

Virus 31

The God Virus Volume 2 - 31 Who Is He?

They finally understood they could literally do anything they wanted, whatever they felt like doing and no one would be able to point any fingers at them!

And after that lots of legal and illegal ideas were suggested, some of which chosen by everyone's vote and some rejected.

After the conference meeting was over all the CEOs came out of the conference room with evil grins on their faces.

Anyone seeing them could imagine a storm and crisis was probably going to befall their enemy.

After that Virus and Bella finished their food and got on their way to the building on foot again.

Bella was happily following and escorting Virus back while stealing a glance at him from time to time when finally Virus broke the silence by beginning to talk as he said all of a sudden with an expressionless face, "do something, lil Belle, I might want to travel to some other country soon and enjoy a little bit of another country, but I want Ella to come too, but she has college... she won't come with me like today, with her college and classes still being attended like this, so do something, whatever you feel like, make university suspended or shut down completely, I don't care, just make it so she would be able to come with me whenever I feel like, and the next time I ask her to come out with me, nothing like today happens, okay?"

Bella was at first happy Virus called her lil Belle because it felt closer but then she was triggered and a little stunned listening to Virus' words, but then she started thinking and thought this behavior was normal and expected of his master when he was dealing with most of the things, probably because he was an AI he had to have everything under control and the slightest thing out of his control would bug him very much.

And then she started thinking about how he met with Ella and how coincidentally there was a party which Ella attended to the moment his body was made.

Then she started thinking further about how her master seemed to have already chosen who he wanted to sleep with the moment his body was made.

The more and the deeper she thought the more she felt scared and stunned inside, it was like everything that was happening, her master had already predicted and maybe even caused it to happen.

But now Ella had said she wanted to study because she had exam tomorrow and this was probably out of his control and expectations, maybe he thought Ella would abandon the exam and come out with him immediately or that he hadn't even put the matter of exam in his mind, or maybe because he wanted to live like a normal person he had stopped calculating or maybe not, or maybe completely something else!

Remembering how her master had said Ella had an exam tomorrow and can't come with them, he seemed completely fine and cool with it at the time but it seems he was not? or maybe he was?

It was at this moment Bella thought she couldn't see through her master at all!

As these thoughts made her very scared, she decided to stop thinking about them because everything she thought is maybe not true or even if it was true it was better she stops thinking about them and just follows orders, so she answered, "Yes master, I'll do as I was told."

"Good." Virus said continuing his walk without any change in expression or anything else.

After that, they talked no more and started walking towards his building 4 Times Square.

MEANWHILE IN A SECRET GOVERNMENT FACILITY IN US

Inside the facility in the boss office, right now two men were inside, one was sitting on a chair behind the only desk in the room, while the other man was sitting on one of the couches inside the office.

"So my boss is expecting an answer soon as his boss and higher ups are expecting an answer too, did you figure out what that company's background is? where and when they invented and made so many things? is that company perhaps from another country? or a branch of another powerful family or industry that has been getting ready to come into the phone market?" The person who was sitting on the couch said. By the way he talked you could say he was superior to the person who was sitting behind the desk.

"Boss... we've been investigating that company for many days now and there are some things we found!" The person behind the desk said.

"In our detailed investigation, we found no background power that was supporting that company other than a person called Aizen Vee, the initial capital they used to start the company seems to come from their chairman and only shareholder, that person called Aizen Vee whose background research only leads to one result: TOP-CLASS CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION." He said.

"Now I don't know if he's somebody from the higher-ups or somebody with heavy background with classified information, but as I don't have access and permission to his information I won't dwell on him boss, you need to investigate that person's background yourselves to find who he truly is..." he continued as the person sitting on the couch listened silently with a serious face in absolute calm.

Seeing him listening he continued "Though the CEO of that company who is someone normal with clean background called Steven Greg at first used Aizen Vee's money as initial capital to start the company, but now with the way how everyone is buying their phones they don't need any more of his personal money and still only with the money they earn, they are still expanding at an alarming speed, they seem to be even paving their way to the car market too as their cars will be released soon and their cars too seem to be ahead of other car companies just like their phones!"

The God Virus Volume 2 - 32 A Man Looking At The Crowded City

"We also investigated from where these many advanced techs like phones and cars are coming from and we found something too! All the tech seems to be coming from a secret lab in The Aldabra Atoll of Seychelles which was recently also bought by the same chairman of the company: Aizen Vee."

"There have to be scientists working and inventing new techs there, or maybe some super genius people working, I'm not sure as we could get no definitive information about that place, as the place's security is too tight, so the only theory I can come up with is that their scientists or super geniuses are in that island working on new tech and science, even if none of my theories are true I'm sure the source of their advanced techs is there." The person sitting behind the desk on the chair said.

"Wait a moment... " his boss on the couch finally talked as he interrupted him.

"what is it boss?" the person behind the desk who wanted to just resume his talk and continue talking stopped and said.

"You said that island was recently bought... but inventing those many phones seems impossible in a short period of time, it would require years of concentrated study and research! so where were those so-called super geniuses and scientists you talk of before they bought an island?" he asked.

Hearing this the person behind the desk said "Actually... I don't know where they were before...maybe in another country or maybe in some abandoned desert or jungle in an abandoned secret lab probably? I don't know, but I believe they were in another lab before coming to the currently built lab on the island."

"So you found almost nothing useful except that they seem to be clean and their sources also legal too huh?" The person sitting on the couch said with a frown on his face.

"Yes boss, it's just that I believe they have been hiding to make an appearance that would shock the world, so they have been preparing, probably for decades!" the person sitting behind the desk said.

