

Warning 821

Chapter 821 Threaten Helen With The Children

Helen's POV:

I looked at Jane with eyes wide in shock. I could not believe it. Had she gone crazy? Why was she asking me to be her lawyer?

I might be kind and forgiving at certain things, but I could not just forget what she had done to hurt me.

Besides, I had read the document Ruben had sent over. Jane's career had not been going well in the past couple of years, and her company was on the verge of bankruptcy. Because of this, she made a fake accounting book and financial reports to get investment from Highlight Investment. That was the reason why she was prosecuted, and she deserved it.

I sat opposite Jane and refused her without a second thought. "I can't help you. You should've thought of the consequences when you decided to swindle investments with your fake accounting book. Besides, Highlight Investment also wants me to be their lawyer. If I were to choose between the two of you, don't you think Highlight Investment is the better choice?"

Chapter 822 Unpleasant Circumstances

Helen's POV:

Once I reached the airport, I went straight to the departure lounge to look for Jane. Her eyes found me, a triumphant smile breaking on her face. "I knew you would come to help. I look forward to working with you, Helen."

"Likewise." I tamped down on my disgust and thrust my hand out to shake hers.

I had sent a message to Platt before boarding the plane. "I'm going on a business trip to New York for a few days. Text me when you get back."

I lingered on the screen for some moments, wishfully waiting for a reply that didn't arrive. When ten minutes had passed, I had to turn off my phone.

It was not until I got off the plane that I received his reply. "I've added a few training programs, so it'll take a while before I could get back."

Chapter 823 An Apology

Helen's POV:

After breakfast, Lucy drove me to Jane's company.

I wanted to finish the case as soon as possible and go home to be with my kids. I had been away for far too long, and I felt guilty about leaving them alone. If Jane had not threatened me, I would not even have returned to New York this time.

Since Lucy did not want to see Jane, she dropped me off outside the company and left. Standing downstairs, I sent a text to Jane, informing her that I had arrived.

Soon, she came and welcomed me into her company.

I saw a lot of employees, who were really busy with work. It did not seem like they were working for a company that was sued and was on the verge of shutting down. In my heart, I could not help but admire Jane's ability to manage her employees so well.

As soon as I entered her office, Jane handed me the financial records, investment agreements, and other documents relate to their cooperation with Highlight Investment. "Thanks for helping me, Helen."

Chapter 824 Your Body Is More Honest Than Your Hear

Helen's POV:

My heart skipped a beat and as soon as I ended the call, I ran to open the door.

George was standing outside, holding two big bags in his hands. There were some groceries inside.

When he saw me opening the door, he put on a gentle smile. "Do you mind inviting me in and cooking something for you?"

"Of course, I do!"

Standing at the door, I tried to stop him, but my heart was racing like crazy. Looking at his tall and handsome figure, I could not help but think of our kiss that night. My grip loosened and I subconsciously stepped back. I wanted to avoid him, but it somehow seemed like I was inviting him in.

George walked in casually, and it was almost as if we were still married. He carried the grocery bags and went straight to the kitchen.

I had never been good at cooking, so my skills were below average. Although I tried to learn some cooking skills in order to cook for my kids, I never really had the talent for it. Whenever I cooked for the kids, they hated it as it was barely edible.

Chapter 825 You Don't Deserve Love

George's POV:

My heart ached when I heard Helen crying bitterly. I kept apologizing to her from the other side of the door, "I am so sorry. It's all my fault. You did nothing wrong, but I do hope that you will realize your true feelings. You know, I will wait for you to come back no matter how long it takes."

I was not sure if she heard me, because she just kept crying and asked me to leave. I was afraid that if I continued to stay, then she would only get angrier, so I had no choice but to leave.

I walked back to my car dejectedly and sat there for the entire night, feeling bitter and guilty.

I called Kendal and complained, "I think I did something really wrong. I should not have forced Helen when she had a boyfriend. I am sure she wants to escape from me more now."

Kendal was surprised. "What did you do to her? Did you force yourself on her?"

Chapter 826 The Lipstick Mark On The Shir

Chana's POV:

I went to tell George to take part in the meeting. The expression on his face was neutral, but I could read the exhaustion behind it. He also seemed to be unhappy about something.

