

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 71 To Have Your Wish Granted

All of the imprisoned CEOs of the allied companies other than the two CEOs of Korea and Finland, which had surrendered, were stung by the flies.

For now, Virus' motivation was not clear as to why he had left those two alone. Maybe he was sparing them, or maybe he had other plans for them. Nobody could provide the answer to that question in the world other than Virus himself.

Anyway, after the flies stung, they flew away. But oddly, nothing happened to any of the CEOs, as they continued their normal lives in prison like before.

However, other than the imprisoned CEOs, there was one other person who was stung too.

WITH THE RUSSIAN CEO

Currently, the Russian CEO was with a young Russian beauty as he was relieving all of his stress on her by doing her in lots of different ways.

As time passed, the girl's moans were getting louder and louder, but her eyes seemed to have some traces of tears in them.

She was one of his bodyguards, she still remembered the day when she realized she was appointed and hired to be an important person's bodyguard and how happy she felt inside at the time.

But her happiness didn't last for long as she realized she had to satisfy his needs if she didn't want to be a jobless and miserable person in life.

So, even though she was feeling disgusted to do these things with him, she had no other choice but to surrender.

Right now, she was cursing him inside as she thought 'This bastard should just die.'

And then, like her prayers were heard, a fly that was roaming around the room suddenly sat on the Russian CEO body and stung him. But exactly like the other imprisoned stung CEOs, he felt nothing when the fly sat on his skin and stung him. However, unlike the other CEOs who were fine after being stung, the Russian CEO dropped on the floor a minute later as he started screaming like he was experiencing hell, "Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh..."

The naked young female bodyguard was very frightened when she saw the man that was doing her drop on the floor all of a sudden as he started screaming like had gone crazy, the naked bodyguard was stunned and a little scared as she didn't know what to do at a situation like this.

His screams were short though, as some seconds later, he dropped on the floor dead, no longer breathing.

The moment he died though, his other bodyguard which was a male entered the room in a hurry, but by the time he entered the room, his boss was already dead.

Seeing his boss dead, his eyes went bloodshot and his skin pale, as it was not obvious what would happen to him anymore, now that he had died under his watch. He was this afraid because he knew just what kind of horrifying background this deadman in front of him had.

After a while of being stunned and pale, he finally snapped out of it as he stared at the beautiful female bodyguard in anger and hate, but still with a little sanity he had left, he knew he might survive if he put all the blame on her, so he immediately made her unconscious by attacking her while she was stunned.

Virus had just watched the Russian CEO drop dead as he thought 'I could've imprisoned you in a while if I wanted, but imprisoning you is no fun, as you would still live like a king in there. On the other hand, you being dead will be much more entertaining than you being alive and useless.'

'Now though, you might attract some amusement later.' He thought inside his mind as there was a playful grin on his face.

FIFTEEN DAYS LATER

Virus' bone marrow was finally immune at this moment so he could now proceed to the next part of his cultivation. This next part was very special as it was something that didn't exist in the system of the Cultivation Multiverse of Qi.

But as he wanted to proceed to the next part, something happened which distracted him.

WITH THE CEO UGLY

Right now, the CEO ugly was at the hotel in another city as he had come to investigate one of the Virus Company's branches here, and after his investigation, he had come to this hotel he was currently at to stay for the night.

His professional bodyguard and driver Mark Sanchez was also with him at the moment as he brought some wine for his boss.

"Is there anything else Mr. Greg?" After he brought the drink and poured some for the CEO ugly, he asked with a respectful tone.

"No good job, you can go to your own room now, I will call you when I need something." The CEO ugly replied.

After Mark nodded his head and left the room, the CEO ugly started drinking his wine, while thinking and analyzing different things.

But only half an hour later, suddenly four bullets hit his head at the same time. After a moment bafflement, he knew it was another assassination attempt, so immediately, like the previous time, he started predicting the exact direction from which the bullet had come from and after confirming the place, he began running with a very fast speed as he left the hotel and went to the rooftop of the building from which the bullet had come from.

After arriving there, he saw four people with masks and weapons already waiting for him there.

Seeing them, he sneered with a cold tone as he stated "You guys never learn, do you?"

Then without waiting for their response, he stormed at them.

WITH VIRUS

'So they want to do this huh? We dealt with one, they sent four, what's next? Eight? or more? This is just monotonous, let's see how many they can send if none is left.' Virus thought.

"I wanted to let these monkeys be for now, but it seems they are impatient to die... So... I shall grant their wish." Virus mumbled to himself, but his tone was very cold.

Then he walked beside a box as he opened it, inside, thousands of flies were sitting in a very orderly manner like they were trained to act this way. After the box was opened, all of them bolted out of the box going toward the rooftop, from which they disappeared to all directions.

ONE DAY LATER

All of the flies were now at their destinations which were determined by Virus, each one flying around a person, at different parts of the world. The flies had traveled to different places by sneaking into planes or other things, but all of them were now at their positions waiting for further orders.

And it was at this moment that they finally received an order from their master commanding, 'Kill'.

All of the flies around the world attacked at the same time as they stung their targets, who didn't even feel any pain.

But a minute later, they all started screaming like they were in hell before they dropped dead some seconds later.

Currently, inside a room, there were three people, who were discussing something when the three flies received the 'Kill' order from their master.

One of them which seemed to be the leader of the group was a female, while the other two were males.

The three flies stormed at their targets at the same time.

The male who was sitting at the left side was successfully stung on his left arm, but the moment he was stung, suddenly his face went pale like he was horrified of something as he took one of the many decorative swords at the room and immediately cut his own left arm with it, without even a moment of hesitation.

While the second fly who had attacked the other man was sitting on the right hand of the man as it tried to sting. But surprisingly, it couldn't penetrate his skin at all, it was like his skin was rock hard.

While the third and last fly attacked the only female among the three who seemed to be the leader among them, but as the fly was about to sit on her skin, electric arcs rose from all over her body automatically, as the fly was burned to a crisp.

