

Chapter 182

She cried even harder when she saw the photo. In a coincidental turn of events, she sent the photo and the person who received it was Sharon. 2

Sharon was making dinner for her son. After having the meal with him, she was in a pretty good mood.

Later at night, she bathed him. To cap off the night, she read a book about the mysteries of the universe to him before he fell asleep obediently.

Sharon looked at the clock on the wall. It was almost midnight and Simon, who said he would come to the apartment tonight, never showed up.

Indeed, she could not believe a word men said. 1

She was about to take a shower and rest when her phone made a sound notifying her of a new message. She picked up her phone and turned it on. At a single moment, she was completely stunned.

Sharon had been standing up, but after she saw the message on her phone, she felt dizzy for a moment. She could not control herself from collapsing heavily on the bed.

She suddenly remembered that her son was sleeping. She craned her neck immediately to check on him. Thankfully, the little guy only turned around and continued to sleep soundly. 1

She had been holding her breath just now and only now was slowly regaining her breathing before she turned back around robotically. She checked the message she just received on her phone once again.

It was a photo. A photo of Simon and Rebecca together.

She could see the two of them lying in bed from that photo!

Rebecca was lying on top of Simon and he looked as if he was going to kiss her...

Sharon stared at this photo and her chest aches as if there was something heavy pressing on top of it. At the same time, she felt as if a hand was gripping her heart. It even started to hurt when she was breathing. 1

She felt tears stinging the corners of her eyes and anger was bubbling in her heart. He said he would come to the apartment tonight but he was fooling around with Rebecca in bed!

What her son told her tonight replayed in her head. The little guy said that his daddy was going to marry Miss Lawrence.

At first, she did not believe what he said. She thought Douglas was only joking around to the little guy, but now, she was sent their photo directly to her phone. She could not lie to herself and others anymore.

Sharon's hands that were holding the phone started to shake unconsciously. The photo was so dazzling. She felt as if there was a chunk missing in her heart. Why was she so upset?

Did she develop feelings for Simon without her knowledge?

No, this was forbidden!

And what about him?

If he was going to marry Rebecca, why did he do all those vaguely amorous things to her? He already kissed her more than once...

When she thought about those intimate things he did to her, she felt like her heart was going to split open from the pain.

She deleted that photo in anger. She tossed her phone to one side. She did not want to see and she did not want to know. Plus, she did not want to care about which woman he was with. ²

If he really ended up marrying Rebecca, then it would be a good thing for her, no?

After Sharon took a few deep breaths, she tried her best to forget the photo before getting up to take a shower.

However, tonight she found herself suffering from insomnia even though her son was by her side.

She looked at her son's face that was just like a miniature version of Simon and it was getting harder and harder for her to fall asleep. She even remembered that in the photo, the place Simon and Rebecca fooled around was the bedroom in the Zachary household.

Back then, it was the hotel, and now they jumped straight to the Zachary household. She would not even believe it if they told her they were not going to get married.

Now, she could not stop herself from thinking of the scenes of him and Rebecca... She must be going crazy! 1

She pulled the blanket up to cover her head. She would not think about this, she would not...

The next day, Sharon had dark circles under her eyes. When her son saw her, he could not help but ask, "Mummy, did you do something bad last night and didn't sleep? Why did you turn into a panda?"
