asked weakly, "Why are you following me?"

His face was much paler than before, and there was a thick layer of cold sweat on his forehead. He looked very weak.

Cristian scowled fiercely. He did not care about anything but her. He pulled her hand toward him and asked seriously, "What's wrong?"

Serena was overwhelmed by him and said softly, "My stomach hurts."

As soon as she finished the word, Cristian took her in his arms.

Chapter 430: I am her husband.

Serena was dizzy. She reached out to hug him around the neck for fear of falling. The pain in her stomach made her pale. She bit her lip, looking closely at Cristian.

"What are you doing?"

Cristian looked at her coldly, then hugged her and turned around.

Because he was walking, he felt a vibration in his chest. Serena wanted to run away, but found she had no strength.

At the same time, her stomach was in great pain, which almost made her faint.

You are in pain and still trying to be tough." "Christian's voice sounded very cold, his face was also gloomy, and the look on Serena's face was full of anger.

Serena was a little confused.

Where did this heinous anger come from?

And when did I offend him?

Thinking about this, Serena closed her eyes and said weakly, " And my business, it has nothing to do with you, so please spare me.

Cristian scoffed, "It has nothing to do with me? What would it take for you to think it has anything to do with me?"

Serena did not know what to say.

What was this man trying to do?

Should he be so obsessed with her that he would be happy?

She wanted to take a deep breath to relieve her stomach ache, but it didn't work. On the contrary, it made the situation worse. Serena didn't want to talk to him anymore; she simply pushed his hand away, then silently pushed his chest to get out of his embrace.

Seeing what she had done, Cristian said angrily, "Why do you keep fighting, but you are already so weak?

Serena, "Let me go!

Although his voice was weak, his spirit was firm and calm.

-Cristian sneered and did not let her go as he would have liked, but took her to his car. He opened the door and put her in the seat, then bent down to help her fasten her seat belt.

As he walked to the driver's seat, Serena wanted to unbuckle her seat belt and get out of the car, but she was in so much pain that she could not even lift her hand.

She had had stomach problems before.

But it had been cured by her one-term effort.

Unexpectedly ... it happened again this time, and it was more severe than ever.

Consciousness came gradually clouded.

Cristian turned the steering wheel as he looked at her and, seeing her pale face and a lot of cold sweat on her forehead, pressed the accelerator quickly.

Arriving at the hospital, Cristian caught up with her and helped her unbuckle her seat belt, then said coldly, "Go to the doctor, if you struggle again, I'll...

Halfway through the speech, Cristian suddenly realized that she had fainted. His expression changed, he rushed out of the car and rushed her to the hospital.

Fifteen minutes later, Cristian adjusted Serena. The doctor raised his head and said to Cristian.

-Are you her boyfriend?

Hearing this, Cristian was surprised for a moment and denied: -No."

But he quickly added: -I am her husband.

As Cristian said this, he continued to stare at Serena.

Seeing her lying there, her face and lips pale, he was so worried that he did not know what to do.

-Because you are her husband, you have to take care of your wife. She has a serious stomach problem, don't you know?

Cristian was stunned for a moment: -Stomach problem?

-What are you doing as her husband? Your wife has a serious stomach problem as she is now, why don't you take her to the hospital until now? Her diet must be very irregular.

When the doctor asked him, Cristian realized that he knew nothing about Serena's current life.

He did not know what or how she ate her meals.

He could only remember that when she had gone to the restaurant with Elsa earlier, she had ordered only cold drinks.

Thinking about this, Cristian frowned.

He had a very serious stomach problem, which should not be recent. Why did he keep drinking cold drinks when he had this illness?

-Forget it, depending on what you don't know, I won't even bother to tell you. Let's put some saline solution on her. Let someone make her millet porridge and drink it when she wakes up, then have her admitted to the hospital for observation.

-Thank you very much,|| Cristian thanked the doctor and soon left.

Cristian approached the bed and looked anxiously at Serena, who was still in a coma.

How had she lived for the past five years?

How had she taken care of herself?

Earlier, Cristian saw that she had changed a lot now, thinking that she should take care of herself, but he did not expect that.... she also had stomach problems.

Only people who could not take care of themselves and had all kinds of irregular diets should have this disease, right?

Suddenly, Cristian felt a vibration.

After some silence, Cristian noticed that Serena's cell phone in her purse was vibrating.

He grabbed the bag directly and then pulled out the cell phone inside.

He had had this phone, but after repairing it, Luca did not ask for any opinion and returned it to her.

He had wasted a good opportunity to be with her.

-Hello?"

When the low voice came from the phone, Anna thought she heard wrong, so she picked up the phone and looked at the number on the screen, then put the phone to her ear again after confirming that it was correct.

-Who is it?

-Christian.

He knew who the other party was, because Serena saved Anna's number.

He also remembered her, so naturally he directly reported her name.

Anna suddenly shivered all over her body, turned her head and looked at Manuel beside her as if he were on fire, then quickly got up and ran to the bedroom door to answer the phone.

- Mr. Ferrari? How could he be holding Serena's phone?

Cristian looked at Serena who was in a coma and said solemnly, "What is it?"

Anna swallowed and said, "I'm looking for Serena, can you ask her to answer the phone?"

-Inconvenient," Cristian bluntly dismissed her.

Anna's eyes immediately widened.

-Inconvenient ?

What did that mean ? Anna felt very bad for a moment. Did Cristian do something bad to Serena?

Thinking about what happened earlier at the restaurant, Anna also realized that the big character people had been talking about was Cristian.

-Tell me quickly, if you have something to say.

-I, I actually..." Anna thought for a moment, and asked, "I just wanted to ask how are you now? You..."

didn't treat her...

Hearing this, Cristian scoffed deeply.

-She has fainted. What do you think I can do with her?

-She fainted?

-Because of the stomach illness.

Anna exclaimed, -My God, she hasn't eaten anything all day and I'm still worried that she has a stomach problem. I am...