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 72 Related

AFTER THE RUSSIAN CEO WAS KILLED After the Russian CEO died, the Russian government went into turmoil for a while. At first, they thought it was the female bodyguard that had killed the Russian CEO, but after torturing her for countless hours by lots of cruel methods, they were sure the bodyguard was not behind this. And so, after they killed the two bodyguards, they started looking for the reason as to what or who would kill him. Even the president himself personally gave orders that the culprit behind this had to be found no matter what. They even did an autopsy trying to understand what had happened to him exactly, but they found there was nothing odd with the Russian CEO's death. So, in the end, the only clue they had was that before his death, he started screaming like crazy before dying in a few seconds, this made them only know that whatever had killed him, was extremely painful and it was something that strikes suddenly. Fifteen days later, a piece of disturbing news was released and broadcasted through the media outlets. The news stated that thousands of people around the world had died at the same time in the same way with no rhyme or reason. The news stated that the only thing they could say with certainty was that they all died with the same symptom. The symptom was that they had all screamed like they were going through an intolerable pain before dying in a couple of seconds. Later, after the news was updated the media announced that these thousands of people who had died, seem not to be some random people, as they all seemed to belong to the same place. After the police investigated those people deeply, they realized most of them were professional killers. Also, the police announced that every investigation mostly led to a single criminal organization, a hidden assassination organization which killed for only money. The police couldn't find the reason as to why they had died as nothing strange was found in their autopsy, so they could only guess that they might have provoked another criminal organization leading to their massacre probably by a poison that cannot be detected from the body. The world was truly disturbed by hearing the news, but they didn't feel much pity for them as they thought they were only murderers and that the world would be better off without them. When the news spread to Russia, a wave washed over the Russian government, because they had seen another death just like this one, it was the death of their beloved Russian CEO. Everyone was interested in the news as they wanted to know more but that was it, they only wanted to sate their curiosity. The Russian government though wanted to know who was behind this matter because they wanted revenge. Seeing thousands of people die just like how their Russian CEO had died, they finally knew where to look for his killer. So the first thing they started doing was to investigate this Assassination Organization by every source they had. And after investigating this organization, they started looking for the remaining members of that organization to ask who they had offended to lead to their massacre, as the person or group that had massacred them was definitely behind or related to the death of their beloved CEO. Alas, to their dismay, it seemed all of them had died as not even a single member could be found, but they found a useful tip from a criminal organization source that the leader of that organization seemed not to be among the found dead people and so it was suspected that the leader was alive. After Russia got to know the leader's portrait and everything related to her, they started looking, in order to find her and ask who was behind this massacre. This kind of hidden power that could kill thousands of people honestly scared lots of powers and even the common people. The governments were astounded by this incident because even they couldn't kill thousands of people at the same time and go unnoticed. _____

MEANWHILE WITH ELLA Currently, Ella had just left her last class, but unlike most of the times, she was alone. Neither of her best friends such as Jessica, Grace, and Faith was with her as they had all gotten another class which they attended, but Ella couldn't choose that class due to some family-related reasons. So right now, she had walked out of the campus and was on her way home. But as she was walking, she suddenly noticed Virus was on the line of her Communication Device, immediately answering she responded, while there was a bright smile on her face "Ai, you called!" Virus' voice came directly into her mind as he replied with a grin "Of course I called my beautiful Ella, how can I not, when I have such a beautiful girlfriend waiting for my call, huh? Because that would be an unforgivable sin, wouldn't you agree?" Listening to Virus' words made Ella feel sweet inside as she became very happy, it's been days since they had met and she was honestly missing him. But suddenly there was a silence as Ella didn't know what to say, this made her heart beat faster, so without much thought, she asked, "...So... how is everything ... my Ai?" But after she said that, she suddenly realized her mistake of saying 'My Ai'. She made this mistake by unconsciously imitating Virus who always called her 'My Beautiful Ella', and now this mistake made her face turn red with embarrassment. Even though lot's of time had passed since they started dating, she hadn't seen him much, which made her still not totally comfortable around Virus. When she is around Virus or even talking to him, she still loses herself after all these times as her heart starts beating like crazy leading her to be unable to think clearly and be herself. "Hahaha, your Ai is doing fine my beautiful Ella." Virus answered back with a teasing tone, knowing she was blushing at the moment. "St...stop teasing me! what's wrong with calling my boyfriend mine!... why did you call me anyway?" Listening to his voice which seemed to be teasing her, she was even more embarrassed, as she tried to change the subject. "Haha, I'm just kidding, you are free to call me whatever you want, my Belle. Uh, I called to tell you that the date I promised you, I'll take you to it soon." Virus replied with a laugh. Ella was delighted as she became cheerful hearing Virus' words so she asked back "Really? when?"