He continued talking "but if you want to find something else I believe we need to find that person Aizen Vee's background and data first, then we might get to another conclusion or we might not, so I suggest you first try to find about him."

"I'll see what happens, was that all?" the person sitting on the couch asked.

"well... yeah... but other than those while we were investigating them we found something else too, almost all of the other phone companies seem to have joined forces to deal with The Virus Company... now I don't know what plans they have designed to deal with Virus Company as I'm not focusing my attention on them, but I'm sure they will be very brutal in whatever they're planning." The person behind the desk said.

"Well... I expected something like this would happen the moment those phones came to the market, as that company truly left no way for them to live, and if a person has no way to live, he will do desperate things as he will have nothing more to lose." The person sitting on the couch said,

"Should I investigate the allied phone companies too boss?" the man behind the desk said.

"Just leave them be," the man sitting on the couch said and then he stood up as he continued "Then I shall get going to report to my boss... "

Hearing this the person sitting behind the desk also stood up as he came from behind the desk beside his boss with papers in his hand. "here boss, this is the written result of the investigation."

Taking the papers from his hands the boss who was sitting on the couch left to report to his higher-ups.

After his boss left the man who was behind the desk before said, "I have a gut feeling a shitty storm's going to happen soon."

THE NEXT DAY

Finally, enough time had passed for the Full Skin Cleanser Injection's immunity completely take effect and now Virus' skin was fully immune to impurities as it was also completely pure.

This purity was also now permanent because of the immunity that came with the injection.

Right now Virus standing, in a room which had a full see-through window glass.

He was looking down, outside the window to the crowded city and people, with an indifferent expression.

As he was watching them Bella entered the room after knocking on the door, only to see him standing with his back to her.

Looking at her master who was looking out of the window with a cold and indifferent expression she thought unconsciously, "Master's so cool..."

Then coming to herself after being a little dazed by her master's cool back she said "Master... two sets of material are ready and here."

"Oh... " hearing this Virus was surprised a little as he hadn't expected them to be able to gather two sets instead of the ordered set only, but the surprise wasn't much as he was still looking out at the city without turning back.

The golden beauty continued without waiting for her master to probe and ask further "The uglies were able to somehow gather the next set you needed too somehow, so the CEO and Legal uglies just brought the two sets back before going back to do their own duties again."

"They were more efficient than I thought... that's a bit of surprise to me as they were able to exceed my expectations a little... " Virus said as he turned around looking at the Golden beauty's face.

and then he started walking toward the golden beauty while saying, "then we should start making the second thing I need... " It was at this moment that he had passed the golden beauty but Bella was still standing without moving, seeing her not moving he stopped and then looked back at her face saying "What are you waiting for? Let's go..."

The God Virus Volume 2 - 33 A New World

CULTIVATION MULTIVERSE OF QI - EARTH

As cultivation is dominant instead of technology on this earth, the power is not the power of technology and weapons a country might have.

On this Earth, the most important thing is the individual power and the cultivation each person has.

Countries and nations existed on this earth too and their power and place were determined by how much powerful the cultivators of that country were and how much power the most powerful person in that country had.

A difference this earth had with the earth of technology was that it looked like it was still at the times of ancient earth almost like how ancient China was in the past.

Normal people used horses to travel and they used gold, silver, bronze as currency to buy food, house, and everything else.

Another difference this earth of cultivation had with the earth of technology was laws each country and nation had.

Each person's place was determined by the cultivation he or she had and other than things like slaughtering the masses or some other taboos, powerful people could do whatever they wanted to the people weaker than them, so it was a world where strong suppressed the weak. So this earth was run by the laws of the jungle.

Also because people here cultivated from countless years before, there were animals, beasts, and other creatures that have been affected by the qi and gained a natural hereditary unconscious ability of absorption of this energy while going through change throughout the countless years and now there were animals who have reached high levels of power, or there were those more powerful animals, etc. who had gained higher levels of intelligence, and there were even some which had even reached the intelligence of the human beings or surpassed it, these animals were called the 'Magical Beasts'.

EARTH, THE HOLY ISLAND

Other than those powerful countries there was also another place which was not a country, only an island in the Pacific ocean. With all this, it was still seen as powerful as other countries and almost no one dared to go against them as the number of powerful people there were a lot.

Right now on this island inside the biggest pagoda, a group of people was sitting on chairs around a big table in the shape of a circle.

Right now they seemed to be talking about something, the room was a little dark so their faces were not clear and obvious.

One of them (A) said "how is the comprehension of that portal like rift that opened is going?" this person was at closed-door cultivation meditation at the time trying to breakthrough in his cultivation, so he hadn't felt the rift open, thus unable to try comprehending it, and he would not be, at least not until the rift opens again and he sees it.

"The fastest one among us has comprehended about 5 percent of it, but the more we comprehend the harder it gets." Another person (B) who seemed to be a young woman said.

"That's right, and according to our spies in other countries, we seem to be the fastest one among all the nations that have started comprehending that portal like rift," another (C) said.

"So I'm hoping we would continue to be ahead of others till we completely comprehend it." the same person (C) continued.

Others still remained silent only listening.

The first person (A) who had talked broke the silence again and talked again "what do you guys think is beyond that rift?"

"Maybe a far away place in our world, or maybe a pocket dimension? or maybe something else completely, because I haven't even comprehended 2 percent I'm not sure..." That woman (B) who had talked previously talked.

"Whatever it is... we have to be the first group to reach there before other nations, to reap most of the benefits." Another (D) said with a serious tone.

"now we know we're faster than other nations... but aren't you guys forgetting another competitor? I mean we have no spies at that place too..." that same person (D) continued, when he said his last word he turned silent looking at the face of others sitting in there, seeing no reaction whatsoever from them and seeing them stay silent he continued saying, "I'm talking about the magical beasts! I mean they must be trying to comprehend too!"

