

Virginity 60

Chapter 60

Seeing that the expression on Serena's face was a bit lost, Maya realized that her comfort might be useless, so she could only gently say to her again, "Ms. Aurora, don't be discouraged. After all, you only recently married him and you must establish a good relationship with him. I see that Mr. Cristian treats you very special."

Hearing this, Serena raised her head and looked at her gently.

"Thank you Maya."

After finishing the soup, Serena went to sleep. Maya told her that she would take care of her all night, while Serena asked her to rest for a while on the bed, since she was the only patient in the room and no one would come to know. Maya agreed.

Serena sat for a while, then sent a message to Alice explaining her situation and fell asleep.

Alice came to the hospital to see her the next day.

"Maya, thank you last night for taking care of Serena. I will take care of her today. Go ahead and rest." Alice's sweet words and hug made Maya very happy, and she soon left.

After Maya had left, Alice quickly closed the door and returned next to the bed.

"What is going on? Why so mysterious?" Serena asked.

Hearing this, Alice looked at her, "Are you calling me mysterious? Wouldn't I be so mysterious if it weren't to investigate your things?"

Investigating her things? Serena remembered the button, "Do you have news?"

Alice opened her bag and pulled out the button. The gold button shone in the light, "I'm returning it to its owner."

Serena took it and asked doubtfully, "Don't you need it as an investigative clue? Don't you need it anymore?"

"Just see it once. I don't need it all the time. Besides, this is precious to you. I have to give it back to you." Having said that, Alice blinked with a smile, "Serena, you are very lucky."

"My brother said there are not many such buttons on the market. The materials that are used are very scarce, and we have already sent someone to verify the source. When the source is found, it will be easy to know who it belonged to."

Serena thought it would be extremely difficult to identify someone with just one button, but she did not expect Alice to solve it so quickly. She felt a little moved, "Alice, thank you."

"How stupid of me to say thank you? You are my best friend." Alice lifted her lips and suddenly remembered something. "What are you going to do if you find that person? Do you divorce Cristian Ferrari?"

Speaking of Cristian, Serena's expression became complicated again.

"Why are you suddenly not talking?" Alice looked at her. "Did something happen?"

"I don't know either."

"If you don't know, tell me what the problem is and I will analyze it for you."

Serena raised her head and saw Alice's anxious expression. Her lips moved, and then she told her everything that had happened recently. When Serena finished telling, Alice leaned on her arms with a loving face. "According to what you said, this Cristian treats you pretty well."

Pretty well? Serena thought the same, but remembering the scenes when he spoke coldly to her, she felt it must probably be an illusion.

"But his mood changes often. Maybe it's because of a leg injury? I've heard that people with physical defects are more likely to lose control of their mood. And he is a respected man, if he is unable to make love, it must be very difficult for him..."

Serena suddenly remembered that the first day when she was in the Ferrari house. To let him stay in the family, she had said many unscrupulous words to Cristian, and then...he had dragged her on his legs to make her feel it.

If Cristian was unable to have sex, what did she feel that day?

"What are you thinking? Your cheeks are red."

Serena was thinking about this very concentratedly, and Alice's words brought her back to her senses. Seeing that Alice was staring at her, the temperature of her face rose and she said, "I think it's better not to criticize him about this."

"How so? Do you feel sorry about that?"

"No..."

"Then tell me what were you thinking about? Why did you blush when I mentioned this? Did you feel it?" Alice laughed strangely, but suddenly remembered something, and said, "It can't be. Isn't it said that Mr. Cristian is impotent? How impossible it is to make you blush over this."

"Alice, don't talk about that." Serena just couldn't take it anymore. Alice talked about it too much.

"I didn't say anything. You blushed, and I just asked."

The door was knocked suddenly, then the handle turned, but it could not be opened. And a doubtful voice came from outside the door.

"Assistant Serena?"

Alice looked at Serena and noticed that her expression had changed slightly.

"Is that Mr. Cristian?" Alice correctly guessed the person's identity at that moment.

"Sir, the door is locked."

Serena's face paled. Cristian had really come!

Hadn't he come and left again yesterday? Why did he come again today? What was he doing?

"Don't worry." Just when Serena was too nervous, Alice took her hand and blinked mischievously. "I'm here."

Without waiting for Serena's reply, Alice got up and opened the door.

When Luca was trying to find a solution, the door opened and a strange woman appeared at the door. Luca was surprised, wondering if they had gone to the wrong room, but he looked around carefully and confirmed that he was correct.

"Are you looking for Serena?" Without waiting for Luca to think about it, Alice took the initiative to ask.

Hearing this, Luca looked inside the room and saw Serena sitting on the bed.