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 73 Heaven

TWO DAYS BEFORE THE MASSACRE OF THE THOUSANDS OF ASSASSINS There was an Assassination Organization called Heaven in the world which few people were aware of its existence. This organization was considered to be one of the top 10 Assassination Organizations in the world. The reason for that was because they were big enough and had thousands of assassins to be called an organization with lots of them being top-notch assassins. But other than having top-notch assassins and lots of members, there was another reason as to why they came to be known as one of the top 10 Assassin Organizations in the world, and that reason was because of a special rule they had, that rule stated if they accept a case of assassination, they would definitely accomplish it and won't stop until their target was eliminated and dead. This rule meant that if they send an assassin to eliminate the target but failed, the next time they would send stronger and more assassins until their goal was accomplished, this was their promise to their clients and so a big part of their reputation was founded based on this rule. This Assassin Organization was also the Organization which Mr. X, the CEO from the US had hired to kill the CEO ugly, now even though Mr. X went missing and was considered to be the one behind the 'Ghost Theft', the Organization honestly didn't care much about it, what they cared about was their reputation, which would be endangered if they didn't accomplish the mission that was tasked to them. They had previously sent one of their somehow elite assassins for the job, but oddly their target was still alive and kicking while their assassin went missing, the higher-ups of the organization at first thought maybe that assassin will come back, but it's been days since he went missing and they were now certain that something had happened to their assassin. _____ Right now, the leader of the Heaven Assassination Organization was in a dark room talking with her right-hand and left-hand men. This woman was the leader of the Heaven Assassination Organization, she was called Electro by others in the organization, but almost no one knew why she was called that. And about her true name, she had only told that to her right-hand and left-hand men personally, her name was Giana Nova. She had started out from almost nothing with no parents, her true origin was unknown as her parents seemed to have abandoned her in front of an orphanage when she was just a kid. So from that moment on, she became an abandoned orphan girl with few friends who was always bothered and hurt by other kids at the orphanage. She had pitch black eyes with black hair. All in all, her features were above average, but she was considered a beauty by a lot of people. Anyway, she was used and quite enjoyed her normal life at the orphanage at first, because even though she was bothered a lot by the other girls and kids at the orphanage, she had some friends at least, which she enjoyed spending her times with. But inside, there was something that was unconsciously bothering her constantly, making her feel like she was different from the rest. And that feeling became true on a fateful day in her life when she became certain that she was truly different from the rest and that living a normal life for her was just wishful thinking, so from that moment onwards, she abandoned her real name as she started calling herself Electro. After that Electro ran away from the orphanage, and after many hardships, by a chance encounter, she met her master who was an elite member of the Heaven Assassination Organization. He accepted her as his disciple after witnessing her specialness in an accidental coincidence, and just like that, she was thrown at the assassination world, a world where you had to kill if you wanted to live and have a better life. Also, it was a life you could never quit. At first, she was very bad at assassinating and quite unwilling to kill, but her mindset started changing the more she saw the cruel world of assassination. But soon, with her advantage over the others, she started to improve by leaps and bounds in a rather short period of time as she started to surpass others. She even reached a point where she could kill with only a simple touch. And now, after many years, she had climbed all of the stairs of the Heaven Assassin Organization and became their highest leader. Just a while ago, she received the news that one of her assassins had gone missing on a mission for days now, as his target was still alive too. So currently, she was having a meeting with her right-hand and left-hand men, whose positions were only behind her at the organization. "So according to the report, that elite assassin was not someone who would run away from the life of being an assassin, right?" Looking at her right-hand man she questioned. "No, we have lots of reasons to believe he was not that kind of person who would run away from the life of being an assassin, on the contrary, he was one of the few who enjoyed the life of being an assassin to almost an abnormal level, so it's near impossible he had escaped." The right-hand man, called Skin stated. Then he continued "And he was also a very loyal person who had passed our Organization's Loyalty Tests quite easily, so his loyalty can't be questioned either. With all this, the most likely conclusion we can reach is that he was killed while he was attempting to assassinate the target." "I see..." She acknowledged as she then turned her head in the direction of her left-hand man as she added "How do you think we should deal with the situation, Viper?" The left hand man called Viper pondered for some seconds before responding "Leader, the first and most important thing we need to do right now is to get rid of that target which is still alive, as our organization's reputation is on the line, but doing this will also avenge our lost assassin and appease the other members." "Now to do that, let's send four of our most powerful assassins to deal with that target." Viper ended his words like that. And the next day, on top of the roof of a building, four of the most powerful assassins of the Heaven Assassin

Organization were present as they were looking at the CEO ugly, who was currently with his professional bodyguard Mark offering him some wine.

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 74 Those People

A little while later, after their target's bodyguard left, they finally sniped their target. They thought the bullets had fired had hit their target's head, straight to his brain. But to their horror and shock, after remaining unmoved for a moment, their target turned around toward the window as he directly stared at them, seeing how he was directly looking at them sent shivers down the four assassins spines. But thinking someone who was shot four times in the brain couldn't possibly be alive, they assumed the bullets must have missed or maybe they had miscalculated the glass hardness or the wind that was blowing. Next, the four witnessed another astonishing scene, they saw their target start running outside his hotel room at an extremely fast speed as he was almost a blur. They obviously could feel he was coming for them, so they quickly got ready as two of them equipped their machine guns while another picked up his handgun, but the final one was different as he picked up a katana. A moment later, to their disbelief of how quick he was, the CEO ugly appeared before them as he sneered with a cold tone stating "You guys never learn, do you?" Then without waiting for them to reply, he attacked, first going toward the man with the katana, the man tried to cut down the CEO ugly's head with a strange technique. Seeing the strange katana technique, the CEO ugly knew he could dodge it with his speed, but he didn't as he let the katana hit him, after the katana hit and cut the flesh and skin of his neck, seeing this the katana user thought he was successful but then his katana seemed to hit an iron wall, which made him baffled. But without waiting for even a second more for him to come out of his bafflement, the CEO ugly grabbed the katana that was at his neck from his enemy's hand. After taking the katana away, he stabbed it into his chest as the katana went straight inside the heart of the assassin, as his heart immediately stopped beating, but he was still standing while looking at the CEO ugly with a shocked gaze. A moment later he fell on the floor and died as his heart was bleeding. The other three remaining assassins who were looking until now thought the katana user would win, but they were shocked into being speechless seeing the situation completely turn hundred-eighty degrees around in a moment. Then they realized, not only was he extremely fast, it seemed his body was extremely hard too. Without waiting for even a second more to try to understand what exactly was going on here, the three started shooting at the CEO ugly all at once, as lots of their bullets immediately hit the CEO ugly in the head, eyes, and other parts of the body making the three assassins feel relieved for a second that this time he were sure the bullets had hit their target. But the next moment, to their absolute horror, all of the bullets started dropping down on the floor as their target was strangely still standing. But without waiting to see their reaction, the CEO ugly stormed at them as he stabbed one heart after the other, and just like this, all three assassins had a hole inside their hearts just like the one the katana user assassin had. After they were all dead, he incinerated them as he walked back to the hotel normally like nothing had happened at all, though he changed his room and then started drinking some wine again. _____