There was two seconds of silence but then, "Hahaha..." Hearing this almost all of them except some of them started laughing out loud, after a while of laughing one of them who was laughing the loudest (E) said "that was good! that seriously changed the mood of the gathering, bravo, hahaha" that person said as he continued laughing afterward.

"But I'm serious! why do you people underestimate them so much!" the person who had talked about the magical beasts (D) said with a serious face, he had learned it the hard way to never underestimate anyone so he never underestimated anyone since he had learned that lesson.

Hearing him being completely serious they stopped laughing too and one of them (A) said in a tone like he was saying the most obvious thing in the world "You know how the magical beasts are like, even though they might be powerful with hard bodies, their comprehension ability is the slowest among us all... so why would you overestimate them? I agree with the thought to never underestimate anyone, but you shouldn't overestimate them too... isn't that right?"

"But still... sigh... okay... but if it was up to me I wouldn't have ignored them completely and at least make sure they were slower than us, but whatever." That person (D) said as he turned silent afterward.

After that, another long awkward silence came upon the room as everyone didn't know what to say.

Sometime later the person (F) who almost never talked in all of the gatherings talked, she was the person who had comprehended about 5 percent of the rift and probably the fastest on the whole earth to comprehend according to the spies placed in other nations.

She said, "You guys asked where the rift would lead to, let me answer that..."

Hearing this everyone in the room was stunned that she knew and then they were impatient to hear the answer as they were looking at her face with an expression that was yelling 'Where? Where?'

After what seemed like forever to others she responded with the slowest of speeds with a soft and low tone while savoring the moment. She said, "It would lead us..."

'JUST FUCKING SPIT IT OUT.' they all thought, but obviously, none dared to say it out loud.

"To another world... a whole new world." She finally said.

The God Virus Volume 2 - 34 Suspense

BACK TO VIRUS

he stopped and then looked back at her face saying "What are you waiting for? Let's go..."

"uh... okay." coming out of it she followed her master.

Then they came to the place where the two sets of material and the MDA was placed at.

"What should I do master?" she asked.

"just follow my instruction and place the material I tell you to in the exact quantity I tell you to in the entries like the last time." Virus

After that lot's of new commands with the same futuristic language kept appearing on the MDA, even different chemical formulas of different material kept appearing which was also changed in some ways.

The image of different rotating DNAs also kept appearing which unzipped like a zip turning into a strand of DNA and then it's structure was also changed as Adenine, Thymine, Guanine, and Cytosine were changed or replaced as it was zipped again only to turn into a whole DNA but this time different.

As these different commands continued appearing Virus told the golden beauty to place the different sets of the first of the two sets in different entries.

After five minutes later everything was placed in its own related entries as all of the commands were given too, now they needed to just wait until the MDA was done doing its job.

While they were waiting, the golden beauty looked at Virus asking him, "master, what are you making this time? is it something that would do something to the skin again?" As she asked this her eyes were shining a little.

"Haha... of course not. My job is done with my skin as it's purified completely and it's also immune to impurities from now on... what I'm making this time...well, let's keep the suspense...you'll know soon enough." looking at the golden beauty Virus answered with a smiling face.

Hearing this Bella didn't know what to say, she just thought a little grudgingly that each time he kept her hanging.

After that, while they were waiting, the golden beauty brought Virus a cup of tea to drink.

Afterward, They waited for about an hour when finally they heard a sound come from the MDA.

Looking at the MDA they saw the same 'READY' sign they had seen the last time Virus had made the Full Skin Cleanser Injection.

Now the second thing Virus wanted was ready.

Because the golden beauty was still in suspense the first thing she wanted to know was the name of the thing her master had created so she immediately looked under the big READY sign only to see which made her suspense even increase more.

Because the name that was written under the ready sign was: Done Making: [You thought I would tell you the name that easily lil beauty?]

Seeing this the golden beauty reaction was at first stunned then she started crying with anime tears as she said "Master is so mean!" she swore, if it was anyone but her master she would've already dissected him or her to ten thousand small pieces of meat by her sword already only to incinerate him or her afterward.

"hahaha, sorry lil Belle, the suspense continues." Virus said as he laughed completely unaware of what was going on inside Bella's head.

After having his little entertainment seeing the thing he wanted ready he stood up walking to the MDA and took out the injection of this time out of the MDA.

The injection was made as the MDA poured all of it inside the futuristic syringe, so what Virus took out of the MDA was the syringe actually ready to be injected like last time.

taking the syringe out of the MDA, raising his left hand by which he took the syringe with, he took it in front of his face looking at the liquid inside the advanced syringe.

The liquid inside the syringe was completely green.

"Aren't you going to inject it right now master?" After the golden beauty calmed down from the previous prank she asked seeing her master only looking at the injection without injecting it like last time.

"I'll... but just not right now." Virus replied.

he continued "first let's make the third thing I need too by using the second set of materials before I inject myself with this."

"uh okay then," she said.

After that they did like the previous thing they had made, Virus was sitting on the couch without looking at the MDA, only looking at the green liquid on his left hand while simultaneously telling the golden beauty to place specific materials on specific entries of the MDA.

Meanwhile, random commands kept appearing on the 3D screen above MDA, Chemical formulas were kept being changed while different DNA were being unzipped into a strand of DNA and then after some change were applied to the strand it was again made into a whole DNA.

The only difference was that this process took about five minutes more than the previous process for all the needed commands to be given to the MDA.

After that came again the waiting phase where they just needed to wait until the MDA was done making.

While they were waiting Ella called by her communication device, seeing her calling a smile crept across Virus' face as he answered.

