

Watch Out 56

Chapter 56: Explain

Number five turned around and looked at his surroundings. The patients were wailing like ghosts and howling like wolves. The nurses were all shocked by the situation. It was obvious that they would not help him.

This time was different from when they were in the trial space, where they still had a way to avoid it. From the looks of it, everyone was on the same boat. At this point, if they didn't explain things clearly, they would all die.

If he didn't die at the hands of song qingxiao or number six, he would die under the rules of the trial space.

Number five took a deep breath, wiped his face, and sat down on the ground with a trembling butt. He had been kneeling on the ground and letting the patient sit on him like a stool in order to avoid the attack. After enduring it for so long, he was already at his limits. He was just holding on with one breath.

"Give me two minutes."

He raised his hand, his face dripping with sweat, let me explain.

Number five glanced at song qingxiao out of the corner of his eye. She pursed her lips tightly and her bangs covered her eyes, making it difficult for people to figure out her mood.

In fact, in the trial space, while number five was crying and complaining, he also used this opportunity to find out the background of others. In the beginning, he actually thought that the most troublesome and difficult to deal with were the glasses man, number four, the red whip woman, and number six, who were ruthless.

On the other hand, the spear-wielding burly man, who seemed to be strong, was actually vulnerable and did not take him seriously.

Among the participants, the one he didn't think was a big threat was actually song qingxiao. When number five entered the space, she was sitting in the corner, hugging her legs and shrinking her feet. One look and it was obvious that she had been threatened by the big man with the gun. She didn't say a word, but everyone knew that she was still in shock.

She seemed to be a little uneasy, vigilantly observing everyone, like a lucky person who had survived the first space trial. She was not as confident as number four and number six, nor was she as timid as she was. She did not look gloomy like the spectacled man. She seemed to be the most common reaction of an ordinary person who had experienced this kind of thing. She did not seem to have any special skills and was not worth guarding against.

This kind of person, number five thought of them as cannon fodder in this kind of trial, to be used by others to earn points at the bottom.

She didn't say anything, and she didn't do anything, but she gave number five this feeling.

However, after the mission started, number four and the spectacled man died in her hands one after another. Only then DID number five realize that he had misjudged her.

His disguise was too obvious and he was at a disadvantage. Song qingxiao, on the other hand, was a wolf in sheep's clothing. She was even more dangerous than number six.

at the beginning, we had a total of six trial-takers, but after the mission began, we should be divided into two camps.

He was afraid that song qingxiao would not give him a chance to speak. This woman was not to be trifled with. She was decisive and smart. He had hidden among the patients. Even number six, who was sitting nearby, did not expect that she would find him as soon as she came.

Number five didn't dare to hide anything and told him everything he had analyzed,"

Because when I received the mission and entered the scenario, I received two notifications.

He shakily stretched out his hand as he vigilantly watched Song Qingxiao's movements. When he saw that she didn't have much reaction to his actions, he became braver and wiped the sweat from his forehead. Then, he made a scissor gesture with his wet hand. "One is to become a doctor, the other is to become a patient."

While number five was talking, number six did not say anything. Song Qingxiao was also waiting for him to explain.

the mission I received was to protect the people. There's a relationship between demand and demand.

When number six heard this, he was a little impatient, speak human language!

"Yes!" He subconsciously straightened his back and the flesh on his face trembled, in other words, there will only be a market if there is demand. If there are no people who want to kill the people behind their backs, how can these people be considered to be protected?" He opened his mouth carefully and looked into Song Qing's small eyes to please her. Only with the existence of murderers will there be protectors. In addition, there are two choices for the mission faction. It goes without saying that there are two factions in this trial.

When number five said this, Song Qing was secretly surprised.

She had only figured out all these after entering the scenario. Number five was a quiet person, but he had figured out the situation long ago.

"We know all of this. If you want to say this, I'm afraid you won't be able to save your life."

He was very smart and good at analysis. If such a person stayed and met him again in the future, he would probably suffer.

Song Qing moved her fingers discreetly, but this small movement was noticed by number five, who had been staring at her and was afraid that she would make trouble. She became even more anxious, "Of course, that's not all I know. After I was admitted to the hospital, I also observed everyone. After he was admitted to the hospital, he tried to attack Qing Xiao." He paused for a moment and quickly continued, "In that situation, she naturally wouldn't be so stupid as to kill someone and put herself in a passive position. She was luring you into the trap. After you were ambushed, you harbored a grudge and were eager to kill her. She would give you a chance to confirm your camp identity and then decide whether you would be an opponent or an enemy.

In a situation where the protector was in a passive position, number six's actions were clearly smart.

then, something happened on the fourth floor. Number six killed the man with the gun first, and number four entered the trap. He was finally dealt with.

No. 5 wasn't on the fourth floor at the time, but he could analyze the situation based on the clues he found later.

Song qingxiao glanced at number six when she heard this. She didn't argue with number five, who was probably right.

"Did you notice that the two hunters that were killed, number four and glasses, were doctors?"

He asked. Number six frowned, and number five continued," other than song and Qing Xiao, No. 6 and I were both patients. The man with the gun was also a doctor in the beginning.

"What are you trying to say?"

Number six took a step forward and spoke for a long time. Time was getting tighter and the mission was still not completed. Everyone couldn't help but feel a little frustrated.

"If my speculation is correct, at the beginning of the mission, there were two camps set. The Hunter's mental choice should be the doctor, and the protector's choice should be the patient." He closed his eyes and said in a hurried tone," Qing Xiao's situation is special. Her identity is a protector, but her mentality has always been in the state of a Hunter, so she should have chosen the identity of a medical staff. However, because of her mission, when the trial space entered the scene, it automatically changed her identity to a nurse and not a doctor.

"Your guess is wrong."

“But you’re right about one thing. The man with the gun was killed by me. 50 points were deducted after I killed him. It’s enough to prove that he’s not a Hunter but from our camp.”

“That’s the main point I wanted to say,”

After number six said this, number five finally let out a long sigh, as if the conversation had finally entered the main topic,”

“The man with the gun was indeed a Hunter at the beginning. The reason why his identity changed was that he changed from a doctor to a patient. That’s why I was so sure about what I said before.”

He closed his eyes and blinked away the cold sweat that had flowed into his eyes. When he opened his eyes again, he said something that made song qingxiao and number six’s hearts sink,”

“In other words, in this trial, the identity of the protector and the Hunter is not fixed, but may change at any time due to unexpected events and different situations.”

Song qingxiao’s expression gradually became serious. Number five continued,” number six should know best. The moment you killed the big man, the notification you received was definitely not just to protect the people. Perhaps ... as he said this, he placed his hands on the ground and instinctively wriggled a little in song qingxiao’s direction, trying to put as much distance between him and number six as possible.

there might be more,’kill the people, kill if failed’,’ mission completed:50 points?”

The moment he finished speaking, number six’s face started to turn gloomy. The temperature around them dropped again and again. Number five trembled and moved closer to song qingxiao. This was the real reason why he held song qingxiao’s leg tightly and didn’t dare to get too close to number six after the incident.

The mission he had received at the last minute might not necessarily be the final mission objective. It could change at any time due to an accidental choice..