AFTER THE FLIES ATTACKED THE THREE LEADERS OF HEAVEN ASSASSIN ORGANIZATION Watching every one of the Heaven Assassin Organization die, except three of its highest leaders, Virus thought 'Interesting, it seems I've underestimated them, they were one of those people.' After that, he no longer paid them any attention for the moment as he focused all of it on the next thing he was going to do. Right now, he was standing beside the glass windows while looking out at the city under him. A while later, he decided to do what he has been delaying since yesterday, so turning around, he looked at the golden beauty who was sitting on the couch currently, watching a movie on the television. Even though he didn't want to interrupt her watching the television, every second was important to him, so he began "My lil Belle, help me with the next level of my Purifying Stage." Suddenly hearing her master talk, her attention was drawn back from the television immediately as she happily stood up. She thought she was the happiest when she was helping her master with something. So she agreed immediately and replied back, "Okay, master, what do you want me to do?" "Well, I need you to help me with making the liquid first and then keep watch while I'm inside the WRD." Virus explained. After the golden beauty happily nodded her head, first they went beside the MDA as the golden beauty placed the materials Virus told her to put at specific entries, then after it's commands were given, it started working by itself when finally a sign appeared above the 3D screen of the MDA. Then, Virus told the golden beauty to go beside the MDA and get the prepared liquid. The golden beauty obeyed and after grabbing the liquid from inside the MDA, she looked at it and saw a very thick and concentrated brownish liquid inside. "Master, Are you going to do something to your bones again?" The golden beauty asked after she was done looking at the brownish liquid. "No, why?" Virus replied baffled. "Well, because you said you will go inside the WRD, and the White-Ray softens the bones right?" She asked. "No, White-Ray has lots of other uses too actually, but I'm not going to use the White-Ray today, the reason being that I don't need it." Virus answered, then seeing the golden beauty listening, he continued "Actually what I need this time is the WRD's precision and the fact that its needles won't leave any damage on the body."

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 75 Shes Back

"Also other than that, the pain I will experience is going to be almost unimaginable, so I need the WRD's function of sending and bringing me back from the state of induced coma." He finished his explanation with, "If it weren't for these three reasons, I wouldn't need the WRD at all." It seemed like Virus had completely forgotten about the fact that he had just murdered thousands of people a little while ago, as he started getting ready for the next level of his purifying stage while yawning. If anyone was currently seeing how indifferent he seemed just after he had killed thousands of people, that person would definitely start sweating bullets out of terror while standing beside him. "Oh... alright, then let's do this master..." The golden beauty nodded again as she continued "But master, what are you going to do this time? Are you still going to purify your body? And if yes, what part of your body is it gonna be?" Looking at the golden beauty he replied "Well, I am going to purify a part of my body this time too... but as to where I want to purify..." He grinned as he continued "You will know it naturally later, just know this level is going to be another part of my body too, unlike the next level which will be different from this one and the previous ones altogether." The golden beauty once again knew she wasn't going to be provided with a whole answer, which frustrated her inside as she unconsciously pouted very cutely. After looking at her cute face in amusement, Virus walked beside the WRD as he told the golden beauty to put the thick brownish liquid inside it. At the same time Virus started providing commands to the WRD like always, but unlike the past times, it didn't even take two minutes for it to be ready. After the WRD was ready he first told the golden beauty to send away anyone who comes and tries to disturb him, then he went inside it, as he lay there and commanded the WRD to start working. _____ As Virus was focusing all his attention on the next level of the purifying stage with a complete disinterest in the thousands of people that had just been killed by him, like it wasn't even related to him, the whole world was in chaos as at least someone had died everywhere in the world all of a sudden. _____ FIVE HOURS LATER Virus was still inside the WRD when someone came to see the chairman of the Virus Industries. This person was that woman who was in charge of the interrogation of the Virus Industries the previous time, she was the FBI beauty. Currently, she was at the reception asking to meet the Legal ugly, so she would ask for his help in order to arrange a meeting with Virus. Sometime after the reception called the legal ugly's office, the legal ugly finally came down with the elevator as he started walking toward the FBI beauty, but without even greeting her, he questioned her immediately with those blank looks in his eyes "Why are you here?" The FBI beauty was honestly angry inside seeing him ask why she was here, without even saying hello first. But she knew she was here for something else today, so she calmed down as she replied with a gentle voice "Hello Mr. James, I'm here today on behalf of the government of the United States for that deal we talked about the last time we met." "Last time? Oh, you mean the time when you interrogated our company because you were suspicious of us?" The Legal Ugly said with an emotionless tone, which made the FBI beauty confused, as to the question of if he was mocking, teasing, or just stating a fact. But nevertheless, she replied, "Ah I'm really sorry for that time, it was a mistake from our part to start going around only based on rumors..." "...". After the Legal ugly remained silent for a short period of time he asked "Why did they send you? Don't they really want to have this cooperation between us?" The FBI beauty got really upset listening to his words as she thought inside 'What's wrong with me being the one to come?', she really felt like crying when she heard this, but still keeping that brave face of hers she answered back by saying "Well, the government sent me because I've already been in contact with your company so they thought the wisest decision would be to send me, and thus here I am, but if you are not satisfied with me in any way, you can totally tell me so I would tell the higher-ups that you requested the agent to be changed." After listening to her words, with a completely indifferent tone, the Legal ugly responded, "It doesn't really matter to me who the agent is or who is in charge of this, it's the chairman who will decide if you are good enough to be the bridge between our cooperation or not, or even if he wants to have a cooperation between the United States and his company at all." "Oh, can I please meet the chairman then?" The FBI beauty asked with quizzical eyes. "Well, I don't know the answer to that question either, as I don't know if the chairman would be willing to meet at all, but... I will go and check if he's willing to meet... wait here." The Legal ugly stated as he turned around leaving to the highest floor of 4 Times Square and five minutes later he was there. But when he arrived at the highest floor, as the elevator's door opened, he was about to go and find his master when a sword appeared on his neck all of a sudden, as he heard a cold voice commanding him "Go away, master can't meet with anyone right now, not even you."