"Hey Ai, how is everything going? I'm so sorry I couldn't come with you yesterday..." She said the moment Virus answered without waiting for him to talk.

"Hey beauty, I told you already it's okay, and everything's going just fine," Virus said with a smiling face.

Then he continued by asking "More importantly, how did your exam go? was it good?"

Hearing this Ella was happy he asked as she answered with great enthusiasm "Yeah! it went great actually...hehe, all the questions came from the sources I had studied! I'm expecting a perfect score!"

"That's great then, so my girlfriend is a genius!" Virus said while producing a tone like he was really enthusiastic about it too.

Hearing how enthusiastic Virus tone was and how he complimented her, she became really happy as she felt a sweet feeling inside her.

She said giggling with happiness, "hehehe, of course."

The God Virus Volume 2 - 35 Aizen Vee

It was at this moment that Virus heard a sound coming from the MDA and looking at it he saw the big 'READY' sign on the 3D screen, so he told Ella "Okay then, I have some things to do, talk to you later."

"Okay, tell me when you're not busy so we would go out, okay Ai?" Ella said hearing him wanting to close the line, this was actually the reason why she had called because she was feeling a little guilty for rejecting him, and also because she missed him and wanted to see him.

"Alright beautiful, bye." saying this he closed the line as he walked beside the MDA.

WITH AMARA MARTIN

Since yesterday when Amara Martin had met Virus for the first time at the restaurant she had been busy with family related stuff but she hadn't forgotten Virus as he kept coming and appearing in her mind.

Although this was probably what happened to every single girl or woman that saw Virus as he was too otherworldly in looks so they couldn't forget about him.

But because she had interacted with him directly things felt even more real to her as she had talked to him and this made her feelings shot up as her heart couldn't stop beating.

She didn't know why but his cold attitude that he had towards her had attracted her even more.

'Aizen Vee, Aizen Vee,...' She kept thinking about his name and kept repeating it inside her mind as if she was afraid she would forget about him, as she still hasn't told anyone to investigate about him.

And there was a reason why she hadn't told anyone to investigate him.

There was a secretary who was also Amara's driver and this person was always with her all the time.

Amara believed this secretary of her was reporting everything she did to her family, and if she told her secretary to investigate Aizen Vee she believed the secretary would definitely report to her family and she didn't want that because she didn't know what kind of reaction they would have or how they would use it against her.

She also couldn't tell anyone else until now because her secretary hadn't left her alone until this moment when her job was finally done.

She immediately picked up her Virus iPhone 1 and called someone from her contact list.

After some time of beeping somebody finally someone answered saying with a cold tone, although it seemed he wasn't trying to be cold as he wasn't trying to behave like that, this was his natural tone and personality "Hello Miss Martin, how have you been? To what do I owe the pleasure of this call?"

Hearing the phone has been answered and hearing the voice of the person on the other line of the call she said "Hello Detective Lock, I'm fine... actually I called because I have a favor to ask... "

"oh... is that so? Go on." He said hearing she had called because she had a favor to ask of him, of course with the same cold tone.

John Lock was a very handsome genius detective who was 29 years old and he was familiar with the Martin family as he had helped them in the past with something very important to the Martin family.

As he was a very handsome young genius detective with a cold personality lots of women pursued him as he was popular among them.

At that time he worked for the Martin family Detective Lock commuted to the Martin mansion a lot, Amara also lived there at the time and they naturally started to get to know each other as they talked about business stuff, but the degree of this acquaintance was only at the working level and it never surpassed that.

At that time Amara figured detective Lock was not someone who would tell others somebody else's secrets.

They were also familiar with each other to some extents and that's why she called him.

"... This is something personal and unrelated to my family, I hope you could keep this as a secret for me." Amara said after a little hesitation.

"Even from your family?" He asked intrigued.

"Especially from my family!" Amara replied.

"Don't worry about it, you know me a little and you should've at least realized by now that I have tight and sealed lips." Detective Lock said.

"Yes I know, so here's the deal, I want you to investigate someone for me, I want to know everything there is to know about him, and by everything I mean literally that person's life's every little detail! I don't want to miss anything about him. Find out what he likes, what he usually does to entertain himself, what his background is and literally everything else." Amara said.

Detective Lock only heard her voice so he didn't know what kind of expression was plastered on her face right now, but if he was in front of her at the moment, he would have definitely thought she was in love as her eyes were obviously lovestruck and her pupils seemed to have turned into hearts.

But still only by her voice, Detective Lock could deduce some things as he was a genius detective, though he only thought she seemed to be extremely interested in this person she wanted to investigate and he figured that this interest was not in the way of seeing the person she wanted to investigate in a negative way, but in a positive way like she was extremely curious about this person.

"Especially, I want to know where he lives or where he usually goes to eat, work, or do something else." Amara continued, this was the most important thing to her, other details almost didn't matter to her as much as this particular detail.

"Alright Miss Martin, I'll investigate this person you talk of to the best of my abilities to every little detail. But who is this person you want to investigate?" He asked after agreeing to do the favor for her.

Amara said "I don't know anything about him other than his name and that he's extremely handsome... no... he's beyond handsome, the word handsome can't even begin to describe him... and that cold personality of him..." at this point, she was almost drooling and lost.

"Miss... just tell me his name." Detective Lock said speechless at this point as he thought 'Where's she going with this?' and also he became certain that this rich miss seemed to have fallen for someone, though he wasn't sure how to feel about that.

"Oh right..." Amara said coming out of it while blushing, a little embarrassed of losing herself thinking about Virus.

Then she finally said, "His name is Aizen Vee."

The God Virus Volume 2 - 36 The Green Injection

After cutting the line off, Virus walked to the MDA as took the second syringe of the day filled with yellow liquid.

