

Widow 178

Chapter 178

Marcus leaned against the back seat of the car, expressionless.

After hesitating for a long time, Kalen said, "Marcus, are you really leaving her there? What if something happens..."

"What does it have to do with me?" Marcus said coldly.

"..." Kalen immediately did not dare to speak.

It was said that Marcus was as gentle as jade and he was a gentleman, but only Kalen, who had been with him for several years, knew that this person looked gentle, but in fact, he was the most indifferent person. It seemed that even his heart was cold, without any warmth.

In the back seat, Crystal's cell phone kept ringing. Someone was calling her. Marcus turned off the phone without looking at it.

Kalen took a deep breath and said, "Marcus, after all, she's your biological sister. As a little girl, it's really dangerous for her to be in the mountain in the middle of the night. Although there are no wild beasts here, if she meets bad people..."

up the mountain." Marcus said lightly, "She can just Kalen sighed deeply.

long she had

were any cars passing by, but when she was about to fall asleep, the road should choose a path randomly based on her feelings when she suddenly saw a dazzling car light. She raised her hand to block the light, watched the car getting closer and closer, and finally stopped in front of her. The car door opened, and the man got out of the driver's seat. Against the light of the car, she could not see his face clearly. She only felt that his shoulders were wide and his legs were long. His long black windbreaker cut through the dazzling light, as if the darkness of the night was gradually eroding the light. At this moment, everything was silent, and blinked her eyes

front of her and bent slightly to look down at her. "Let's see what tears anymore. She suddenly stood up and threw herself into his arms, crying so loudly, "Boohoo, boohoo, boohoo... I thought... I thought I was abandoned..." Harold hugged

to pick

Crystal, the louder

face and saw that her face was all red, like a

with sobs. "You're

Harold wiped her tears and said, "Crystal, you're the most stupid person I've laughing at me, but you're also scolding me!" She struggled to