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 76 The Ninth Level Of Purifying Stage

Having a sword at his neck, the Legal ugly's eyes still had that blank stare in them as he calmly replied "Oh, okay." Then he turned around and left the floor. Seeing this, the golden beauty didn't know why, but she felt disappointed inside as he just left without even trying. He didn't even try to relay the message before leaving, because he believed there was nothing his master wasn't aware of, and the act of him coming all the way here was only because he knew his master enjoyed living like a normal human being, although on the contrary, he seemed to quite dislike most of them for some reason. After leaving the highest floor, he went to the reception where the FBI beauty was still waiting as he lay his blank eyes on her and spoke "The chairman is currently busy and can't meet anyone, please come back at another time." Listening to his words she had a strained smile on her face as she mumbled something while looking down. But then she looked straight into the Legal ugly's eyes as she spoke "I see, but didn't your boss arrange a time at which we could come back and have a meeting?" "No, you need to come back at another time to see what happens, you might meet the chairman then or you might not at all." Still monotonous, the Legal ugly replied. "Oh okay, then I will come back at another time... so I shall take my leave." The FBI beauty stated with her eyebrows drawn together as she turned around and left. _____ 9 HOURS LATER Inside the WRD currently, Virus was still in a coma as a countless number of needles were going in and out of his body at different places. Right now, the needles were injecting the brownish liquid to very specific places in his body. Finally one hour later, the WRD showed a sign stating: 'Process Done: the Cleansing process is complete.' Seeing this, the golden beauty who was standing a little further as a guard until now cheerfully went beside the WRD and opened its door as she looked at her master who was just about to open his eyes. After Virus opened his eyes, the first thing he witnessed was the cheery golden beauty who brought her head closer to his head and whispered "Welcome back master." After that, Virus came out of the WRD as he went and sat on the couch, while the golden beauty sat exactly beside her. Virus was pondering to himself at the moment 'So the Ninth Level of my Purifying Stage is complete, now I just need to wait for the immunity process to be over before I complete the last and final tenth level... And also, the most important one to me is this Tenth Level rather than the first nine.' It was at this moment the golden beauty interrupted, "Master, are you hungry? Is there anything you feel like having?" Remembering hunger, Virus realized his stomach was making some noise in protest, it was no surprise though, as he hadn't eaten for around fifteen hours, so after hearing the golden beauty's words, Virus nodded his head confirming "Yes lil Belle, I'm truly hungry, go buy me something." "Okay..." After that, the golden beauty stormed out joyfully, as Virus continued his interrupted thoughts. So if you look at the current level he's at from the perspective of the Cultivation Multiverse of Qi, then he's a never before seen example of a cultivator who's at the Ninth Level of the Purifying Stage. Those from the Cultivation Multiverse of Qi would probably start laughing like they had heard the funniest joke if they heard from someone that he is at the Ninth Level of the Purifying Stage, because according to their knowledge, this level did not exist at all. But if they were proven that this level truly exists and someone was already at it, they would definitely be stupefied to no ends. Now if they knew that the person who was at the Ninth Level had completed all the Nine levels by hundred percent, they absolutely won't believe it, but if they were to be proven otherwise once again, they would probably be shocked silly, as even the peak powers couldn't cleanse their young talents' bodies by hundred percent, they were not even close. Though they would be able to expel more of the impurities as their cultivation stage and realm improves, that was for the far future and by the time they are truly able to completely purify their bodies, it wouldn't be of any significance to them, as they are already at a place it wouldn't matter if they purified their bodies or not. But here was a mortal, who hadn't even officially started cultivation but had a body that was a hundred percent pure at every level till the eighth level, and that was not the end, as he had even surpassed their level system and went to the ninth! Now if you talk about letting them know that there was even a Tenth Level? Their reaction can't even be imagined as it's not clear how they would react or what they would do. But, even though these Ninth and Tenth Levels of the Purifying Stage didn't exist in the Cultivation Multiverse of Qi and would be seen as impossible that can't even exist, it was almost a common knowledge and thing in his past world, 1.49 million years in the future. There, almost anyone could achieve the Tenth Level of the Purifying Stage. So now, if you looked at Virus' achievements from the perspective of the Cultivation Multiverse of Qi, then he and his level would be seen as an impossibility that can't be achieved, something that would make everyone dumbfounded with no predictable reactions. But if he tells his achievements to someone from his past world? They would definitely not feel anything about it and just think of it as something completely natural, but they might sneer at him for saying it out loud like it was something to be proud of. _____ Virus was finished with his thoughts for a while now, sitting on the couch hungrily thinking why she was late without checking to see where she actually was. And fifteen minutes later, the golden beauty finally came back with three plates of food and wine beside it. But seeing the dishes, Virus was surprised and asked "Why are they in the dish? Didn't you buy it from outside?" The golden beauty grinned broadly like this was exactly the question she wanted her master to ask, so while she walked to sit beside him, she replied very joyfully "No master, I cooked this especially for you myself!"