"Now I just need to inject the syringes and wait." Virus said.

"So master, when are you going to tell me what the green and yellow liquids do?" The golden beauty asked still curious and still wanting to know it badly

"haha, now I'm gonna inject the first green liquid so let me tell you what the first syringe I'm going to inject is, but before that, go tell the CEO ugly to hold off the second set of phones and not release it till I tell him to." Virus said after being amused again by the golden beauty's curiosity.

"Okay master" nodding her head the golden beauty went away and came back about 15 minutes later.

"I told him, master, he said he'll do as he's ordered." The golden beauty said after coming back.

"Good, now let me tell you what the green liquid is..." Virus said taking the green liquid filled syringe by his left hand and bringing it in front of his face.

"This green colored liquid is called... [Flesh and Muscle Purifier] and it does exactly as it says... it purifies the muscle and flesh of the body." Virus said.

"Oh... so that's it... I thought it's something really good like the Full Skin Cleanser Injection." The golden beauty said obviously losing the interest to know more.

Virus was a little speechless and thought 'Maybe I placed a little too much woman tendencies in her while I was creating her.'

"Anyway, I'm going to inject it now." Virus said as he brought the syringe with his left hand and injected it to his right arm.

"What do I do in the meantime master?" Bella asked.

"You? do whatever you like lil belle." He said with a smile on his face after which he focussed fully on his own body.

After injecting it at first he felt nothing but then he started feeling uncomfortable everywhere in his body, all of his muscles were feeling a little numb and uncomfortable along with all the flesh on his body, unlike the Full Skin Cleanser Injection which the person injected with it felt almost nothing, this Flesh and Muscle Purifier made the body a little uncomfortable.

But also unlike the Full Skin Cleanser which made the impurities and filth come out from the skin itself around the body, this Flesh and Muscle Purifier was not like that as no filth and impurities came out of the skin of the body and there was no layer of filth on the skin, but after some time Virus had the urge to excrete and poo.

This was because all the filth and impurities came out in the form of excrement.

But like the Full Skin Cleanser Injection, this made the whole flesh and Muscle on the body 100 percent pure and cleansed with no impurities at all.

This Injection also had an advantage over the pills of the Cultivation Multiverse which could not cleanse some parts of the body at all.

And like the Full Skin Cleanser Injection which even Cleansed the inner skin, this Flesh and Muscle Purifier also purified every muscle, flesh, and tissue in the body including the penis which was made of tissues, but the pills of the cultivation multiverse could not do this. {A/N: this part is too important to be left alone.}

This injection was for the second level of the Purifying Stage which is called: Cleansing The Flesh and Muscles.

In the Cultivation Multiverse though, the percentage of cleansing the impurities of this second level was even lesser than the percentage of which they could purify the skin, as the best medicine and pills there could only purify eighty-five to ninety percent of the flesh and muscles.

While the most common pills of this type which people with a little background could get their hands on could purify only about fifty to fifty-five percent of the flesh and muscles of the body.

While people with strong backgrounds could get their hands to pills that could purify seventy to seventy five percent while the peak powers with the best alchemists could get their hands on pills that could purify eighty to eighty-five percent while those legendary pills or heavenly materials that could purify ninety percent could only be found by chance and luck mostly.

After Virus felt the urge to excrete he went to the toilet on his own floor to relieve himself, while doing the job he saw that his excrement was completely pitch black and the smell was a killer too. {A/N: Gross... don't look at it and no smelling.}

After he felt like his bowels were empty he came out.

but an hour later he felt like he was filled again as he had to go to the toilet again.

Throughout the whole process, his whole body was feeling uncomfortable but this uncomfortableness was nothing to Virus.

After going to the toilet for about 10 times his flesh and muscles and tissues were completely purified of any filth and impurities.

Now the whole uncomfortable feeling was gone and his body feeling super comfortable, a feeling that goes beyond comfortable.

He felt like his body has been massaged for days and every movement he made with his body was accompanied by pleasure, like when you stretch your body sometimes and it makes you feel so comfortable.

So now every movement of the body was accompanied with absolute pleasure for him and he couldn't help himself but move his body more.

Now that his body was completely purified he had to wait until his flesh and muscles in his body were completely immune to impurities and filth before injection the next syringe.

Two days passed just like that while his flesh and muscles were being made immune to all impurities, he didn't leave his building for these two days and other than talking with Ella and Bella sometimes, he did almost nothing else other than waiting.

After finally he was sure his body was completely immune from now on he decided to inject himself with the next syringe injection which had a yellow liquid inside.

The God Virus Volume 2 - 37 A Leap

The syringe containing the yellow liquid inside was the next thing Virus wanted to inject himself with.

The golden beauty had already asked what it was and knowing the use of it even though she was a little fascinated how her master seemed to be able to make whatever he felt like, she wasn't interested in what the yellow liquid did.

The yellow liquid's name was [Major and Minor Organs Purifier] and the third level of the Purifying Stage was called: Cleansing the Organs.

And injecting it to himself he started feeling uncomfortable alongside a little pain in different organs of his body, all the pains were different from each other like his lungs felt a burning pain while his kidneys had a different kind of pain, his testicles felt like bursting and his eyes felt like needles were being stuck inside and then taken out afterward, different kinds of pain were being felt and experienced from different parts of his body.

Though the pain was not that intense and Virus could tolerate them, what made the pain bad was that he was feeling different kinds of pain all at once.

This Injection as the name suggests purified and cleansed all of the organs in the body including all of the major and minor organs.

Included in these organs other than Lungs, Heart, Liver, Kidneys, Intestines, etc. Were the Testicles along with the Eyeballs which weren't purified in the Cultivation Multiverse alongside the other organs of the body.