I entered the meeting room and sat down. As I set the cup of coffee on the table for him, I caught sight of the lipstick mark on George's shirt.

His shirt was white, so the lipstick mark was very conspicuous, and many people in the meeting room noticed it as well. George was strict, so no one dared to look straight at him. Everyone just took stealthy glances at him, their eyes full of curiosity.

I was also curious. Was he dating someone?

I took a closer look and realized that the shirt he was wearing was the one he wore last night. Didn't he go home last night?

George was a man. It was normal for him to have a sexual partner. It didn't matter if he was still hung up on Helen. He didn't have to be in love to have sex.

Chapter 827 Put Jane Behind Bars

Helen's POV:

After ending the call with Lucy, I refocused and settled down to my work. Among the materials that Warren had sent me in the morning about Highlight Investment, I came across a familiar name. It was Mattie, my former colleague from Hesmor Law Firm.

After leaving Hesmor Law Firm, she joined the investment review department of Highlight Investment.

My suspicions were immediately aroused. Most of the documents Jane had given me contained Mattie's signature. I almost had no doubt that Jane had bribed Mattie.

George must have known about this a long time ago. In spite of knowing that I was now Jane's lawyer, he still handed me all the necessary materials. As I pored over the documents in my hands, I was filled with mixed feelings.

After I sorted out all the documents, I took a taxi to Synrad Vision to see Jane. I explained to her how I would approach the bench tomorrow when the hearing was held. I outlined the relevant evidence and handed it to her. Then I asked her to check if I had inadvertently left anything out.

Chapter 828 I Want You

George's POV:

I knew that Kendal would definitely bring Helen.

As expected, not long after I entered the private room of the restaurant, Kendal walked in with Helen.

The guests today were mostly our high school friends and some lawyers. When they saw Helen, they couldn't help squealing with delight, rushing over to her, and greeting her.

Velma was so excited, she grabbed Helen and made her sit beside her. She happily chatted and drank with her.

As a lively and sociable man, Kendal was good at headlining such an occasion and soon attracted the attention of everyone present. Helen sat quietly with Velma in a corner, and Velma filled her in with what had happened in the crew.

Helen didn't seem to be in high spirits, but out of politeness, she listened carefully to Velma and replied to her from time to time. Then, they drank and watched the others laugh and joke around.

I stared at her the whole night and felt that she was different from who she was during the day.

In court, she was aggressive and neither humble nor hostile in the face of Jane's vicious ridicule. At this moment, under the dim light, she looked gentle, beautiful, and eye-catching.

Chapter 829 An Intimate Dream

Helen's POV:

When I awoke, I found myself lying in my bedroom with no recollection from last night. I tried to get up, but my body hurt, and I felt like my head was going to split into two.

I massaged my head, and several images flashed across my mind all at once.

Last night, Kendal forced me to a dinner party with Velma and everyone else, during which Velma and I drank a lot and we had a great chat. I got so drunk that I couldn't remember much of last night, but I was pretty sure George was the one who drove me home. The next thing I knew, I was in a bed...

I gasped. In a heartbeat, I lifted the quilt and checked my body. I breathed a sigh of relief when I found that I was fully dressed and there were no marks on my body.

In the past, whenever George and I had sex, he tended to leave a lot of hickeys on my body as if he was marking his territory. Right now, I was relieved and, at the same time, embarrassed. Were those images just a dream I had had last night?

But it was detailed and vivid. For a moment, I was convinced that it was real.

I could not believe that I would ever dream of having sex with George. Not only that, but I was also surprised at his influence on me.

Chapter 830 Overcome The Difficulties

George's POV:

After dropping Helen off at the airport, I called Chana and asked her to book a flight to Washington within the next hour. I needed to meet with my parents urgently.

The last time I had behaved very impulsively. I was rebellious enough to marry Helen without their consent, thinking that they would not be able to do anything to reverse the situation. But I had underestimated the mighty power and cunning of my parents. In order to protect their pride and dignity, and obviously also to cut me down to size, they set a vicious trap for Helen behind my back and also involved her friends and colleagues in their plan for revenge so Helen had no choice but to bow to their demands. Helen could not see her friends and colleagues getting ruined because of her.