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 77 The Cleansed Part Of The Body

Listening to the golden beauty, Virus became surprised that she had cooked food for him. But nevertheless, he began eating before saying anything, because he was really hungry, but after he started eating and took some bites, he looked at the golden beauty while chewing what was in his mouth, as he complimented "It's so delicious my lil Belle, good job... it seems I had a talented cook beside me all this time without even realizing..uhh." As he said 'Good Job' he patted the golden beauty's head making her blush with a warm feeling rising up inside her. With this, the golden beauty was determined to cook a lot for him from now on, because she loved to be complimented by his master. After that, Virus focused on eating without saying anything, but while he was eating, the golden beauty suddenly remembered something, as her curiosity peaked once again while she pointed her finger at Virus and pouted cutely asking, "Master, didn't you say that I will know naturally later which part of your body you purified? So where was it in the end... master always keeping things from lil Belle." Listening to her call herself lil Belle, Virus broke out in laughter, "Haha..." But remembering that he had told her she would know later, he replied with a grin on his face "My cute lil Belle, of course I would tell you...alright, so..." Listening to her master who seemed like he was finally about to do a big reveal, the golden beauty focused all of her attention on him, eager to know what her master was about to say. "So the place I've purified is..." As Virus was going to reveal the mystery to her, he suddenly stopped talking, then said "Nah, let's do this, I will give you a hint and you try to guess it, how about it lil Belle? A simple hint and answer game, but also, don't access your deep knowledge, just use the basic knowledge in your memories, like that of every normal human being." The golden beauty unhappy seeing her master stop all of a sudden, but she nevertheless agreed while nodding her head, as she quite liked to play games too. "So the hint is that this part of the body has two components, one is called central, while the other one is peripheral. Now, can you guess?" Virus asked. "Hmmm..." Listening to Virus' words, the golden beauty started thinking as she seemed to be trying really hard to figure out what part it was, but as she had temporarily locked most of her knowledge and other areas that made her abnormally smart, it was very hard for her to figure out what her master meant. So right now, she was unconsciously pressing her index finger to her cheek while propping her chin on the rest of her clenched fingers with a serious look in her eyes, which made her look very adorable. Finally, she gave up as she replied with a frown on her brows, "Give me another hint master..." Seeing her unable to reply and ask for another hint, Virus grinned as he said "It's okay, I'm sure you would understand with this next hint I provide you with..." "So every sense and emotion in the body such as taste, eye-sight, smell, pain, joy, etc. All of them without exception are related to this part of the body, can you guess now?" Virus asked with a grin on his face. This time without thinking much the golden beauty replied with a face filled with enthusiasm "It's the brain, master has purified his brain!" "Haha, mostly correct, but that answer doesn't entirely cover it, the complete correct answer was the 'nervous system', and a nervous system consists of nerves and other parts too other than the brain." With an amused look in his eyes, Virus laughed as he pointed out her mistake. The part of his body which he had purified this time was his whole nervous system, and so the brain was considered only as a part of it. Structurally, the nervous system has two components: the central nervous system and the peripheral nervous system. The central nervous system is made up of the brain, spinal cord, and nerves. The peripheral nervous system consists of sensory neurons, ganglia (clusters of neurons) and nerves that connect to one another and to the central nervous system. Functionally, the nervous system has two main subdivisions: the somatic, or voluntary, component; and the autonomic, or involuntary, component. The autonomic nervous system regulates certain body processes, such as blood pressure and the rate of breathing, that work without conscious effort. The somatic system consists of nerves that connect the brain and spinal cord with muscles and sensory receptors in the skin. So with this cleansing act, all of those structures were completely cleansed now, and with the cleansing, their functionality too improved to some extent. "Oh... I see master, so you basically have purified the wirings in your body too along with the central processor and everything that is related to it, right?" The golden beauty's eyes glimmered with understanding as she talked in her own simplified words with her currently restricted mind. "Haha, a great simplification, you're right lil Belle." Virus replied with a short laugh as he continued eating the delicious food the golden beauty had just cooked for him. This time while he was inside the WRD, the needles had injected the brownish liquid inside his brain, nerves, spinal cord, etc. All in all, everything related to his nervous system was now successfully purified as the brownish liquid was directly injected to every part of it. These needles of the WRD were special kinds of needles that would not leave the least kind of damage on the body and even if they did which was unlikely, the WRD had countermeasures to apply accordingly in different situations, so it was a completely safe process. Also, this injection process was a very complicated one that needed extreme precision for it to go smoothly, but fortunately, Virus already did have such a device which dealt with precision as he was now successfully at the Ninth Level of the Purifying Stage: Cleansing The Nervous System. _____

Meanwhile, a silent storm was brewing throughout the world without anyone noticing yet.