Some hours later the pain finally eased down.

He had to also relieve himself in the toilet like the last level of cleansing the flesh and muscles.

After his organs were completely purified of all kinds of impurities all of them started working better and easier, for example, his breathing became easier and a lot more comfortable and he could even hold his breath for a little while more as his lungs could absorb oxygen more easily.

Virus felt like the food he ate was digested a lot easier than before.

His eyes could adjust to the dark and light a little better while he felt like his eyesight had also improved but by a very little amount.

His heart started pumping in an almost perfect rhythm and the pumping was a little stronger than before.

And other organs too felt a lot more comfortable and did a little better in their own area of expertise.

And after three more days his organs were made immune too to any kind of impurities, now his organs would stay in the perfect shape forever like this.

In the meantime while he had injected the green and yellow liquids new materials had kept coming and in some of his idle times he kept making the things he needed in the next stages, of course, all of them had hundred percent efficiency and made that part of the body immune unlike in the cultivation multiverse in which the efficiency of the pills kept dropping on each level and it didn't make the body immune.

The fourth injection which had a purple color was called [Bloodvessels Impurity Remover and Immuner] and it did as the name suggested.

The fourth level of the Purifying Stage was also called: Cleansing the Bloodvessels.

This injection cleansed all of the veins and arteries inside the body making them completely pure without any filth hidden on or inside their surface, the combination of the previous injection with this injection and the next injection would literally bring the chance of a heart attack to almost zero percent if the heart of the person injected with these injections was healthy.

After he injected the fourth injection he started feeling pain in his veins and arteries but he could tolerate it easily.

The pain he felt was like his veins and arteries were being pulled and elongated.

After about ten hours of pain, it finally went away and like all the other levels except the first one he had the urge to excrete.

After the previous injection had made his veins and arteries immune now it was time to inject the next syringe he had made.

The next injection which was the fifth one had a blood red color and it was for the fifth level of the purifying stage, which was called Cleansing the Blood.

This blood red liquid inside the syringe was named [Blood Optimizer].

This injection's job was to bring the state of the blood to the perfect shape as good as it can be by removing any kind of impurities and filth inside the blood, other than removing the impurities it was a perfect blood controller which always controlled the content inside the blood and bringing it to the most optimized degree.

The downside of the injection was that the person injected with this will experience extreme pain.

"Ahhh" After injecting himself with the [Blood Optimizer] Virus started gritting his teeth and sometimes when the pain was too much intolerable he cried out a little.

It felt like something was forcefully being taken away from his blood and like this, he could feel the movement of all of the blood inside his body pumping through his veins and arteries, this was a very horrible experience for anyone who would go through it.

After finally the pain was over and he relieved himself he had to now only wait until his blood was completely immune then he could again inject the next Syringe of the Purifying Stage.

All of this had taken about fifteen days while Virus kept the cycle of injecting himself with different kinds of injections, then tolerating the pain and after which he had to wait for that part of the body to be made immune to harmful filth and impurities.

Right now Virus was sitting behind a table on a chair as he was eating the food which the golden beauty had brought for him to eat, now that he had a body he had to eat every day and he quite liked eating food because he could experience new tastes as he liked new things very much.

The God Virus Volume 2 - 38 Steven Greg

WITH THE CEO UGLY, SIX DAYS AGO

Right now the CEO ugly was in the back seat of his Jaguar B99 which was now called Virus B99 as his driver and bodyguard which he had hired in the past was driving him back to 4 Times Square.

This Virus B99 and all the other cars still was not released to the market but everything was almost ready and he was just waiting for his Master's order to release them into the market.

He was sure releasing the cars into the world would bring another shock to the world, but the CEO ugly knew this was only the beginnings.

Some days ago the golden beauty had come to him saying the new phones' release date should be postponed until further notice from her master, he didn't know why his master was doing this but he was sure he had his own reasons for doing it, so he just postponed the release date of the new sets of phone to the market.

He was coming back from investigating a new factory he had bought in China.

As he was thinking and processing different things related to the Virus Industries suddenly a bullet came out of nowhere hitting his head after breaking and passing the window glass.

But as his body was made of superhard material under the flesh and skin the bullet just got stuck to his head.

The driver slammed on the brakes wanting to stop the car but before the car had stopped the CEO ugly immediately took out the bullet even though he didn't have to and immediately after that the scar and the hurt skin and flesh started healing as the wound closed and the iron like material under his flesh and skin started closing and disappearing.

After stopping the car the driver looked back at him obviously very professional, after ignoring his ugly face he asked "Are you okay Mr. Greg?"

He knew the first thing he has to be sure of was to check if his boss was okay and if he was hurt in any way he has to immediately take him to the hospital.

As his wound still hadn't closed and the right side of his face which was shot was still healing up, he kept looking outside the window so his driver won't see it.

because if his driver saw that he was not human he would be forced to incinerate him.

After couple seconds when his head had completely healed up he looked at his driver as he said "I'm fine Mark, stay here I want to go check who has the balls to do to this to me." as he said this the CEO ugly opened the car's door wanting to get out.

But before he got out his driver said "But sir... it's very dangerous out there, you might lose your life! it's obviously an assassination attempt on your life."

The CEO ugly stopped and turned his head to the driver's direction and looked into his eyes and said with a chilly voice "If you don't want to lose your job just follow the orders, understand?"

Seeing him like this the driver knew he shouldn't insist and just said "Yes sir, but please be careful."

"Don't worry I will." as he said that he got off the car he immediately calculated the exact direction from which the bullet had come and knew exactly from above which building it had come from, he started running with the absolute limit which was possible for a human being so it would not be suspicious.

