Chapter 2015: Dai Boqi's medical skills (5)

Although Dai Boqi was doing it out of good intentions, but to her, it was an extremely huge hurdle.

Just at this anxious timing, Huang Yueli suddenly thought of something as a bright idea popped up in her mind.

Her eyeballs rolled around and after thinking carefully, she suddenly smiled to Dai Boqi, "Divine Doctor Dai..."

"You.... what do you want?"

When Dai Boqi saw her original tense and uptight look suddenly becoming relaxed, even starting to smile, he instinctively felt that something was not right as he couldn't help but took a step back while guarding himself against her.

Huang Yueli said, "Divine Doctor Dai, haven't you said this earlier, that you hope that I can acknowledge you as my Master, to learn pill refining skills, am I right?"

Dai Boqi nodded his head, "That's of course. This old man has already said this so many times, why aren't you hurrying up to call me Master?"

Huang Yueli smiled as she said this, "Divine Doctor Dai, it's not that I don't wish to acknowledge you as Master, but.... the poison on me hasn't been cured and my meridians are sealed so I don't even know if this restrain can be released. What if I can't recover? Then wouldn't you have accepted a trashy disciple? How will that do? It will also affect the reputation which you had spent many years building up, isn't that so?"

Dai Boqi nodded his head, "Right...." But thinking again, he immediately reacted, "Not right! The problem will definitely be resolved and it's impossible to remain in this state forever, don't think about using this reason to deal with this old man!"

Huang Yueli used an especially innocent look blinking her big, round eyes as she said, "Divine Doctor Dai, how could you malign me like this? How did I deal with you? I'm really thinking for you with a sincere heart! If I really can't recover and drag you down, that is totally reprehensible! So to speak, I've decided that it's better to wait till the ailments on me have been cured first, confirming that I have a pill refining innate talent then I'll acknowledge you as Master... As for now, let's just..."

Dai Boqi was also an intelligent man, upon hearing her words which were beating around the bush, he immediately understood what she was trying to do as he couldn't help but had his eyes popping out while blowing his beard.

"You young lass, what do you mean by this? Must you get rid of your poison immediately? This old man has already told you multiple times that the risk is too huge! There's no leeway for discussion!"

Huang Yueli shrugged her arms and said, "Anyway, if you insist on me acknowledging me as your Master, my condition is to cure me of the poison first, to let me resume all my memories! Just like what you said, it's no matter if there's a delay for a few days, so you'd just have to wait a few more days then!"

Dai Boqi stared hard at her, simply unable to believe his own ears!

He wanted to take in a disciple and if this news was sent out, there would be numerous pill refining geniuses who were fighting to be taken under his wing.

Not to mention direct disciple, even if it was just a registered disciple, or even an apprentice, it would make the Pill Master go crazy from joy.

But why was the young lass in front of him, not only not excited and moreover she even dared to list out her conditions!

Dai Boqi was extremely unhappy inside his heart but there was unfortunately nothing that he could do about it!

A genius like Huang Yueli was just too rare!

Her meridians were being restrained right now and under the current circumstances that her innate talent totally weren't complete, she had already performed in such an outstanding way. The minute her poison was cured and when her meridians had resumed to normal, just how much of a genius would she be!

Dai Boqi could only try his best to convince himself that such a peerless genius was merely stating one little condition, and that was.... normal... probably.....

But why was it this kind of condition!

Dai Boqi asked, "Can't you just change another condition? Your poison, this old man will cure it sooner or later! What are you so uptight over!"

Huang Yueli's attitude was extremely firm, "Divine Doctor Dai, your medical skills are so brilliant, so you will definitely be able to cure me, right?"

Chapter 2016: In the depth of her memories (1)

Huang Yueli was using the stick approach first, followed by the carrot.

Speaking of this, this old grandpa was really good to her. Seeing that Dai Boqi was really going to get upset, she hurriedly flattered him to placate him a little.

Dai Boqi stared at her as he really wanted to leave in high cold fashion.

Anyway there were so many people who wanted to acknowledge him as Master, so him taking in a disciple was totally a breeze!

However...

Dai Boqi hesitated for quite some time before he opened his mouth, "Since that's the case, then this old man will first try to cure the poison on you. But this old man will put the ugly words upfront first, if something untoward happens to you, then is because you were insistent on finding the antidote, and not because this old man's medical skills aren't outstanding..."

When Huang Yueli heard that, she couldn't help but "Pfff" and burst out laughing.

She had not expected this old man to be rather tsundere!

They said that Pill Masters all valued their reputations very much and from the looks of it, it seemed that this saying is totally not false!

Dai Boqi saw her laughing and his face instantly turned black as he started to doubt if his own decision was accurate or not.

Taking a genius disciple was a good thing but if this young lass was really taken under his wing, would this old man be angered to his deathbed by her?

Huang Yueli hurriedly added, "Divine Doctor Dai, will an elderly man like you don't joke with me! Your medical skills are so brilliant, how is it possible that you aren't able to cure me? Absolutely no problem at all! I totally trust your medical skills to the very end, so don't worry and treat me with ease!"

She mended the pen after the sheep were lost as she delivered a huge load of fawning before she finally managed to placate Dai Boqi.

Dai Boqi gave a cold harrumph as he said, "Consider that you know how to talk! Your illness, this old man still has to research it throughout the night so just follow the female attendant back to the room to have a rest."

Huang Yueli had achieved her aim and her face immediately revealed a joyous look, "Thank you Divine Doctor Dai!"

Dai Boqi was really anxious to take in this disciple hence his action was extremely swift.

The second day morning, Huang Yueli was invited to Dai Boqi's pill refining room.

"This old man had flipped through various medical encyclopaedias regarding your symptoms and I really can't tell what's the underlying hidden problems behind this and I also don't understand why there's no way to cure it. Since that's the case, I can only treat a dead horse like a living horse, to first let you take the common antidote pill."

Dai Boqi was saying that as he retrieved a pill carefully from an exquisite jade box, as he handed it over to Huang Yueli.

"As the poisonous nature is unknown, whatever reaction you have after taking the pill is non calculable so we can only proceed with caution. First take half a pill and after this old man has observed... Hey! What are you doing??"

Dai Boqi was still nagging and instructing when Huang Yueli had already took the pill and without any hesitation, she popped the entire pill into her mouth while picking up the teacup on the table to her lips, as she lifted her head and swallowed the whole pill in one mouthful.

Dai Boqi had a great shock and stretched out his hand as he wanted to try and stop her.

But it was all too late.

Dai Boqi's face turned steely green as he boomed angrily, "You... how could you be this hasty? Haven't I just told you that we must proceed with caution? Now you just swallowed the entire pill like this, if there's any reaction, it will be too late to save you!"

Huang Yueli's lips curled into a smile, "Divine Doctor Dai, don't worry, I know... the situation... well..."

She originally wanted to comfort Dai Boqi but whoever knew that she had just spoken halfway when suddenly, an intense wave of dizziness attacked her mind.

Huang Yueli's eyes turned black as her body suddenly went askew and she fell towards her right side onto the ground.

Dai Boqi's expression changed abruptly as he stood up immediately and stretched out his hand to touch her forehead.

"Disciple, how are you? Men, men come over quickly!"