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 78 Taking Off Again

EIGHTEEN DAYS AGO, AFTER VIRUS HAD COME BACK FROM RUSSIA, WITH THE CEO UGLY The CEO ugly had just left the highest floor of 4 Times Square after receiving Virus' orders which commanded him to make everything ready for entering into a specific industry, which would bring them such a monstrous amount of capital in a short period of time, that would be able to support them for entering into lots of other industries all at once. Other than giving him the orders of the things he was required to do, Virus also told him some details of the plan which he had in mind. Now, the first thing he had to do, for that plan of gathering the capital, which would be needed for simultaneously entering into a lot of industries all at once, was to take a short trip to somewhere. After coming down from the highest, he saw his bodyguard Mark Sanchez waiting for him in front of the elevator. The moment Mark had received the news that his boss had come back, he immediately returned to work, because he knew with how busy his boss was, he would be needed all the times. Mark always thought in amazement of how could his boss be able to do so many things at the same time. He ran lots of companies all at once, while he would remember and analyze everything at the same time too. He had witnessed him predict most of the things that would happen or could happen in the business world as he was always ready for them far before it even happened. He was always tens of steps ahead of other rival companies or enemies in the industry. Mark didn't know how a human being would be able to do all these things together, he even sometimes doubted his boss was no human being at all. Another amazing thing Mark had seen was that he never saw him glance at something more than once, for example, when the CEO ugly looked at a contract of buying some materials or other things like that, he would only take one glance at those papers and then never look back again, but still, he would be able to talk about it over the phone with such fluency like he had read it thousands of times and memorized it line by line with the greatest of details. Seeing his boss in front of him, the first thing he did was to welcome him, "Welcome back Mr. Greg." "Thank you, Mark, I see you came very quickly." The CEO ugly thanked him. "Yes boss, where shall we go now?" Mark questioned. Going out of the elevator, the CEO ugly started walking in the huge hall of the ground floor with his bodyguard Mark following him closely behind. The ground floor was very crowded now as the Virus Industries had gotten very big with lots of customers. The employees, visitors, or the big customers immediately recognized the CEO ugly as their attention was drawn to him, and the moment they saw him, their eyes started shining in adoration like they had seen their greatest idol and role model in life. However, all of them were also sighing inside, thinking about how could such a great and magnificent person be so ugly? But nevertheless, that thought didn't lessen any of the feelings of worship and adoration they had for him, because the reason why they adored him in the first place was genuinely for his capabilities as a CEO rather than how he looked. The CEO ugly was already automatically recognized as one of the great CEOs because he was the CEO of a company who was unknown at first but became one of the greatest in a very short period of time. Even lots of magazines had already printed his ugly face on their covers, but oddly, they all experienced a small decrease in sales on those specific magazines. "Where shall we go huh..." The CEO ugly mumbled as he was walking after hearing what Mark had asked, then he informed Mark, "I need to go on a short trip again, but this time too, you are not needed, so you just need to drop me off at the airport, also, make a call for the private jet to be prepared until we arrive there." Mark was surprised listening to his boss' words, he had just left to a trip without him, now he was leaving for another one, but nevertheless, he made the call while escorting him to the car. While they were on the way to the airport, the CEO ugly inquired "So how is your little daughter, is she fine now?" Mark was moved inside hearing this question, because he had only told the CEO ugly casually that his daughter was currently sick and how he could use the time while his boss was away on the trip to Russia to be with his daughter. Mark assumed his boss didn't care about what was happening to his life or daughter at all and even if he did, he would've already long forgotten about it with all of the things his boss was busy with. But it seemed he was wrong and he still remembered, so he thanked him sincerely "Thank you for asking boss, she's a lot better now." "Good, Go be with your daughter while I'm on the trip." The CEO ugly ordered as he no longer talked after that. After they were finally at the airport, Mark directly drove to the front of the already prepared private jet. After getting off of the car, the CEO ugly ordered Mark to go back as he boarded on the jet, which took off soon after. _____ A COUPLE HOURS AFTER THE JET TOOK OFF, AT THE ALDABRA ATOLL Right now, the CEO ugly was looking out from the private jet's window at the atoll that was under him. He couldn't help but appreciate the beauty of this ring-like island which his master had bought. A while later the private jet finally landed on the private airport which Virus had made on his atoll. After the CEO ugly got off of the jet, he saw that the Island ugly was already waiting for him there, seeing the CEO ugly come down from the private jet, he walked toward him with a smile on his ugly face, and when he was in front of the CEO ugly, laughing out loud, he greeted him, "It's been a while ugly brother... haha..."

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 79 Classification

"Haha... Yes, it has, how is everything here? Oh, and where is the security ugly?" The CEO ugly asked. "Well, I'm very busy with everything, master gives a large number of tasks for me to complete... and about the other ugly brother... he usually likes to walk around the Atoll at this time of the day, so maybe you will meet him later." Stated the Island ugly with a grin on his face. Since the day Virus had separated the duties which were done by each of the four uglies, they were all busy with specific jobs that Virus had granted them. The Island ugly was placed in charge of everything on the atoll such as creating different blueprints, managing the workers, planning, dividing the responsibilities, etc. "I see, I'm the same as you, very busy with the company and the tasks master gives. Anyway, I've come all the way here to let you know of a special task master wants you to finish in a short period of time..." The CEO ugly started talking, but he was interrupted in the middle. "Wait, now that you've come all the way here, let's not just stay here, we will talk as we walk and in the meantime, I'll also show you around, is that good for you?" The Island ugly offered. The CEO ugly was honestly curious about the things that were being done on the Island too, so he accepted "Okay... let's talk while you show me around then, I'm actually also pretty curious about what's happening on this island." After that, they got on an SUV car that was already there as the Island ugly started driving toward a somehow big building at the distance, and a while later, they arrived before it's entry. After they arrived, the Island ugly guided him inside, while at the same time, the CEO ugly started explaining some stuff related to the plan Virus had in mind, "So, master wants to..." At the same time, there were lots of human workers and employees working in the building. As the CEO ugly was explaining and the Island ugly was listening, they arrived in front of an elevator. Watching the Island ugly stop in front of the elevator and enter, the CEO ugly questioned, "Are we gonna go to a higher floor?" "Hahaha, just get in, you will know soon." The Island ugly replied with a mysterious laugh. After that, the Island ugly talked to the air saying something in the futuristic language when a scanning light appeared for a moment. After the scan was done the elevator started moving by itself. It was a full see-through glass elevator, so they could see outside easily. Feeling the elevator move the CEO ugly started talking, "...So for the plan to work, we need a large number of an advanced tech and if I want to talk about the plan in more details...wh... what..." but as he was explaining, he suddenly stopped, dumbfounded by what he saw in front of him. He saw a world outside the see-through glass elevator, as right now there was an endless underground world in front of him, which the CEO ugly suspected was as big as the island itself! "Hahaha... a wonderful reaction, well, welcome to the... First Floor." The Island ugly announced. "What's this place... how could this place even exist?" The CEO ugly who was calmer by now inquired. "With master's capabilities and knowledge which we can't even begin to understand, are you really that surprised?" The Island ugly answered his question, with another question. Then he continued "This place is called the First Floor, and it's size as I'm sure you can guess is almost as big as the island itself above us... This is one of the projects that master has given me." As the CEO ugly was listening to the whole description and speech, he was looking at the ground to the far reach, and he could see tens of thousands of worker robots working everywhere, as there were also a large number of different-sized objects and materials on the ground of the underground world. And it was finally at this moment that they were about to arrive at the ground of this world. But as he was thinking they would stop on the ground there, the elevator kept going down and soon they entered the ground once again, but then, after a thick earth layer was passed, to the CEO ugly's amazement, another underground world appeared. The Island ugly who was explaining some things to the CEO ugly while looking at his face, laughed again at his face which was kind of surprised again, "Hahaha, ugly brother, I can't get enough of this flabbergasted face of yours, anyway, welcome to... the Second Floor." At this floor too, there were tens of thousands of worker robots working. Seeing these many robots, the CEO ugly asked "Are those robots...

