Chapter 1061 The Story Of Stacy

Clare's POV:

Stacy said with a firm but a bit hasty tone, "I swear, Clare. I never want to use my son to approach your father to gain any benefits. His health was the only reason that forced me to find your father and contact him."

Nodding my head, I was curious, so I questioned her more, "I heard from my father that you found out about your pregnancy after your breakup with him. Then why did you decide to keep it?"

But before she would have gotten me wrong, I explained further, "Don't misunderstand me. My father said that you both fought when you broke up. So, as a professional woman who deems her career important, I just can't understand why you chose to keep this child. If I were you, abortion might have been my first choice."

Chapter 1062 Decide To Help

Clare's POV:

Stacy led me to the ward.

When I went inside, I instantly saw the man on the bed in a hospital gown. He was so thin that his cheeks were sunken, but even so, he was still very handsome. His features were very similar to my father's, so when I saw him, I felt like I was seeing a younger version of my father.

The man noticed me instantly. And then, he smiled.

I couldn't describe the shock that I felt when I saw his smile. I just felt an indescribable sadness in my heart.

"Are you Clare? My name is Zakai Hayes," he said.

His voice was weak and hoarse, but still quite audible.

Chapter 1063 Worried About Stacy

Clare's POV:

Despite running into Natalia and having an unpleasant incident, I was in a good mood after Lennon consoled me. I was inspired to work in the afternoon.

I was supposed to wait for Lennon to pick me up when I got off work, but I ran into my dad outside the law firm.

He obviously came to speak with me.

I texted Lennon and told him not to pick me up. After that, my dad and I headed to the parking lot.

My father sat in the passenger seat after getting inside the car. I had no idea where to go, so I just drove randomly down the street.

At first, my father and I didn't speak to each other since I was at a loss for words. The atmosphere was slightly awkward.

Chapter 1064 Care From Her Ex

Clare's POV:

Noticing my worries, Lennon looked at me and said, "You don't have to worry about it, Clare. Grandpa knows the director of the hospital where Zakai is being treated. I'll ask him to tell the director and call the best doctors in the hospital to treat Zakai. If the matching test fails, I'll do everything I can to find a suitable donor for him."

I instantly felt a wave of relief wash over me. I was grateful for him.

After dinner, Lennon held me in his arms as we watched TV together.

Chapter 1065 The Punishment

Clare's POV.

I thought Marcel would back off after Lennon's warning. To my surprise, he remained unfazed and even shouted, "You fucking bastard! If you don't want to cherish Clare, then let her go." You're not the only man who wants her."

Lennon's demeanor changed upon hearing Marcel's words. A sneer tugged at his lips, and he scoffed, "Sorry to say, Mr. Schneider, but I don't need your lesson on how to treat my wife. Also, you have no right to lecture me. What you've done to my wife is a thousand times more disgusting than what you think I've done. I'm warning you, if you call my wife and harass her again, there will be consequences."

"Do you honestly think I'm scared of you? Lennon, don't be so full of yourself. I'll do anything for Clare," Marcel fired back.

Chapter 1067 Tilda's Advice

Clare's POV:

When I heard what Tilda said, I was shocked.

I couldn't stop looking at her tummy. It was difficult to believe that she was pregnant with Marcel's child and that Marcel even asked her to abort the child.

Tilda wiped her tears away and acted strong when she noticed I was staring at her. "I don't mean anything by saying this to you. I'm just upset. I've been with Marcel for a long time, and I've never asked him about what transpired between you two. No matter what we are doing, whenever he thinks of you, he'll just stop talking and ignore me."

Chapter 1068 Take Wedding Photos

Clare's POV:

After seeing Tilda off, I continued with my work.

Lennon came to pick me up at noon since I asked Talbot for half a day's leave. After I went inside the car, Lennon drove off.

He pulled over in front of a building. I looked up and noticed that it was the most expensive, well-known wedding photography studio in New York.

I was immediately reminded of what Lennon said this morning. He had a mysterious smile on his face when he told me that he wanted to take me somewhere. I asked him where it was, but he refused to tell me. I never expected that he wanted to take me here.

It was no wonder he didn't tell me in advance. It wouldn't be a surprise if he told me.

My heart was filled with joy as I asked, "You wanted me to ask for a leave just so we could take wedding photos?"

Chapter 1069 Natalia Makes A Fool Of Herself

Clare's POV.

I had never seen the man next to Natalia. He wasn't the same man as last time. He was probably her new rich boyfriend.

"I'm really sorry, but our restaurant has a reservation system for members only," the waiter helplessly said. "Only members who have reservations can eat here. You two aren't members and haven't made any reservations either, so I'm afraid I can't let you in. I hope you understand. But you can go through the membership procedures and book a reservation for tomorrow, though."

The waiter could've driven them away without another word, but the way he handled the situation was really good.

Chapter 1070 It Matched

Clare's POV

Denzel was stunned. It took him a while before he finally realized what Lennon meant. He looked back at Natalia—who was behind him—and quickly stepped away from her. "You're mistaken, Mr. Torres. I don't know her."

Natalia's eyes widened in shock when Denzel said that. She didn't expect him to act like he didn't know her. However, she decided not to argue with him because she knew what he was capable of. So, she just bit her lip and stood aside, sulking.

Lennon shifted his focus on Denzel and completely ignored her. "The bidding result of the project will be out in the next two days. You can go back and wait."

Denzel nodded, picking up on what Lennon was trying to imply. "I understand, Mr. Torres. I'll be going now."