When no one was around he increased his speed to the point he was almost just a blur.

While he was running to the direction of the building he had already got a map of the building and a live CCTV camera as he calculated the most likely the place the shooter will try to run from.

A little while later from the CCTV in one of those calculated places from which the shooter was most likely to run away from he saw the shooter.

He immediately started running toward that place and two minutes later he was already there and a little while later he caught up to the killer.

taking him by the neck he started running to the rooftop with a man being held by the throat in his hand like garbage that weighted nothing.

After finally getting to the rooftop he threw the shooter to the floor asking him "Who told you to assassinate me?"

Without listening to him the shooter who was shocked by the speed and the power the man beside him had he took out a handgun from somewhere in his body and started shooting to the CEO ugly's body.

The CEO ugly did nothing as he just watched the bullets hit his body without moving, the bullets that hit his body were automatically taken out from his flesh as it fell to the floor as it healed up completely.

Seeing this the shooter was horrified as he asked "wh... what... what are youuuu!!!!!" he was scared shitless seeing what just happened in front of him.

"Wrong move... you just dug your own grave." The CEO ugly said with a cold voice.

"I'll only ask once more, who sent you?"

The shooter who was still shocked and horrified of the things that he saw unconsciously answered "I don't know, I'm just an assassin hired by someone I don't even know who."

"Then you have no use to me..." The CEO ugly replied with a cold ugly face.

"No... you can't kill me, my organization will hunt..." The shooter was saying and before he was done he got interrupted.

Hearing him start talking and knowing where he was going with this The CEO ugly just took out an Incinerator from somewhere in his body and targetted the assassin manually as the shooter disintegrated into nothingness in a moment being interrupted of his talking.

"Cliche..." he said as he turned around walking toward his car which was waiting for him.

As he was walking towards his car he thought 'Master probably knew an assassin was hired to kill me and he must even know who's behind this even before they had acted on their decision, I have my own hunches too but there is no need for me to bother with these stuff as Master will deal with it when the time comes.'

After coming back to his car he went as his bodyguard Mark said "Thank God you're fine Mr. Greg. Did you find the shooter?"

"No, he got away. Let's go back." The CEO ugly only said this as he stopped talking as the driver started driving towards 4 Times Square.

The God Virus Volume 2 - 39 No Meat Bun Delivery

WITH AMARA MARTIN, PRESENT TIME

Amara was at work right now, at one of the branch companies of the Aston Martin Industries.

Her father had made her in charge of this company wanting to see if she was qualified for more or that even the current one was too much for her.

That was how things worked in the Martin Family as you were judged by your qualifications and talent.

You had to be very good at handling and dealing with matters of the company to get to a higher place in the company.

It didn't matter to Amara's father whether the person who was going to inherit the company is a man or woman, thus all of his sons and daughter were in an internal war inside the family.

This kind of attitude which only cared about who was the best and who would make the company thrive and lead it to greater heights, also it was a very good strategy for the company, this has made the siblings distance from each other in the long run, to a degree now they didn't even talk to each other and their attitude had even turned hostile against each other.

So it was obvious this was a very bad decision Amara's father had made for his family as a father.

Amara Martin was the branch manager of this branch of the company which was in New York.

They had branch companies almost all over the world and this New York branch was one of the very big ones only behind the Main Headquarters.

There was only a couple of such size branch companies and almost all of them were being managed by Amara and his brothers right now.

As she was sitting inside her office signing some stuff related to the company, but her thoughts were elsewhere right now.

She was thinking of her prince charming which she had seen two weeks ago at that restaurant, since then she had gone to that restaurant a couple of times but she never saw him again there.

'it's been over two weeks and Detective Lock still hasn't called, he usually does even the most difficult investigations in at most 2 days but now it's been more than two weeks and still no news from him.

Thinking of this She took her Virus iPhone 1 from over the table and went through her contacts until she found Detective Lock's phone number and started calling him.

~~Beep

~~Beep ~~Beep

"Hello, Miss Martin." Finally, the phone was answered as a cold voice started being heard from the other side of the line.

"Hey Detective Lock, you didn't call back to let me know of the result, so I finally couldn't wait and called back. How is everything going?" Amara told him after hearing his voice.

"About that where are you? I'll come to you personally and talk." Detective Lock said.

"I'm in New York in the branch company I'm the manager of currently... but you should know that... don't tell me, you're in New York?" she replied and then asked surprised.

"Yeah, we will talk when I get there, text me the exact address and tell your employees to lead me to you when I get there." He said as he hung up without waiting for her response.

Even though Amara was very much surprised she put aside her surprise and texted him the exact address before telling her secretary to lead him to her when he comes.

About an hour later Amara's office door was finally knocked "Please come in." She said.

The door was opened as her secretary and Detective Lock came inside.

Getting off the chair from beside the desk she walked towards the couch area while saying hi to Detective Lock.

After both of them sat wanting to send away her secretary she asked Detective Lock. "Detective Lock, what would you like to have? we have Orange Juice and Coffee here, or if you're hungry we can order you some food too."

Taking the hint and knowing she wanted to send away her secretary he said "I'm really hungry actually and I still haven't eaten lunch yet... if it's not rude to ask..."

"Detective Lock, we're closer than this, just tell me." Amara said with a smile on her face while inside she was saying 'JUST SAY IT ALREADY, The further the better, I just hope it won't have a delivery service.'

"Okay then, I saw a small Meat Bun Restaurant near the office as I was coming... if it's possible I want to eat some Meat Bun, I'm really craving some Meat Bun." Detective Lock said as he thought inside 'Don't worry... I saw a writing outside the restaurant saying 'No Meat Bun Delivery' so your secretary would need to go herself and it would take some time for her to go and wait for it to cook and come back.'