the worker robots which we only made a dozen or so? How did they increase so much?" "Hm, yes, it's those robots, but they are much more now haha, as you know they increase very quickly by making more of themselves very quickly... so after a while of letting them reproduce themselves, I realized there were too many of them." The Island ugly said. "I see, there seem to be lots of different-sized objects and materials on each floor too... I witnessed some technologies but I have no idea what they are, they must be some amazing out of this world things right?" After listening to him, the CEO ugly inquired with interest. The Island ugly's face turned more serious promptly when he heard this question, as he replied after a short pause, "Well, I think they are spectacular personally... but according to what I heard from master, they are only the lowest-ranked machinery and mechanizations... you see, master talks to me directly sometimes, and he told me there are ranks and classifications to the machines and things alike, and most of the things we are capable of making at the moment are the lowest-ranked ones among them." Listening to his response, the CEO ugly thought it was incredible as he was really astonished inside.

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 2 - 80 The Security Ugly

"Anyway, we have other underground world floors like these two and the lower we go the bigger they get... but that's not even the end, because we want to go even deeper as much as possible. This should be enough sight-seeing for a day, let's go back." The Island ugly stated as he pushed another button, which made the elevator stop for a second before it started moving up.

"Alright, now please explain more about master's plan..." Now that he had shown him around, the Island ugly changed the topic. "Okay, so if I wanna be more detailed..." The CEO ugly continued his explanation again, as he was interrupted previously by everything he witnessed. "I see... so master wants to do that... huh?" The Island ugly mumbled after he had heard the description of their master's plans. "Well, yes, this is the easiest way for us to collect the most capital at the shortest period of time..." Replied the CEO ugly. "And... what does master want me to make?" The Island ugly questioned. The CEO ugly took out a USB Flash Drive from inside his pocket giving it to the Island ugly as he explained "There are two blueprints inside this, they are the ones we need for the plan to work." Taking the USB Flash Drive from his hands, the Island ugly started looking at it, at first he thought why wouldn't his master just send him the blueprints and give the order directly, but remembering his master who seemed to like living like a normal person, he didn't continue with his thoughts. After a while he talked again with a shimmer of understanding in his eyes "I see, so master wants to make these for it... So... I guess we will need lots of these devices then, am I correct, ugly brother?" "Actually, we need only one from the second blueprint while we need a large number of the first one, but I'll tell you the exact number later. For now, start making the second blueprint because I need to take it with me when I leave." The CEO ugly explained while looking into the Island ugly's eyes. After that, they went to the highest floor of the building where they saw the Security ugly waiting for them currently. When the CEO and Security uglies saw one another, they started greeting each other with a smile on their faces. Now that the CEO ugly had someone else to be by his side and accompany him, the Island ugly immediately left to go and make the blueprint that the CEO ugly needed to take with himself. _____ The Security ugly's task on the atoll was to keep the whole island secure at all times and to eliminate anyone who was intruding it by any means. Currently, the Security and CEO uglies were drinking the tea that the Security ugly had made while talking about different topics and subjects. "So, do people try to sneak into the atoll?" The CEO ugly questioned casually, wanting to talk about something. "A lot! I don't even know how many intruders I've incinerated anymore, they just don't learn their lesson... Well, it's expected though, with the Virus Company suddenly appearing out of nowhere with super advanced techs, now almost every country is curious about how we are doing it or what other advanced techs we might have hidden, they are especially curious about what's happening on this specific island." The Security ugly explained. "I see, well, that's to be expected. But, how do you realize when you have an intruder?" The CEO ugly inquired with a little curiosity. "Oh, that... let me show you instead of explaining." As the Security ugly said that, he took out something from his pocket. Then he brought his hand higher as he opened his palm. Inside his palm, there was a marble, and a moment after he opened his palm, a revolving 3D image of the whole atoll appeared above the marble. And that was not all, as there were also many floors like spaces under the island that got bigger the lower it got which were obviously the underground worlds under the atoll. "I always have the whole island on the palm of my hands." He stated with a grin, "And it's not only that, I know everything that's going on to the tiniest of details, I can even know the location every ant on the island if I want, by filtering the search." The CEO ugly was honestly amazed inside by how advanced the island's security was after seeing the 3D image and listening to the Island ugly's words. "Now, forget about me... let's talk about you, tell me... how is it, being a famous CEO? You must be having a great deal of fun, right? Ahh, if I knew that day that master was going to give the CEO position, I would've volunteered to take the position." After putting back the marble in his pocket, the Security ugly opened his mouth again, with a little regret clear in his tone. The Security ugly was very bored being stuck on the island, with only the duty of keeping the island safe. He craved for more excitement in his life, and he wanted a way to escape from this monotonous life on the island. Listening to his words though, the CEO ugly replied with a tone like what the Security ugly had stated was absolutely false, "You're wrong! It's no fun at all. You know, I'm busy all the time trying to predict and analyze everything, like the things that could happen in the industry or the whole business world, and I need to be very careful so as not to miss any details." "So, tell me, what's the fun in that?" The CEO ugly said, a little frustrated and annoyed that he thought he was having a great deal of fun. "I know how it is like to be a CEO, but still... I would prefer your job over mine." This was the Security ugly's final response. They continued their conversation without realizing that somewhere far away, on the highest floor of 4 Times Square, someone had been listening to their conversation passively. _____ A few hours later, the CEO ugly was once again above the clouds inside the private jet, as he was enjoying the view while looking outside the window.