

Widow 177

Chapter 177

Kalen was stunned. "Full Court restaurant?"

Full Court restaurant was not just a little far away.

Marcus looked at him quietly. "What's wrong?"

"Nothing," Kalen hurriedly said, "I'll call the boss and make a reservation."

When the car started, there were fewer and fewer people that came into Crystal's eyes. Crystal looked at the mountain ridge outside the window. Marcus explained, "Full Court restaurant is built halfway up the mountain. It's an investment of a friend of mine. He likes mediocre, so the restaurant is remote."

Crystal replied with an "oh".

Marcus frowned and said, "Don't you like me?"

"No," Crystal said softly.

Marcus smiled. "We've just met, so we're not familiar with each other. That's normal. Are you getting used to everything in Fairby?"

"I'm fine," Crystal said.

not in a good mood,

remote, and it was nearly 10 o'clock when they advance, so they could dig in as soon as they arrived at

The food here tasted

the cup containing the mint water and said, "Otherwise, I

and clinked it with

but it helped us a lot." Marcus smiled. "You know learned a little." Crystal buried her stuffing the food into her mouth like a baby. There was no expression on his face, but when Crystal looked up, there was a gentle smile on his face. After dinner, Marcus looked at the sky and said, "The weather is much just now. She blushed and the way and led Crystal down the mountain. They took small paths and walked around. Soon, Crystal was dizzy and Let's go back. I'm a little tired." Crystal turned her

Her voice stopped abruptly.

nowhere to

She panicked. "Marcus?!"

There was no answer.

there was

was a firm materialist. Otherwise, she would have been scared to death phone call. Only then did she realize that she had