Chapter 24 Zachary Kisses Lillian

Zachary was lost for a moment, then quickly calmed down.

Amidst Beatrice's cries, he made up his mind. Since he and Lillian were separated, it was best to cut it off completely and treat Beatrice wholeheartedly. He should also tolerate Beatrice's shortcomings of crying easily.

His jaw tightened, and he reached out to touch her head, patiently coaxing her. "Why do you keep crying?"

"I'm afraid!" Beatrice cried like a frightened little animal.

"The police called me again and said I was suspected of murdering Lillian. I was so scared."

A pile of watermelons had just injured Zachary, and his head was still dizzy. At this moment, he still managed to sit up and comfort Beatrice.

"It doesn't matter. That is all Lillian's fault. If the police call from now on, just let me answer the phone."

Sure enough, Beatrice stopped crying and looked at Zachary with tears in her eyes. "You must believe me. I really didn't hurt Ms. Wilson."

Zachary was exhausted physically and mentally, but he still hugged Beatrice to comfort her. "Well, I believe you. It's all Lillian who is setting you up."

Even so, Lillian's face still appeared before Zachary's eyes.

Lillian always took care of him silently. She was stubborn and forbearing. No matter what grievance she suffered, when she faced his questioning gaze, she always hid the emotions in her eyes and smiled brightly at him.

Zachary always disliked Lillian's pretentiousness in the past and thought she must have an ulterior motive.

But at this moment, he felt a little nostalgic.

The door to the ward was pushed open, and Ben walked in with many people.

"Ms. Young, some criminals confessed that you ordered them to harm Ms. Wilson."

Beatrice frowned and looked at Zachary nervously.

Zachary's eyes were deep. "Don't be afraid. I will accompany you to take notes."

Then he looked at Ben with a strong aura. Even though he was lying on the hospital bed, he still felt faintly oppressive.

"Can Beatrice be arrested with just a few words from those gangsters? Is it because I don't understand the law, or do you not?"

He endured the discomfort and accompanied Beatrice to take notes. Beatrice seemed to be greatly frightened and fainted several times. After finishing the notes, Zachary forcibly took Beatrice to the hospital.

Just after Beatrice was settled, Zachary walked out and heard the voices of Lillian and Ashton.

I told you, I'm fine. Why do you have to bring me to the hospital?" Lillian seemed a little impatient.

Zachary looked over in the direction of the voice.

Ashton grabbed Lillian's arm and persuaded her with a gentle voice, "It's better to take a CT scan.

You fought those gangsters. It would be bad if you got hidden injuries."

"Okay," Lillian was reluctant and compromised with Ashton.

She lay in the machine and finished taking the CT scan. Ashton, who was originally guarding the door, went to the fire escape to answer the phone, and the nurse was nowhere to be found.

Lillian put on her shoes and was about to push the door open and go out.

An arm suddenly stretched in and pushed her directly back into the room.

Lillian was caught off guard, stumbled back a few steps, and sat on the hospital bed.

"Who dares to do this to me?"

As soon as she raised her head, she was stunned. It was Zachary, with blood-red eyes, who walked in with rage.

Lillian frowned, a little confused. "Why are you so crazy again?"

"Isn't this what you want? You are playing hard to get, lingering, targeting Beatrice repeatedly. Isn't it just to get me again? Then I will do as you wish!"

After saying that, Zachary ran towards her like a furious beast, rushed over, pressed her down on the hospital bed, and kissed her hard.

"Hmph! Lunatic..."

Zachary's fierce and manic kiss seemed to devour her. Lillian tried to wave her hands and struggled fiercely, but Zachary held her down tightly.
