

Widow 124

Chapter 124

“Since when did I throw you away...” Crystal’s eyes widened. “You’re still hugging me now.” Harold said, “I’ve been comforting you for so long. Do you think you can just give me a hug?” Crystal, “...”

She felt that her premonition was not wrong. Harold was a hooligan.

She hesitated for a while before moving closer to kiss Harold on the side of his face. In a soft voice, she said, “This is your reward.”

Harold’s gaze landed on her moist red lips and said, “You kissed the wrong place.”

Crystal’s eyes widened. “Why are you acting like this?”

Harold said, “Do you know how much effort others need to spend to ask me for help? I’m just asking you to kiss me.”

Crystal’s face was red. She bit the corner of her lips in a dilemma, but still closed her eyes and touched the man’s thin lips.

She had planned to leave as soon as she touched his lips, but Harold didn’t let her. His big hands with clear joints moved from her back to the back of her head, blocking all her escape routes.

Crystal’s eyes widened. “Uh!”

Although they were

Harold’s voice was very soft. “When kissing, you must close your eyes.”

want to kiss

to keep your eyes

voice was a little hoarse. “Then take a good look and see how couldn’t say a

only kissed her but also stuck out a panic. Harold leaned over and almost pressed end of the kiss, Crystal was her nose

stroked her back and said, “Are you looked at Harold and said. “I’m not very

said, “I think you wanted to Harold, "..."

girl was so pure but evil at