"Sure it's no problem, then go bring our guest some Meat Bun." Nodding her head happy she turned her head to her secretary and ordered.

"Okay..." The secretary did as ordered as went out of the office going to buy some Meat Bun.

After the secretary was gone they could finally talk, looking at Detective Lock, Amara said "Why are you in New York Detective Lock?"

"Well, it's because of you actually." Detective Lock answered.

"Me? why?" Amara asked confused.

"Because investigating the person you wanted me to investigate wasn't possible and I had to come to the city where he was at to investigate him." Detective Lock said.

Hearing this Amara's eyes shone as she asked excitedly "soo... what was the result? tell me."

Hearing how excited she was he smiled bitterly before saying "I've been investigating him for more than two weeks but still I could find a very little amount of information about him."

"Oh... still what are those information you've found, tell me everything," Amara said even though she was a little disappointed by the news, she thought he would be able to figure out everything there is to know about Aizen if it was Detective Lock, but now she thought maybe she was overestimating him.

The God Virus Volume 2 - 40 Baseless Hypothesis

"Well, Then listen." Detective Lock said as he continued. "At first I wanted to investigate him from my own city and I started digging everything I can about him but the only thing I could find about him was that... He was a very huge figure!"

"What do you mean? tell me fast" Amara said as her heart was almost coming out of her chest so she asked impatiently.

"Well... calm down Miss Martin, I'll naturally tell you everything I know about him." Detective Lock was a little speechless at how impatient she seemed, he had never seen her this impatient and thought she would keep her cool in whatever circumstances, but it seemed he was wrong.

Taking a deep breath in and out she calmed herself as she said "... you're right, I'm calm now, please continue."

"Anyway, I was saying, from there I could figure only one thing and that he was a very huge figure... he was... the owner and 100 percent shareholder of the Virus Industries. He is the person behind those futuristic magnificent phones which was recently released to the market." Detective Lock said, obviously he was a little amazed too by that person's identity as the owner of Virus Industries.

Hearing this Amara was shocked. She had never thought her prince charming had such a background, she thought he was just someone with otherworldly looks but it seemed she was extremely wrong and her prince charming was truly a prince in life, heck he had gone beyond that he could probably even be called King Charming.

Looking at her Virus iPhone 1 which was in her hand currently, she started saying in a low voice "So the phone I was using was his company's phone. Maybe he has made this phone huh..." {A/N: In case you misunderstand, she means maybe Virus himself has designed and made the phone and not some other genius person who works for him..}

While her eyes were on the Virus mark behind the phone which was in the shape of a brain, half robotic and half natural brain, she started thinking back to her attitude back then when she saw him and introduced herself as the daughter of the Aston Martin Family, and she couldn't stop thinking how ridiculous she must have been to him to brag her background in front of him.

Even though she only said it to impress him and make her at least be interested in her at least until she makes him truly in love with herself, she still couldn't stop herself from feeling embarrassed of her attitude at the time.

"...Miss?..." Finally, hearing Detective Lock call her she came out of her thoughts and shock as she said "Oh okay... please continue."

"Anyway after figuring that I started digging more but however much I dug I found nothing else, left with no choice I had to come to New York, the city her main headquarters was at, to continue my investigation on him." Detective Lock said.

After a little pause, he continued "It's really weird who I wasn't able to find anything else other than that on him from there, anyway some coming here I started digging everything about him and still, I found nothing! firstly to whoever I went to make him or her print out his identity papers for me they were all faced with a single result making them scared away to make any more inquiries, everyone who tried to see things related to him from the system was faced with a single result: TOP-CLASS CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION... and in a bold font at that!" Detective Lock said even he was shocked by this person and the more he tried to figure him out the more confused he got.

Hearing this Amara was shocked again thinking 'He seems to have money... and he seems to have a strong background too as even the government seems to be under him or he has their complete support. Who is he really?'

Coming out of her thoughts she said "okay... and?"

"And... Though I couldn't figure what he likes or dislikes, After investigating very deeply I could find the identity of his girlfriend, currently, she studies at the Columbia University and she seems to be really in love with him." Detective Lock said.

"Who wouldn't be..." She said in a low voice Detective Lock couldn't hear her, Then she said "Continue please"

"I also found the place he's living currently at which is the highest floor of 4 Times Square which is his company's headquarters. I tried to go and at least take a look at the highest floor he's living at but I failed as I was recognized very quickly and escorted out."

"Then I waited outside his company headquarters waiting for him to leave his company but in all of the time I was waiting, he never left the building once."

"The food he eats was also brought to him by a golden-haired beauty which is too beautiful, I mean out of this world beautiful. And everything related to the company is done by his company's CEO, someone called Steven Greg."

"Oh right, I think he's also soon going to enter the car market too and from the things I heard, they can at least compete, if not surpass your family's car company, and that's why I don't know if I should at least give a heads up to father."

"NO! don't! you promised to keep this a secret and I want my father to know nothing of both Aizen and his company, okay?" Amara said reacting to the last thing Detective Lock said in the end.

"Okay then." Nodding his head Detective Lock finally went quiet at this moment.

Seeing him turn quiet Amara said, "Was that all Detective Lock?"

"Well... yeah... that was all, but other than those, I have a baseless hypothesis which is most likely wrong." Detective Lock said.

"What is it? please go on." Amara said.

After a little hesitation, he continued "He suddenly founded such an advanced phone company, so advanced no one even understands it, and by no one I mean no one, no college or university or other phone companies didn't even know this kind of tech existed before it was released to the market."

"So... what?" Amara asked.

"So, there is also another incident that no one can explain just like this one!" Detective Lock said.