

Walker 1315

1315 A Practical Battle Test

Immortal Taegu's order was taken as absolute and all the convicts charged towards the Haima Tribe group. Both of them were about the same in numbers, with the four-legged people being slightly higher.

But if one considered tree cultivation base alone, it was obvious that the overall cultivation base of the humans was a lot higher than that of the Haima Tribe.

"Die!" The first human that reached the battle field shouted while thrusting out his fist.

The being that he was going against thought seemed to not care much about it

"Haha! They are dumb! They don't even know how to defend!" The man said in joy.

~Thud~

But when his fist met the body of the opponent, his expression fell rapidly. From a wide toothed smile, it went to a clenched twitch.

"AHHHHHHHHH!" The man shouted as his fingers broke.

His opponent on the other hand, stood as before simply gazing at the human.

"Weak?" It seemed like the four-legged person was also confused.

Then in the next second, the four-legged person turned before punching out.

~THUD~

The man who had punched first also got blown to the back as first. It was a decent record for the Haima Tribe and it could be seen as humiliating for the opponents.

"AAHHHHHHHHHHHHH!" The convict cried out in pain while feeling his clavicle and ribs shattering.

With just one punch, he was sent over a ten meters away.

~THUD~THUD~THUD~THUD~

If it was just limited to that, it might have been fine, but it certainly was not. One by one, a string of human convicts were sent back flying.

Granted, these were the weaker ones among the humans, they were still at the Dao Shell realm at the very least.

"What the..." Immortal Taegu had never expected this.

Seeing the human convict being sent back the Haima Tribe people seemed to have gained a lot of confidence.

"All to arms!" The leader of the group spoke.

~SHING~SHING~SHING~

In the very next moment all of them drew out one of their stone spears. They then stretched back their arms before launching all of them.

~WHOOSH~

Over two hundred spears were launched at once, creating a whistling sound in the air.

“ARGH!”

“NO!”

“My leg!”

A variety of cries were heard as the spears struck the unfortunate victims.

“Do not falter! Keep on marching!” Immortal Taegu ordered.

The human exiles did as they were told and prepared for an offense. Over half of the spears were blocked, but there was still some damage that was inflicted.

“Dao Treading realm experts! Show your worth!” Taegu ordered with his body seemingly moving back.

“HAAA!” The Dao Treading realm experts attacked with their various skills.

Even those that didn’t know any martial skills did something, and manifested various forms of illusions.

“Hahaha! They are just like us!” The Human convicts spoke.

Multiple of the Haima members were injured from this string of attacks. Some of them even having deep gashes that would get badly infected in an area like this.

“Keep it up! Kill them all!” Immortal Taegu ordered once more.

The Human convict rushed forwards, the stronger among them preparing for the offense while the injured ones trying to dress their wounds. And just like they had thought, the four legged person started to get injured.

Some of them broke bones whee some of them spat out blood. While it seemed to be a severed set back to this army, Taegu was baffled.

‘Is it just me or the numbers are decreasing?’ Taegu started to count them all again.

But right when he was halfway to counting all the Haima tribes he heard a voice.

“Haima Tribe! Second group Assemble!” A person shouted.

~SHUA~SHUA~SHUA~

As soon as that was spoken, all the Haima Tribe members that were present in the battlefield started to disappear. It was the same as they had arrived, the transportation gate seemingly took them back to where they had come for.

The Humans couldn’t even do a proper take and analysis for this since it was too fast. Within a matter of seconds, more transportation gates started to appear, and from them more Haima people appeared.

Immortal Taegu had a doubled expression on his face at this moment. The four-legged freaks were rather similar to each other in appearance so it made it hard for him to identify. Their cultivation base was also the same, taking it up a notch.

But from the density of spirit Qi fluctuation they were releasing, Taegu soon recognized a patterer.

“What? These freaks... they aren’t... the same!” Taegu almost shouted.

~SHUA~ SHUA~ SHUA~

By the time he had even recognized this, another batch of the Haima people had already arrived on the battlefield.

Just like before, a clash of fists and bodies occurred, with the Haima Tribe taking the lead again. But similar to before they also faced a setback when the Dao Treading realm human experts attacked.

Immortal Taegu had a smile seeing this, as he knew they wouldn’t be able to hold on for long.

“Haima Tribe: Third Group Assemble!” A voice was heard once more.

~SHUA~SHUA~SHUA~

The Transportation gates appeared once more, taking away the injured members while replacing them with new ones. With the new members appearing the battle continued.

Immortal Taegu had realized by this time that something was wrong. And not just basic wrong, but his understanding changing wrong.

“This is not normal... we might have just walked into hostile territory.” Immortal Taegu muttered to himself.

His voice was only heard by a few people, both from the human convict as well as Haima tribe people.

Some human convicts even looked at him, wondering why he was not helping. What they didn’t know was that while Immortal Taegu might look like a brute or a bandit, he was not the same.

He was actually decently smart as without it he would have not survived this long at all.

“Haima Tribe: third group Assemble!” But much to his surprise another new group arrived.